J. S. GLOBE CIRCLING FLIERS HAVE ARRIVED AT LABRADOR

Made 570 Mile Flight in 6 hours 49 minutes Without Mishap —At Times the Planes Reached a Speed as High as 126 Miles an Hour—Feat is Regarded as the Most Marvelous Achievement in the History of Aviation.

On board the U. S. S. Richmond, Aug. 31—(By the A. P.)—The American army fliers, Lieutenants Lowell H. Smith and Eric Nelson, came overseas today from Greenland to Labrador, closing up another long and perilous gap in their round-the-world flight. They completed the air journey from the old world to the new, speeding across that dangerous and ice-bound stretch of water from Ivigtut to the Tickle, a land-locked bay [illegible] fifty miles, two miles north [illegible] harbor.

[illegible] the American pilots were their navigators, Lieutenants John Harding Jr. and Leslie P. Arnold, to whose unerring aspers not a little of the success of the flight is due. Ships of [illegible] have guarded this [illegible] across the strait for many days, [illegible] five months and fourteen days [illegible] beginning their world circling [illegible] the American fliers landed [illegible] the shores of continental North [illegible] They took the air at Ivigtut [illegible] eastern standard time. They [illegible] difficult crossing of the [illegible] Atlantic beset with mishaps [illegible] in the early stages, covering the last stretch of 570 miles—[illegible] Iceland-Greenland flight [illegible] difficult of the entire At[illegible] 6 hours and 39 minutes [illegible] motionless wind, [illegible] twenty to forty miles [illegible] speeded their machines [illegible] as high as 126 miles an hour.

[illegible] lanes went in from the ocean [illegible] gray gulls and flying low [illegible] broad expanse of water circled [illegible] then dropped to their great [illegible] boys and floated lightly [illegible] water under the shadow of [illegible] cliffs of rocks.

[illegible] shore near where the planes were moored were a group of newspapermen and cameramen who had [illegible] the destroyers here since August 24 a few [illegible] and in detail [illegible] marine from the Lawrence.

[illegible] coming of the flyers was signalled to those at Ivigtuk by seamen from the Lawrence stationed [illegible] Rocher, Monday Hills close by. [illegible] then the wireless station several [illegible] Offshore, near White [illegible] Island was the Lawrence accompanied by the planes, after [illegible] had picked up through [illegible] haze the most extreme [illegible] the outlying islands.

The planes in their journey over the [illegible] North Atlantic strewn with [illegible] spattered with ice, had passed [illegible] the Milwaukee off Southern Greenland, the Cowhlan and the [illegible] Auburn, which has been on [illegible] and which flashed ahead each [illegible] the passage of the planes overhead.

After a brief halt to replenish their [illegible] the aviators plan to continue [illegible] miles southward along the coast [illegible] Cartwright Bay, a much larger and more sheltered anchoring place, where a base has been established for the [illegible] take-off. From Cartwright Bay only brief stops are contemplated at Hawke Bay and Pilots Harbor, N. S.

Despite the desolate aspect of the barren Labrador coast, empty of people except for the few fishermen and traders, the fliers met with a warm welcome on returning to the American mainland. When the planes appeared above the rocky islets outside the harbor, the Richmond belching black smoke, as a guide to the pilots and greeted them with ear-splitting blasts of her siren.

Rear Admiral Magruder and Captain Colton went ashore to welcome the men home, all four, wearied with the physical strain of the journey and the suspense of long days since they left Kirkwall early in August expressed keenest joy. They declared that their world journey was virtually ended.

With their arrival today on the Atlantic coast of the North American continent the round-the-world flyers of the United States Army Air Service completed the most marvelous achievement in the history of aviation to date—the virtual encircling of the globe in heavier-than-air machines. Before the flight was commenced Major General Patrick, chief of the army air service, said the completion of it would be a feat of importance paralleling that of Megellan, who in 1509, was the first man to circumnavigate the globe.

The story of the historic and record-breaking flight compares with the most gripping adventure tales of fiction. Like the pioneers of any expedition blazing a new trail, these intrepid airmen, the first flight around the world, of necessity had to be men of courage and with nerves of steel. Notwithstanding the carefully laid plans for the trip there were certain hardships which could not be avoided—those that must necessarily accompany an undertaking of such magnitude, compelling as it did flights in all kinds of climate ranging from the frigid Arctic weather of the North Pacific late in March to the near tropical conditions encountered in the Far East in June.

All manner of weather had to be contended with, the elements apparently having no sympathy with the laudible ambition of these men to be the first to fly around the world. Treacherous gales, violent rains and biding blizzards were encountered in the Alaskan regions before the flyers hopped off the North American continent for the first attempt of airplanes to wing their way across the Pacific. Fog was a dangerous factor and when the aviators reached down into the torrid zone in the Far East they encountered tropical winds and rains and in India ran into a sand storm.

FLIERS TO BE ACCORDED THE NATIONAL SALUTE

Boston, Aug. 31—With the arrival of Battery A, Ninth regiment, Coast artillery corps, at the Boston airport today with two anti-aircraft guns, it became known that the round-the-world fliers, upon their arrival here, will be accorded the national salute of 21 guns, anhonor accorded usually only to the president.

The battery, which came here from Fort Banks, Winthrop, Mass. will fire the salute, it was learned, with the anti-aircraft guns.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS WILL ASSEMBLE IN GENEVA TODAY

Geneva, Aug. 31 (By the A. P.)—Not since the peace conference of Versailles have the peoples of the world shown such an interest in an international gathering as in the fifth assembly of the League of Nations which will open here tomorrow to take up supreme world problems and the question how best to avert future world wars.

There seems to be a feeling prevalent here that a suitable atmosphere for fashioning some binding and effective project of accord among the nations has been created. Some of the delegates are of the opinion that the League of Nations idea of continuous friendly co-operation between governments on international questions has been the chief force in creating this atmosphere and they emphasize the idea that the new era of collaboration which is to be hoped will follow the successful London agreement will act as a powerful impulse to other and wider pacts calculated to assure peace.

A modest worker in the ranks of the league secretariat painted Geneva as a place where people think along international lines and strive to reach common consent upon vital problems in the interest of the entire population of the earth without overemphasizing the importance of local frontiers. It is this atmosphere which Ramsay MacDonald and M. Herriot as men representing extreme liberalism in political life hope to take advantage of in building up some practical project which will make wars like the last great war an impossibility and reduce to a minimum the chances of all wars, great and small.

EASTERN DIRECTOR OF REP. NATIONAL CAMPAIGN

New York, Aug. 31—Frederick C. Hicks, eastern director of the republican national campaign, today announced the appointment of Joseph P. McArdle, of Worcester, Mass., as head of the eastern headquarters labor bureau. Mr. McArdle and his colleagues will begin Tuesday an active drive for votes for Coolidge and Dawes.

The state to be covered by the eastern bureau include New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, all the New England states, and all the southern state including Oklahoma.

SPEEDBOAT CAPTURED WITH 50 CASES OF LIQUOR

New York, Aug. 31—A 20-foot speedboat with a crew of three men and 50 cases of liquor was captured off Norton's Point today by coast guards of the Sandy Hook station and taken to the United States barge office. The prisoners were released on bail of $1,000 each for arraignment Tuesday.

The boat was sighted by coast guard officers who were cruising in a high-powered speedboat off Norton's Point. After a short chase the fleeing craft struck a log, which dislodged her propoller, and was forced to surrender.

Wanted to Know.

Headlight Bill was a colored gentleman of sporting proclivities, who had got his name from a large diamond which he wore as a stud. He had occasion to consult a doctor about a "misery in his chest." The medical man eyed the stud keenly. This made Headlight somewhat uneasy. After asking a number of questions the doctor produced a stethoscope and placed it squarely over the stud. Finishing his examination the doctor looked solemn. So did the patient. "Ain't it genuwine, doctah?" asked Headlight.

Magic Word.

A Whittier mother was teaching her little son to say Amen at the end of his prayers, and the child suddenly asked: "Mother, what does Amen mean?" "Amen means the end, my dear," the mother explained. A few days later the little one was disobedient and the mother gave him a severe lecture. She felt he ought to have a whipping and talked on and on, to nerve herself for the ordeal of administering the spanking. Imagine her surprise when suddenly the child began crying "Amen, mother, Amen."

Reforming a Fool.

As a matter of brutal fact, the best way to reform a fool is to rob him until he is compelled to do better, in order to live. Pamper a fool, and tell him he is imposed on, and he will continue in his folly. Strip him and he will adopt more sensible ways, as a matter of necessity.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

To Remove Tattoo.

Tattoo marks are said to be removable by the application of a paste of salicylic acid and glycerin. A compress is applied over the paste, and the whole is secured with sticking plaster. After about eight days the paste is taken off, the dead skin removed, and the application of the paste repeated as a rule three times.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Bomb Exploded in Buenos Aires.

Buenos Aires, Aug. 31.—A bomb was exploded on the night of Aug. 22 at the door of the Argentine embassy in Rio Janeiro, according to mail advices received here. The detonation occurred a few yards away from Ambassador Mora y Araujo, who was about to enter the embassy building. He was not injured.

Sausage Meat Diet.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Aug. 31 (By the A. P.)—Sausage meat, more tightly compressed into the casings than ever before attempted, will form the main ration of the German crew which takes the American navy dirigible ZR-3 across the Atlantic to Lakehurst, N. J. Specially prepared concentrated foods will make up the remainder of the menu. For the Americans on board the aircraft there will be some canned meats, but they will have at least one sausage ration daily. Coffee will be served in the mornings only, provided the weather is fair.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT AT EAST RIVER BRIDGE

Madison, Conn., Aug. 31.—William Culler of 113 School street, Bristol, was killed and four other young men were injured in an automobile accident at the East River bridge between Guilford and Madison early this morning.

Those injured were: Francis McAvoy, New Britain, bruised knee; John McKiernan, 50 Kimberly avenue, New Haven, cut elbow; Thomas F. Mahon, 220 Kimberly avenue, cut on ankle and chin; Francis J. McDonough, 32 Lamberton street, injuries to back and head.

Lawrence R. Johnson, 124 Plymouth street, driver of the car was placed under arrest and held for the coroner, under $1,000 bond.

The men had been riding about New Haven most of the night and were on the way to Madison when the accident occurred. Just before reaching the bridge, according to Johnson, a car was seen coming in the opposite direction. Johnson pulled over to the right side of the road to permit the other machine to pass. In doing so, Johnson's machine struck the abutment on the bridge and it overturned. Johnson was thrown out, landing on his side, but was not injured. The other men were caught under the wrecked car.

The injured men were rushed to the Guilford hospital. Cullen, who, who suffered a fractured skull, died there early this morning. The car was owned by McKiernan.

According to the police, Johnson left the scene of the accident soon after the car over-turned and he was not arrested until this noon.

DAWES PREPARING FOR STRENUOUS CAMPAIGN

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 31.—Having outlined through three addresses his views on what he regards as the national campaign's leading issues, Charles G. Dawes, republican vice-presidential nominee, returned to his home here today to spend a week or ten days in preparations for more strenuous campaigning.

Mr. Dawes and his party arrived early today from Lincoln, Neb., where the nominee last Friday night delivered the third of his "foundation" addresses. He spent the day resting at his home and tomorrow, despite the holiday, will plunge into work.

The Lincoln, the Augusta, Me., and the Evanston addresses made by Mr. Dawes are regarded by him as a complete exposition of his views on what he conceives to be the leading issues. He discussed the agricultural problem in his Lincoln speech; the Ku Klux Klan question, the tariff, and trades unionism in his Augusta addresses, and the LaFollette movement, the world court and the league of nations in accepting the vice-presidential nomination.

A SPECIAL "ANCESTORS' SUNDAY" AT DUXBURY, MASS.

Duxbury, Aug. 31.—Sitting in the pews of their ancestors, descendants of the Aldens, the Bradfords, the Brewsters and other New England families in Colonial history, today observed a special "Ancestors' Sunday" at the first Parish Unitarian church. The church was organized in 1632 and the building now in use was erected in 1841.

Included among those attending the morning service were many of the descendants of the original pewholders in the present edifice and many others descended from the seventeenth century founders of the church. The church society, still active, has attained more than local note with its large summer congregations gathered against the competition of adjacent golf links and surf bathing.

FALL FROM FOURTH STORY WAS FATAL TO "HUMAN FLY"

Chambersberg, Pa., Aug. 31—George Oakley, "human fly," of Pasadena, Calif., died here today as the result of injuries he received in a fall from the fourth story of a bank building last night.

Oakley had climbed up the outside of the building, steadying himself by clinging with a cane to an automobile inner tube which his wife held down to him from the windows above. The tube broke and Oakley plunged to the sidewalk, narrowly missing spectators.

OBITUARY.

Raymond E. Pierce.

Torrington, Conn., Aug. 31—RaymondE. Pierce, 35, Litchfield county Y. M. C. A. secretary, died today at his home in Wapping after a brief illness of pnuemonia. Mr. Pierce came to Torrington a year ago from Hartford, where he was Y. M. C. A. secretary for Hartford county.

He was director at Camp Mohawk, Cornwall, where boys and girls of New Haven, Fairfield and Litchfield counties spent the summer. He was taken ill while working in the girls' camp.

Venetian Grand Canal.

The Grand canal is the name given to the principal canal and main water thoroughfare of Venice. It is nearly two miles in length, is in shape like the letter "S," and divides the city into two nearly equal parts. The "Canalazzo," as it is called in Italian, is spanned by the Rialto, and is lined with palaces which, although appearing stained and battered in the daytime, loom up grandly in the moonlight.

Guardsmen Remain On Duty in Herrin

Klan and Anti-Klan Outbreak Saturday Resulted in Death of Six Men.

Herrin, Ill., Aug. 31.—(By the A. P.)—Herrin was calm today after the outbreak yesterday afternoon in which six men were killed and one probably fatally wounded. In fact, it was unusually quiet Saturday night. From outward appearances there was no indication that anything had happened. Reports that armed klansmen from the surrounding country were en route here apparently were unfounded.

The arrival of a company of national guards from Carbondale a few hours after the shooting prevented what local residents think might have been a bitter battle between the two warring factions of Williamson county, the Ku Klux Klan and the anti-klan.

Both sides were armed to the teeth, they said, and were prepared to have it out once and for all time. As in the past, however, as soon as word reached Herrin that the troops were on their way, the fighters dispersed.

There are a dozen different versions of the trouble yesterday afternoon and no two are alike. Each side has a story in which it accuses the other of starting it.

But after the smoke of the battle, fought on one of Herrin's principal streets shortly after noon, had cleared, six men lay dead and a seventh probably mortally wounded. Four of the dead are said to have been klansmen, one was a deputy sheriff and an anti-klansman, and the other was a bystander with no known affiliation, killed by a stray bullet.

The klan dead are Dewey Nebolt, Green Dunning, Chester Reid, and Charles Willard. Otto Rolland was the bystander and the deputy sheriff was J. H. "Bud" Allison, Herman Phemister, bailiff of the Herrin city court is not expected to live as part of his skull and right eye were blown away by a shot-gun charge.

Carl Shelton, who with his brother, Earl, were charged with the murder of Constable Caesar Cagle, klansmen, February 8, last, was wounded in the arm, 2nd Deputy Sheriff Ora Thomas also received a flesh wound.

Numerous warrants charging murder have been sworn out by both sides but none had been served up until late today.

Two arrests were made, J. T. Black, owner of the Herrin hospital, scene of several sieges and battles in the past, and Claude Craig, a miner, were placed in jail charged with murder.

Witnesses said Black was home eating luch when he learned that his brother-in-law, Chester Reid, was shot. He is said to have come down town, learned that Reid had been killed and then gone to the hospital. Later he and Craigh drove down and Black failed to stop his car at a through street. Both were arrested and placed in a cell at the city jail, charged with murder. They were released shortly after noon today on $15,000 bonds.

In a long distance telephone conversation this morning with Major R. W. Davis, in command of the Third Battlion headquarters company here, General Black ordered that the troops be ready to depart for their homes by Tuesday morning.

Despite the apparent calmness many here think that the troops act merely as a wet blanket over a fire. It is generally believed that when they go, the blanket will be lifted and the fire will again burst out.

It is generally admitted tat both sides have access to large quantities of arms and ammunition and, if need be, are prepared to give battle at a moment's notice.

LARGE CROWDS OF KLANSMEN GATHERING NEAR HERRIN

Herrin, Ill., Aug. 31.—(By the A. P.)—Large crowds of Ku Klux Klansmen tonight were gathering about a huge flaming cross near Hurst, seven miles west of here, as a climax to yesterday's clash between members of the klan and their opponents, in which six man were killed and several wounded, one probably fatally. Tonight's meeting was regarded by Herrin members of the hooded organization as an advance notice of a hegira into the turbulent district embracing Herrin and other large mining centers of Williamson county.

A LABOR HYMN

(Tune: "Hold Thou My Hand")

Let there be light, let there be joy and gladness;
Let life, and love, and peace, fill all the earth;
Let right, and health, supplant all wrong and sadness;
And pain and sorrow be replaced by mirth.

Why should the earth be filled with cruel hunger?
Why should the nations clash in deadly strife?
Why class and creed to rend the world asunder?
And wealth and want, to curse and surfeit life?

God's sunshine smiles upon a world of Beauty;
God's glorious air is free to all the race;
God's rain doth fall on every field in duty;
Injustice ne'er hath marred kind Nature's face.

Man's inhumanity, through countless ages;
Man's systems founded deep on sordid gain;
Man's ignorance, despair of all the sages;
These ever filled the earth with grief and pain.

When wisdom rules our life instead of custom;
When hoar tradition shall have lost its sway;
When prejudice and power shall yield to reason;
Then Justice, Truth, and Right, shall have their day.

Four Warships to be Sent to Amoy, China

Three Destroyers and a Gunboat Going There as a Precautionary Measure.

Washington, Aug. 31.—Three destroyers have been ordered to Shanghai and the gunboat Sacramento to Amoy, China, as a precautionary measure, by Admiral Thomas Washington, commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet.

The destroyers, named in despatches to the navy department today from Admiral Washington, are the Tracy, Borie and Smith Thompson. No details of the situation growing out of war threats between military governors Chi Shieh-Yuan and Lu Yung-Hsiang, were given in the brief report.

Admiral Washington's action presumably was requested by American diplomatic officers in Pekin and it is not regarded as improbable by officials here that the Peking diplomatic body, comprising representatives of other foreign powers, approved the step, and that it will be followed by movements of other than American naval craft to Shanghai and other affected ports.

It was recalled in this connection that the diplomatic representatives in Pekin reiterated their warning to that government that all foreign nationals, properties and other interests in or about Shankhai should be given adequate protection in the event of hostilities. The communication addressed to the Pekin authorities said if the Pekin government failed to accord protection in this regard the governments interested would adopt "such measures and utilize such means as are available" to them for use in China.

CHINESE FACTIONS FAILED TO EFFECT AN ARMISTICE

Shanghai, Aug. 31 (By the A. P.)—Conferences among leaders of the opposing Chinese factions had failed today to effect an armistice. Commercial and financial interests of Shanghai were endeavoring to induce both sides to agree to designate a neutral zone surrounding Shanghai, to be immune from military operations.

TROPICAL STORM WITH HIGH WIND IS MOVING NORTHWEST

Washington, Aug. 31.—The weather bureau today issued the following advisory storm warning:

"Tropical storms attended by winds, hurricane force, central about 150 milesnortheast Turks Island, moving northwestward about 10 miles an hour. The storm center will probably reach 75th meridian Tuesday. Caution——advise all vessels bound for regions east of Bahamas."

MAN JUMPED FROM CENTER OF MANHATTAN BRIDGE

New York, Aug. 31.—An unidentified man jumped from the center of the Manhattan bridge today and apparently was drowned, according to a report from a Brooklyn police station. His body did not reappearafter striking the water. With a straw hat the man tossed upon the bridge a newspaper containing an account of a man who dived from the Williamsburg bridge yesterday.

The 20,000,000 gold marks will be the first payment of the $3,000,000 gold marks which will be placed at Mr. Young's disposal during September by the German and the allied governments. The French, Belgian and Italian governments, beginning tomorrow, will turn over to the agent general the proceeds from their administration of the Ruhr. These sums probably will amount during September to from 35,000,000 to 50,000,000 gold marks. Germany will pay in September another sum of 20,000,000 in gold marks, and if at the end of the transitional period of five weeks the entire $3,000,000 gold marks have not been made up, Germany will supply the balance.

Mr. Young has conferred in Paris with the French and Belgian administrators of the so-called "Micum" agreements in the Ruhr, which expire tomorrow. He has asked them to see if they cannot be prolonged throughout September. If so, the agent general will immediately take over paying for coal and other deliveries in kind. The "Micum" representatives left for the Rhur today. They expect to return by Tuesday with a favorable answer for Mr. Young.

GERMANY IS LOOKING FOR AMERICAN CAPITAL

Berlin, Aug. 31. (By the A. P.)—Germany's ability to carry out the Dawes reparation plan will depend measureably on the extent to which American capital is invested and placed at the disposal of the main economic organizations. This was the belief expressed to the Associated Press today by Dr. [illegible] United States chief administrative officer of the Dawes Plan. Dr. Stinnes, German industrialist.

Lack of capital in the United States alike, was responsible for restricting German industry to [illegible] 50 per cent of its normal capacity. Another essential to German s[illegible] to form the reparations part[illegible]ly raised in the London agreement [illegible] previous suggested. German s[illegible] to compete freely in the world [illegible] as an export barrier, the [illegible] would be very [illegible] make payments [illegible] and deliveries in kind.

Dr. Stinnes estimated the yield from Germany's export [illegible] furnish food for twenty [illegible] workers and enable her to pay [illegible] and amortization [illegible] and credits.

LABOR DAY MESSAGE BY WARREN S. STONE

Cleveland, Aug. 31.—(By the A. P.) War can be abolished by the united efforts of organized labor, Warren S. Sotne, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said today in a Labor day message.

The world, he contined, can be made a better place to live in by labor helping to attain world peace, by organized workers using "progressive political action" to put into office elective officials in sympathy with their cause, and by organized labor marshalling the forces of production, of distribution, and of finance.

While asserting that both major political parties have "betrayed" the case of the workers, Mr. Stone did not urge any specific political alignment for organized labor.

We have shunned independent political organizations," he said, "and have trusted the political machines of the two old parties to look after labor's interests.

"When one party has betrayed us, we have gone to the other, only to be betrayed in turn. The constitutional liberties of the workers have been violated as ruthlssly by a democrat, Mitchell Palmer, as by a republican, Harry M. Daugherty. The recent conventions of both old parties give labor scanty consideration, and one of them has nominated for vice presidency the country's most blatant opponent of union workers.

Referring to world peace, the message said:

"The greatest service that labor can render to the human race today is to stop forever the scourge of war. And the organized workers alone have the power to do it, for without their aid no armamemts could be made and no battles fought. Yet, patiently, for the centuries, the workers have suffered themselves to be saddled with with the awful costs of war in blood and taxes. Little reckoning that if the men who make wars had to do the fighting and pay the bills, the war game would cease before tomorrow.

GOV'T HAS GIVEN HUGE ORDER FOR EXPLOSIVES

New York, Aug. 31—The United States government has just placed the largest single order for explosives ever awarded, not excepting the gigantic wartime requisitions, the American Chemical Society announced today. The order is for one hundred million pounds, all of it to be used for projects of peace. The explosives will be used for road construction, agricultural purposes and similar blasting work, according to the society.

The society's statement accompanied an announcement of the fall meeting of the organization at Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 8 to 13. American and British chemical experts are scheduled to deliver addresses, many of them dealing with the use of explosives in peace times.

OBITUARY

Edward G. Trimper.

Hartford, Aug. 31.—Edward G. Trimper, ex-secretary of the Connecticut Agricultural society, under whose auspices the Connecticut state fair will open here tomorrow, died today at the Hartford hospital. He underwent an operation for appendicitis a week ago and failed to rally.

City of Byzantium.

The city is also known as Byzantium, which is the older name. Constantinople was founded, according to tradition, by a band of settlers from Megara under the leadership of Byzas in 658 B. C. and received its name from him. It was nearly a thousand years before the Roman emperor Constantine rebuilt the city, called it by his own name and made it the capital of the empire. It was also called "Roma Nova" or "New Rome" on account of this latter fact.

PRINCE OF WALES SPENT SUNDAY PRACTICING POLO

Syosset, N. Y., Aug. 31.—The Prince of Wales today passed the first day of his vacation on Long Island in the manner in which he best likes to be known, as an English gentleman on a polo holiday. He practiced on the polo grounds for nearly two hours exercising all of the eight ponies he brought across, and then took a motor tour of this section of the island.

He expects to take part in an extra game of polo tomorrow morning, attend a luncheon party in the afternoon and perhaps to run over to Belmont Park to see Epinard's race against a field of American race horses, but the exact program, beyond the luncheon is wholly dependent on last minute whims of his mercurial, capricious royal will. When asked upon the polo field today what his plans were for the remainder of the day, the future Edward VIII smiled and replied, "I have no program. Isn't that nice?"

The prince, having rested well after his trip to Washington yesterday, arose at nine o'clock this morning a few minutes before eleven, accompanied by Major E. D. Metcalfe, his equerry he drove to the polo grounds on the W. R. Grace estate near Westbury. He wore brown Bedford cord breeches, tan riding boots, a navy brown sweater with a large collar and a Panama hat with the brim pulled down.

When he took off his hat his golden hair gleamed in the sun, as did a large ring when he extended his left hand as a traffic signal.

FIRST PRIZE AWARDED FOR FRENCH PEACE PLAN

Boston, Aug. 31.—The plan which has been awarded first prize of 100,000 francs out of 5,319 plans submitted fro the French peace awards inaugurated by Edward A. Filene of this city was made public tonight. The name of the winner was not announced. The award was made by a jury of distinguished Frenchmen.

The winning plan analyzes the different crises from which Europe suffers as a result of the World war and indicates a solution for each. The outstanding feature of the plan is a proposal for a European league of nations within a world league of nations which would in effect result in a United States of Europe, forming a single economic unit and presenting a common political front.

Judging of plans submitted for similar awards in Great Britain, Germany and Italy has been completed and the winning plans will be made public later. Mr Filene offered $10,000 in prizes in each of the four countries.

"HUMAN FLY" FELL FROM COURT HOUSE TOWER

Albert Lea, Minn., Aug. 31—H. E. Pigman, "human fly," of Los Angeles, who fell from the court house tower here last night while attempting to climb to the top of the structure, was in a serious condition at a hospital tonight.

One thigh was broken and wrenched out of shape, several ribs were splintered, one foot crushed, his head severely cut, and he may be injured internally.

Want to Reach 100?

Want to live a long time? Ostriches are regular octogenarians, as most of them live to be from 70 to 90 years of age, while individuals that reach the century mark occasionally occur, says Nature Magazine of Washington. These novel speedsters of the sandy plains eat grass and grain in generous amounts, and for dessert consume pebbles, glass or even iron or any other scraps of metal they can get hold of. This foreign material aids them to digest their food in the same way that grit is essential in the diet of the ordinary hen.

POETRY FOR WIDE AWAKES

AFTON WATER

Flow gently, sweet Afton, among thy green braes,
Flow gently, I'll sing thee a song in thy praise;
My Mary's asleep by thy murmuring steam—
Flow gently, sweet Afton, disturb not her dream.

Thou stock-dove whose echo resounds through the den,
Thou green eyed laping, thy screaming forbear—
I charge you disturb not my slumbering fair.

How lofty, sweet Afton thy neighboring hills,
Far marke'd with the courses of clear, winding rills;
There daily I wandar as noon rises high,
My flocks and my Mary's sweet cot in my eye.

How pleasant thy banks and green valleys below,
Where wild in the woodlands the primroses blow;
There, oft as mild evening weeps over the lea,
The sweet scented birk shades my Mary and me.

Thy crystal stream, Afton, how lovely it glides,
And winds by the cot where my Mary resides;
How wanton thy waters her snowy feet lave
As gathering sweet flowerets she stems they clear wave.

Flow gently, sweet Afton, among thy green braes,
Flow gently, sweet river, the theme of my lays;
My Mary's asleep by the murmuring stream—
Flow gently, sweet Afton, disturb not her dream!

John Anderson, my Jo, John,
We clamb the hill thegither;
And monie a canty day, John,
We've had wi' ain anither.
Now we maun totter down, John,
But hand in hand we'll go;
And sleep thegither at the foot,

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE AWAKES

Vacation time is nearly over and soon the sound of the school bell will be heard throughout the hills and valleys of Eastern Connecticut and the Wide Awakes will once again face the problems of arithmetic, geography and other studies.

Without a doubt every Wide Awake has enjoyed the summer vacation and the next few weeks will bring letters to Uncle Jed telling about the trips taken during the summer and good times had at the beachs or on the farm.

Perhaps there is some boy or girl who has not written a letter to the Wide Awakes as yet. Your letters will be welcomed, so just glance over the rules at the top of this column and send in your bit to add to the circle. You may not think that a story about your good times will be of interest to other boys and girls, but in this you are wrong.

Hundreds of boys and girls are not fortunate enough to have vacations at the sea-shore or on farms, but stories about either of these pleasures will be interesting reading to those who stayed at home.

Just think back over the happenings of the summer. Try to describe some uncommon happining during those weeks just passed and send in your story to Uncle Jed and his Wide Awakes. Perhaps your letter will be of interest and win for you one of the Prize Books, that are always sent out to the six or eight best story writers.

Something original is always best as it gives you a chance to display talent in writing, a thing that in future years you may find valuable to you. Never mind if your story is a short one, tell it for the benefit of the other boys and girls of this part of the state, and, if it proves to be interesting and worthy of a prize you will be a prize winner, a lucky boy or girl among the Wide Awakes.

Then, in closing, as Uncle Jed himself comes back to his circle next week, let me say that your letters have been interesting to me and to the members of your happy little circle. Don't forget to write often during the coming months, take pains to follow the rules and work hard for your prizes, for nothing is so sweet as that which is earned through honest effort.

Good-bye and good luck to every one of you during your coming school year. Study hard and push ahead into the higher grade. It's worth the effort and you will make your parents proud of you in years to come, if, by your efforts now, you climb the first grades of life, that in future years will reward you with success and prosperity.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE AWAKES

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

Dear Uncle Jed: As I have not written to the Wide Awake circle in a long time I will try and tell you about our Sunday school picnic at Roseland park.

We left Dayville about one thirty on Saturday afternoon. The children and a few grown ups went in an interstate bus and some went in other automobiles; also the band fellows from Dayville, which made it very pleasant. The park is a very pretty place, as it is well taken care of. The lake is also very pretty and very nice for boating.

We enjoyed ourselves by having a ball game, and foot races. The winner received first and second prizes. My sister won a prize.

Then we had a very nice lunch, consisting of sandwiches of many kinds, lemonade and ice cream, cake and cookies.

When my little brother got out of the auto, he saw an iron deer standing on the lawn and said, "Daddy, chase that thing away." He had seen deer around our place and he though sure this one was alive too. As it was getting late we were all tired and ready to come home. We arrived home about 7:30 after a very good time.

It will soon be time to go to school again. I hope all the Wide Awakes enjoyed their vacations and will be ready to start school again. I hope to see many letters telling of vacation times.

A WEIRD EXPERIENCE

One night last summer I had an experience that frightened me so badly that I did not venture out alone at night for a long time. I had spent the evening at a friend's house some distance from the town and was repaid for my late staying by having to make my return trip along a country road. I refused the many offers to "see me home," and started out bravely, whistling a merry tune, my memory going back to the gay time I had had earlier in the evening.

I had gone a short distance and had passed most of the way through the straggly woods on either side of the road, when I was roused from my thoughts by a fearful shriek. Looking ahead I saw a huge misshapen monster, enveloped in a ghostly light, slowly nearing me. Its large eyes shone dim and horrible through the deep shroud of night that enveloped the earth. From its gaping mouth, volumes of smoke and fire shot up toward the starry firmament and the moon shining through the swaying branches formed a fitting tale for my modern dragon, and showed its outlines only too clearly as it lurched and swayed over the wooded ground. With a cry that filled the woods I turned and ran with all speed back to the refuge and saw, not the terrible being that I had described, but a common threshing machine. It is needless to say that I did not walk home alone that night.

THE DORMOUSE

Dear Uncle Jed: I am sending a story entitled The Dormouse. Once upon a time a boy caught the sun in a snare. After that there was no light upon the earth. No one knew whether it was day or night. The birds did not sing their sweet morning songs, but slept all day in the tree tops. The flowers hung their pretty heads and slept and slept.

None of the people on earth got up. If they woke up they went to sleep again. Thinking it was still night But the beasts were wide awake. They did not like the darkness at all. They met together in the forest. They said, "We cannot live without the sunshine. One of us must climb up and set the great sun full." In that day the beasts were all very large. The dormouse, that is now so tiny, was the largest of them all. The dormouse was brave, too. So he said, "I will go and set the great sun free.

He went away to the east, where the sun was held in the snare. He tried to untie the knots in the cord that held the sun. As he worked he was scorched by the heat of the sun. But he worked on. He grew smaller and smaller, but still he worked on. At last the sun was free. He rose up into the sky. He sent his warm, bright rays everywhere. The birds sang their morning songs. The flowers lifted their pretty heads. The people on earth awoke and went about their work. All the beasts were glad to see the sunshine once more. But the dormouse who was so large and brave, had become small and timid.

THE NORWICH FREE ACADEMY

Dear Uncle Jed: One of the most picturesque buildings of Norwich is the Norwich Free Academy. It is situated near Park church. It consists of three floors of teaching space and a basement. On the right side of the building is the manual training building. A building for the pupils, on the right, is the Slater Memorial. A wonderful exhibition of art. In back of that is the art school. This is given entirely to the pupils who take pottery and art studies. There is a large campus in back of the school buildings and a beautiful lawn in front. The home of the principal is at the left side of the Slater Memorial. Norwich has this building to be proud of.

LIKKES CAPITOL PARK

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my first letter to you. I want to tell you about some of the things I saw when I went to Hartford. There was the state capitol which is very magnificent looking and the wonderful garden or park around it.

Elizabeth park is another worth seeing in the Connecticut capitol city. The wonderful array of flowers fairly takes ones breath away. There are flags, emblems and pinwheels, circles, stars, etc.

But capitol park was what I liked best. The merry-go-round, the ferris wheel, the snap-the-whip, and the airplanes. If any of the Wide Awakes should go to Hartford go to this park. I'm sure you would like it as well as I did.

THE MOCKKING BIRD

Dear Uncle Jed: I have decided to write another letter to the Wide Awake circle. It's about the Mocking Bird. No two mocking bird families can occupy the same tree or bush, and there are some lively scraps before their territorial boundaries are established, but once settled, their peace treaty is faithfully kept. The mocking bird never forgets that he is a star in the musical world. He will help pick out the building place and lay the foundation of the nest, then he suddenly seems to make up his mind that he is a poor architect, but a fine musician, and abandons house-building for the business of singing for his own little world.

EMMA I. ROODE, Age 13.

THE OSTRICH

Dear Uncle Jed: How many children have seen an ostrich. Ostriches are found in great flocks in the deserts of Asia and Africa. When this great bird suns it has a proud haughty appearance, and when running with the wind, it flaps its wings. The swiftest horse cannot overtake it then, but hot weather and when there is no wind, it is not so difficult to overtake it.

The ostrich lays great eggs, so large indeed, that one is enough to serve two or three persons at a meal. They are a great delicacy, and are prepared for food in many ways. If the eggs of the ostrich be touched by anyone in the absence of its parents, the bird will not only not lay any more in the same place, but will trample in pieces all that has been left, so that the natives are careful not to touch the eggs with their hands, but always push them out of the nest with a long stick.

OUR PRICE

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my first letter to the Wide Awakes, but I like to read the letters the other boys and girls write so thought I would write and tell you about our picnic in Mohegan park. One night last week my papa and mamma invited three other little girls and they put up just the nicest lunch and we started about five o'clock in my papa's automobile. In about fifteen minutes we were at the park, near the lake. We all had a nice time in the swings, and on the sea saws and were all ready for supper when mother called us. We sat on the piazza of the house that is there and everything was so good, we ate and ate. When we were all satisfied Papa said, "Who wants to feed the monkeys." We all ran to see who would get there first. It was lots of fun to see them eat peanuts, and some one had left Jimmie a piece of a looking glass and it was so funny to see him pick it up in his hand and look at himself. He almost laughed out loud.

A LESSON IN POLITENESS

Dear Uncle Jed: I am writing to tell you of a boy who had a lesson in politeness.

A young boy who lived in the woods with his friends went to a well to get a drink. While he was drinking an old woman appeared and said, "Please give me a drink." The boy asked the woman why he should give her a drink. "Because I am a fairy," was the answer.

The boy looked and saw a beautiful fairy standing before him. She said to him, "Because you have been so rude you shall be punished." His punishment was that he should not have any friends and live in the woods alone all his life. The boy said, "I am very sorry for what I have done. But it was too late for the fairy had gone. That was a lesson in politeness.

LIKES JACK RABBIT STORIES

Dear Uncle Jed: I am a little girl not quite eight years old. I live in the city with papa and mamma. Every morning I try to get the Bulletin before they do and the first thing I do, I look for the Jack Rabbit story and ask my mamma to read it to me before she does anything else. I love to hear about Jack Rabbit's funny things and wonder if any other little girls and boys like to have them read to them. This is the first letter I ever wrote to you but if you print it may be I will write you again.

FOR MY PAPA, Part II

Dear Uncle Jed: Soon Jack saw the big black headlight of the engine Puff, puff, puff, came the engine and soon it stopped at the station. Jack ran eagerly up to the noisy engine, and cried, "Hello papa." "Hello Jack," cried his father, and ran to meet him. Then he took him and his pail into the cab, and held him in his lap.

"What has my little boy for papa tonight?" he asked.

"First I have mamma's kiss," said Jack.

It took papa a long time to get it with many others.

"There are a lot of goodies for you," said Papa.

"Good night, papa," said Jack, and his papa said, "Good night, my son."

Jack gave his papa another kiss as he left for home.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

MRS. PORKY PORCUPINE

Now let me ponder, let me think,
Give my eyes a winky blink,
Did we finish the last story?
Tell your Uncle David Cory.

Now, would you believe it, if I didn't say so, little reader? Just as I ended this poetry song, who should hop on my window-sill but Bobbie Redvest, that dear little bird, who so often relates to me the doings of Little Jack Rabbit. Yes, there he stood, his head on one side, winking his pretty eye.

We visited her a good morning

"I'm surprised you can't remember Everything you daily write.
Lots of boys and girls I know of Every story can recite.

"Dear me," I exclaimed, "they must have wonderful memories."

"Yes, indeedy," answered Bobbie Redvest. "But hurry up, Uncle Dave. Put down what happened when Little Jack Rabbit heard the voice under the brush-heap in the story before this."

Well, well, well. Wasn't I relieved to hear him say that, for at once I remembered what was going to happen in this story.

Just as the voice exclaimed for the third time, "I guess I've found the very spot, who should creep out from under the big brush-heap but Mrs. Porky Porcupine. For a moment, the little rabbit mistook her for Mr. Porcupine, but on seeing that her coat wasn't quite as dark as his, although hidden in it were just as many sharp pointed little spears, he politely took off his little khaki cap and wished her a good morning.

"Where is Porky Porcupine?" he asked, after a moment's pause, during which the lady porcupine showed plainly her impatience at being disturbed.

"I'm sure I don't know," she answered. "Probably busy eating tender twigs. He's never very far away. We see each other every day, but he goes his way and I go mine. Just at present I'm very busy. Please excuse me." and Mrs. Porcupine slowly turned and crept under the brush-heap.

"Dear me," thought the bunny boy, "she's not very sociable. Guess I'll hop along," and away he went, his little knapsack bouncing up and down on his back and his red-striped candy cane swinging from his left paw. If he had known what Mrs. Porcupine was up to, maybe he would have been more interested. But he didn't, you see. So on he hopped, leaving the lady porcupine who was always hungry and thought more about his stomach than anything else. In fact, neither of them was very sociable. They had few friends in the Shady Forest. Nobody likes to come very close to a porcupine, his sharp pointed spears are likely to stick out and prick one.

So while the little rabbit is hopping away and Mrs. Porcupine is busy with her new home, I'll ask Bobbie Redvest what the write in the next story.

DAVID CORY.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Nathan D. Prince was elected president of the Windham County National bank, at a meeting of directors of the institution held Saturday, succeeding Timothy E. Hopkins, whose death occurred a few days ago and under whom Mr. Prince had served as vice-president since 1914.

In attaining to the presidency of an institution organized 102 years ago and which today is the strongest of any time in its long history, Mr. Prince has achieved advancement from the humble position of junior clerk, which he assumed during the summer vacation season in 1898, to the highest office that his associates in the institution can confer upon him. Each step in his advancement has been an award of merit.

It was in June 1898, just after Mr. Prince had been graduated from Killingly High school, that he entered the employ of the Windham County National bank as a junior clerk. In September of that year he was promoted to be a bookkeeper and in 1903 became a teller. Important changes in the administration of the bank in that year brought him advancement to the cashiership, in November, 1903, and in the following year, while continuing as cashier, he was elected by the directors to be vice-president of the institution, under Timothy E. Hopkins, who, in 1904, had became a member of the board of directors of the bank and remained a member of the directorate until his death, also serving as president for the past decade.

In 1915 Mr. Prince resigned as cashier, though retaining the vice-presidency that he might devote a major portion of his time to the duties of a vice-president of the Hartford-Connecticut Trust company, one of the most important banks in New England, a position in which he has become recognized as among the most able bankers of the east.

Mr. Prince, as vice-president of the Windham County National bank and one of the principal stockholders of the institution, has kept in closest touch with the local bank during all of the nine years that he has been connected with the Hartford bank and has continued to maintain his home here.

The advancement of Mr. Prince to be president of the bank leaves the position of vice-president, vicated by his promotion, open for the time be-

Nathaniel G. Williams, one of the best known residents of the town of Brooklyn, was thrown out of his wagon and somewhat injured, Saturday afternoon, when the vehicle was run into by an automobile driven by Harris Fitch, of Atwood avenue, Watertown.

Mr. Williams was returning to his home from Danielson and was traveling along the state highway, near the old brickyard, when the Fitch car came rushing around a curve and crashed into the read end of the wagon. The crash wrecked the wagon but caused only minor damage to the automobile figuring in the affair.

Fitch was taken into custody by State Officer Merrill Keith, who happened along just after the accident occurred, and later was presented before Justice Frank M. Bedard, of the West Side, on a charge of reckless driving. Fitch pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $25 and costs, which he could not pay, being temporarily out of that amount of funds, so went to jail. In the meantime, a Waterbury friend of his riding with him at the time of the accident, proceeded post haste to Waterbury with a view to getting sufficient money to bring about Fitch's release.

Mrs. Katherine Murray, a resident on Main street, near the public library, is a patient at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam, as the result of injuries sustained Friday evening on the West Side, when she was struck by an automobile driven by George Pope, of Goodyear. Mrs. Murray, though taken to the hospital, is not regarded as seriously injured. She is suffering chiefly from shock, minor abrasions and strained ligaments. Mr. Pope, as a result of the accident, has been ordered to appear in a justice's court in the town of Brooklyn next Wednesday evening to make answer to the charges that will be preferred against him.

The big event in this vicinity today is South Killingly's annual observance of its Old Home day. Much has been said of this event and the preparations for it during the past three weeks. All the publicity has been fully warranted. Given good weather, there likely will be a record breaking attendance at this year's Old Home Day at South Killingly.

Earl Bassett of Broad street and John Nash of Franklin street are at Oakland beach for the holiday period.

This (Labor Day) morning at 7.30 o'clock at St. James' church, there is to be a high mass of thanksgiving, which parishioners have been urged to attend, that acknowledgment may be made for the opportunities of labor than have been afforded during the year and that prayers may be offered for a prosperous year to come.

That they may escape controversies with officers should they drive over into Rhode Island or into Masanchusetts, numbers of owners of motor cars here have removed the banned parking girl stickers from the windshields of their machines.

This is the final week at Camp Devens for the members of the Service battery, which has been absent from Danielson for nearly two weeks. The command will return here the coming week end.

Miss Katherine Thayer of Putnam spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. Carl Witter of Cottage street.

Pierre Boulaine has been confined to his home by an attack of illness the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Anderson have been spending a few days in New York.

Public schools of the town of Killingly and St. James' parochial schools will open Tuesday morning for the fall term.

Mr. and Mrs. Mutty Bedard, of the West Side, were at Southbridge Saturday to attend the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Callahan. Mrs. Callahan is a sister of the late Daniel Cooney, for many years a resident of this town.

Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Pontin, of Hartford, and Mrs. John Hanley of Pomfret recently have been visitors with friends in Danielson.

Sunday afternoon Old Sol gave an August farewell party by running the mercury up to 94 degrees, one of the high records of the summer season now drawing to a close.

Mrs. Catherine McCormack has been entertaining her cousin, Mrs. Margaret Doran, of Providence.

Miss Josephine Beaudry of Providence has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Arrigan on Carter street.

No arrests followed a crash in which two automobiles figured on the state highway, near Shippee hill, Sunday morning. Both cars in the affair were somewhat damaged.

Mrs. Alexander Higgins of Pawtucket, formerly a resident here, was a visitor with friends in Danielson over Sunday.

Today, Labor Day, is the end of the cottage season for a number of those who have been spending weeks on the shores of Alexander's lake.

Henry C. Spindler of Providence is spending the holiday period with friends in Danielson.

After an illness of about two weeks, Thomas W. Adams died at his home on North Main street Sunday evening. Mr. Adams was a native of Woodstock but had lived in this town a great part of his life. He has been a mill worker and for years was engaged in the fish business. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Walter and Willard, both of Danielson.

Funeral services for John Dokton, 60, were held from his home in Wauregan Saturday afternoon with burial in the Sacred Heart cemetery in that place. Mr. Dokton died Thursday night, a suicide, after having taken some sort of poison. He was a mill worker and formerly lived in Goodyear. He leaves his wife and three children.

PUTNAM

John T. Hanton, formerly superintendent of the Manhasset Manufacturing company, which went into the hands of a receiver some months ago, has been engaged as superintendent of the Narragansett mills at Apponaug, R. I., and will leave Putnam Tuesday to assume his new duties. The mills manufacture cotton automobile tire fabric, the same line of goods as the manhasset company produced. Mr. Hanton was selected from a field of 32 applicants.

Mr. Hanton came to Putnam from Wilkinsonville, Mass., to become overseer of the twisting department of the Manhasset mill. He was promoted to be assistant superintendent and upon the death of the superintendent, A. D. Lown, about five years ago, he was made superintendent. When the reorganization took place Mr. Hanton was forced out of a position. He has since been employed in a similar line of business in Worcester.

Mr. Hanton will succeed in Apponaug Stewart Fisher, who went from Putnam some years ago to become superintendent there. Mr. Fisher resigned to take the superintendency of the Lorraine mill in Westerly, R. I.

Mr. Hanton has identified himself with the affairs of Putnam. He is a member of Putnam aerie of Eagles and of the Arcanum club. He will not move his family to Apponaug at present.

Manufacturing conditions are improving a little in Putnam and surrounding towns. While there is nothing resembling a boom, there is an apparent slow, healthy improvement that, it is hoped, will continue and become permanent.

One mill manufacturing a cotton fabric, the Adams Manufacturing company, Main street, is still on a night and day schedule. The only other cotton mill now remaining in Putnam, the Putnam Manufacturing company, remains idle.

The Putnam Woolen company and the Waterman Worsted company are showing signs of activity. The Beachmont Worsted company, in Mechanicsville, has started up again and has about a hundred looms running.

The silk mills of the city are also running more hours than for some months.

Although nowhere near approaching normal, the payrolls are increasing, which will be reflected in the mercantile life of Putnam. The citizens believe that the low point has been reached and that the tide of prosperity is turning and will roll slowly in. Never has Putnam experienced the business depression that it has passed through in the past year. The closing of the First National bank, following on the factories being closed, nearly brought about a catastrophe. There were rumors that Putnam would see a number of failures among its business enterprises, but happily this was not added to the general bad conditions. It is now felt that all lines of business will be able to weather the financial storm. The discouragements of the year have brought the people together as never before. The spirit shown and the confidence in Putnam evidenced has been the two bright spots of the past dark days.

The wedding of James C. Scott, formerly assistant superintendent of the Manhasset Manufacturing company, and Miss Flora White, daughter of Alfred White of Grove street, was married Sunday by Rev. N. B. Burton pastor of the M. E. church, Putnam.

Miss White was born in Putnam, was graduated from the Putnam High school and Willimantic Normal school, class of 1923. Mr. Scott is a graduate of Brown, 1913. He served in France and Germany during the World war as lieutenant in the Fifth marines, Second division.

Following the wedding he and his bride will leave for the south, where Mr. Scott has been engaged as superintendent of the Manville Kencks tire fabric mills at Gastonia, North Carolina. They will visit New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Richmond and other cities.

Charles A. Ryan, a local public service driver, took a job to New London Thursday, and $5 of the profit on the trip went to enrich the treasury of the Whaling City. Charles either does not believe in signs or he failed to see them. Notwithstanding bright little No Parking signs loomed up at the curb, Charles drove up, stopped his car, disembarked and went away on some business. A gentleman with a blue suit adorned with brass buttons was astonished to see the Putnam automobile as was and said to himself: "How come?" And when Charles returned he said "come," dropping the "how." The Putnam man deposited $5 at the police station as a bond for appearance next morning in the municipal court. He did not appear and the clerk took the five, which will finally help its mite in paying the city's running expenses.

Stanley O'Clair of School street entered a plea of nolo when in the city court Saturday on a charge of violating the liquor law. A drunk arrested the day before is said to have squealed and told where he got his liquor. As the result of [illegible] the police went to the O'Clair home Saturday morning and after a search found a pitcher containing liquor, a half pint bottle that had contained liquor and a whiskey glass. A fine of $50 was imposed and paid.

Walter McGregor, a former chef at the Putnam inn, got drunk and went to the inn and started to make a disturbance. When ordered to leave he refused to get out and the police were summoned. McGregor paid a fine of $20 and costs of $11.14.

Abraham Taylor, colored, was sentenced to ten days in jail after pleading guilty to intoxication.

Mrs. Inez Vilette Hoyle, 77, of Putnam, died at the Day Kimball hospital Friday night following a shock sustained early in the week.

Mrs. Hoyle was born in Putnam in 1847, daughter of Lucien and Almira Burlingham Carpenter. Her husband, Richard Munhoe Hoyle, died in 1909. Mrs. Hoyle at the time of her death was living in a house on South Main street, the same house in which she was married.

Mrs. Hoyle's husband was a prominent citizen of Putnam for many years and at one time owned considerable property, including a block on Union street, and what was known as the Hoyle block on South Main street, which Mrs. Hoyle sold to Samuel Smith.

Mr. Hoyle was a veteran of the Civil war and Mrs. Hoyle had for years been an active member of the Woman's Relief corps and had been treasurer and an active member of Jessamine chapter, O. E. S., for several years. She was also a member of Mizpah Rebekah lodge, I. O. O. F.

The nearest surviving relatives are two nieces, Miss Harlie Corbin of Putnam and Mrs. Lulu Young of Brooklyn, N. Y., and a nephew, Harold S. Corbin, of New York.

No plans for any public observance of Labor day were made and the day will be spent quietly by the people of Putnam. Saturday afternoon trains brought quite a few visitors into the city, while a number of citizens went to other cities for the week end and holiday.

The day was ideal and a large crowd gathered on the athletic field between West Thmopson and Mechanicsville for the annual field day of the Mechanicsville Athletic association. Amateur sports of various kinds filled out the afternoon's program and in the evening there was dancing.

Following the recent rain, the Quinebaug river is unusually high for this time of year. Wells and springs that went dry are again furnishing water to their owners.

Attorneys from the eastern end of Windham county were in Putnam Saturday to consult with State's Attorney Charles E. Searles regarding matters pertaining to criminal cases that will come up at the term of court that opens in Willimantic Tuesday.

Tuesday will see the arrival of many Putnam people who have been spending vacations at summer cottages. The return will be in time for children to enter school which begins Wednesday.

Byron Whitney of Providence is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Whitney, Center street.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wheelock of Uxbridge, Mass., were in Putnam Saturday calling on relatives.

Framework for the fourth story of the Putnam inn is nearly in place. This will be the first four-story building in the city.

Delegates from the several towns in the 28th congressional district who will attend the republican state convention in New Haven September 9-10, met in district convention at the Putnam Inn, Saturday afternoon. The call was read by Miss Katherine Byrne, vice chairman of the republican state central committee, who is also the state central committee member of the 28th district. George M. Sampson of Woodstock was elected chairman and Miss Cora C. Larned clerk. The two delegates-at-large elected were Miss Katherine Byrne of Putnam and Judge Clarence H. Childs of Woodstock. The following appointments for the state convention were made: Vice president, Judge Clarence H. Childs; member of committee on permanent organization, Mrs. Clarence Dartt, Thompson; on credentials, C. D. Tatem, Eastford; on rules, L. M. Keith, Putnam; on resolutions, Irving W. Davis, Killingly.

After the business meeting the delegates were guests at luncheon, of Miss Kathrine Byrne and her brother, John B. Byrne, state bank examiner.

Ten medical candidates won seats in the lower house of the Japanese government at the recent election.

CITIZENS' BANK CHARTER HELD UP AT WASHINGTON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, Aug. 31.—Interest in the local national bank situation was centered Saturday in a newspaper despatch from Washington which stated that decision of the application of the citizens' committee to be allowed a charter to organize a new national bank would be deferred by the treasury department until the condition of the closed First National bank can be definitely learned. If the report of N. S. Bean of Boston, national bank examiner, the despatch says, shows that it can be reopened, the application of the committee will probably be turned down.

A leading member of the citizens' committee, while evidencing no surprise, appeared to be disappointed at the news emanating from Washington. While the members of the citizens' committee would be glad to see the old bank reopen in control of citizens of this banking community, they fear that the trend is not in this direction. The sole aim of the citizens committee, as has been frequently stated, is to establish a national bank as quickly as possible without the aid of outside capital, a bank owned, controlled and managed by local men.

Other than the newspaper despatch from Washington, the committee has heard nothing from its petition for a charter for the Citizens' National bank, for which $225,000 has been subscribed.

PLAINFIELD

At a recent meeting of Plainfield Grange, it was decided to prepare to send a team of players to the Voluntown Grange fair in September. Voluntown Grange has offered a prize to the Grange putting on the best play at the fair. The time limit is set at 20 minutes and the number of players at eight. The Plainfield team has already began rehearsals.

Henry Leary of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is home for a lengthy visit.

Miss Neshe Hartwell, physical director of Plainfield Community Association is expected to return to her duties about September 13th. She is spending a few days with her mother at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., after a trip to Alaska.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Laramie and Miss Lillian Laramie, of Taftville, spent the week end with Providence relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eastham are spending a few days at Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Connell and son Thomas left Wednesday evening for Clarksburg, West Virginia. They expect to visit many cities in the south.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hean spent Friday with friends on Block Island.

Homer Hebert who has been at Camp Devens for the past month returned home Saturday.

Royal Rouville Chabbotte has relieved Mr. Schofield at the Western Union Telegraph office.

Edmond Mercier, who for the past fifteen years has been a resident in this town has expended a large sum to beautify Plainfield by means of his new building, which is nearing completion. Mr. Mercier started in business a poor, but ambitious young man. He is a native of Taftville. Since he has been in this town he has developed a flourishing business.

Mrs. Francis Kelley has been spending a few days with relatives in Harrisville, R. I.

OUR PLAYGROUNDS

Some indication of the appreciation that is felt for the playgrounds and the work that is being done by them is furnished by the number in attendance at the second annual exhibition by the recreation commission. The number discloses those who are in touch with the recreational work, who recognize its value and who are concerned in what is being accomplished.

Not all the children of the city take advantage of the playgrounds. Not all of them are similarly placed as to recreational opportunities. There are many who are provided with ample grounds and plenty of attractions, but there are nevertheless many who have little or no other place to play than in the streets, and the streets today are a greater menace to life and limb than they ever were.

Possibly the playgrounds do not hold as many of those who should come under their influence as they should. Frequently there are instances which disclose that injuries could have been avoided and trouble escaped if the children had been in the public playgrounds instead of in the streets. And at other times it comes under the observation of many that many who are concerned in mischief that may lead to serious consequences actually need the guiding influence that is to be gained from the playgrounds.

Municipal activities of this character are steadily increasing. In the city of Philadelphia, over 5,000,000 were in attendance at the grounds of that city which maintains 32 recreation centers throughout the entire year, these facilities including 30 swimming pools and the constant attendance of 175 persons as supervisors.

[illegible] cities are only what [illegible] have a right to expect. [illegible]time when the children [illegible] could take care of themselves in the matter of play. Perhaps they came along just as well; but [illegible] was a time when conditions were decidedly different in that great common playground, the streets. As conditions change it becomes necessary to keep up with the requirements.

CHANGE TO COOPERATE

Almost from the day when prohibition went into effect attention has been called to the large amount of liquor that is being brought into this country by the smugglers. There are those who bring it to obscure points along the coast and land it at advantageous points while there are those who make a business of bringing it across the Canadian border. The job of interrupting these operations is no easy one. It is recognized as the duty of this country's enforcement authorities to prevent such violations but it is impossible for one man to be in several places at the same time and that is about what is required in order to watch the many channels of entry.

All one has to do is to visualize the long Canadian border, the Mexican border or the long coastlines to understand what is involved in connection with the job of stopping the smugglers.

What it is believed is bound to be of much assistance in dealing with the illegal traffic along the Atlantic seaboard is the treaty agreement reached with Great Britain concerning the twelve mile limit. What may be equally advantageous in time is indicated by the complaints registered in Canada over the losses which are sustained by the dominion through smuggling. Canada is feeling the effects of operations even as this country is. The more smuggling that is done the more there are who become interested in it. Canada knows that liquor is going from the dominion to this country, and while it violates no Canadian law it does break the law of this country. When Canada realizes that smuggling is costing its treasury millions yearly there is a different feeling.

What the outcome is going to be no one knows. It becomes evident however, that as the two countries reach the common ground of suffering from the activities of smugglers they are getting to a point where a common understanding for the purpose of blocking such operations can be expected. If both are affected, even though it is in a different way, the willingness to join hands in ending the violations may not be so far away.

GERMANY HEADED RIGHT

Faced with the responsibility of putting the Dawes plan into operation or of preventing it, Germany has done the commendable thing. It was not, however, without a severe struggle on the part of the nationalists to block it. They were prepared to sacrifice the country further for the sake of their cause regardless of the manifestations that the people of Germany were disposed to end the policies that have been followed and contribute to the improvement of the situation in Europe.

It is to be realized that while Germany in thus acting in a way that should end the reparation fight, it is also causing affairs to be so shaped that advantages will accrue to Germany. Committed to policies that were intended to repudiate the promises that had been made, and bent upon preventing the allied countries from getting the advantages under the terms of the Versailles treaty, Germany has been standing in its own light. It has pursued a course whereby it cut off its own nose in order to spite the allies. It invited the occupation of the Ruhr and the result was a setback which crippled and the effects of which will not be removed for some time to come.

By the reichstag's acceptance of the Dawes reparation proposal agreement as approved at London a solution agreed upon following investigation by experts has been adopted. Similar action by the other countries has been less uncertain. Germany settles the matter and all that stands in the way of a successful outcome is the living up to the promises. There are loans to come and there are obligations to be fulfilled. Germany must live down the manner in which it has treated promises in the past, but with its experiences in that direction fresh in mind there will be less disposition to make some of the recent mistakes, especially since they have reacted with such serious effects. Germany in doing the right thing must hold steadfastly to the straight and narrow path. It will not be so hard but what it will prove to be the wiser and easier course in the end. Germany at least is headed right.

TALKING COMMON SENSE

When General Dawes spoke in Lincoln, Nebraska, it was to be expected that he would talk about the farm conditions. He was in the midst of the farming region and he was not oblivious to the fact that there is a farm situation which needs attention. He didn't undertake to make the claim that because there is a shortage which raises the prices which the farmers can get for their wheat and their corn that the trouble is all over. He didn't pretend to say that he represented anyone who had actually created this state of affairs. To have done so would have been to insult the intelligence of the farmers.

When it comes to handling the farm situation there is need of a permanent remedy, not a bluff or a temporary relief. It brings no permanent good to draw a red herring across the trail and tell the farmers that that is the course that should be followed. What is needed is such permanent adjustment as is called for by the conditions that prevail.

General Dawes gave unqualified support to the idea of President Coolidge to appoint a non-partisan farm commission to dig into the facts and produce a remedy based thereon. That means getting down to bedrock in much the same way that the European situation was tackled and being guided by the facts. That has a ring of common sense to it. That gives the farmers something more than a political promise intended as a bait for their votes. That means tackling the job with sincerity and following a study of what is needed, as determined by viewing the matter from all angles, do what is called for and not keep floundering around by guesswork.

Dawes talked straight from the shoulder. There was nothing hifalutin about his address. It was sane and sensible, clearly stated and presented in a way that cannot fail to have made an excellent impression.

BACK TO AMERICA

Much elation is bound to be felt over the return of the American fliers to America. They have not as yet reached United States soil but they are back on the continent after negotiating the Pacific, Asia, Europe and the Atlantic and now there remains only the flight to Seattle, according to the schedule, to complete the circling of the globe in the air.

Reading the progress made by the fliers gives little impression of the conditions they have encountered and the dangers that have been involved. As they have advanced in their undertaking they have gradually placed this obstancle and that problem behind them. By the completion of the flight across the Atlantic they haven't exceeded the accomplishment of that flier who did it in a single hop but they have safely negotiated a flight that involved a trip into the cold north, where uncertain weather conditions and landing places were involved. That they have safely come through, even though there was fear that thy might be obliged to abandon the flight because of the difficulties encountered, gives good assurance that the remainder of the flight, for the most part across country, will be successfully completed.

When they reached Greenland from Iceland it was figured they had bridged the most uncertain point. Having crossed from Greenland to Labrador they have made another long hop and drawn away from a region that is not particularly favorable to aviation. There are still several thousand miles to be covered but the performances thus far give assurance that they will be covered in short time now.

EDITORIAL NOTES

August warmed up on the home stretch.

All roads today will lead to the fairgrounds.

The man on the Corner says: See you at the fair.

Labor day——the day dedicated to the working man.

Even though detours become more and more common, they never become any more welcome.

German nationalists to fight Dawes plan. Many a cause gets strength from the enemies it makes.

Though it tried to prevent it will the Klan claim the credit of nominating the first woman governor of Texas?

Perhaps it is well that the league of nations should meet on Labor day. There is always much work to do when the league gets together.

Perhaps those in South Carolina who are voting for Col Blease for United States senator are figuring he will open the doors of the federal penitentiaries when he gets into office even as he turned loose murderers and others from the state prison.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Instead of greasing your bread after taking it from the oven, try greasing it before you put it in and see how much softer it is.

A strip of cretonne around the edge of a design across the top of the windows adds a bit of cheerful color to a screened or glassed-in sleeping porch.

A small window will look larger by setting the curtain rods beyond the casing on each side and using draperies heavy enough to conceal it.

An old-fashioned wooden bedstead may be transformed into a four-poster by sawing off head-board and foot-board and making a frame of light lumber, covered with draperies of cretonne.

A small clock beyond repair can be made useful for the sickroom by setting the hands at the hour when the patient is to recieve the next dose of medicine.

Moisten the stove polish with a little vinegar instead of water and you will get twice the polish with much less trouble.

Before you decide to paper that dingy room, try sweeping down the walls with a clean broom, finishing them off witht a dry cloth. It may save a papering bill.

Don't waste tears or language on casters that keep dropping out. Fill up the hole with paraffin, put the caster in while the paraffin is still soft, and never be troubled again.

For that informal "feed" after the evening card party, try sandwiches made of sweet pickles, chopped fine and mixed with plain cream cheese. Spread between thin slices of whole wheat bread. Serve with iced ginger ale.

A few drops of oil of lavender sprinkled on the shelves of your bookcases and closets will dispel the odor of mold which frequently arises from damp weather.

If bottles, jars and jelly tumblers are washed thoroughly, dried and aired before putting them away for preserving time, you will find a big part of your work done before you start. Then they need only have a boiling hot water bath and they are ready.

COMBINE WELL FOR JAM

We have so many fruits that we are apt to neglect and disregard that English favorite, the gooseberry. We use gooseberries mostly in their green state for sauce or in pies. They are good in that way, though acid, but the berries should always be cooked before putting in pies or puddings. Enameled ware, which is impervious to fruit acids, will not change the color of the fruit, and is therefore desirable for these uses.

When ripe the gooseberry makes a nice jam mixed with raspberries. Put the berries into preserving kettle and crush with a long spoon. Add one cup of sugar to one and one-half of fruit. Cook slowly, stirring often, with the cover off the kettle. Cook until the juice is cooked away and the berries are a smooth jam.

COOKING MEAT OR FISH

When cooking meat or fish, keep it in a warm place for a while before it is cooked and have it wiped as dry as possible. If very cold, the meat brings down the temperature of the fat in which it is to be fried to such an extent that a coat cannot be formed quickly enough to prevent the fat from entering the food, and a greasy product is the result.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Some skins freckle although they are not exposed directly to the sun, but much can usually be done to prevent the appearance of these blemishes by protecting the skin before going out of doors with emollient cream and powder.

Dark freckles of long standing may be lightened if not altogether removed by applying the following lotion: Two parts sulphocarbolate of zinc, 25 parts distilled glycerin, 25 parts rose water, 5 parts toilet alcohol. Sponge the affected parts in this lotion for half an hour to an hour two times a day. After the applications wash the skin in cold water.

Swimming is excellent to keep fit if your physical condition permits it. Have a doctor's advice on this point. Walking three or four miles a day is also good. Whatever outdoor exercise your constitution and tastes select, set aside ten minutes night and morning for exercises in your own room. Wear light clothing, a single garment preferably, and keep the windows wide open.

HOW TO DECORATE WALL OF THE LIVING ROOM

For the sunny living room of good size, with white woodwork and mixed furniture, a shaded effect on the walls, produced with gray paint made from raw umber and white, is excellent. By "shaded effect" is meant a treatment that shades from a dark tint at the baseboard to a lighter tint of the same color at the ceiling. The contrast between the top of the wall and ceiling may be pronounced or the wall color may shade into the ceiling color. Shaded walls have the effect of increasing the height of the room.

Paneling in the living room is interesting and satisfactory, though rather formal. The rule of odd numbers in units of decoration should be followed in the use of panels. Panels are best on large, unbroken wall areas. For the long room of northern exposure, with dark furniture, the panel color should be the darkest color on the wall—a bright tan. The stiles on wall spaces above, below and between panels should be a lighter tint of the same color, while the painted mouldings that mark off the panels may be either a still lighter tint of tan or an interesting harmonizing shade taken from the dominating color note of the furnishings.

Interesting variation is introduced by two-toning the panels, using either the crumpled paper method or a sponge and stippling brush. The use of stencils in living room decoration offers an extensive field from which to choose. In selecting stencil patterns for living rooms it is advisable to choose conventional designs, which allow areas of generous size and interesting shapes to show on the wall as a background for the applied design. Stenciling is particularly satisfactory for poorly lighted, dark rooms and for those with northern exposure.

NEW HOSIERY COLORS

Among the new hosiery colors, three stand out as "different." Shuttergreen is the green found on some old colonial houses. Venetian fuchsia is an exceptionally dark shade. And burnt russet is a russet of more than usually deep hue.

DICTATES OF FASHION

After white come beige and sand as popular shades for sport dresses.

Tiny buckles of gold or enamel are seen on the newest slippers for evening wear.

Silk braid is very much liked as a trimming for velvet and silk suits and frequently it has an intricate design interwoven in it.

When buying linen it is well to allow two dozen napkins to each tablecloth since the napkins receive more wear than the cloth.

Remnants of fat, either cooked or uncooked, should all be saved and clarified and used for shortening or frying purposes.

There is a waist line that is almost normal on many of the fall dresses and the Directoire influence about the bodice and hat becomes more pronounced.

The printed chiffon gown has become too popular with women to die with the summer and will be seen this winter more than ever before.

A truly regal shade of royal blue is seen now. It is so beautiful and rich that its popularity is assured. So far it has been confined to evening wraps and frocks.

Sleeves in various of the newer mid-summer topcoats are narrower than formerly. Some of them are extreme enough to cling to the arms.

Hydrangea blue is the color of the newest hosiery. Worn with either white shoes or black it gives almost as cool a touch to the ensemble as the pale green hosiery of early summer.

Venetian fuchsia, that gorgeous shade between crimson and cerise, is effectively used at present in smart little hats of velvet. These hats are so splendid in coloring that they require little ornamentation.

Among the frocks and coats a lovely shade of warm fawn promises to play an important part in the fall wardrobe. It is a remarkably flattering shade and one that will be welcomed by many.

TUNIC BLOUSE SMART

The extent to which the tunic blouse is impressing itself as one of the smartest of the new fashions is to be found in the variety of its manifold appearances. Mostly it is beltless, almost invariably it is about forty inches in length—and there the uniformity ceases. Often it is of black satin with woolen embroidery artfully applied at the hem, or with tinsel-thread embroidery enlivening its sober surface. Sometimes a long panel of decoration runs from neckline to hem, back and front, to add to the effect of slimness and length.

Chiffon and velvet in such brilliant colors as orange or vivid blue are found in the so-called models. A striking one is of cut velvet of a deep burnt-orange through whose fine meshes the black underslip shows. In complete contrast is a tailored tunic of black bengaline, with long tight sleeves and deep collar and cuffs of crisp white organdie and a belt of soft dull black kid clasped loosely around its middle.

This prevalence of the tunic is forcing a better fitting underslip into the foreground as there must be a minimum of seams and fullness under these long slim garments. One advantage is that with one slip of good black satin several tunics can be worn, ranging from the dinner tunic of chiffon or velvet to the practical one for business and sports wear.

WITH UPTURNED BRIM

Among the close-fitting black satin hats which are rapidly coming into favor today is one with a very tiny brim turning up in front. The crown is extremely high and the height is augmented by a lofty fancy ostrich, uncurled.

NEEDLEWORK NOTES

A mah jongg cover for the card table is made of black satean and embroidered with Chinese figures in bright colors.

Voile lingerie at present has a great deal of cross-stitch decoration. Heliotrope voile, for instance, has long insets of white voile cross-stitched to the garment.

Cut off apron strings of worn-out aprons and put on aprons made from hubby's old shirts. Saves lots of stitching and wears as long as the madeover aprons.

Press the mussed material before attempting to cut it out. You are very apt to have a mishappen garment if the material is not smooth under the pattern.

FRAMING TAPESTRIES

Framing tapestries is not a difficult undertaking if ribbon is chosen for the frame and the best quality liquid glue is used in the process. If you desire to have the tapestry mounted picture wise use a heavy cardboard for the mounting. Glue the tapestry firmly to the cardboard. Cut a frame of narrow cardboard; cover this with a harmonizing ribbon and glue the covered frame to the tapestry. The cardboard basis will make the frame stand out from the tapestry, and if the ribbon has been carefully selected it will set the tapestry colors off to the best advantage, giving at the same time a silken finish to even an inexpensive tapestry.

Subdued shades of ribbon accentuate the colors of the tapestry and are to be preferred to any of the more brilliant shades. Ribbon is suggested because it has the finished edge and can be obtained in any width.

The needlepoint and gobelin tapestries are beautiful, but quite beyond the average pocket book. But a less expensive tapestry can be given the appearance of richness by an effective and appropriate frame.

FOR THE BRIDE

Get an attractive little book. Keep it on your desk with a pencil attached. Have guests who stop with you write their names and date therein. You'll have some which will be exceedingly interesting as the years pass by.

FOR LEFT OVER OLIVES

Olives opened for some special occasion, when all are not required, may be kept almost indefinitely if olive oil be poured into the bottle. The oil, being light, rises to the top of the liquid in which the olives are stored and thus keeps out the air.

STRAPS OF RIBBON

The leather straps on the handles of umbrellas soon wear out or break, in which case they cannot be mended. However, a grosgrain or moire ribbon, used in place of the leather strap, will prove practical, durable and attractive. Run the ribbon through the hole in the handle and tie in a loop to slip over the hand. The ends of the ribbon may swing or be tied into a bow.

CONCERNING WOMEN

In Esthonia, women have exactly the same political rights as the men.

Women cotton workers in Bombay, India, earn from 24 to 33 cents a day.

Telephone girls in Paris must pass a rigid physical test before being accepted for a position.

The average age of Camp Fire Girls in England is from 18 to 20 years.

FOR SORE FEET
Peterson's Ointment

To the millions of users of Peterson's Ointment, Peterson says: "Don't fail to use it for sore, burning, aching feet; it does the work over night." Best for piles, old sores, eczema, itching, pimply skin, chafing, windburn, sunburn, mosquito bites, cuts, burns and bruises. Big box, 35 cents.

whereas in this country it is from 14 to 18.

Lady Ursula Blackwood, daughter of the second Marquis of Dufferin and Ara, has opened a perfume shop in London.

Most of the managers of matrimonial bureaus in Germany are women, and a great majority of the patrons are women.

WHEN SMALL MATS CURL

To prevent small mats from curling up, or slipping from their proper places, fine them carefully with carpet, either new or old.

PREVENTS SCALDING

When boiling milk sprinkle the pan lightly with a little sugar and allow it to become very hot. Your milk will then neither scald nor boil over.

RECIPES

A box of correspondence cards makes an excellent recipe file. A hole in the top of each card makes it possible to hang the recipe on a nail right over the kitchen table while cooking or baking is being done.

Beef, Mushroom Sauce: With small skewers fasten four slices of salt pork to the upper surface of a rump filet of beef weighing about three ponds. Sprinkle with salt, dredge with flour and bake in a hot oven for one hour. Slice the filet, arrange on a hot platter and pour over the slices a mushroom sauce. To make this, peel some mushroom caps, break them in pieces, and saute in two tablespoonfuls of butter until the moisture evaporates. Add brown stock to cover and let simmer for twenty minutes. Add to two cupfuls of brown sauce and let cook very gently for five minutes. With the dressed slices of filet, serve turnips, carrots and baked bananas. To bake the bananas pull down a section of the banana skin, remove all corse threads and replace the fruit in its original position in the skin. Set the banans in a pan in the oven to cook until the skin is blackened and the pulp is soft.

Tomatoes—Eggs Au Gratin: Put 3 tomatoes into boiling water for about four minutes, and then remove the skins. Cut them into slices and place them in a well greased dish. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, and a little chopped parsley. Drop a small piece of butter on each slice. Put them in a moderate oven and cook for eight minutes. Remove from the oven, then break six eggs one by one into a cup and slip them into the dish of tomatoes. Mix some bread crumbs cheese and about a tablespoonful of parsley together, and sprinkle over the eggs. Place bits of butter here and there over the bread crumbs, return the dish to the oven to set the eggs, and slightly brown. This dish can be served in individual scallon shells if liked, putting a layer of tomato and one egg in each shell.

Cousens, the Train Butcher

By working hard from early boyhood, James Cousens advanced through many jobs until he was one of the highest salaried officials of one of the largest concerns of the country; then he was subjected to an act which he considered a slight to his authority and which changed the course of his career.

Born in Chatham, Ontario, he was taken when a boy to Detroit, where his schooling was interrupted by periods of work in his father's small soap factory. During vacation he was a "news butcher" on the old Erie & Huron railroad, his earnings going to help the family exchequer.

At 17 he secured work as checker in the Michigan Central yards, working 12 hours a day, seven days a week, and earning $40 a month.

After six years of this grinding work he became clerk in Alex Y. Malwas $75 a month. A year later he married. Five years after, he was head bookeeper, with pay of $150 a month.

Given an opportunity by his employer to join in backing Henry Ford, then an unknown inventer, he took his savings of $400, added a gift of $500 from Malconson and $1600 that he borrowed, and put the $2500 in the Ford Motor Co., becoming, at 31, secretary and business manager of the organization.

Then came the early struggles of the Ford company, and as success dawned he was promoted until he was vice president and general manager, with a salary of $150,000 a year. One of his duties was to order supplies, Ford unexpectedly countermanded one of his orders. Couzens resented the act, a quarrel followed, and he resigned. Later he sold his interest in the company to Ford for $30,000,000.

Rich at 43, he now gave up business and entered public life. He served as street railway commissioner and then as police commissioner of Detroit. Called the "Millionaire Cop," he "cleaned up" the city and contributed all his salary to a bonus system for the policemen.

As the result of a dare he ran for mayor, won by a big majority and put many reforms into effect.

And, in 1922, he was appointed a member of the United States senate, where he is now serving.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Prof. John Dewey, to whom the Turkish government has offered the post of special adviser to the Ministry of Instruction, is a celebrated American educational expert who for many years held the chair of philosophy in Columbia University, New York. By some he is regarded as the foremost of contemporary American writers on philisophy and education, fields of research in which he has published books that have an international circulation. Professor Dewey is a Vermonter, trained at the University of Vermont and at Johns Hopkins University, who began his teaching career at the University of Michigan, and then was called to the University of Chicago to be director of the department of education in that institution. He remained in Chicago to be director of the department of education. He remained in Chicago until 1904, in which year he accepted the invitation to join the Columbia University faculty. A few months ago, according to report, Professor Dewey was invited by Mme. Lenine, widow of the Soviet leader, to go to Russia to teach in the public universities there.

Stories That Recall Others

A New Form of Announcement

The Sunday school class had been having a membership campaign. The chairman arrived about half an hour later and confided to the president that he would have a report to make later. This is what he said:

"Mr. President, I wish to report that I have obtained one new member for the class. It is a young lady, and unmarried, but I believe she should belong to this class. She perhaps will not be able to attend for a few Sundays, but from then on she will be a regular attendant, if circumstances permit. The young lady to whom I refer is now at Room — — hospital. She weighs seven and a half pounds and (drawing his watch) is an hour and a half old. I will receive congratulations as the class passes out."

Not the Job for Him

A young man was recently being examined for the purpose of becoming a game warden. During the test measurements were taken of his height and his chest. The applicant couldn't see the necessity of such measurements.

"Well, my friend," responded the examiner, "the life of a game warden in these parts doesn't amount to much and I am merely taking your measurements for a coffin in which the state supplies us for all our friends."

The applicant stammered that he wasn't so sure about wanting the position and that he had better think it over. It took several minutes for the examiner to convince him that he was merely joking.

POETRY

IF.

(With apologies to Mr. Rudyard Kipling.)

If you can go to Church when all about you
Are going everywhere but to the House of Prayer,
If you can travel straight when others wobble
And do not seem to have a righteous care;
If you can teach and not get tired of teaching,
Or tell the truth when others lie like sin,
Or pray and pay and carry heavy burdens
Without a murmur, Sonny, you will win!
If you can undertake a noble service,
Expecting others to pitch in and boost,
But find them doing everything to hinder,
Or sitting down like biddies on a roost!
If you can serve while some stand off and jabber,
And never think of climbing up a tree,
Or keep right on the path of love and duty,
And never stoop to an iniquity;
If you can smile when cliques unite in scoffing,
Or laugh when factions prophesy defeat,
And hold your tongue when choirs kick up a rumpus,
And sisters fight like furies when they meet;
If you possess yourself and pray 'God bless you!"
When every muscle in you aches to smite,
When something says, "Give up! Give up the struggle!
Since others fail why stand alone and fight?"
You'll find a Presence by you in the furnace,
You'll find a Presence by you on the sea,
You'll find a Presence by you in the battle,
Yes! Everywhere and always victory!
If you can trust when others faint and falter,
Or stand and serve when others flee away,
Unmoved by either Jezebel or Ahab,
Remaining faithful every living day—
If you can keep your courage up and boost it,
Yes! boost the Church as few have ever done,
You'll prove yourself a very noble human,
And, what is more, you'll be a saint, my son!

—Rev. William Wood, in Boston Transcript.

RURAL EVENING.

The whip cracks on the plow-team's flank,
The thresher's flail beats duller,
The round of day has warmed a bank
Of clouds to primrose color.

The dairy girls cry home the kine,
The kine in answer lowing;
The rough-haired louts with sleepy shouts,
Keep crows whence seed is growing.

The creaking wain, brushed through the lane,
Hangs straws on hedges narrow;
And smoothly cleaves the soughing plow,
And harsher grinds the harrow.

Comes, from the roadside inn caught up,
A brawl of crowded laughter,
Through falling brooks and cawing rooks
And a fiddle scrambling after.
—Lord de Tabley, from 'Selected Poems."

Jerra, the mysterious port on the Persian gulf, which was mentioned by the geographer Ptolemy more than 2,000 years ago, and since then lost sight of, has been located anew in a part of the so-called "un-known Arabia," which has recently been explored by the British captain, R. E. Cheeseman. He found there people living under stone age conditions.

What is asserted to be the world's record for relaying rails was established by a crew of men on the Canadian Pacific railway, New Brunswick district, recently. In two days the men tore up 39.7 miles of old eighty-five-pound rails and replaced them with new. There were 320 men in the gang. According to all available records the former Canadian record was 11.7 miles, which exceeds that established in the United States.

Meaning of Word "Bonanza."

"Bonanza" is a Spanish word, meaning "fair weather" or a "favoring wind." It is used in mining districts to signify an abundance of precious metal or rich ore. The miners of Comstock Lode, a wonderful gold and silver mine in Nevada, which yielded $300,000,000 worth of ore in thirty years, first used "bonanza" in this way. The word is now also used to signify any good fortune or successful enterprise.

Polo Is Ancient Game.

The ancient game of polo had an illustrious history in the East before the British army carried it home from India and made it fashionable in the British Isles and America. About A. D. 600 polo, which had traveled from Persia to Turkestan and Tibet, became popular with the Chinese, where the women played as well as the men.

Nothing to Regret.

The New York zoo has a giant turtle that is said to be 400 years old, and he looks it, too, from his photographs. Indeed, he not only looks as if he were not having much fun now, but appears to be almost devoid of pleasant memories. So perhaps if you are cut off in your early nineties, you need not be so disappointed after all.—Kansas City Star.

Strange Ideas Regarding the Moon.

Mityau, the moon, was a native cat, according to the belief of some Australians, which fell in love with some one else's wife, and was driven away, to wander ever since. In China the old man of the moon is known as Yuelos, and holds in his hands the reins of marriage among mortals. The future husband and wife are tied together with an invisible silken cord, which is only severed at death.

FOUR COUNTS OVER HIS EXPERIENCE WITH AUTO

(Special to The Bulletin)

Willimantic, Aug. 31.—Clifford Wilson, 26, well known Mansfield Center young man, who makes his home with Irvin Goodell and family in that village ,Saturday, August 23, bargained for the purchase of a second hand Ford coupe from the firm of Wilson, Anthony & Gillette, proprietors of the Bridge street garage in this city. The price of the coupe was $75. Wilson said that he did not care about paying on the installment plan and would pay in a lump sum in a few days. The garage proprietors agreed to this arrangement. From all accounts the time since a week ago Saturday has been seven joyous days for Wilson. The local firm learned that Wilson was trying to sell the car. It also became known to the police that the young man did not have the car registered in his name, neither did he possess an operator's license. Wilson also tricked Henry Desormeau, proprietor of the Ash street Dixie gasoline service station. He charged supplies which he procured from Desormeau to Edward Pratt, of Elm street. The information was secured that Wilson was joy riding in Massachusetts. The police received word that the young man was in South Windham, headed for Norwich at ten o'clock Saturday morning. Chief of Police Allan McArthur and Louis B. Wilson boarded a car and started to pursue Wilson. Constable Alfred Abbe also took up the chase. At South Windham, Chief McArthur and Mr. Wilson secured the road towards Norwich, while the constable detoured by way of the Scotland station. The South Windham official was successful, locating Wilson in the vicinity of the Scotland power station. He placed the young man under arrest and brought him to the local police. Bonds were placed at $500 for his release but he was unsuccessful in securing them. In police court, he will be presented on four charges, attempt to defraud in sale, not having the car registered, not possessing an operator's license and attempting to sell property under a conditional bill of sale.

Blair Cormier, 22, of Taftville, received a compound fracture of the right lower leg, Louis Bazinet, 24 of Taftville, a broken right arm, and Hugh Casey, 20 of New London, had his face badly scratched when the automobile in which they were riding tipped over while round a curve at Voluntown Sunday evening about 9 o'clock. It was reported that Casey was driving the machine at the time of the accident. The men were attended by Dr. J. W. Callahan of this city and were then brought to the Backus hospital here in the hospital ambulance.

IN JAIL TO AWAIT SUPERIOR COURT TRIAL

Paul Santilli, charged with rape on a fourteen year old girl, and brought here from Philadelphia Friday night where he was caught after jumping his bail in the local court, was presented before Judge Arthur F. Libby in the city court Saturday morning. He was bound over to the criminal superior court and bonds were fixed at $5,000. Unable to furnish bonds he went to jail to await trial.

One man was given 30 days in jail on a breach of the peace charge. He was accused of striking his wife in the forehead and inflicting a gash that required the attention of a doctor.

Two men were fined for violation of the local traffic rules.

Treasurer of Masonic Temple Corporation

Guy B. Dolbeare has been appointed treasurer of the Masonic Temple corporation, as successor to the late Costello Lippitt. Mr. Lippitt held the position of treasurer for a number of years. Mr. Dolbeare is prominently identified with the Masonic bodies of Norwich.

Automobiles Collided at Corner

About 7.30 o'clock Sunday evening a Ford sedan owned and driven by Mrs A. S. Kinnie of R. F. D. No. 2, and a Ford coupe owned and driven by Robert Deschenes of No. 287 West Main street, collided at the corner of West Main street and Ann street. The sedan suffered a smashed radiator and there was other damage about the front of the car. The coupe was somewhat damaged.

Both drivers reported the accident at police headquarters.

Gives Up Life Guard Duties

George Mullen who has been a life guard at Mohegan park lake this season has been obliged to give up his duties because of trouble with his ears which prevent him from going into the water. The board of park commissioners has not named a successor to Mr. Mullen and will probably not do so this summer owing to the lateness of the swimming season. A lifeguard will be stationed at the park next summer.

OCEAN BEACH LIFE GUARDS AND NURSE KEPT BUSY

At Ocean beach, Tuesday, the "wild day," there were two rescues made by Life Guards J. "Tiny" Edwards and Neal Teary, in the heavy surf. Miss Georgette Wilson of Cleveland, and Mrs. James G. Lawton, of Brooklyn.

Life Guard Johnnie Jarvis made a thrilling rescue Thursday night saving Martin Foy of Stamford, after Foy had become exhausted.

The A. R. C. hut is to close Tuesday, Miss Margaret Murphy, the nurse, has done very good work during the season and residents of the beach hope that when next summer comes she will be again in charge.

Life Guard Bill Serafin has returned from Philadelphia after a fine motor trip.

Life Guard Paul Robillard is in Atlantic City. Eddie Freidlander of the hut left for Brooklyn Sunday to resume his studies in Columbia Law school.

"Jerry" Murphy, the popular policeman who patrols the beach, plans a motor trip to New York city sometime next week.

The small raft which was wrecked during last week's storm was repaired and is as good as ever.

Large crowds were down Tuesday after the storm abated to see the heavy surf and ten foot breakers.

NORWICH SCOUT EXECUTIVE SPOKE IN BRIDGEPORT

Scout Executive F. A. Benton talked to a group of Life and Star Scouts in Bridgeport Saturday afternoon.

The Forestry Merit Badge work, Connecticut Forest Guides, and a hike through the park where the scouts were taught to identify trees and shrubbery, formed the programme for the afternoon.

Four scouts passed their examinations in Forestry Merit Badge.

Mr. Benton was courteously entertained by Horace Smith one of the Bridgeport scout leaders in charge of the boys.

State Forester Arthur F. Hawes, in view of the good work done by Boy Scouts in fighting forest fires in Norwich and elsewhere has been prompted to extend forestry instruction among the scouts generally throughout the state.

The Norwich scout executive has been detailed to extend this work in several councils this summer and will visit other councils in the near future.

84,368 "FIRST VOTERS" IN CONNECTICUT CAMPAIGN

The woman's vote is going to decide this election, according to Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the republican national committee, in a statement just issued. The importance of the woman's vote of the new voters who for the first time are casting ballots in a presidential election was shown when the following statistics were published.

There are 40,887 young men who have come of age since the last presidential election in Connecticut, and 43,481 young women. The young women in Connecticut outnumber the young men by about 3,400.

Seven million new voters will assume the duties of citizenship for the first time this year, according to an estimate by Mrs. Hert.

WOMAN'S JAW BROKEN IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Three occupants of a Rickenbacker coupe were injured in a collision Spunday morning about 11 o'clock on a curve at Chamberlain's flats in the town of Westchester on the New London Hartford turnpike and all were brought here to the Backus hospital after they had been first taken to the office of Dr. E. J. Howland in Colchester.

Patrick Gunning, 39, manager of the Nelseco hotel, received cuts about the face and was dazed by the shock; his sister Mary has a fractured jaw and a dislocation of the jaw and Miss Florence Terry of New London has cuts about her face.

It was reported that one of the wome nwas driving and that the coupe was about to pass another on a curve, when a Hudson appeared in the opposite direction. The driver of the coupe jammed on the brakes with such force that they were practically worn out, according to the statement of an officer who investigated the accident, but she was unable to prevent it from hitting the Hudson which was driven off the road by the force of the blow. A man and a child in it were not hurt. It could not be learned Sunday night who the occupants of the Hudson were.

THE ANGLO-EGYPTIAN SUDAN; POSSIBLE RIVAL FOR DIXIE

The Angle-Egyptian Sudan, contral of which has recently been the subject of heated discussion between certain Britons and Egyptians, is as important to Egypt, say the Egyptians, as the item to a flower. As in the case of all else Egyptian, the value of the Sudan hangs in the Nile and its life-giving waters. Great Britain sees in the country however, a great source of raw materials for her cotton mills.

The country is the subject of the following bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society:

"Considered only from a geographical point of view, the Anglo-Egyptian army invaded the country to the south and conquered it. A government largely of Turks, Albanians and Circassians was set up and the people were systematically oppressed.

"Slave raiding became the big business, and thousands of luckless blacks from the remote parts of the country were carried into captivity every year.

"In the late sixties the Egyptians obtained the service of Europeans, chiefly Britons, as governors and officials in the Sudan, and some effect was made of reforms. Colonel Gordan served as governor for many years.

"But the fanatical Mahdi movement arose in the Sudan in 1881; by 1885 Khartum had fallen and Gordan was murdered, and soon all semblance of Egyptian control over the country had again passed away. From that time until 1898 local Mohammedan despots held the sway in the Sudan and even attempted the conquest of Egypt, though unsuccessfully.

"The reconquest of the Sudan took place between 1896 and 1898 by joint British and Egyptian forces led by 'Kitchner of Khartum.' It is on this participation in the conquest, and the treaty with Egypt following it that Great Britain bases her claims on the Sudan.

"The Sudanese are not Egyptians. They were Nubians and other blacks to begin with. Arabs came in and intermarried with them, and now the population is a marvelous mixture.—a 'negro potpourri'—many of whom speak Arabic and most of whom are Moslems. Nor do the Sudanese like the Egyptians. About their only tie in common is that both live on and by the waters of the Nile.

"'The Sudan' is by rights the name of the entire region just south of the Sahara extending across Africa from the Atlantic to the Indian Ocean. The region along the upper Nile and extending in a broad band eastward to the Red Sea, is properly 'the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.' But even this restricted portion of the Sudan is a huge country. One travels 600 miles by rail south from the southern Egyptian border before he reaches Khartum. From there south one may travel another thousand miles on a flat-bottomed river steamer to the southern boundary of the Sudan—and that point is about one-third the way to the Cape of Good Hope.

"The entire valley of the Nile in the Sudan is very rich; and, most important, it has first chance at the water that comes down the long channel of the White Nile from Africa's Great Lakes, and down the Blue Nile from the Abyssinian highlands. More and more cotton is being grown in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, and the country may one day prove a rival to the Land of Dixie."

Trouble Enough.

A delegation had called on Jones to get him to serve on the house committee of the Country club. "Gentlemen, I thank you for the honor from the bottom of my heart, but there is nothing doing. I already have a wife, a son-in-law, and a second-hand car, and I think that is trouble enough for one man."

"Unbreakable" Glasses.

So-called unbreakable glasses are made from boric-acid glass, compositions of which are usually patented. The chief factor in their strength is the method of cooling, this being done by dropping the lenses in oils of various mixtures.

Antiquity of Glass.

The Egyptians are said to have been taught glass-making by Hermes. Glass houses were built in ancient Tyre and glass was used by the Romans in the time of Tiberius. Ruins in Pompeii show glazed windows.

Financial Invention Needed.

A device having been invented for pulling automobiles out of holes, it is suggested that a more popular appliance would be one that would pull automobile owners out of holes.—Boston Evening Transcript.

Bulletin's Pattern Service

A NEW FROCK FOR "MOTHER'S GIRL."

481. Printed cotton crepe was used for this design. The facings are of white organdie. This is also a good model for pongee, poplin, linen and gingham. Brown linen with tan or red facings would be attractive.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. A 6 year size requires 2 1-4 yards of 27 inch material. For facings of contrasting material as illustrated 1-2 yard 36 inches wide is required.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

TAFTVILLE DROPS TWO GAMES OVER WEEK END TO RIVERVIEW AND MARTIN

Taftville A. A. dropped two games over the week end losing to Riverview 6 to 1, at the State Hospital on Saturday and taking the light end of a 6 to 4 score in the game with the J. B. Martin team on Sunday afternoon.

In both games bad umpiring figured largely in the defeat of the Taftville team. This was especially noticeable at the State Hospital where Hank Morin officiated. Morin, who is a first class ump and who has umpired some very nice games in this section, had an off day Saturday and missed a couple of close plays when they meant runs.

The game Saturday for the first six innings was a good battle the score standing 3 to 1. Both teams played good ball most of the time although Taftville made five errors, three of them coming at critical times. Riverview drew first blood by scoring two runs in the first inning, one run coming on clean hitting by Coulter and Moore, the other being presented to the Hospital by W. Liberte who reached third.

Taftville scored their only tally in the fourth inning when Zemke passed Hughes and Bill Liberte crashed one to right field for three bases, but was left stranded on the third sack. This ended the scoring for Taftville although in the fifth inning they threatened with three men on but a good decision at first stopped this rally. Again in the seventh with three men on a good verdict was against Taftville and another scoring chance was ended. In the eighth inning Taftville had another man on third but Hogan was unable to deliver the goods and the side was retired without

PIRATES GET WITHIN TWO GAMES OF 2D LEAGUE LEADERS

Chicago, Aug. 31—Pittsburgh cut down New Yorks lead to two games today by defeating Chicago twice, while the Giants lost to Brooklyn. The game was a pitching duel between Yde and Jacobs, the former allowing only two hits while Jacobs touched for six blows in his own game through wild pitches. Carey's wild throw and the other passed the plate in the eighth. Moore singled, took second on Carey's sacrifice and scored on Jacobs second wild pitch. Traynor scored on Cutler's sacrifice fly. Only three Cubs got on base and the only one reached third. The score:

BROWNS HAND TIGERS UNMERCIFUL BEATING

St. Louis, Aug. 31—The Browns reduced the margin separating them from the third place Tigers to two games by defeating Detroit in the final game of the series here today, 15 to 4. An eight run rally in the seventh inning gave the locals a comfortable lead after they had tied the score at 4-all.

Home runs by Cobb and Manush featured the game. Score.

How It's Done In the Majors

By Frank Frisch
Captain New York Giants

Runners on first and second. They attempt a double steal.

Where should catcher throw the ball?

If the runner on second has a good lead, the catcher should see that he has no possible chance of throwing him out at third. Then his best play would be to throw the ball to second. A good many catchers absolutely ignore the runner going to third on this play and peg the ball down to second. This is a very good play to make for the majority of base runners going to second on a double steal do not look for a throw to second base, so they do not run as fast as they should. As a result a put out is made and the team at bat is not much better off than if it had its sole runner on second base instead of third as a single would bring in a scored runner from either bag.

WASHINGTON DOWNS YANKS IN TEN-INNING BATTLE

New York, Aug. 31—Washington won the final game of the season here today, defeating the Yankees by a score of 4 to 2 in ten hard fought innings. This gives Washington a lead of more than a full game in the race.

Sam Rice was the hero when he hit a double in the tenth inning with the bases full, scoring Ruel and Leibold with the winning runs. Bob Meusel made a hard try to catch Rice's drive, holding the ball momentarily but let it drop and the winning runs were scored.

Washington scored its first run on Leibold's walk, Harris' infield hit, Rice's sacrifice and Goslin's sacrifice fly. Judge's home run was the second Washington tally. New York got a run in the seventh on singles by Schang and Meusel, Ward's fly and Harris' error, on Scott's bounder.

The Yankees tied the score in the eighth inning on Dugan's single and passes to Ruth, Schang and Meusel. Manager Harris and Pitcher Mogridge were put out of the game by Umpire Holmes in the eighth inning for disputing a decision on a called ball on Babe Ruth, the game being held up for a few minutes. EASTERN CONNECTICUT TENNIS PLAY REACHES SEMI-FINALS IN DOUBLES

The play in the Eastern Connecticut Tennis tournament reached the semi-finals Sunday, the first rounds in the singles being played on Saturday afternoon and the first and second rounds in the doubles being played Sunday at the Norwich Golf club courts where the tourney is being held. Part of the second round in the singles was also played on Sunday.

The play was fast on both days and a large gallery watched the play and were treated to some brilliant tennis. The majority of the matches were won in straight sets in the singles, there being only three extra set matches in either singles or doubles. The feature matches of Saturday were Gardiner's defeat of B. Dumont, Clapp's win over Cochran and Dolan's defeat by Chase. These matches were close and productive of some sensational tennis. The results:

First Round, Singles.

Scott defeated Grieve, 6-0, 6-1.
Lyman defeated Disco, 6-1, 1-6, 6-4.
D. Dumont defeated Osborne, 6-2, 6-4.

Harwood and Raymond defeated Bontree and Daggett, 6-3, 6-4.

CINCINNATI NOSES OUT CARDS WITH RALLY IN 9TH

Cincinnati, Aug. 31—Doubles by Bressler and Bohne in the ninth inning enabled Cincinnati to defeat St. Louis today 5 to 4. Donohue was knocked out of the box in the first inning, and May pitched well until the ninth, when the Cardinals tied the score on two hits and a sacrifice fly. Carl Mays relieved the left hander and received credit for the Red victory. The score:

ASHLAND WATER MEET A BIG SUCCESS

True to the advance dope the water meet which the Ashland club conducted at Jewett City Sunday was the best promotion of its kind ever run off in this vicinity.

All of the advertised stars put in their appearance, every event was received with favor with the big crowd that was on hand.

The Mathieu Twins of Willimantic put on a fine diving exhibition. They met with instant favor from the crowd and were loudly applauded in every dive. They finished their part of the programme with a dive with hands and feet shackled.

Teddy Kundig, who lowered the time record in the New London to Fishers Island swim last Friday entered practically all events for the men and was a big winner. Teddy finished first in the men's back stroke swim, third in the men's free style swim and third in the men's competition diving. In addition to these events Kundig was a member of the Ashland relay team which finished second to Plainfield, losing by about eight inches.

Howard "Buddy" Soule, Metropolitan diving champion of New York, and a member of the American Olympic diving team gave a wonderful exhibition of diving. It would be difficult to narrate the execution of most of his dives, but after seeing him in action it is easy to see why he was picked as one of America's best in fancy diving. Buddy has few superiors in this country, or for that matter in any other, and it is safe to say that his equal has never before exhibited in eastern Connecticut. Though forced to abandon some of his most different dives, owing to the fact that he was not familiar with the board, the following dives that he did execute perfectly will give some idea of his ability. Double back turnover, two and a half back turnover, back jackknife with front turn and a half, flying Dutchman with somersault, one and a half back pike Dutchman and several other pretty and difficult dives.

The relay race with three entries, Putnam, Plainfield and Ashland was one of the most thrilling events on the programme, Plainfield nosing out Ashland by about eight inches. The winning team was composed of the following men: Joe Lee, Henry Vincent, Peterson and Jodoin. Ashland was represented by Rolland Guillett, Lloyd Jarvis, Teddy Kundig and Sales.

In the single scull race Frank Perint won over Lawrence Oeveneau by a length and a half.

Louise Seigal and Mildred Mondor gave a fine exhibition of diving and the girls' race with seven entries was a real race, the first three, Katherine Misiaszek, Mildred Mondor and Louise Seigal finishing only three inches apart with Katherine finishing first and the other two in the order named.

The small boys' race was also a hummer with nine entries and was won by Bobby Conley of Plainfield, with Lowell Shorey of Jewett City second, closely followed by Mathew Salinski and Freddy Kusick in the order named.

Stella Salinski of Jewett City won the small girls' race of forty yards in a field of seven starters with Evelyn Laframbois second and Lucy Perint third.

Fred Williams of Norwich was the judge of events, Doc Gingras starter and Hal Chase announcer.

Four Entries For Athletic Meet.

The names of John Mara, Paul Shea, Ray Harrin and Ejorn, all Norwich boys, have been received by Hal Chase as entries in the athletic programme which will be run off the last day of the Norwich fair.

In addition to taking part in the various dashes these four men will also enter as a relay team.

This brings the entry list up to the high mark set last year, twenty-four names having been handed in to date. The entries will be held open until starting time on the day of the meet and there is no doubt that several more names will be added to the list making this the biggest meet ever conducted at the fair.

Baltic A. A. Plays Clerks Today.

The Baltic A. A. will play the Baltic Clerks in the annual Labor Day game this morning at Sayles Field in Baltic at 10 o'clock. There is keen rivalry between these two clubs and a hot battle is expected.

Dixie Boys Play This Morning.

At the Academy Campus this morning at 10 o'clock Old Bill Spivery will be seen in action again against the Single Men. The Henpecks having turned in one victory at the Fairgrounds are now counting on copping the second game which will conclude the series. The Henpecks will lineup as follows: Jazz Green c, Bill Spivery p, J. Lacy 1b, Frost lf, DeBarros 3b, Jumbo James 2b, A. Jewpry cf, Ruly ss, Whitford rf, Lou Geer cf, "Fatty" Wilbur rf.

The Single Men aspiring to be henpecks will lineup up accordingly: Hagerty c, Red Flake p, Spike Harris 1b, M. Perry 2b, Chick Spivery 3b, Ben Dale ss, L. Harris rf, J. Evans cf, Duke Whitford lf.

BIG SERIES STARTS AT NEW LONDON TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Aug. 31.—The All Industrial six hundred dollar series gets under way Labor Day afternoon at Morgan Park, with the New London Ship and Engine and the Standard Oil Company nines waxing belligerents. Both teams are eager to begin the series and with this game the only real attraction Monday, a record crowd is expected to be on hand.

Tillie Daniels is the Ship and Engine selection for mound duty, and his past work against teams in the Industrial circuit favors him to be returned the victor. Either Johnson or a former Bulkeley teammate of Daniels will be on the mound opposite him. The former teammate of Daniels is Parisi and if he is stuck up against the Ship and Engine an interesting duel is in the making.

TIGERS BEAT ROSEDALES IN PLAY-OFF GAME

The Taftville Tigers defeated the Greeneville Rosedales 8 to 7, in the play-off game of the Junior League, the Tigers taking the honors in the National division, Saturday afternoon at the J. B. Martin diamond. The pitching and hitting of Lefty Dugas, who easily outpitched his rival, Tennant, was one of the deciding factors in the game. Krauss, getting a triple, a double and two singles, was also a feature.

Stars Beat Base 4 to 3.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Aug. 31.—Inability to bunch hits and poor base running in spots played an important part in giving the Fort Trumbull Stars a 4 to 3 victory over the Submarine Base at Morgan Park this afternoon. One big inning—the sixth that netted the Stars three runs—put the kibosh on all prospects for a victory for the gobs in their final baseball contest of the season.

Nurmi Steps in Fast Time

Helsingfors, Finland, Aug. 31—Running today over a 10,000 metres course at Kuopio, the Finnish distance runner Paavo Nurmi made what is claimed in 30 minutes 6 2-5 seconds; five miles in 19 minutes, 18 7-10 seconds; five miles in 24 minutes 13 2-5 seconds; six miles in 29 minutes 7 4-5 seconds and 2,956 metres in 30 minutes.

BULKELEY TEAM STARTS PRACTICE ON SEPT. 8TH

(Special to the Bulletin.)

New London, August 31.—The first football practice of the year for Bulkeley High school is scheduled for Monday, September eighth. Nine veterans from last year and Bernard Hewitt versatile Chapman Technical school luminary is expected to make the tenth seasoned man to report to the new Bulkeley mentor, William Canty. While it is not certain that Bernard Hewitt will transfer from Chapman Tech to Bulkeley this season this coming fall, yet this rumor has been prevalent since school closed last spring.

The Bulkeley mentor will have from one week to two weeks more to whip the Bulkeley team into shape for its first game of the season on Saturday, September 29th. In previous years the preliminary training the Bulkeley team received was at least ten to fifteen days later than this season and this should give the Orange and Black coach more time to devote in putting the team through its paces. The first call for candidates for the eleven will be heard and answered by nine seasoned veterans, who have held down regular positions on the eleven for the past two seasons. This is one of the reasons that Bulkeley supporters except one of the best years a Bulkeley team has had on the gridiron, even though the schedule which will be played by the Orange and Black is the strongest that has ever been engaged by the local institution.

The veterans who are to report are O'Connor and Daniels ends; tackle Watterson; guards, Brown and Gavitt; center, Dillon; quarter back Henkle; left half back Rice; right half back Hewitt from Chapman Tech; and full back Barry. Other players who were substitutes on last season's team are also aching to don their mole skins and get into harness again. Coach Canty should have little difficulty in turning out a winning combination with this strong array of grid stars returning back to the old.

George H. Sheffott who was elected captain of this years football eleven was forced to give up that strenuous sport. He underwent an operation for appendicitis four weeks ago and was told to give up football this season. His position at right half back would be a hard place to fill, but then a report has been received to the effect that Bernard Hewitt, Chapman Tech half back contemplates entering Bulkeley from Tech next season. Hewitt would fit in nicely in the Bulkeley machine if he should transfer, for he could not only be used to good advantage on the football eleven but also on the basketball and baseball teams.

The expectation that Bulkeley will enter a basketball team in the field this coming winter would give Hewitt a chance to show his ability on the marked court. The baseball team at at Bulkeley with the exception of first base will be left intact, and considering that Hewitt plays the initial sack, he would round out a veteran nine.

An early election for the purpose of electing a football captain will be held in the near future and those eligible for the coveted position left open by the inability of Captain Sheffott to perform this season, are many. Among those who stand out most prominently for the captaincy are Joseph Watterson, who has been starring at tackle for the past several seasons and who was ineligible last season, Edward Henkle at quarter back and Jerry Dillon who captained the team last year also have a good chance for the open leaders position.

The schedule which was announced previously in The Bulletin will be slightly altered. The open game which was scheduled with the Connecticut Aggies freshmen on September 29th has been cancelled by mutual agreement by the two team managers and the team which is to be Bulkeley's opening day opponent has not been selected as yet. However Manager Herbert F. Fern has been angling with several teams in the Connecticut Valley to oppose Bulkeley at New London in the opening game.

SPORTING NOTES

Hockey grew out of the old Irish game of hurley.

In 1897 Kid McCoy, whose name is figuring prominently in the public prints just at present, was recognized by some boxing authorities as the middleweight champion. But "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien and several other middleweights also claimed the championship and the title remained in dispute until Stanley Ketchell made good his claims to the crown.

In the season of 1899 the Pittsburgh team set up a National league record by losing 23 consecutive games.

William M. Johnston, the famous tennis star, won his first important tournament a dozen years ago, when he took the California State championship.

One hundred years ago—in 1824—so keen was the public interest in the St. Leger, which next to the Grand National is the favorite race with the people of the North of England, that the then unprecedented method was adopted of sending the result to London by carrier pigeons, and to Manchester by dogs specially trained for the purpose. Those were the "good old days" before the coming of telephones, wireless, and aeroplanes.

The great athletic stadium at the State Fair Park in Dallas is to be dedicated on October 11 with a football game between the Texas Aggies and Sewanee.

George Sisler was a star player at the State Fair Park in Dallas is to be made his debut in major league baseball as a member of the St. Louis Browns in

PUBLIC AUCTION

I will sell at public sale, at my 15th livestock auction, at my farm, widely known as the Woods Hill Farm, Pomfret, Conn., on FRIDAY, SEPT. 5, 1924,

at 10 o'clock a. m.

Sixty head of choice Guernsey, Jersey, Ayrshire and Holstein cattle described as follows:

26 young cows, strictly fresh and nearby springers, 10 pure bred Holstein heifers of good size and excellent conformation, all safely with calf to my herd bull, King Clotaire.

Transfers will be furnished.

10 high grade 2 year old heifers, all safely with calf to King Clotaire, 11 beef cattle and 10 veal calves.

First class lunch available at noon. Plan to come and stay all day and see how we do it. Terms cash. In storms, the first fair day after.

Location of Farm: Woods Hill is located about 4 miles south from Pomfret Depot, 4 miles southwest from Danielson, Conn., via Day St., and 4 miles north from Brooklyn, Conn., via Church St.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW

New York, Aug. 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—Signs of the approach of the usual seasonal pick-up in business and holiday lasitude in the chief speculative markets were features of the past week in finance and commerce.

The quietness in the markets no doubt can be attributed partly to the fact the strong speculative movements had come to natural halting points. It cannot be denied, however, that the vacation season that winds up with Labor Day, has reduced the size of the trading public and administered the volume of buying and selling.

One of the most interesting industrial reports concerned railroad car loadings. The number of cars loaded with revenue freight in the week ended August 16 was 953,000, a new high record for the year. It reflected the usual seasonal movement of goods. Larger shipments of grain, stimulated by higher prices for various products of this kind, were partly responsible for the increas in the total.

The present movement still runs behind that of a year ago, as in the corresponding week of last year 1,040,000 cars were loaded. The falling off amounts, however, only to about 8 per cent. compared with 11 per cent. a month or two ago.

Complications of railroad earnings for July indicated that net for the month, when account is taken of the reaction in general business would be relatively satisfactory. Estimates have been made that the roads will be able to show 4 per cent. of the interstate commerce commission's valuations. While this is a material below the "fair return" of 4 3-4 per cent., it is not at all bad for a month in which the industrial reaction probably reached its low point.

Reports from the steel industry indicated that consumers were buying to cover current needs. This buying is sufficient to keep the country's plants operating at about 60 per cent. of capacity. Perhaps at a slightly higher figure. There is every reason to believe that the low point was touched during the early part of July, when operations amounted to only about 40 per cent. of capacity.

The situation in steel prices was unchanged. Buying was not strong enough to make the market really firm while manufacturers were not inclined to shade existing quotations except for exceptional business. Consumers still feel that with the industry in its present state there was a chance that prices ultimately would go lower.

After all, for the steel market to turn strong it is necessary that a district improvement occur in he industries that consume steel. While some betterment was noted here and there, these gains were comparatively mild affairs. They did not go far beyond an improvement in settlement. However, the trend seems definitely upward rather than in the reverse direction.

In the commodity markets the feature was weakness in cotton prices. The government's report that indicated a yield of close to 13,000,000 bales prompted selling that resulted in a new low for the year, with the December futures at about 23.75 cents to the pound. While this reaction may have an unfavorable effect on the textile industry, its long-range implications are bullish. What really troubles the textile industry is the fact that the high cost of raw materials prevents the manufacturers from quoting prices that appeal to the trade and to the public. A plentiful supply of the staple and a reasonable price for it will ultimately bring a revival in cloth making.

Wheat prices have been fairly steady. Corn has been strong with dry weather, a supporting factor.

There is little change in the money situation. A slight stiffening in the rates on bankers acceptances has been the chief alteration. Meanwhile the Federal Reserve bank statements show that discounts are practically stationary and that the reserve banks have brought bills heavily in the open market. The effect of such purchase is to keep money easy.

AUTOMOBILES FIGURED IN 102 R. R. GRADE CROSSING ACCIDENTS

Automobiles figured in 102 railroad grade crossing accidents in Connecticut in the period of this year up to August 15, according to figures furnished to the state motor vehicle department by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company. In every instance, the accident was avoidable and many of them resulted fatally.

Thirty-six automobiles were struck while trying to beat approaching trains over grade crossings, a practice which the railroads to discourage maj[illegible] large expenditures each year, and twelve automobiles out of control ran into the side of trains passing over highway crossings. Fifty-three motor vehicles ploughed through lowered gates, most of them having approached the crossings at too great a speed to be stopped when the gates were lowered. In one case, an automobile collided with a railroad motor car used for transporting section laborers and materials.

Scarcely a week passes that does not bring into the motor vehicle department reports of grade crossing accidents, a large percentage of which involve tragic results. The motor vehicle and highway departments co-operate with the railroads in the effort to make drivers more cautious at crossings, and by their joint interest, sight lines at crossings have been improved in many places. Often it has been necessary only to cut down bushes and trees which prevented drivers from getting a clear view of the rails in either direction, and in some cases, the side of trains passing over highway crossings. PRESIDENT RECEIVES LABOR LEADERS AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Assures Callers That the Government Was Anxious to Promote the Welfare of Workmen—Desires to See Jobs Looking for Men, Rather Than Men Looking For Jobs—Is Opposed to Bloc Government, or Any Other Economic Ideals of Any Foreign Government—Callers Pledged Their Individual Support to President Coolidge.

The president received them in the East room and George Frietas, president of the Licensed Tugmen's association, introduced the visitors to him.

The other speakers were John Drany, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; Joseph Ryan, first vice president of the International Longshoremen's union, and Joseph P. MacArdle, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Detailing his views on labor, the president said the right of labor to organize, to bargain collectively and to negotiate through its own chosen agents had been determined and that along with the right to organize went the right to strike "in private employment." Compulsory arbitration, he added, "to my mind cannot be reconciled with the right of individual freedom."

In a reference to the railroad labor board Mr Coolidge spoke of "an interesting experiment we have been making in relation to railroad labor," and added "it could probably be modified, through mutual agreement, to the benefit of all concerned."

"By restrictive immigration," he continued, "by adequate tariff protection, I want to prevent America from producing cheap men. I want to see jobs hunting for men, rather than men hunting for jobs. If want taxes to be less, that the people may have more. I want to improve the economic condition and increase the moral and spiritual well being of our country."

DISAPPEARANCE OF COUNTESS JEANNA DEMONTIEUE

Cherbourg, Sept. 1—Countess Jeanna Demontieue, whose disappearance has been discovered by a French bank in New York which has a large sum deposited to her credit, was for several months the guest of Mrs. W. Herman Wiley, of this place, it was announced by Mrs. Wiley today. Mrs. Wiley said she met the countess in France in October, 1923, and brought her later to this country as her guest. The countess was depressed, Mrs. Wiley said, due to a divorce from her husband Count Montroy.

The countess remained in Greenville until April, 1924, when Mrs. Wiley again went to Europe. The countess then, according to Mrs. Wiley, went to the home of Madame Marie Gonesse, sister of the former premier of Greece, in New York. She is reported to have disappeared shortly after reaching New York.

Words have been received monthly from France for the countess and her daughter, left for them, led the French liner back to New York to start an investigation.

HEBREWS TO MEET IN FALL RIVER NEXT YEAR

New Haven, Sept. 1.—Fall River, Mass., was selected as the next annual convention city of the Associated Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Association of New England, the choice being made at the closing session of the convention here today. There was no opposition in the annual election and the slate announced last night was accepted by the convention. The afternoon was devoted to a sightseeing trip about the city.

TRAIN STRUCK AUTO, KILLING SIX PERSONS

New London, Wis., Sept. 1—Six persons were killed here shortly before 5 p. m. today when a southbound Chicago and Northwestern passenger train crashed into an automobile at a grade crossing.

PREPARING FOR DECISION ON LOEB-LEOPOLD SENTENCE

Chicago, Sept. 1—While Judge John R. Caverly is pondering the evidence, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe is preparing for the decision September 10 which will send Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb to prison or the gallows. If hanging is the verdict, the state's attorney must be prepared to fight a long battle against appeal, he said, and he is getting ready.

A hanging decision would probably result in application to the state supreme court for a writ of error which would mean added months of delay and new headings, attorneys point out.

In the same section of the jail where Leopold and Loeb are confined because of their youth—each is 19—are two girls and two boys. The Loeb-Leopold attorneys emphasized the youth of the two boys and declared they were handicapped by the wealth of their millionaire families. The others come from poor families in what is known as the "Valley section" in a West Side congested district.

"Loeb and Leopold probably won't hang. They are our age. Why should we?" said Anna Valanis, 18, in her cell yesterday. "We're too young to be hanged," she said.

Anna, her brother, Antaony, 19, William Lydon, 16, and Lucine Marshall, 18, are the four who had confessed, the police say, to circumstances surrounding the strangling to death of Mrs. Bessie Gaennslen, on April 17. She was robbed of $60 and two rings. The boys declared they strangled her because she "hollered".

ABINGTON MAN COMMITTED SUICIDE BY SHOOTING

Putnam, Conn., Sept. 1—Worried because he could not make his farm pay and because money which might have helped him out of his financial difficulties is tied in the First National bank of Putnam, wrecked by its cashier, State Treasurer G. Harold Gilpatric, Curt Siefert, a farmer living in Abington, seven miles from here blew open his chest with a shotgun today and died almost immediately. He had warned his family on several occasions that he would take his life and frequently mentioned his account in the Putnam bank.

This morning he went up to his bedroom, fastened a shotgun to his bed, connected the trigger with a wire after putting his chest against the muzzle of the gun and pulled the wire. The discharge of lead entered his chest and piercing the heart. Siefert died within a few minutes.

Siefert was 48 years old and leaves his wife and three children, the oldest of which is eleven.

NEW YORK MAN NAMED ON GERMAN BANK BOARD

Paris, Aug. 31 (By the A. P.)—The organization committee of the new German bank of issue today appointed Gates W. McGarrah of New York as the American member of the general board.

The appointment was made by Sir Robert Kindersley of England and Dr. Hjalmar Schacht of Germany, who will appoint six other foreign members of its board of directors, which will elect a bank commissioner who will act in accordance with the opinions expressed by the different foreign members.

McGarrah is chairman of the board of the Mechanics and Metals National bank of New York and a member of the boards of various banks and industrial corporations. From 1917 until 1919 he was president of the New York Clearing House association. He is 61 years old.

ANNIVERSARY OF TOKIO EARTHQUAKE

Dr. Motta Heads League Assembly.

Geneva, Sept. 1 (By the A. P.).—Dr. Giuseppe Motta, former president of Switzerland, was today elected president of the fifth assembly of the league of nations.

PRINCE OF WALES A CENTER OF ATTRACTION

Syosset, N. Y., Sept. 1.—The Prince of Wales went to the races at Belmont Park today as an onlooker. But from the time he alighted from his motor car to enter August Belmont's box until he drove from the gate and his car joined hundreds of others on a hot Long Island road, he was one of the centers of attraction.

Nothing better could illustrate the predicament of the prince who considers himself off duty and on a vacation. Officially, the heir to the British throne was not at the races; it was Edward Windsor, an Englishman seeking a quiet and unobtrusive rest who was there. The crowds at the racing park ignored that distinction, and the throng that the embarrassed young man found pressing around him was an formidable as that in the subway in a rush hour.

When the prince descended from the grandstand to go to the paddock after the second race, his military aides and the state police had difficulty making way for him. The prince kept moistening his lips like a stage struck speaker and glancing apprehensively about.

After having a look at Epinard and Zev the prince went into the judges' stand. Here he watched with great interest while Wise Counsellor beat both Epinard and Zev.

This was thoroughly outdoor day for Edward Albert, begun by nearly an hour of vigorous polo at the W. R. Grace estate. After the races he returned to the James A. Burden home where he took a swim in the pool and a short walk before dinner.

The prince, according to members of his staff, has been non plussed by the constant and sometimes rather aggressive interest in him manifested by the public during the four days that he has been in this country on the present visit. He objected to a police escort such as distinguished visitors are always given. He often goes away without telling his secretaries his destination. Last night he took a long motor trip in Long Island sound, merely informed his staff by telephone that he would not return to dinner.

LAFOLLETTE APPEALS FOR VOTES FOR THE PRESIDENCY

Washington, Sept. 1.—Assailing the republican and democratic parties, which, he declared, offered nothing to remedy "the evils which have arisen under their respective administrations, and as a result of their policies," Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, in a Labor day message broadcast by a chain of radio stations, appealed today to the voters of the nation to support his independent candidacy for the presidency.

Senator LaFollette asserted that he had entered the campaign as a candidate to "convict" the monopoly system which, he contended, is "protected by certain laws and by the failure to enforce others, and whose power is so great that both of the old parties have become its abject slaves."

"The message of the republican and democratic parties," said Mr. LaFollette, "is a message of despair. In it the American people find no ray of hope for relief from the burdens which oppress them."

"But the people have found a great hope, and that hope is in the progressive movement. We have enlisted in this campaign to restore this government to the service of the public, to secure to the laborer and producer in all lines a greater share of the product of his toil.

"While protecting the consumer against the trust-fixed prices on all he buys, and to drive out of the governing of Washington the corrupting influences now so dominant."

DAVIS WOULD EMULATE THE WILSON ADMINISTRATION

Aboard the Davis Special Train En Route to Chicago, Sept. 1.—John W. Davis, the democratic presidential nominee, told a crowd that greeted him at the station at Cambridge, Ohio, tonight that if he were elected president he expected to emulate the record of the Wilson administration.

"The democratic party under Woodrow Wilson," Mr. Davis said, "gave this country more beneficial legislation that any other administration in the same length of time. It gave the country an administration that was free from corruption and scandal. That administration raised American prestige throughout the world to a greater height than ever before and gave us a place of wonderful influence and power among the nations."

RUM CHASER DESTROYED; TWO OFFICERS BURNED

New Orleans, Sept. 1.—Two prohibition officers were burned, one seriously, a $25,000 government rum chaser destroyed, and a residence and boathouse valued at $6,000 was razed tonight when the gas tank on coast guard patrol No. 1, attached to the office of Max Overpeck, divisional dry chief, blew up.

No Recurrence of Trouble at Herrin

Klansmen and Anti-Klansmen Accuse Each Other of Starting Saturday's Battle.

Herron, Ill., Sept. 1 (By the A. P.).—Williamson county after having slept with one eye open arose this morning, stretched, and found that the night had brought no harm. The relief was so great, apparently, that no attention was paid to the resumed bombardment of charges and counter-charges hurled by the Ku Klux Klan and the anti-klan, each accusing the other of starting Saturday's battle, in which six men were killed and several injured.

Instead, great preparations were made for a fitting observance of the day dedicated to Labor, and to the men of Williamson county Labor day takes an unusual significance.

Most of them are coal miners and their lives seem centered on their work and its embodiment in the local unions.

This year labor gathered at Johnston City to pay and receive homage, while at Herrin widows and children wept as their men were lowered into graves. The men had been miners, too, but they died from bullets.

One man, Dewey Newbold, died as he had fought, an avowed Ku Klux Klansman. He was a bachelor and was buried in the Newbold cemetery, 25 miles from here.

Chester Reid and Otto Roland were innocent bystanders whose lives increased the toll of the country's internicine strife.

Reid and his wife and six months' old baby just happened by the Smith garage in his automobile when the shooting started. He slumped into the seat with several bullets in his body. As he died he tried to put his body between the gunfire and his baby, perhaps saving the child's life.

"Why must we pay?" his wife asked. She was sitting in the parlor of her home, her child on her lap. Her eyes were dimmed with tears and with trembling lips she said that "Chester had nothing to do with either side. He worked hard for baby and me. We were going over to look at a house. Somebody shot and he dropped dead at my side."

Otto Roland's wife is dead, but three children mourn his death.

In referring to the circumstances that led to Reid's and Roland's deaths, Rev. John Meeker, Presbyterian, who officiated at the funeral services, spoke of the commandment, "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

"We must cultivate a spirit of friendliness," he said. "There is only one solution to the trouble this community has suffered for so long, and that is that we all abide by the first and second commandments."

Tomorrow the other victims will be buried. They are Deputy Sheriff J. H. "Budd" Allison, Green Dunning and Charles Willard.

EFFORTS BEING MADE TO TRACE 30 AUTOMOBILES

Herrin, Sept. 1.—Efforts to trace 30 automobiles which late this afternoon drove up to the rear of the Herrin city hall, and which were loaded with rifles, shotguns and ammunition, were unsuccessful up to 8 o'clock tonight.

Chief of Police A. M. Walker, in a signed statement, today asserted that Sheriff George Galligan and his "gunmen" precipitated the clash Saturday in which six men were killed.

Adjutant General Carlos E. Black announced this afternoon that he could see no reason for holding the troops in Williamson county, and, barring unforeseen developments, they will leave Tuesday morning.

FRANKS FAMILY HAS SOLD HOME IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 1—Jacob Franks has sold his home—the house which his son, Bobby, was frudging after a day at school when he accepted an invitation to inspect a tennis racquet and was instead kidnapped and slain; the home that the elder Franks had purchased from Albert Loeb, father of Richard, one of the youthful murderers, fifteen years ago, a year before Bobby was born.

The new master of the spacious residence located in the heart of the south side fashionable district, will be Joseph Trinz, part owner of a string of motion picture houses. The Franks family will move to a north side hotel, Mr. Franks said today.

Constant association with unpleasant reminders of their son's life and the circumstances surrounding his death prompted Mr. and Mrs. Franks to sell their home although Mrs. Franks was reluctant to part with the house in which her children had been born and reared.

Unknown persons fired upon guards at the Kali Ink coal mine at Cambria, near Wilburton, Okla., but no one was injured.

At Least 80 Persons Killed by Hurricane

Many Were Injured and Many Houses Were Destroyed in Virgin Islands August 28.

St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, Sept. 1.—(By The A. P.)—At least 80 persons were killed and many injured and numerous houses were destroyed and other material damage done by the hurricane which struck the islands in this vicinity the night of August 28 and raged the following day, according to reports received here.

The reports say that on the island of Montserrat, in the British Leeward group, 40 persons were killed and many injured.

Tortola, the largest of the British Virgin Islands is said to have been devastated. Twenty-eight persons were killed and 100 injured and most of the houses destroyed.

On the island of Nevis, in the British Leeward Islands, four persons were killed and 300 houses destroyed. At St. Kan eight persons met death.

Hundreds of persons on the various islands are homeless and are being sheltered in churches and the police stations. The cotton, limes and other crops are declared to have been destroyed or damaged.

The government here is sending building materials, food, medical supplies and doctors to the stricken islands. Many injured persons have been brought here for treatment.

MAMMOTH STILL RAIDED IN HARTFORD YESTERDAY

Hartford, Sept. 1.—The biggest hooch manufactory ever uncovered by the police in Hartford, and said to be one of the largest plants of this kind in the state, was discovered at noon today, when the barn in the rear of No. 1017 Windsor avenue was raided by federal, state and local enforcement officers.

A five ton truck removed 36 crates filled with bottles, besides many other containers, including five-gallon tins which were said to have contained alcohol. More than 2,000 bottles were in the load, most of them of the non-fillable type. A great assortment of labels, bearing the names of the most popular brands of whiskey and gin, were seized by the raiders.

Only eight quarts of liquor was found on the premises, but the police say that they probably arrived after the "holiday rush," and that information obtained by them indicates that a considerable quantity of liquor had been distributed to customers during the past week.

Benjamin Apter, 18 years old, of No. 204 Capen street, was arrested for alleged violation of the liquor laws when he drove into the yard in an automobile while the officers were inspecting the barn. The police this afternoon were searching for Harry Levine, who was to be charged with violation of the liquor laws, according to the police. Other arrests in connection with this raid were expected. The raiding party consisted of Federal Agent Kelleher, County Detective Risley, Detective Sergeant Moriarty and Policeman Slamon.

TWO MEN KILLED IN PISTOL FIGHT IN BUFFALO

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 1—In a pistol fight between four men, one late Saturdayk night in what the police believe to be a Ku Klux internal quarrel, two men were Rilled and one other wounded. The dead men are Edward C. Obertean and Thomas H. Austin, George C. Bryant is in a hospital wounded in the abdomen and may die. The fourth man disappeared.

The four men in Bryant's wife's auto stopped in Durham avenue in the outskirts of the city about 10 o'clock. Neighbors report the men had a brief wordy quarrel and some one shouted "let us end this now." Then several revolver shots were fired and when the smoke cleared away three men were helpless on the ground and the fourth had disappeared.

Bryant has been openly conspicuous as an organizer for the Ku Klux Klan for some months in this section of the state. Obertean's name appears on a membership list that recently came into possession of the police. Little is known of Austin.

ENGINEER IN ACCIDENT AFTER LEAVING HOSPITAL

Danbury, Sept. 1.—Engineer Conklin, of Poughkeepsie of the freight known as No. 3233, left the Danbury hospital where he had been confined with a sprained shoulder as the result of a freight wreck at Berkshire Junction yesterday afternoon. His freight west-bound crashed into the caboose of a freight standing on the track at the junction, wrecking the caboose and damaging several of the freight cars. The engine piloted by Conklin turned over on its side but the engineer jumped and escaped serious injury. The wreck tied up the line for 12 hours.

WITHDRAWS SUPPORT TO LAFOLLETTE AS PRESIDENT

Henry J. Gallagher, Railway Labor Union Leader, Has Withdrawn His Active Support to Candidacy of Lafollette—Was Delegate From the Lafollette-Wheeler Club of Hartford to the State Convention in New Haven.

Hartford, Sept. 1.—Henry J. Gallagher, railway union leader, who was among the first in Connecticut to declare for Senator Robert M. LaFollette as president, has withdrawn his active support of the latter's candidacy, he said tonight.

Mr. Gallagher declined to go into the reasons for his action, which came as a surprise to L. H. Trieschmann, president of the LaFollette-Wheeler club of Hartford. When apprised of Mr. Gallagher's action Mr. Trieschmann sought an explanation from Mr. Gallagher, who, according to the club president, said he had withdrawn his active support of Senator LaFollette's candidacy "for personal reasons."

Mr. Gallagher when questioned would not say whether he was still for Senator LaFollette. Mr. Trieschmann, however, quoted him as saying that his original attitude on Senator LaFollette's candidacy was unchanged.

Mr. Gallagher was a delegate from the LaFollette-Wheeler club of Hartford to the LaFollette state convention in New Haven recently, and is a member of the executive committee of the LaFollette state roganization as well as of the executive committee of the Hartford club.

Present indications are that the question of endorsing Senator LaFollette for president will be sharply debated at the annual convention of the Connecticut Federation of Labor which opens at Eagles' hall tomorrow morning. It was reported that supporters of the LaFollette candidacy from several Central Labor unions in the state met recently and appointed a committee to draft resolutions for presentation to the convention here.

It was also said that resolutions of endorsement might be presented by the machinists, whose international president, William H. Johnston, is one of LaFollette's most active supporters

DAVIS WOULD ABOLISH RAILROAD LABOR BOARD

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 1—Abolition of the railroad labor board in its present form and the setting up of more flexible machinery under governmental direction for handling of railroad labor disputes was advocated today by John W. Davis, the democratic presidential candidate.

Moreover, Mr. Davis, in a Labor Day address to the Ohio Valley Trade and Labor Assembly, subscribed to the board principle that because of the widespread effect industrial disputes have upon commerce and industry, it is the duty of the government to lend its aid and encouragement in every possible way to their settlement.

Mr. Davis expressed the view that in the setting up of machinery through which there coul dbe "fair and calm discussion", there were two fundamentals, first, that the boards be composed of representatives of the employers and of the particular crafts concerned—this would leave out public representations such as there now is on the railroad labor board—and second, that such boards, instead of being fixed in their personnel should be filled by appointments made from time to time as the controversies arise.

RED CROSS AID FOR THE VIRGIN ISLAND SUFFERERS

Washington, Sept. 1.—The American Red Cross has sent $5,000 to alleviate suffering in the Virgin Island resulting from the hurricane that swept them Thursday night, causing more than 100 casualties and damage estimated at $75,000. Governor Williams and E. B. Boardman, chairman of the Red Cross chapter here, who is also collector of the part, cabled brief reports of the disaster to national headquarters of the society.

"Hurricane swept over Virgin Islands night of 28th," the governor said, adding that the islands of St. Thomas and St. Johns were principally affected.

"Over 100 casualties," cables Mr. Boardman, "heavy rains still continuing, increasing the danger from exposure." He estimated that 1,000 houses were wrecked. "St. Johns completely devastated," he said, "unable to estimate damage on that island."

Mr. Boardman has made an appeal for clothing for "500 men, 500 boys and 500 grils and 200 hospital gowns."

SOUTHERN CROSS PICKED UP SIX MEN AT SEA

East Hampton, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Six survivors of the four-masted auxiliary schooner Samuel W. Hathaway, wrecked at sea last Tuesday in a hurricane that swept the Atlantic seaboard, were picked up early today by the steamship Southern Cross, bound from Buenos Aires for New York. The rescued sailormen were found floating atop of the schooner's skylight, where they hadexisted for four days, eating such flying fish as they snared and drinking water that they caught in their hats.

The rescued men were suffering severely from their experiences and were taken to the hospital of the Southern Cross, which reported the rescue to the Independent Wireless company station here. The Southern Cross is due in New York today.

The Hathaway's sailors reported that the schooner's engineer and one sailor were drowned in the blow and that Captain Elliott of the Hathaway was last seen Tuesday night clinging to a raft. The rescue was made at 4.30 o'clock this morning.

The Hathaway was bound from Charleston, S. C., loaded with fertilizer for San Juan, Porto Rico, and foundered in the hurricane.

TWO MEN KILLED BY EXPLOSION IN HAVERHILL

Haverhill, Mass., Sept. 1.—Two men were killed and three firemen overcome by gas fumes as the result of a fire and explosion today in a store on Washington street. The dead men, Frank D. Renzo, 31, and Tony Trucci, 25, lived in a boarding house over the store.

The fire is beleieved to have started from an overheated stove which melted the pine connections in a gas meter close by, causing the explosion. The building, which was badly damaged by the explosion, contained ten tenements, but all the occupants escaped with the exception of Trucci and D'Renzo. One woman was slightly hurt when she jumped from a second story window and one of the firemen is in a hospital in a serious condition.

SOCIOLOGICAL INVESTIGATOR IN JAIL IN DEFAULT OF $1,500

New Haven, Sept. 1—Dudley Shannon Mackenzie, who claimed when arrested on a charge of passing three fraudulent checks on as many New Haven merchants, to be a sociological investigator making his headquarters at the Yale Divinity school, was given the opportunity he said he wished to view the inside of the New Haven county jail as a prisoner today.

Arraigned in police court his case was continued until Thursday under bonds of $1,500 which he was unable to furnish.

Mackenzie, who is 20 years old stands six feet, one inch in his stocking feet and weighs but 146 pounds, with light pompadour hair, was arrested late Saturday at a local haberdashery, where he called to order some trousers and golf stockings, for which he had offered a check on a New Haven bank in payment. The police first learned that he had no funds in the bank, having obtained the checkbook, according to his own statement, on the claim that he was a Yale student and expected his mother in Salt Lake City to remit $1.85 to him some time soon.

Today he told the police his home was in Washington, D. C., and that he was a student in Oberlin college at Oberlin, Ohio, where he expected to begin his junior year this month.

SENATOR WHEELER OPENED NEW ENGLAND CAMPAIGN

Boston, Sept. 1—(By the A. P.)—Four speeches in Boston and environs served today for the opening of the New England campaign tour of Senator Wheeler, vice presidential nominee on the LaFollette ticket. The main effort in the open air on Boston Common, brought a straggling but sizable crowd out on the trail of a heavy rain.

The loudest burst of applause greeted Senator Wheeler's prediction of election of Senator LaFollette, his presidential candidate, thought there were stirs at his repeated jabbing at President Coolidge and the republican administration, and manifestations for his declaration that the sole issue of the campaign lay in the "return of the government to the people." He dealt at length with findings of the senate investigations, in which he himself was engaged, and hurried of the speaker's stand to address a juncheon. There he spoke briefly again.

HOTTEST SEPT. 1 IN HISTORY NEW YORK WEATHER BUREAU

New York, Sept. 1.—Seeking relief from the hottest September 1 in the history of the weather bureau Labor Day excursionists fled the city in droves today. It registered 93 at 4 o'clock this afternoon the mercury climbed a degree and a half higher than on September 1, 1898, the warmest previous day on record for this date, and also tied the high mark for the year.

One death caused by the heat was reported. The victim was Michael Delfino, who died in a building in Yonkers, where he was employed as steward.

WORLD FLIERS MAY LEAVE LABRADOR TODAY

Washington, Sept. 1—The army air service was informed today that the American around the world fliers would not leave Indian Harbor, Labrador, before tomorrow.

The message was the first official word received here of the flight plans which contemplate making the next jump to Cartwright Harbor, forty miles south of Indian Harbor, from there it is the intention to go to Pictou, N. S. and thence to Boston. Just how soon the fliers will reach the Massachusetts city is not known here but it is the expectation that they will arrive there soon.

STATEMENT BY FINANCE MINISTER OF GERMANY

Berlin, Sept. 1.—(By The A. P.)—Finance Minister Luther, in a statement to the press today on the prospects of the Dawes loan to Germany, said that America need not fear German competition in trade as it was impossible for his country to achieve what she did before the war because her sources of raw material has been diminished by the loss of Lorraine, her collonies, valuable parts of East Prussia and her Upper Silesian coal mines.

Dr. Luther added that Germany had paid her first advance installment for the service of the loan, namely, 20,000,000 marks into the account at the reichsbank of the agent general of reparations.

NEARLY 15,000 ATTEND CLOSE OF THE ELKS' FAIR

(Special to The Bulletin)

Willimantic, Sept. 1.—Close to 15,000 thronged Elks' park tonight. The Elks' country fair of Willimantic lodge, No. 1311, was concluded in a measure of success far exceeding expectations of the general committee of arrangements. In fact the affair was the most elaborate of its kind ever attempted in the city. Additional police were on duty and the service rendered by the guardians of law was most satisfactory, only several minor accidents occurring. All the attractions were enjoyed by the large crowd. The vaudeville numbers were received with unanimous approbation. The dance pavilion was crowded all evening. The delightful music was given by the Peerless orchestra. The B. P. O. E. band furnished music for the entertainment. Festivities were concluded with the giving of the 15 automobiles and the valuable "den of harmony."

STONINGTON

At the Elm street crossing Sunday morning about 10 o'clock an eastbound Reo Speed Wagon and a new Ford touring car, west-bound, collided. No one in either car was injured although the front of the Ford was well stove in. The Reo truck sustained only a broken fender. Officer Stanton of the Connecticut State Police appeared on his motorcycle and took charge of the situation. It developed that the Ford car was out of its bounds at the time of the accident.

The Reo machine bore a commercial license No. 23-678 and was registered in Connecticut. It was being driven by Frank Morrison of Westerly, R. I. Officer Stanton asked for Morrison's license and it was found to be a Rhode Island license. His car bore a Connecticut registration and he was ordered to appear in the Stonington town court Wednesday morning, September 3. There were two others in the Reo besides Morrison.

There were eight people in the Ford machine which was being driven by John Anderson of 115 Transit Street, Providence. The car carried Rhode Island registration No. 63-880. The occupants of the car were Providence people en route for the Holy Ghost ceremonies held in Stonington over Sunday. Officer Stanton ordered Anderson to appear in the Stonington town court Wednesday morning. He will be arraigned on a charge of reckless driving. The wrecker from a Stonington Auto Station carried away the broken Ford machine.

The weather for Labor Day pleasure seekers was excellent. There were many boating parties and scores of people went bathing from the Anderson raft across the harbor throughout the day. The sun proved strong enough to drive away the fog by 11 o'clock, making the rest of the day ideal for water sports.

At the First Baptist Church Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson of Harlem occupied the pulpit. They are engaged in social work in the Bowery Mission, New York, and explained to a very attentive audience the purpose and work of their organization.

LEBANON JUSTICE HELD OPEN AIR COURT

Justice of the Peace W. T. Curry held an open air court in the yard at his home Sunday evening, when the throng that had assembled to hear the trial of Lucius Kastenia proved so large that it could not be contained in the house, and the court session had to be moved out into the yard, where the session continued on the lawn until the early hours of Monday morning.

Kastenia, who peppered two calves with a shotgun on Saturday, was presented on the complaint of Grand Juror E. W. Jones, and was charged with entering the property of another and with unnecessary cruelty to dumb animals. Probable cause was found and Kastenia was bound over to the superior court. His father furnished bonds of $500.

Attorney John H. Barnes was counsel for the accused man, while Attorney Schwartz of a Bridgeport firm prosecuted, and a doctor and the superintendent of the Humane society assisted in the prosecution. Photographs were taken of the injured calves.

DELEGATES NAMED FROM 20TH SENATORIAL DISTRICT

WESTERLY

Battery E 243rd Coast Artillery, Captain John Datson returned to Westerly Sunday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock on a special seven car troop train on the New Haven railroad. The men appeared well browned and in excellent spirits, from their fifteen day tour at Fort Wright, Fishers' Island, there being thirty-four men. The battery took first honors for inspection on mobilization day and were personally complimented by Inspector Gen. Mark Hersey.

More honor came to the local batterymen in their full service target practice, a practice which cost the government $13,000 but it is claimed that this amount was well spent, as the results attained justified the expenditure. Five hits were planted on a destroyer by the E men and they also hung up the best time for this encampment, their record being 16 shots in 28 minutes. Especial tribute is paid former Capt. Christie McConnell, who, when the E men were shy one man, donned denim and came over to the pit to personally throw in projectiles—an especially fine showing of the proper spirit for a successful organization, and an encouragement to the men of the command. Battery E men finished firing Sunday morning at 7.43 o'clock.

Senator Abraham P. Datson of Westerly who is "exiled" with 21 other Rhode Island republican senators at Rutland, Mass., was a visitor at Fort Wright, Fisher's Island on Friday and visited with others the Battery E boys there.

Charles Austin, 60, of Westerly, a caretaker at the Winnapaug Golf club on the Shore Road, was knocked down Saturday evening at 11 o'clock, 100 yards west of the Old Morse farm, by the Dodge touring car, N-6239 of J. E. Corcoran, 132 Crystal avenue, New London. Dr. M. H. Scanlon found a possible fracture of two ribs, badly injured right eye, contusions and lascerations of the chest and numerous cuts and bruises.

After seeing the injured men cared for Corcoran reported to Supernumerary Patrolman Adin Sheldon in Pawcatuck, and was taken to Judge William A. Wilcox who directed that he be summoned into Stonington Town court Wednesday morning.

Alexander McLaughlin, of East Hartford, who is staying at the Murphy cottage, Pleasant View nearly severing his left toe. While in bathing the other evening the cut was sustained and a doctor was summoned to give aid. The tendon and muscle had been nearly severed.

An unexpected raid made in the Pierce street section of Westerly, Saturday afternoon resulted in the seizure of liquor in two of the places visited.

Connecticut State Policeman have summoned Salim Tamer and Elton Dunham, both of Westerly, to appear Wednesday morning in Stonington town court as a result of their cars colliding Friday night, near the boundary line of Stonington and North Stonington, on the Norwich road.

Plans for National defense day are being carried out by Capt. Datson, who also has his secret orders and plans for Westerly mobilization such as the ordering of rations, getting in touch with railroad officials, etc., the form of which will be gone over on National defense day, Friday, Sept., 12th.

George E. Chapman has submitted the following: Watch your step. From stepping on a broken glass, a lot of folks have died, alas! But nothing like as many as have died from stepping on the gas.

A private combination car of the Pennsylvania railroad was attached to the southbound Pittsburgh express leaving the Westerly station at 4.44 Monday afternoon. Among the occupants were H. H. Lee, assistant treasurer and other members of the official family of the Pennsylvania railroad, who were to take the private car at New London.

Miss Frances L. Young leaves Westerly this (Tuesday) morning to resume her studies at the New England Commercial College, Providence.

Many Westerly people attended the fair on Labor day, patronage seemingly to be evenly distributed between the seventieth New London county fair at Norwich and the Ashaway Grange fair at Ashaway.

Express trains on the Shore line of the New Haven railroad have been crowded for the past two days, those stopping at the Westerly station being run in two and three sections to accommodate the holiday rush traffic.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Bowman Coon and son returned to their home in Newark, N. J., Monday afternoon, after being guests of Mr. Coon's mother, Mrs. Adelle B. Coon.

Miss Florence M. Hamley returned to Boston Monday noon after being the guest of Mr. and and Mrs. George B. Sharpe.

Edward G. Cundall arrived in Westerly from Boston Saturday to be the Labor day guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Cundall, in Pawcatuck.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Dewey left Westerly Monday for Pittsfield, Mass., after being guests at the Ocean House Watch Hill, and before returning to their homes in Washington, D. C., and New York.

D. A. Goodsenough left Monday for Plymouth, Mass., following a visit at Shelter Harbor, Haversham, R. I., and previous to returning to Burlington, Vt.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clark of Pawcatuck were on an automobile trip over the Labor day holiday.

Dr. Albert H. Spicer, returned to Westerly Saturday, having arrived in New York on the Furness Bermuda line steamship Fort Hamilton.

Miss Esther Greene of Oaklawn returned home Monday after passing the week end as the guest of Miss Hilda K. Young at Hillandale farm, Haversham.

Irving Colby and family of New London and Westerly were automobile visitors in Narragansett Pier Labor Day.

Attorney John J. Gallagher of Pawcatuck was a motor tourist Labor day over the Mohawk Trail, leaving Westerly Sunday.

W. E. Tryon of Elizabeth, N. J., who has been spending a vacation at Watch Hill, returned home Monday afternoon.

Dana Maxson, of Manchester, N. H., formerly in the post office in Stonington, left Westerly Monday afternoon to return home.

Mrs. C. L. Reinek returns to her home in Brooklyn, N. Y., today (Tuesday) from a visit at the Plimpton hotel, Watch Hill.

J. Raymond Burke left Monday for Soughton, Mass., to resume his duties as principal of the public grammar schools.

Byron Lewis of New Haven was the guest over Labor day of relatives and friends in Pawcatuck and Westerly.

Oliver R. Portelance was in Norwich Saturday.

Leonard Delehanty of Boston was at Pleasant View for a holiday visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wykoff of Elizabeth, N. J., and Ernest Stillman of Plainfield, N. J., were visitors in Westerly Saturday, Sunday and Monday, on their return from a business trip to Boston. They were guests of friends and relatives.

Mrs. Job Thorpe and Mary Thorpe of Westerly were visiting in Ashford over Labor day.

Mrs. G. H. Carey of New York, after visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Mapes, Weekapaug, returned home Labor day.

Miss Mary Papalia returned to Paterson, N. J., Monday after a summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Papalia and will resume her duties as a teacher in the public schools.

Thomas Catto was in New York over Labor day.

Miss Florence Nicols after spending her vacation with her sister, Mrs. William H. Healey in Westerly returned to her home in Jersey City Labor day.

Kenneth R. Barlow of Westerly was a visitor over the holiday week end in Springfield, Mass.

Mrs. E. P. Mills returned to Boston Monday from a visit to Shelter Harbor, Haversham.

Miss Mary Brodie has returned to her school duties in Plainfield, N. J., after being the guest of parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Brodie.

Miss Louise Learmen of Springfield, Mass. returned home Monday after being the week end guest of Westerly friends.

Albert Stickney, a lawyer of New York who passes the summer at Wamphussuc Point, Stonington, was found Monday morning by Deputy Game Warden A. D. Hill, of Pawcatuck, gunning without a license. Labor day, September 1, marked the opening of the season of gunning on shore birds and the deputy game warden was in Lower Pawcatuck when he came upon a gunner accompanied by two boys under age. The man was directed to appear in Stonington town court Saturday next.

Almost a record was established for a holiday in Westerly and Pawcatuck police circles, for up to a late hour Monday there had not been an arrest made by the Rhode Island or Connecticut town authorities.

Sunday at Watch Hill all records were broken for bathing. Attendance at Watch Hill, Pleasant View and Weekapaug beaches was exceptionally large on Labor day and "complaints" were made as to the warmth of the sea water.

H. B. Borden of New York came into Watch Hill with a party in his yacht on Labor day.

This (Tuesday) morning at the Westerly town hall at 9.30 o'clock will be held the September session of the Westerly town council. The regular session occurs on the first Monday of each month, but by vote of the town council Tuesday was made the meeting date as Monday was Labor day. This (Tuesday) afternoon at the Probate court rooms before Judge Edward M. Burke will be held the regular session of Westerly probate court.

Pawcatuck Night Patrolman Chas. W. Connors resumed his duties Monday night on the Stonington police force after two weeks' absence.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

Among the six building permits issued by Fire Marshall Howard L. Stanton during the past week is one for the new brick building to be erected on Fall Avenue for the City of Norwich to be used as a voting place. The contract for this building has been awarded to Patrick F. Sweeney at an approximate cost of $1500. The other five permits are for a cottage house and smaller work.

At the Norwich State Hospital the two new ward buildings that are in the process of erection are being roofed in. Good progress has also been made on buildings in Norwich and vicinity during the past week.

The building permits issued by Fire Marshall Stanton during the past week are as follows:

To Emil O. Jahn to erect a frame garage on Gilmore street. The garage will be 18x18 feet with cement foundation and floor.

To Emil O. Jahn to build a cottage house on Gilmore street. The house will be 24x34 feet and of frame construction with stone and cement block foundation. The exterior finish will be in clapboards and shingles and the interior will be finished in hardwood and plaster.

Fowler and Rathbun have the contract to alter and extend the building owned by Sam Jennes at 28 Hobart avenue. The plans call for a rear veranda 16x7 feet and a flight of outside stairs.

To C. J. Downes to add a veranda to the present building at 42 Prospect street.

P. F. Sweeney has the contract to build a one-story brick building on Falls avenue for the city of Norwich. The building will be 18x28 feet to be used as a voting station. The foundation will be of stone, the walls of brick and the roof of asphalt. The cost of the building will be approximately $1,500.

To George E. Liepold to erect a frame garage on Hedge avenue. The garage will be 16x20 feet.

New London

The permit has been issued to Augustino Minucci for a dwelling at the corner of Smith and Scharaff sts. The dwelling will be of frame construction, arranged bungalow style, for one family. It will be 28x38 feet, and will cost about $4,000.

The contract has been awarded to the Arthur Jackson Co., 108 State st., for an addition to the factory of the Onondago Textile Co. at the corner of Smith and Trumbull sts. The addition will be 19x13 feet, 19 feet high, of concrete construction. It will be designed for a boiler room.

The foundation is in for the dormitory at the Connecticut College being erected by the Tidewater Construction Co., New York.

Application for Building Permits.

Onondago Textile Mills, Inc., addition, cor. Trumbull and Smith sts. $1,652.

Genaro Menghi, garage, Menghi st. $300.

Marvin E. Smith, garage, Addison st. $350.

Jos. Litvin, garage, Colt st. $300.

W. E. Patterson, addition, 13 Adeline st. $300.

Augustino Minucci, dwelling, cor. Smith and Scharaff sts. $4,000.

Bernardo Minucci, garage, Dennison st. $300.

Number of permits issued for the week, 12; estimated cost of buildings, $7,852.

Gales Ferry

The contract has been awarded for alterations to the dwelling of C. E. Dimmock, of the Coast Guard Academy, at Gales Ferry. The house will be remodeled to provide new baths and a new breakfast room. There will be new floors, plumbing and electric wiring, and a new hot water heating system.

Thompson

The sub-contract for the heating for the junior college building at Miss Howe and Miss Morat's School, Thompson, has been awarded to W. H. Hafferty, Putnam. George W. Winterburn, Putnam, has the sub-contract for the electric wiring. Mr. Hafferty also has the sub-contract for the plumbing and heating for the Mechanicsville school, D. Boulois, Danielson, general contractor.

Deep River

Work has been started on an addition to the residence of A. C. Pratt in Deep River. The new construction is being done by the day. The addition will be 21x21 feet, two stories high, of frame construction. It will be arranged for sitting rooms, with fireplaces on both floors. There will also be a one-story addition, 13x13 feet, for a dining room. Other new work will include the erection of a veranda and a sun-room. Interior alterations requiring new plumbing and electric wiring will be made.

Colchester

At a special town meeting held this past week the recommendation of the special committee that $60,000 be appropriated for the construction of a new graded school was defeated. The school committee has authorized necessary repairs to several schoolhouses, work having been started. It is also planned to build an addition of two rooms to the Bacon Academy building, and an extra room to the Dublin school property.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

In Norwich during the past week there were 14 sales of real estate as compared to 17 sales for the corresponding week in 1923. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $45,375 and $39,040.

There were 7 sales of real estate in New London during the past week as compared to 9 same for the same week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $51,175 and $117,875.

State Building Survey

The building record of the past week in the larger centers of Connecticut shows a total of 257 permits issued for new construction, for buildings costing $1,194,893, comparing with 205 permits granted in the corresponding week of 1923, for an investment of $942,249 in new building, and 257 permits in 1922, when the cost of building amounted to only $469,225.

National Building Survey

Building permits issued and plans filed in 324 cities for July, according to the national building survey of S. D. Straus & Co., made public last week, show an increase over last July of between two and three per cent., indicating that the volume of building throughout the country on the whole continues toward more normal levels. The only region which reported unusual activity for mid-summer was the South, where 55 cities and towns showed a gain of approximately 35 per cent. The next most active region was the central West, where 106 cities reported a gain over last July of 5 per cent. The Eastern and Pacific regions showed losses of four and three per cent. respectively.

ANOTHER CASE OF PREVENTION

When the naval agreement was in the process of formation, and when we were coming forth its advantages to the representatives of other nations, this country went a long way in setting an example. It in fact took [illegible] making sacrifices, showed [illegible] to go more than half [illegible] of vessels and indicated so clearly that it [illegible] impression. The limitations were the result.

[illegible] time there has arisen [illegible] of gun elevation, and [illegible] those who maintain that [illegible] to prevent this country [illegible] barrels of a [illegible] battleships that the [illegible] the same development [illegible] other nations. In this connection it is pointed out that [illegible] have a greater gun [illegible] the American ships and [illegible] more powerful vessels [illegible].

In this connection it is an interesting position which is taking [illegible]. He doesn't [illegible] are going ahead [illegible] gun elevations, treaty [illegible]. He doesn't maintain [illegible] make the changes but [illegible] that was manifestly [illegible] of the armament reduplished he is demonstrating the right thing without [illegible] suspicions of others. He doesn't say we haven't the right to elevate the guns, but he is unwilling to [illegible] naval construction [illegible] such a question. The executive withholds his approval of the changes and considers that the [illegible] any controversy that would at once stimulate heavy naval expenditures and possibly departures from the treaty is preferable to the [illegible].

Lodge may be right when he says that it is far [illegible] that the European [illegible] money into [illegible] competitive [illegible] expenditures [illegible].

SPILLING THE BEANS

[illegible] sought to [illegible] out of the [illegible] has [illegible] defense may is [illegible] vice presidential [illegible] democratic ticket [illegible] opposition to [illegible] nomination of Governor [illegible] of Nebraska [illegible] election to refrain [illegible] in the convention [illegible] immediately thereafter [illegible] W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, voiced his approval of the Bryan attitude. He [illegible] placed in a position where [illegible] no different. It would be [illegible] have the candidates disagree [illegible] hands with the platform attitude of the governor of Nebraska.

Thus far it seemed to be indicated that the democrats were going to make as much of an issue as possible of the Ku Klux Klan idea. It was a surprise to great numbers, but perhaps not greater surprise is the published letter by Mrs. Clem Shaver, wife of the chairman of the democratic national committee, in which Mr. Bryan a pacifist and [illegible] of West Virginia to [illegible] Americans to the [illegible] the government's Defense [illegible].

Then Mrs. Shaver terms Bryan a specialist. It is to be realized that his attitude bears the endorsement of [illegible] and what is said of [illegible] apply to the presidential [illegible] the state of West Virginia [illegible] New York. Mrs. Shaver [illegible] and what she believes. She hasn't [illegible] because of the political bonds. It may be [illegible] enough to see that [illegible] is being injured [illegible] impossible for the business [illegible] into the situation. But Mrs. Shaver is [illegible] attention to the fact [illegible] a pacific policy is being urged [illegible] the purpose of politics, and patriotism [illegible] prevent it. REMUS AND THE COMMITTEE

During the investigation of Harry Daugherty by the Wheeler-Brookhart committee much was made of the statements that was given by a string of characters whose records were sufficient to cause whatever they might say to be liberally salted. There were train robbers, divorcees, moonlighters and discharged government employes. It was an array of talent that was enough to kill the cause in which they were enlisted. There was evidence that was purely hearsay, which would have stood no chance whatever in a court of law. It was apparently no trouble to get most any kind of testimony that was desired and when there was no other way out of it there was always the chance of submitting the statements of a dead man as the necessary proof.

It is interesting now that one of these witnesses, George Remus, now at Atlanta penitentiary and serving time there when called upon to testify by Senator Wheeler, has furnished an affidavit in which he repudiates all that he charged, says that what he testified to was a lie and that he was induced to tell the falsehood by an attorney of the Wheeler committee who visited him in prison. He further claims that he had no dealings with Daugherty, did not know him and intimates that he was to be released in payment for his testimony.

Possibly there is no more credence to be placed in the affidavit than there was in the testimony before the committee. Chairman Wheeler claims that the warden at Atlanta is a friend of Daugherty and that there was suspicion of the testimony by Remus when given. This is of course a pretty time to make this known after the harm has been done and the committee permitted such testimony to stand, and even now intimates that the repudiation is crooked. The committee which relied upon the kind of bootleggers for his testimony doesn't strengthen its position much by casting aspersions at it at this late date. The committee cannot wash its hands of its part so easily.

THE WINTER'S FUEL

Not exactly the weather to get people interested in their fuel supply for next winter, and yet there is being heard that plea to householders to get in their coal.

From the coal fields there comes the statement that not as much coal is being moved as a year ago.

From the railroads there are figures which show that not as many cars of coal have been handled this year as last, and that there are plenty of idle cars waiting for something to do.

There are those who have stopped buying coal. They have resorted to substitutes for heat, and the question of coal does not interest them any more. There are those who are peeved at the high price of coal and are unwilling to lend their aid in the sustenance of high prices. They are looking to the immediate situation and not giving consideration to the future.

The danger of a coal shortage cannot be regarded as serious. There is enough of the fuel and there are so many ready to mine it that they cannot all find employment. The danger in the failure to get the winter's supply in before the cold weather arrives lies in the inability of the transportation facilities to meet requirements. Weather has much to do with that and that is something over which there is no control.

Shortages have occurred before supply of coal during the summer because of the failure to lay in the and thereby creating unnecessary handicaps to the handling of fuel later on. The steady movement of coal through the year would relieve much trouble.

SOUTH AMERICA BY AIRPLANE

Between this country and South American transportation facilities have been more or less limited. It has only been since the war that there has been developed such steamship [illegible] long ago justified. It has overcome the necessity of going to Europe in order to get to South America comfortably, but there is much that is still desired in the way [illegible].

With the progress made by the circumnavigators it is quite natural that there should be thought of the establishment of [illegible] service to [illegible] we might expect [illegible] service to come first, but the flying machine will travel between the countries much faster and such facilities are likely to be offered [illegible] date.

One who has looked into the possibilities of such a development has determined that it takes a letter 29 days now to cover 5000 miles between New York and Buenos Aires, or 23 days between New York and Rio Janeiro. With a flying [illegible] it is possible for [illegible] over a chain of [illegible] coast including Cuba, the Antilles and Trinidad so that land would be in sight practically all the time, and in such a way South America would be brought in much closer touch with the United States, even as the Atlantic and Pacific [illegible] now separated only by a [illegible] between dawn and dusk.

Such a service is not to be inaugurated this week, but it is one way in which the nations of the western hemisphere will be brought nearer together, and this is her big sketching hat." I answered laughing. "No wonder you mistook me for her."

"I meant to offer her a lift home. May I take you?"

"Isn't this jolly?" I exclaimed stepping into the car.

"Have you time to take a whirl around our quiet hamlet?" he asked gayly. He was a dear boy and I enjoyed every moment of the drive until I saw Peggy's harassed countenance at the side door of the bungalow.

"I ran away with your friend," explained my cavalier.

"You should be shot at sunrise, Barney," said Peggy. "My uncle's dinner is dried to ruination.

"Sorry, Miss Chamberlayne. May I come tomorrow and try to make my peace?"

"Yes, Barney," called Peggy, as he drove away. Then she turned to me. "You knew I had dinner nearly ready when you went for the ice cream. Why, look, it's all melted and mostly run away."

"And on my frock!" I cried, but Peggy appeared indifferent.

"We'll just have to have after-dinner coffee," she remarked.

It was small of Peggy not to have told me that her uncle was a young and attractive bachelor.

After dinner she explained that they had private business matters to discuss. As I withdrew to my room I determined to go into the city on the same train with him in the morning, but when Peggy called me she told me that he had departed early. I fancied that I caught a triumphant gleam in her eye.

She need not have been so afraid of my "vamping" Mr. Chamberlayne. I have plenty of suitors. I found her so dull and so inhospitable that I cut my visit short. I fear she has a severe case of artistic temperament. —Chicago News.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

United States Senator Henry W. Keyes, who is slated for renomination in today's republican primary in New Hampshire, was elected to the senate six years ago while governor and was the first governor of the Granite state to serve more than 100 years to be elected senator. He is a native of Vermont, born in 1863. His father was a wealthy merchant, farmer, and railroad builder. The son was educated in the Boston public schools, Adams Academy and Harvard, graduating from Harvard in 1885. In his student days he had a fine athletic record, being a member of the Harvard football team and captain of the college crew. Returning to New Hampshire he began his political career in the Democratic party and as a democrat was elected to the state legislature. In the campaign of 1896 he changed his political affiliation and joined the republicans, and it was as a republican he was elected to the governorship.

Made first lord of the admiralty in 1911, he kept the British fleet ready for war. When the world war broke he tried to save Antwerp, and his failure was scored. Then came the disastrous British expedition to the Gallipoli peninsula. He was blamed for much of it, resigned under fire and went to the front in France.

Two years afterward he succeeded Lloyd George as minister of munitions, a year later he was chosen secretary of state for war and air, and three years from that time was made secretary of state for the colonies. The following year he was defeated for office.

Last March he tried again for parliament and lost by less than 40 votes. His companions say he again will be prominent in Britain's leadership.

A Little Talk on Thrift

Progress Through Work

It is well to bear in mind that one of the greatest sources of human happiness is work. And this is a truth that could be more widely learned to advantage.

Too many follow the rule that the more work they can avoid, the greater will be their happiness.

There is no true happiness in an idle life. Waste of time is a form of thriftlessness that is as destructive of rightful pleasure as waste of money or waste of health.

Work alone brings happiness, because work is creative and upbuilding.

All the instincts of the human race which have been responsible for humanity's development have found their fulfillment only in work.

In every realm of man's activities, whether it be spiritual, mental or physical, human experience has shown that progress alone has come through work.

This does not mean that there is no rightful place in life for play, or that diversion is not in accordance with good thrift. It is a matter of common sense, that life cannot be made up entirely of labor. There would be little if any progress in a material way under such a condition, and, in the finer things of life, there would be absence of all development.

You cannot transform a man into a machine and get human results. But, within the average routine of life, work brings the most satisfying happiness—work that is right, unbuilding and helpful.

Do not allow an ambition for idleness to springy up in your heart. Wasting time, never, under any circumstances, can bring lasting joy. It is not dissimilar to every other unthrifty practice.

Happiness through work is one of the fundamentals that can be continually counted on. It is a splendid cure of true, constructive thrift.—American Society for Thrift.

Churchill's Many Rises and Falls

Son of the illustrious Lord Randolph Churchill, Winston L. S. Churchill enjoyed a happy boyhood, but later had to fight battles both in the field and near at home.

Educated at Harrow and graduated from Sandhurst Military college at 20, he joined the British army, but saw his first fighting a few months later, while on leave, with the Spanish army in Cuba. He served with the British forces in India, Egypt and Africa, taking part in the battle of Omdurman. A fearless fighter, he was made a lieutenant, was awarded four military honors, and his praises were sung back home. Returning to England he ran for parliament and was defeated.

Immediately he went to Africa to fight in the Boer war. A lieutenant on a troop train that was ambushed, he took the wounded on the engine through a rain of shells to safety, then returned, and was captured. He escaped a month later and took part in 20 clashes.

Returning to England again, he was elected to parliament from Oldham. Five years later he went down with the Balfour ministry, joined the liberals and became an under-secretary of the state for the colonies. With a brilliant record in parliament, he was

Too Far Away.

Betty, who was three and a half, was very much interested in the remodeling of the house across the way. She had heard folks talking about the new roof which was being put on.

"What kind of a roof is it?" asked Betty.

"Asbestos," replied grandmother.

"I can't ask Bestas. He's too far away," said Betty in all sincerity.

A Fast Worker.

Some high pressure salesmanship was being used in an effort to introduce a young man to subscribe for a health course. Fasting was one of the requirements of the course, the salesman said.

"Oh, I never could do that" the young man pretended. "I simply got to have three meals a day."

"That's the trouble with the people, of this age," the salesman pursued. "They eat their heads off. Why, I get along on one meal a day."

"Business must be bad in your line," was the prompt rejoiner of the young man.

There is a flat concrete slab over the unpretentious grave of Colonel Cody—Buffalo Bill—on top of Lookout mountain, Colorado. This in turn is covered with ordinary chicken wire, and on the concrete are hundreds of coins, cents, nickels, dimes and even larger ones, which the visitors have thrown there. The chicken wire is to prevent anybody from getting the money with a stick. The object of the collection is to build a real monument over the last resting place of Buffalo Bill.

POETRY

CORONATION.

At the king's gate the subtle noon
Wove filmy yellow nets of sun;
Into the drowsy snare too soon
The guards fell one by one.

Through the king's gate, unquestioned then,
A beggar went, and laughed. "This brings
Me chance, at last, to see if men
Fare better, being kings."

The king sat bowed beneath his crown,
Propping his face with listless hand;
Watching the hour-glass sifting down
Too slow its shining sand.

"Poor man, what wouldst thou have of me?"
The beggar turned and, pitying,
Replied, like one on dream, "Of thee,
Nothing. I want the king."

Up rose the king, and from his head
Shook off the crown and threw it by.
"O man, thou must have known," he said,
"A greater king than I."

Through all the gates, unquestioned then,
Went king and beggar, hand in hand,
Whispered the king, "Shall I know when Before his throne I stand?"

The beggar laughed. Free winds in haste
Were wiping from the king's hot brow
The crimson lines the crown had traced.
"This is his presence now."

At the king's gate, the crafty noon
Unwove its yellow nets of sun;
Out of their sleep in terror soon
The guards waked one by one.

"Ho here! Ho here!" Has no man seen
The king?" The cry ran to and fro.
Beggar and king, they laughed I ween,
The laugh that free men know.

On the king's gate the moss grey gray;
The king came not. They called him dead;
And made his eldest son one day
Slave in his father's stead.

—Helen Hunt Jackson.

HEATHER.

All my life long I had longed to see heather
In the land of my kinsmen far over the sea—
Now here is heather like a wide purple ocean
Rolling its tides towards me.

Dark, dipping waves of it deeper than amethyst
When the gold day was begun—
Long, curving swells of it dusky and lovely.
Here on the downs in the sun;

Or in a gray mist, sombre and wonderful,
Like a great twilight unspread
Par over earth that was I meet with the heavens
Purple and wild overhead

Now I am shaken by great storms of beauty
Wetting my eyelids with joy of my eyes;
Now is my soul like a wind-stricken sea bird
Troubling the deep with her cries.

Wild Oats

WHEN Dan took Evelyn in his arms and told her that he loved her she believed him.

In her ignorance of life she had no way of knowing he was not in earnest.

If she had known she was only one of many girls into whose ears he had poured the same sweet sounding words, what a world of shame and degradation she would have been spared.

"His False Standard"—in True Story Magazine for October is a story of the sowing of wild oats—and the reaping of a crop of agony. If every man and woman could see the broken hearts and ruined hopes, the days and nights of remorse and tears that follow wrong-doing—no young man would trifle with a woman's love and no girl would give her heart to any man until she had made sure that his intentions were honorable.

Don't fail to read this thrilling lesson from life.

Other Absorbing Stories from Life

Here are just a few of the unusual features in the October Issue of True Story Magazine

"Her Final Choice"—Nina, an orphan, hungered for love. So when Peter Hodge came into her life, she fell an easy prey to his seeming devotion. She little realized that in throwing herself into his arms, she was inviting tragedy.

"What Every Woman Hopes"—Living in the country, Madge thought no temptation of city life could ever lure her into wrong. But Madge did not know how easy and attractive each little downward step is made, and how fiercely she was to have to battle for her soul.

"The Network of Fate"—When Janet concealed from her husband that his friend, had made improper advances toward her—she believed her silence the only way to save her husband from ruin. How she had to literally claw her way out of hell as a result, is a most heart gripping narrative.

"You Belong to Me"—When Avery Holson bullied her into a loveless marriage, Alice was afraid to withdraw from an alliance that was loathsome to her. Had she been properly taught from her childhood days, what agony of mind and soul she might have escaped!

"Out of the Depths" $1000 Prize Story

When other children were being schooled in their A B C's little Jean was being schooled by a master pickpocket. When she was eighteen, she was taught blackmailing, and accepted in the most exclusive circles of society. Her beauty brought her into contact with many men.

Then Fate plunged love into her life and twisted two lives out of shape. Her own and her victim's. But who would believe the truth from a girl who had squeezed $50,000 out of a rich man for some love letters. Then came the truth—remorse—heartaches, anger, passion, love. You've probably never read such an unusual heart gripping story as "Out of the Depths," which appears in the October True Story Magazine. And you are going to say that it deserves to win the $1,000 prize.

The Gage of Battle

In this country a mighty conflict is raging. Evil is battling to destroy all that is virtuous and good.

The weapons of Evil are deceit, treachery, cunning. It slinks in the shadows and attacks in the dark. Against such a foe, moralizing avails little. The fight calls for action—determined, fearless. True Story Magazine, as published by Bernarr Macfadden represents that kind of action.

True Story needs but one weapon—the sword of truth. If it can save others the tragedy of evil; if, it can show young people the perils and penalties of wrong—it will have gone far in its battle for Right.

"During these awful days of suspense both as to Evelyn's fate and mine, I passed through hell-fires of suffering . . . and I learned that I loved Evelyn, loved her as a man loves sunshine, and woods, and rivers, and all natural, wholesome things."

On their return they will reside in Fitchville where the groom is employed by the Palmer Bros. Co.

Swartzburg-Adoff

On Saturday evening, August 30th, at New London, a pretty wedding was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lampert, when Miss Marion Adoff of Norwich, formerly of New York and Henry Swartzburg, also of Norwich, were united in marriage by Rabbi J. Conn of New London.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. and Mrs. Israel Rutchuch, the best man was John Tiger and the bridesmaid Miss Nelkin, the last two being residents of Norwich.

After a short honeymoon to New York and Atlantic City, N. J., the couple are to reside in their newly furnished apartment on Summit street, Norwich.

The bride and groom are both popular with younger set in Norwich. Mr. Swartzburg is employed at the American Thermos Bottle Co. The bride was formerly employed by the Blue Star Overall Co.

A large number of relatives and friends were present and wished the couple much happiness.

Two Calls For Firemen

Two oral alarms made calls for the fire department Monday afternoon. The first was at 2:32 when a small quantity of smoke was discovered in the Broadway theatre. It came from a backdraft through burning papers in the heater.

At 2:36 there was a call to 10 Forest street where spontaneous combustion had started fire in cotton waste sweepings in a junk yard. This was easily extinguished. The building is owned by Fred Hermann and is leased by the National Metal and Paper Co.

CROWD OF 10,000 ON OPENING DAY OF ANNUAL COUNTY FAIR

With an attendance of 10,000 people the New London County Agricultural Society opened its 70th annual fair at the fairgrounds, East Great Plain, Monday. It was one of the hottest "fair" days on record. The heat was intense and it was decidedly uncomfortable on the grounds. Distant peals of thunder in the morning gave promise of a shower but the shower failed to put in an appearance and the sun beat down mercilessly The mercury hovered over the 80 mark during the greater part of the afternoon. There was hardly a breath of air stirring, but towards 5 o'clock a light breeze gave some relief from the sweltering heat.

The exhibits in nearly all departments are as large, if not larger than ever. In fact the cattle exhibit is the largest seen at the New London County fair in some years. The poultry department is another department that has shown considerable growth since last year.

Interested throngs crowded the main exhibition hall, the auto show, the New London County Farm Bureau exhibit, the machinery exhibit, the vegetable exhibit and the numerous other exhibits throughout the day. The midway attractions did a big business during the afternoon. There was an unprecedented demand for soda water and the soft drink stands along the midway were about the busiest places on the grounds. The blanket, candy, kitchenware and other booths proved the center of attraction for many.

The day's programme opened at 10 o'clock in the morning when the judging of the poultry and pet stock took place. At 12.30 o'clock there was a very attractive style show in front of the grand stand and the horse races, three in number were started at 2 o'clock. In all there were 14 race heats and it was 7 in the evening before the day's programme was completed.

Cattle.

Entries of cattle numbered close to 300, according to Superintendent William A. Gallup, and all were of fine quality.

Shepard Hill farm, W. S. Brown, Central Village, exhibiting at the fair for the first time, attracted attention to its splendid herd of 17 Holsteins, headed by Hollywood Glen Alexis Segis, only bull in the world from a 42 senior two-year old. He has a 42 pound grandmother, a 43 pound aunt and a 38 pound sister. Other notable animals include the following: Princess Vincent Irene, 4 year old, on the honor list and with a certificate of merit from the advanced registry office; Maple Grove Frances Gladeye Pet, 5 year old not over 6, has had 5 calves, no twins, and milked over 500 pounds in July, average 4,733; Empress Prilly, 4 year old, her father's mother milked four years in succession over 30,000 pounds and over 1,500 pounds of butter per year; Gladeye Sylvia, a daughter of Pet, two years old on Oct. 8, calved on Oct. 11, milked 11,733 pounds and calved again Aug. 18; Segis Alcatra Prilly, one year old, daughter of a $100,000 bull; and a heifer Dutchland Carnegie Bess, whose mother made over 13,300 pounds of milk in 30 days, gave 800 pounds of milk in 7 days, with 118 pounds as her big day, and daughter of the only cow that ever gave 35,000 pounds of milk in a year and 1,396 pounds of butter.

Round Hill Farm, J. B. Palmer, Lisbon, exhibits a fine herd of 23 Guernseys for which the farm has always been famous, headed by the 4 year old bull, Nassau Jeweler of Round Hill, with Chalmers of Round Hill, a one-year old, which was the grand champion of the fair last year. There is also Gold Gift, a six year old cow with daughters and granddaughters. The exhibit is rounded out with cows of various ages and yearlings.

Pinelofty farm, J. E. Lathrop, Raymond Hill, has a handsome Jersey herd of 27 head with the 4 year old bull, Beauty Irish King, in the standard Jersey coloring. It is a federal accredited herd, tuberculin test, and contains seven cows, 4 years or over, five 3 years, three 2 years, four yearlings, one calf six months, three heifer calves, and one bull calf under six months.

Turn O' the Road farm, Arthur D. Barrett, Ledyard, also shows fine Jerseys, a herd of eight, with the 14 months old bull, Turn O' the Road Farm Pogis, 100 per cent. Sophy's Tormentor and carrying the blood of the world's champion long distance cow. The 11 months old bull, Ledyard's Laddie, is in the same breeding lines, and the federal accredited herd includes 3 cows, 3 heifers, one yearling, one under 6 months and a calf under six months.

E. L. Reeve, Montville Center, is another Jersey exhibitor with a herd of eight, which 2 cows of the Sophy's Tormentor breeding, one of the Schumucher line, four two-year olds sired by a Noble Royal Talisman bull out of the same lines.

Jersey literature is distributed by the American Jersey Cattle Club.

Sunnycrest Farm, W. B. Lathrop, Norwich, shows Guernseys, Holsteins and Ayrshires, a fine looking herd of 23 head, federal accredited, tuberculin test, with the two Guernsey bulls Defender Sunnycrest and Storrs Comet of Sunnycrest, both two year olds.

Haughton farm, George G. Grant, Montville, makes a splendid exhibit of 22 head of Ayrshires, with the two year old Haughton Farm Good Hope as the senior sire and Springburn Gentleman John, as the junior sire, a bull imported last year from Canada, his sire being the first to sire a cow with 100 pounds of milk a day. The herd comprises nine 4 year old cows, four 3 year olds, two 2 year olds, three yearlings and others.

Sycamore Farm, J. Lawrence Raymond, Lyme, shows a herd of 32 thoroughbred Herords with the 3 year old bull Brookfield Dandy as the herd sire, six or seven other bulls and cows of various ages, all of good type of this well known beef breed.

C. A. Gager's farm in Montville exhibits several Devon cows, registered Herefords, a pair of oxen and two Devon heifer calves seven months old that are little beauties.

Echoland Farm, W. R. Wibberley, Canterbury, has a bull, cow and heifer registered guernseys from his federal accredited herd.

George Wood displays a nice Holstein cow with calf.

John Minsky of Griswold shows a two year old thoroughbred Holstein bull, Veeman Fayne Sexis, sired by W. S. Brown's Hollywood bull.

Sylvester Wade, Lisbon, displays two purebred Ayrshires, a three months old bull and a heifer over six months and under one year. His brother, Everett Wade, has 3 Ayshires a three year old cow, another over 1 year and under 2, and a calf born in the latter part of July.

Hogs

E. J. Edwards displays a registered Chester white boar, sow and herd.

The Norwich State Hospital exhibits a big Berkshire boar, three years old, weighing over 600 pounds, and a sow with a litter of 9 pigs.

Tryon Lathrop has an exhibit of one Duroc Jersey pig, and Theron Lathrop exhibits one Duroc Jersey sow and one lamb.

Sheep

Twenty three head of sheep, mostly Shropshires, are exhibited by J. B. Palmer of Round Hill Farm, Lisbon.

POULTRY.

Frank Cumpstone of Waterford, superintendent of the poultry department, and John H. Curry of Yantic, his assistant, were kept busy Monday with John H. Drevenstedt of Plandome, N. Y., and Hiram W. Schriver of Groton, judges in the department, picking the winners among the 700 birds entered in the department. The exhibit of birds was larger than any previous year by over 120 fowl and if the exhibit continues to grow, more room will be required in another year, or some better method of ventilation will have to be used if the fowl are to be kept in the pens for three days.

The feature exhibit was entered by George Denison of Mystic, raiser of wild fowl, who won many firsts with his entries of pheasants, silver, golden, Amherst and English. Mr. Denison also showed a variety of wild ducks, three pair of Canadian wild geese and had the largest exhibit of waterfowl in the department.

The best class shown was the Rhode Island Reds. Carl W. Ricker of Norwich showed four R. I. Reds, taking first cockerel and second and third pullet. Frank Cumpstone, who had a large exhibit, took first pullet and second cockerel. Christopher Barry of Norwich also won prizes with his exhibit of R. I. Reds and rosecombs. The best pen entered was the Silver Polish pen owned by H. W. Schriver of Groton, who was also a large exhibitor.

The Gem Poultry Yards had the largest display of bantams, Buff Cochins and Black Japanese. Mrs. F. J. Browning of Norwich Town entered many fine White Wyandottes, Light Brahmas and Polish, taking numerous prizes. The prize for best bronze turkey went to D. T. Lillibright, of Norwich Town, the bird weighing 47 pounds. William Waters of Norwich Town entered several fine Light Brahmas.

The exhibit of geese and ducks was the largest ever shown at the fair and every cage was in use, several new ones being needed to care for the birds. The exhibit attracted hundreds of people during the day who remarked about the fine showing. Besides the exhibits named, there are many smaller ones, aiding to make the exhibit the largest ever.

PET STOCK AND PIGEONS.

In the pet stock and pigeon exhibit, in charge of James L. Tourtellotte of Norwich, the entries were more than double those of any previous year, and Judge Hiram W. Schriver of Groton was unable to complete his judging Monday.

As usual, Mr. Tourtellotte was the largest exhibitor in this department, entering over 100 of the 250 entries in the department. Mr. Tourtellotte was showing the largest number of tumblers he had ever entered, a fine exhibit of New Zealand and American Blue rabbits and a large exhibit of Peruvian, Abyssinian and English guinea pigs.

F. A. Glenn of New London had the feature exhibit, the first showing of Chinchilla rabbits ever shown at the New London county fair, 20 rabbits in all, one with 10 young. William E. Sauter of New London had a fine display of Checker Giants and Oliver Denison of Stonington was showing a variety of guinea pigs.

In the pigeon department William Lee is showing homers, tumblers, turbits and carneaux, also some fine New Zealand rabbits. Edward Gleason of Norwich has the largest rabbits in the show, some of his Flemish Giants weighing as much as 15 pounds. He is also showing New Zealand Reds and American Blues. Stephen Dyer of Norwich is showing American Blues and one pair of guinea pigs and in the pigeon department John E. Rogers of Norwich has entered white kings and nuns. A feature exhibit this year are the Canaries entered by Frank Dembewski, who is also showing dragoon pigeons. H. Lukofski of Norwich is showing magpie, helmets and tumblers. Other exhibitors with good sized entry lists are Roy Carpenter of Norwich with Carneaux pigeons, Louis Green of Norwich with flights and tumbler pigeons, Daniel Lillibridge of Norwich with fantails, dragoons and flying homers, Arthur Armstrong of Norwich with black rabbits, Frank Cumpstone of Waterford with homers in all colors and Miss Renee Varicle of New London with red Carneaux.

There are also many other smaller entries which aid to make the exhibit the largest in the history of the fair association.

FARM MACHINERY.

The exhibits of farm machinery and other accessories for the farmer and suburbanite were of the usual high order. Despite the extreme heat, those in charge were kept busy explaining the advantages of their wares to interested crowds. Noticeable among the farm accessories was the dairy supplies which included bottle washers, bottle fillers and improved cooling systems.

Carl W. Brown, the local Delco light dealer, showed as usual the complete line of Delco-Light products, including Delco-Light plants, pumps, water systems and washing machines.

The exhibit showing Frigidaire created more interest than any exhibit shown at the fair. Frigidaire is the most complete mechanical refrigeration for the modern home and being shown in operation was watched during the day by a constant crowd.

Mr. Brown also showed the No-Kol automatic oil burner, which is another device which makes the modern home more complete.

E. P. Chesbro of Willimantic assisted Mr. Brown in showing the No-Kol oil burner, Frank L. Arnold assisted in showing the washing machine, and Lewis Mitchell was in charge of the Frigidaire exhibit.

The Gulf Refining Co. has an attractive display of motor oils and gasoline. This exhibit, which also includes greases, is in charge of H. S. Butcher of New London.

The Round Oak pipeless heater is shown by the J. P. Barstow Co. of this city and is in charge of A. P. Hardy.

S. F. Leffingwell, local agent for the McCormick-Deering Co. International brand of farm implements, has a large exhibit, which includes ensilage cutters and blowers, farm wagons, manure spreaders, gas engines of varying horsepower, International tractors, Premier cream separators. Included in Mr. Leffingwell's exhibit, although not located in the tent with his other exhibit, is a sawmill in operation. This mill is operated by an International tractor and the saw outfit is the Amidon saw and is demonstrated by Charles Amiden, manufacturer of the equipment.

One of the most extensive exhibits is that of the T. H. Eldridge Co. of this city. This exhibit includes all the Fairbanks-Morse line of farm machinery, ensilage cutters, silo fillers, farm wagons, gas engines, water systems and light and power units. Besides the Fairbanks-Morse line are several other features, including the one and four tube bottle fillers made by the Wright-Ziegler Co., bottle washers and cooling systems and other dairy supplies such as milkers, the Sharples suction feed separators and other things. There is also a power cider mill, the Handy Farm Mixer that operates either by hand or power, Meyers power and hand pumps and the Taylor vacuum engine, a new feature in the water system line.

As usual the Mersick Co. of New Haven has an extensive exhibit of Nove gas engines, concrete mixers, water systems, contractors' ditch pumps and power and light units. This exhibit is in charge of M. N. Glynne, who has been in charge of the local exhibit of the Mersick Co. for the past 11 years.

The Jordan Hardware Co. of Willimantic, regular exhibitors at the New London county fair, show the Fairbanks-Morse line, which includes water systems of various capacity, gas engines of varying horsepower, the Luden feed conveyors, Ideal separator, Luden horse pitchfork and other implements that are necessary for the convenience of the farmer.

The Willys lighting unit and the Paul water systems are shown by Charles P. Bliven of Waterford, who also shows the Andes pipeless heater.

Breckett, Show & Lunt of Boston, through their eastern Connecticut representative, W. P. Holmes, of Jewett City, show the Maytag washer, Roberts Gem water system, Ross ensilage cutter and fillers and other farm machinery. Also is shown in this tent the Kohler power and light unit.

The Hero pipeless heater is shown by Benjamin Gallup.

Fred T. Backus as usual is one of the prominent exhibitors on the grounds. Mr. Backus displays the Dodd system of lightning protection. His exhibit includes a model building equipped with the improved lightning rod system with the copper cable and not the single rod. He also shows the Warner oil burner which is to be installed in the ashpit of the furnace or stove. The oil burner will operate from the kitchen range to a 20-room house and the industrial burner will operate boilers from 4 to 7,000 horsepower.

There is an attractive harness exhibit by the C. H. Brazel Co. of Hartford.

Automobile Show.

One of the attractive features of the fair was the automobile show which was without doubt the best that has ever been seen at the County Fair. The cars in all models were attractively displayed about the large tent near the north entrance to the grounds. There were 43 cars on display and one 1925 motorcycle. All day long the large tent was thronged with interested and prospective buyers and a large corps of salesmen who courteously explained the merits of their cars. The exhibitors and the makes of cars are as follows:

Rinella-Leeney Co., Velie, 2 models. Westcott, one model.

W. R. Frisbie—Mack trucks, 2 models. Reo truck, Cleveland and Reo.

Bolding Bros.—Nash, four models.

Norwich Motor Mart—Chevrolet, 2 models. Oakland.

Norwich Used Car Exchange—Four makes of cars.

Jordan Auto Co.—Dodge, three models.

Norwich Motor Sales Co.—Essex and Hudson, three models.

Dolco Garage—Chandler, three models.

Star Garage Co.—Overland and Willys-Knight.

John J. Herbert—Maxwell and Chrysler, three models.

W. F. Bailey—Star and Flint, three models.

J. F. Donovan—1925 Harley-Davidson motorcycle.

5 p. m.—Balloon ascension.

Free circus acts between races.

EXHIBITION HALL HOLDS VARIED DISPLAYS

Visitors to the fair always expect to find the display of the Plaut-Cadden Company in the concession near the west door. This year the firm is occupying about 250 feet in three concessions. Pianos, victrolas, furniture, ranges, kitchen cabinets, Bohn Syphon refrigerators, Chickering Ampicos, Chickering pianos, Wassermann, Jewel, Crawford, Fischer, Grand uprights and players, stand out conspicuously in the exhibit.

Also shown are newest productions from the Berkey & Gay and Karpen furniture shops, specimens of the Oriental rugs and mah jongg sets brought direct by Mr. Cadden and Mr. Plaut on their recent round-the-world trip. Belgian mirrors, French bronzes, Japanese lamps and vases, Belgian statuary and a French walnut bedroom suite are also featured.

For souvenirs the firm is giving away fans and yardsticks. Vice President Adelard Morin and Assistant Secretary Herman Sears are in charge and have twenty assistants from the Norwich and New London stores of the firm.

Hillside Garden

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Stanley of Derry Hill make an attractive exhibit of gladioli, thrifty and richly colored. A number of these varieties are new and all are handsome.

Maplewood Nursery Company

A 12-foot stand of hardy, annual and perennial plants is filled by Maplewood Nursery Company in charge of Charles L. Bowers. Begonias, asters, phlox, gladioli, robien lilies, geraniums, zinnias, ferns and salvia make a fine display. (Buddeia, or butterfly plant is featured and delphineum is in the collection also.

SNYDER AND "FOLLIES" MAKE HIT AT PALACE

The heat of Labor day evening failed to stop Bozo Snyder, the silent man of stageland, and the fine cast which enacted the 18 scenes of "Follies of the Day" at the Palace theatre from carrying off this laughter-producing attraction in a manner pleasing to its audience.

It was a burlesque show where laughter and real comedy went hand in hand, and throughout the program Bozo was ably supported by Sam Green as Steve, who does the talking for the king of silent comedians and for himself, the couple getting one laugh after another as they work out the many problems confronting them. Harry Seymour, the "Eskimo Pie" man with the watery voice, also comes in for a share of the credit; in fact, the three hard working comedians are as good as are seen before the theatre footlights today.

Elsa May, soprano, and Marie Tyler, contralto, who is a real singer of blue songs, do the greater part of the singing for the feminine contingent, are shapely women and sing and dance in a manner most pleasing to everyone. Bert Matthews and the Avalon Four, billed as Dixieland singers, carry the greater portion of singing for the men of the cast, the Avalon Four possessing fine voices, and get their numbers over to the audience in a manner all their own.

The entire company is well trained and in each of the 18 scenes the work is done in a manner which comes only from hard training, putting each number over without a slackening second.

The ensemble work in the scene "Georgia Land," with Miss Tyler and Weston aiding, is especially worthy of mention, as is the closing scene of the first act, "Pack Up Your Sins and Go to the Devil," a peculiar song, which went over big in last night's performance.

Far beyond all others as a spectacular number is the closing scene of the "Follies of the Day," "Your Two Eyes Like Diamonds," sung by Elsa May. Yards and yards of silvered curtain and draperies form a background of real beauty for the participants in this number, who are also gowned and dressed in heavily silvered garments, which fairly dazzle the eyes when the spotlight and changing lights are thrown upon the stage.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY AT THEIR SUMMER HOME

The twentieth wedding anniversary of Rev. Dr. David A. Pitt and Mrs. Pitt was pleasantly celebrated Monday at their summer home, Pine Lodge, in Voluntown, where about 100 members of the Central Baptist church of this city assembled in the afternoon to greet their beloved pastor and his wife. A program of games furnished interesting entertainment, and the wedding anniversary came into prominence when Pastor Pitt and his wife were addressed by Senior Deacon C. Edward Smith with appropriate words of appreciation as he presented them a gift of $110 in gold, of which $100 came from friends in the church and $10 from the Men's class. James L. Case read from the Bradford (Pa.) Evening Star the account of the wedding of twenty years ago, when Mrs. Pitt's father, Rev. W. T. C. Hanna, was the officiating clergyman. In the First Baptist church of Bradford. Miss Alice M. Dean read a composition written by a relative at the time of the wedding, and clippings and pictures were shown.

Pictures of Dr. and Mrs. Pitt and their four sons, Courtnay, Leslie, Sidney and Gavin, were taken and also of the gathering at the anniversary.

As the day also happened to be Deacon Smith's birthday, he was given a greeting of good wishes and congratulations.

A basket picnic lunch was enjoyed in the grove near the house.

WILL TRY TO BRING GENERAL EDWARDS HERE

The effort of the Norwich committee to secure General Edwards as the principal speaker for the dedication of the World war memorial on Armistice day has not been immediately successful, but the committee has not yet given up hope that he may be secured. The four members of the invitation committee—James L. Case, chairman Mayor Mile R. Waters, H. M. Leroy and John J. O'Rourke—went to Torrington Saturday afternoon to see General Edwards, as he was there to lay the cornerstone of a war memorial. When the committee had presented the Norwich invitation to General Edwards he told them that he had accepted an invitation 18 months ago from Keene N. H., for the Armistice day date, but he was not sure that he would be able to be there, and he would take the Norwich invitation under consideration.

The Norwich men were particularly impressed with the progressive appearance and spirit of Torrington, the decorations and the fine parade, which included a large number of legionnaires from all the surrounding territory, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, with a number of Girl Scouts' bugle corps, whith made a great hit. The parade had plenty of music as there were three bands and about a dozen drum corps.

SUMMONED TO COURT AFTER AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Harold Decelles of Lisbon reported at police headquarters Monday night that while he was slowing down his car at one of the Taftville bridges a Ford touring car came off the bridge and sideswiped his new Chrysler six doing about $50 worth of damage, and then drove away stopping momentarily. The stop was long enough for a friend of Decelles to get the number of the other car as N-4195, which the registry book gives as that of Constant J. Beauregard of Taftville. The Taftville man will be summoned into court on the complaint that the operator of the car evaded responsibility. It was not known Monday night whether he was driving his car at the time of the accident.

AUGUST BUSY MONTH FOR NORWICH POLICE

August was a large month in the Norwich police department as there were 150 arrests. Twenty-five violations of city ordinances, most of which were for parking where crosswalks were marked out, and 49 arrests for violation of the motor vehicle law contributed largely to the total. In the latter named cause of arrest, the majority of the cases were for driving to the left of a traffic beacon.

The following were all the causes of arrest:

Intoxication 33, breach of peace 18, theft 8, keeping disorderly house 1, frequenting disorderly house 5, non-support 6, violating city ordinance 18, violation liquor law 4, defrauding garage 1, violating motor vehicle law 49, evading car fare 3, interfering with officer 1, rape 1, violating game law 1.

WISE COUNSELLOR BEATS FRENCH WONDER HORSE BY A HALF LENGTH

Belmont Park, N. Y., Sept. 1.—(By the A. P.)—Frederick A. Burton's Wise Counsellor, chestnut son of Mentor, by [illegible], 13 to 5, won the big international special race from a field of nine starters at Belmont Park today, leading Epinard, Wertheimer's great French thoroughbred, to the wire by half a length. August Belmont's Ladkin was third, three lengths astern the flying flank of Epinard.

The time for the six furlongs was [illegible]. The race carried a money [illegible] of $25,000 to the victory. Sixty [illegible] persons, including the Prince of [illegible], saw the turf classic.

Epinard, despite his defeat, demonstrated [illegible] great runner. Quoted [illegible] 1-2 to 1, the champion [illegible] of France in 1923, lost [illegible] after a heartbreaking [illegible] Wise Counsellor down the [illegible].

[illegible] got away well, running [illegible] head at the quarter, Baf- [illegible] Wise Counsellor, run- [illegible] fifth by a half at the [illegible] Baffling held his lead [illegible] challenged out in the [illegible].

[illegible] of the race Baffling [illegible] a head. Zev was sec- [illegible] followed by Epinard. Wise Counsellor was a length behind [illegible] on the outside of the track. Frankie Krough, on Wise Counsellor, gave the Burton colt a swerve to the [illegible] of the field and with a [illegible] sped him straight to the [illegible].

[illegible] anybody a race here. Everett [illegible] the American Jockey up on [illegible] used the whip to the [illegible] of the Wertheimer colt [illegible] the substitute son of Epine Blanche, [illegible] American Dam, showed that he [illegible] plenty of run. His ears, plastered [illegible] head and his trim legs [illegible] up the turf. He matches [illegible] stride with Wise Counsellor [illegible] the colts came down [illegible] and neck. But Wise [illegible] mighty stride slowly car- [illegible] American horse away from [illegible] challenger until he was [illegible] ahead at the wire. Epin- [illegible] three lengths ahead of Lad- [illegible] 2nd in fourth place. [illegible] of Zev, who pulled [illegible].

[illegible] was sixth, Baffling sev- [illegible] Star, the only filly in the [illegible] David Goshawk trailing the [illegible] Duke of Chief and Worth- [illegible] were scratched just before the [illegible] opened.

[illegible] start it looked like a race be- [illegible] Epinard. Haynes was [illegible] Fator on Zev, and appeared [illegible] to allow "Clucks" to set the [illegible] pace, in order to find the [illegible] it was necessary to outrun [illegible]. But Zev weakened [illegible] after furnished the op- [illegible] was too great for Epin- [illegible].

[illegible] as he went to the [illegible] came out singularly [illegible] and paraded to the barrier with- [illegible]. But Wise Counsellor [illegible] the most money and was made [illegible].

The race fairly shows that Epinard [illegible] competition race under his [illegible] becomes fully ac- [illegible] to American tracks and racing [illegible]. The great French thor- [illegible] showed plenty of speed but [illegible] Wise Counsellor's ability [illegible] could not counter [illegible] speed enough to shake off flying [illegible] colt.

[illegible] day was stifling hot and the [illegible] fast. The crowd, one [illegible] greatest which ever saw a race [illegible] Belmont, completely filled the [illegible] stands, overflowed onto the lawn and [illegible] in the infield. Pierre Wertheimer, while he would make no author- [illegible] statement, said he was satisfield [illegible] with the result of today's race and [illegible] events would determine [illegible] racing value of Epinard. The [illegible] will train at Belmont for the [illegible] it was announced.

CLEVELAND SPLITS HOLIDAY BILL WITH BROWNS

St. Louis, Sept. 1.—Cleveland and St. Louis divided a double header here today, the locals taking the morning game 11 to 5 and the visitors the afternoon game 13 to 2. Both games were featured by heavy hitting. In the second game, Stephenson collected [illegible] home runs, while Brower, Speaker [illegible] Smith of the visiting team hammered out one circuit each. TODAY'S EVENTS

This is the festival of St. Stephen, patron saint of the Hungarians.

Greetings to Hoke Smith, former Georgia senator and cabinet officer, who today enters upon his 70th year.

Because it is regarded as a test of strength of the opposing political parties in Canada, the result of today's by-election in the St. Antoine division of Quebec is awaited with much interest.

Primaries will be held in New Hampshire today for the nomination of candidates for United States senator, representatives, governor, and other state officers. Senator Henry W. Keyes is slated for renomination on the republican ticket.

As the new chairman of the committee investigating the Internal Revenue Bureau, Senator James Couzens has announced that the committee will meet in Washington today to resume its investigation.

A general primary will be held in Vermont today for the nomination of candidates for representatives in congress and a complete state ticket, including the governorship. As the two leading parties have designated their choice for the principal offices in conventions already held the primary is exciting little interest.

An International Congress of the Middle classes, postponed last year, is scheduled to meet today at Berne, Switzerland, for the purpose of studying and adopting measures to improve the standing of the middle classes and to protect them against communist propaganda.

The Independent Order of Brith Abraham, the largest Jewish fraternal order in America, has announced that today it will begin a drive to prepare for citizenship every alien Jew in the United States. A night and day school for men and women will be conducted in New York, and every effort will be made to speed up naturalization court proceedings.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Popular Excursion to New York Sunday.

In order to meet the popular demand for a continuation of the low rate excursions from this city to New York the New Haven road today announced that they would operate another excursion to the Metropolitan city next Sunday, September 7th, at the greatly reduced rate of $3.00 for the round trip.

The excursion on the seventh offers baseball fans the last opportunity that they will have this season to see the New York American League team in action at the Yankee Stadium. The game on this date with the Philadelphia Athletics will be the last home game for the Yankees before they start on their final trip around the circuit.

Coney Island and its many famous amusement attractions continue in full force throughout the month of September and it is expected that many local residents will take occasion to visit the largest center on the Atlantic coast before the close of the season.

The special train will leave Norwich at 6.30 a. m. and New London at 7 a. m., running express to New York (Grand Central Terminal), arriving at 10.05 a. m. eastern standard time.

Returning the special train will leave Grand Central Terminal at 6.35 p. m. and be due in New London at 9:50 p. m. and Norwich at 10.05 p. m. eastern standard time.

As has been the practice in previous excursions operated from this territory the number of tickets sold will be strictly limited to the seating capacity of the special train and the cities of Norwich and New London have each been allotted a proportionate share of the train's capacity. Tickets are now on sale at the local railroad station.

ISSUES SECOND VOLUME OF MOTOR CAR REGISTER

Volume II of the Connecticut Motor Vehicle Register has just been issued by the Motor Vehicle Register Co., New Haven. This volume supplements the issue of June 15th, and contains between 65,000 and 70,000 more motor vehicle registrations, divided between passenger, commercial, manufacturers and dealers. The volume also contains a list of licenses issued in this state to aircraft, and a comprehensive article on "Connecticut State Parks and Forests," with many illustrations.

The first volume, issued June 15th, contained, besides motor vehicle registrations, revised to June 1st, the Motor Vehicle Laws, a statement of the Department's Policy of Enforcement, illustrations of important rules of the road, signalling directions, and an outline of the work of the Connecticut Highway Department, by Commissioner John A. Macdonald.

Two more volumes of the Register will be issued before November 15th, making the work complete for the year.

It may be ordered of the publishers, at New Haven, or of Warfield & Co., booksellers, Hartford, or through the automobile clubs of Hartford and New Haven.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theater

One lesson which For Sale, the First National picture at the Breed theater today teaches, is that gasoline and whiskey will not mix. Those who are wont to look at the wine while it is red and then expect to turn the highway into an automobile speedway may wake up suddenly finding themselves bidding good morning to St. Peter. Driving while under the influence of liquor also often carries with it a vacation in a whitewashed cell.

The danger which reckless driving carries is graphically shown in a situation in this gripping photoplay of American society life, where one of the characters, a part played by Jack Patrick, meets his death in a thrilling automobile crash.

The accident, due to the recklessness of the intoxicated driver, is one of the many dramatic highlights of this absorbing story. An expensive high-powered machine was run into a tree and completely wrecked by the producers in order to get camera realism.

For Sale features a coterie of filmdom's greatest players, including Claire Windsor, Adolphe Menjou, Robert Ellis, Tully Marshall, Vera Reynolds, Frank Elliott and Christine Mayo.

The Pathe news and a Will Rogers comedy make up the remainder of the bill.

Strand Thetatre.

James Cruze's Paramount production, "The Covered Wagon," eclipses anything in pictures. There never has been seen such a picture as this one which opened to a capacity audience at the Strand theatre last night, which remains for the rest of the week.

This production is undeniably one of the most magnificent screen presentations ever shown here. There is a long line of excellent players headed by J. Warren Kerrigan and Lois Wilson. The latter will be remembered for her excellent work in "Manslaughter."

Mr. Kerrigan as Will Banion, leader of a wagon train, falls in love with Molly Wingate (Lois Wilson) whom he meets when his wagons join those headed by her father, Jesse Wingate (Charles Ogle). Alan Hale playing the role of Sam Woodhull, a scoundrel, is tentatively engaged to marry Lois, and bitter rivalry arises between him and Banion.

Throughout the story, Woodhull is set on "getting" Banion. After a series of thrilling events, he encounters Banion in California where the latter has made a fortune in the gold fields. Woodhull is about to kill him from ambush when Jackson, an old scout, sees Woodhull and kills him.

Banion is informed that he has been cleared of certain charges made against him by Woodhull and that Molly is waiting for him in her frontier home in Oregon. The picture closes with the reunion at the Oregon homestead.

The work of Mr. Kerrigan is most commendable. Miss Wilson proved unusually charming. The production is as magnificent as it is colossal.

Short subjects consisted of a comedy and News.

The original music score was used by the augmented orchestra.

At the small popular priced that this picture is playing it is the duty of every man, woman and child to see it. It is showing only twice daily, at 2.15 and 7.30.

Broadway Theatre.

Yesterday's holiday audience was enthusiastic in its praise of a really fine programme of Keith vaudeville and pictures.

In "A Tip on a Lane" Bollinger & Reynolds offer a thrilling wire act which scored.

Comedy and songs were the features offered by Edith Wilson and Doc Straine in "Actuality." The phonograph artists made an instant hit.

Fenn and Tennyson in a novelty singing skit entitled "Via Radio," scored heavily with their clever act.

George Kirby and Helen Duwal offered a pot pourri of song and comedy in "Two In One." Fun is their forte and they succeed in this easily.

In "Surprises" Patricia Fay & Co., offered a very novel and clever act. Youth, speed and originality predominate in this presentation. For a closing act no better selection could have been made.

To take a theme of real human interest, and mix the drama of it with laughs and tears, is a feat which Jane Murfin, noted playwright, has done in a motion picture, "Flapper Wives," a Selznick production which was shown for the first time last night at the Broadway theatre.

Those who go to the Broadway theatre to see "Flapper Wives" will have an opportunity rarely given to motion picture patrons. They will see in screen form a story which is later to be given as a legitimate play on Broadway, with Jane Cowl, famous actress, in the lead role.

Palace Theater

What should prove the most interesting event of the year, is the presentation of Douglas Fairbanks' Arabian Nights fantasy, The Thief of Bagdad at the Palace theater for 3 days only, Sept. 4-5-6. Have you ever seen a Magic Rug soar above the city hearing the thief and a princess? have you ever seen a white horse with wings fly through the clouds? Have you ever seen a Magic rope, live dragons and bats as big as elephants? Have you ever seen an "invisable" cloak? This beautiful story of romance and adventure abounds in happenings of astounding and unbelievable magic. Until you see The Theif of Bagdad you cannot believe it possible. It cannot be imagined. It cannot be described. It cannot be explained. It is a thing apart. This production will positively not be shown anywhere else in this city, this year.

Palace Theater

The Palace theater will present the cinema version of James Oliver Curwood's fascinating story, The Man From Ten Strike, which ran serially in a popular magazine recently.

Mr. Curwood's story which reaches the screen clothed in the new title, Gold Madness, serves as a starring vehicle for the eminent American actor, Guy Bates Post, and in the supporting cast are three performers each of whom has been starred in his or her own right; they are Cleo Madison, Mitchell Lewis and Grace Darmond.

With the story of such an author, with such a star, and with such a supporting cast, the theater manager feels justified in claiming a treat for his patrons that is far out of the ordinary.

Mack Sennett comedy, Pathe news, and Palace supreme orchestra complete the bill.

MYSTIC

The Mystic Bridge Congregational church was filled Sunday morning for the farewell sermon of the pastor, Rev. George L. Farnham, who is soon to leave for Washington, D. C., to take up his duties October first as pastor of the Cleveland Park Congregational church. The subject of his sermon was The Open Door. Listened to with close attention by the large congregational present. There being a delegation of members of the Ku Klux Klan present as indicated by the 125 to 150 automobiles parked in front of the church and on adjacent streets. At the conclusion of the service, one of the klansmen presented Mr. Farnham a gift of money in an envelope, after which the service was concluded with the usual communion service. It is probable that the pulpit will be supplied until such time as eligible candidates can be secured.

The Social Whist Club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Eva Burdick, there being three tables in play. The prize was won by Miss Clara Frink and the consolation award went to Miss Maude Congdon.

In order to permit those who wish to go to Waterford this (Tuesday) afternoon to the home of Mrs. Ellery Allyn, there will be no meeting of the Garden Club this week.

Mrs. Albert Haley entertained the card club Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Holmes of Bridgeport are guests of relatives here.

Raymond Northam of Hartford is the guest of his aunt, Mrs. John T. Brooks.

Misses Elsie Borgemus is to teach at Boone Bridge and Josephine Feore is to teach in North Stonington this year.

William Kalm, Jr., of New York is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Kalm.

Mrs. Emil Polack and two sons have returned to New York after spending the summer in the J. W. MacDonald house, Denison avenue.

Mrs. Sarah Barstow and grandsons, Leander Barstow and Marcus Jones, were at Narragansett Pier Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams of Ridgewood, N. J., are guests of relatives here.

Walter Burrough of New York is the guest of his brother, Frank Burrough.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Costello are spending a few days on Cape Cod.

Miss Helen Prentice left Monday for Ridgefield, where she is to teach this year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Alpheus Schoonover have returned from an automobile trip to Cape Cod.

Miss M. Geneva Rathbun went to Milford, Monday, where she is to teach again the coming year.

Charles Cramer of Colchester, is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Congdon.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sinclair of Woodhaven, Long Island, are guests of Mrs. Sinclair's brother, Amos G. Hewitt.

Miss Emily F. Denison has been at Narragansett Pier.

Dr. and Mrs. Kaneen of Washington, D. C., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Denison.

Mr and Mrs. James Farrington, of Jersey City were guests over Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. John Rippel.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Templeton and Mr. and Mrs. William Pateman of Irvington-on-the-Hudson, called Saturday on Mrs E. V. Whiting, coming on an automobile trip to Cape Cod.

Ira F. Noyes of New Haven was at his home here over the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cook of Providence, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burrough.

At the Road church celebration Sunday, there were about 75 from Mystic present and when those who attended the 200th anniversary 50 years ago were asked to stand that they might be counted, among the 45 who stood up were twelve from Mystic. Miss Eliza M. Denison, Miss Lavinia Denison, Mrs. Helen W. Cliff, Mrs. Jennie Ryley, Miss Julia E. Foote, Mrs. Emeline Allyn, Mrs. Annie D. Gates, Mrs. Mary E. Dickinson, Frederic Moser, Albert Denison, Byron Billings and Amos G. Hewitt.

The beautiful flowers arranged about the pulpit were purchased with money donated by Mrs. W. L. Cottrell in memory of her ancestors, her mother having attended this church for many years, also with money donated by Mrs. Esther Cliff Cornwall in memory of her ancestors. Practically the entire audience was composed of descendants of the nine founders of the church, James Noyes, Thomas Stanton, Nathan Cheesbrough, Thomas Miner, Nehemiah Palmer, Ebenezer Miner, Thomas Stanton, Jr., Moses Palmer and Thomas Wheeler, there being many descendants of the Noyes family present and it was due to the generosity of some of the descendants of Rev. James Noyes that it was possible to have the Weber Male Quartet of Boston sing.

LARKIN FAMILY HELD ITS ANNUAL REUNION

Thursday, Aug. 30, about fifty-five descendants of Edward Larkin who came to this country in 1635, assembled at Atlantic Beach for their annual re-union. Although not many bearing the name Larkin were able to attend, the various branches of the family were well represented, and Miss Marguerite L. Dove of Millville, New Jersey, a descendant in the tenth generation was the youngest member present.

During the business meeting interesting letters were read from H. J. Dermott and W. F. Raymond. Resolutions were passed upon the death of their last president, Isaac G. Larkin of North Franklin, Conn., and a silent tribute in his honor given by all standing.

The principal item of family history produced concerned the family Bible owned by

CUTICURA HEALS SKIN TROUBLE

Scales Formed on Face and Neck. Lost Sleep.

"I had trouble with my face and neck. The skin got hard and then formed scales that dropped off. Then my face would bleed and burned, and itched so badly that I could not sleep. My face was disfigured and was so sore in places that I could hardly touch it.

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using it I could see a decided change. I then bought one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment, and in two weeks I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Omar H. Albee, Columbia Falls, Me.

FINISH RACE EVENTS JUST BEFORE SUNDOWN ON FAIRGROUNDS TRACK

The sun was setting and darkness was beginning to fall when the final heat of the three-race programme was called at the 70th annual fair of the New London County Agricultural society which opened Monday at the fairgrounds, East Great Plain. For a while, along towards 7 o'clock, it looked as if the 2.24 pace would have to go over unfinished to this (Tuesday) afternoon and arrangements were being made to call the sixth heat of the race at 1.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when the drivers got together and decided to beat sundown in spite of the fact that they had a bare 20 minute rest period between the fifth and sixth heats. The men were anxious to finish the race Monday night, tired as they were, and the starter, judges and timers, equally tired with the long afternoon in the judges' stand, accommodated the drivers by hustling things along. It was just two minutes before sundown when Starter Edgar F. Power of Winthrop, Mass., sang out "All ready" and the horses got the word "go" a minute later.

The grandstands looked sadly depleted as the horses were rounding the half mile track for the last time, the greater part of the audience having departed for home owing to the lateness of the hour. Those who left the grounds after the balloon ascension which came off at 5 o'clock, missed some of the best racing of the day. Several of the late heats were as pretty races as have been seen at the fairgrounds in some years.

There were nine starters in the 2.24 pace, purse, $500 and they scored six abreast. In spite of the number of horses in the race they got away to a good start, Patience Volo taking the lead in the first heat with Bobby L. close behind her. Lillian Russell broke a hobble while rounding the first turn and dropped behind, finishing 9th for the heat. Patience Volo won the heat, Milton M. coming in second and Bobby L. third.

Northern Tree got the lead in the second heat with Black Thunder and Bobby L. close behind him. Black Thunder forged ahead in the last half mile, winning the heat, Northern Tree coming in second with Bobby L. again third. In this heat, three horses, Jipsy Jule, Earl Lake and Lillian Russell were distanced

In the third heat Northern Tree got in a mixup on the south turn in the first half mile when he ran into the fence ripping a tire off one of the sulky wheels. It looked bad for a minute and there were momentary visions of a bad spill for several of the horses but the ripped tire proved to be the only damage done. Northern Tree was ruled out of this heat. Bobby L. won the heat and Black Thunder came in second with Milton M. third.

Milton M. won the fourth heat, giving each of the four remaining horses a heat apiece and meaning at least two more heats for this race. Milton M. took the next, the fifth heat, with Patience Volo, Black Thunder and Bobby L. finishing second, third and fourth respectively. At the end of the fifth heat the clock hands were pointing in the neighborhood of seven and there was some question as to whether there would be time to run off a sixth heat before the sun dropped below the horizon. There was a bare twenty minute rest period for the tired horses with a heat to be run in the 2.17 pace. The drivers got together and after a brief deliberation decided they could get their horses back on the track and ready to run the sixth heat before the sun had dipped. They made it, but it was a close shave, by a margin of a little over two minutes.

Dusk was beginning to gather as the horses got the word and were rounding the track for the last time. The heat was an uneventful one. Milton M. finished first, this giving him first money, second money going to Black Thunder, third to Patience Volo and fourth to Bobby L. The summary:

The second event on the card was the 2.18 trot there were four starters. The race went off in one, two, three order, Plain Mary taking three straight heats and winning first money. Second money went to Emma Brooke, third money to Silk Leader and fourth to Sure Mike.

Sure Mike got the lead in the first half mile. Emma Brooke broke badly in the first quarter mile of the race but finished third in the heat. Sure Mike couldn't hold the lead and was passed by all of the other three horses, finishing the heat in fourth place.

Plain Mary won the second heat by a close margin, Emma Brooke giving her a hard race down the home stretch. In this heat Plain Mary trotted the last quarter of a mile in 31 1-4 seconds. The third heat Plain Mary trotted the last quarter of a mile in 31 1-4 seconds. The third [illegible] uneventful, the horses [illegible] same order as in the [illegible] The summary:

The 2.17 race, purse, $500, went five heats, the last heat in this race being run off at 7 o'clock. Baroness Wilson took first money, second, Rolla Chimes, Bin Elder getting third place.

In the first heat Miss Calverton was placed fourth by the judges but was distanced in the second heat. In the latter heat Miss Calvert broke badly in front of the grandstand and fell way back being distanced. The third heat was uneventful but the fourth heat was about the prettiest race of the afternoon, all three horses being almost abreast. Rolla Chimes won the heat, Bin Elder finishing second and Baroness Wilson third. There were only two starters in the fifth heat, Baroness Wilson forged ahead of Rolla Chimes just before the first turn in this heat and gained steadily finishing first, Rolla Chimes being beaten by about a length and a half. The summary:

Time 2.16 1-4; 2.16 1-4; 2.18 3-4; 2.18 1-4; 2.24 1-4.

During the afternoon announcement was made from the judges' stand that the race card today (Tuesday) will comprise three events. There will be a 2.24 trot, a special race with six starters and a 2.35 county race.

The race officials follow:

Starter, Edgar F. Power, Winthrop, Mass.; judges and timers, C. E. McFarlane, Willimantic, Elisha Waterman, Lebanon; and A. M. Etheridge, Norwich; clerk of the course, C. V. Pendleton; race secretary, Albert J. Bailey.

John Connelly acted in the capacity of flag man and Edward T. Connelly assisted in announcing the race results.

Balloon Ascension

About 4.30 o'clock preparations were started for the balloon ascension. The big bag owned by the Northeastern Balloon Co., of Newburyport, Mass., was erected in its usual place at the north end of the race track enclosure and there was the usual large crowd of boys and men on hand to hold it down while it was being filled with hot air.

Just about 5 o'clock the balloon and parachute jumper shot up into the air. The balloon did not go up quite as high as has been the case in other years but it was high enough to give the aeronaut plenty of room for a double parachute jump. He made the two drops in quick succession and landed a short distance north of the fairgrounds. There was very little breeze and the balloon went up almost straight, veering a little to the north when it reached the upper air currents.

Style Show

There was a large crowd on hand to witness the style show given at 12.30 o'clock by the Porteous & Mitchell Co., on invitation of the New London County Agricultural society. The style show which has for its title, Queen Fashion, featured over two score of the Irene Castle Corticelli gowns and frocks, shown by live models on the stage. The gowns and frocks exhibited by seven local girls were brought over from Paris recently by Mrs. Castle.

It was planned to show a number of fall coats and cloaks, but this part of the show was omitted owing to the sweltering heat beating down on the platform. In all 42 gowns and frocks were shown. The entire show will be given this (Tuesday) afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The girls who served as models for the show were Miss Rasmussen, Miss Alice Johnson, Miss Phyllis Brown, Miss Marion Royce, Miss Nagle, Miss Morrison and Miss Cemelitta. Paul A. Brown is in charge of the style show.

Vaudeville

Six free vaudeville acts were given on the outdoor platform in front of the grandstands between the races. The vaudeville programme booked by Secretary Edwin V. Ross was of the usual high order and was well received by the big crowd. The numbers were announced by Edward T. Connelly, who has filled the position of official announcer for several years. Mr. Connelly, as usual, kept the vaudeville moving right along so that there were no tiresome waits between the race heats. Swahn's Military band furnished the music for the vaudeville numbers.

The first number on the vaudeville stage was that given by Robbin, the comedy juggler. He got a laugh with his funny actions. He juggled his stove pipe hat, iron balls, rubber balls, juggled sticks and gave several other numbers. One of his feature stunts was blowing army cells on a queer contraption which he called a Bulgarian bugle.

The Comedy Barrel Jumpers, Le Doux and Le Doux, two men, put on the next vaudeville act. They were unsually good. Their feature number was jumping on roller skates from the floor into a barrel and back to the floor again. They received well merited applause from the crowd.

For the third act Announcer Connelly presented The Flying Howards, a man and a woman, who gave a daring trapeze performance that was well worth seeing. Howard gave the crowd a thrill when he hung from the high trapeze by one heel without straps or hooks while he swung back and forth over the heads of the crowd gathered on the race track in front of the stage.

The Five Steppers, five dainty misses, appeared in an act that won them well deserved applause from the delighted audience. It was hot and sultry and the heat on the platform was intense but the girls went through their act in admirable fashion, using a number of quick costume changes. Their costumes were very attractive and their act one of the best ever presented on the stage at the fairgrounds. They appeared in [illegible] blue and white, black and white, gold and yellow, pink, green, lavender, gold and black and blue and pink costumes. The girls in the act are Grace Harper, Blanche Wadlund, Doris DeWey, Mae Winne, and Betty O'Donald of Hartford. Their programme follows: Opening number, Suanie River dance; Hawaiian dance, Miss DeWey; wooden soldier dance, Miss Harper and Miss Winne; balloon dance, Miss Harper, Miss Wadlund, Miss Winne and Miss O'Donald; Indian maiden dance, Miss Harper; jazz toe dance, Miss Wadlund and Miss Harper; comedy dance, Miss O'Donald and Miss Winne; finale, all five girls.

The next act given was Wilbur's Comedy circus, featuring Dynamite, the bucking mule. There were two clowns in this number and they exhibited trained ponies a clever dog, a cat that rode on a ponys back, and one of the ponies rode a spinning table. Dynamite, the bucking mule, made a hit with the audience. He jumped around and kicked up his heels in rapid fire fashion that sent not only the two clowns but two assistants sprawling to the stage. One of the clowns went overboard and landed on the track headfirst in the midst of the audience lined up in front of the stage.

The sixth and final act on the vaudeville program was a daring high wire number given by Alfreno. Alfreno, who has been in the wire walking business for years, has about the best act of its kind ever seen at the fairgrounds. Balancing himself with the aid of a long pole he walked a wire some forty feet from the ground. He did a disrobing act on the wire, hung by one arm from the wire and then stood on his head on the high wire. His act was a thriller and got him a hearty round of applause.

NUMBER FIVE

a 15-foot space, his plants not entered for competition. An especially fine collection of tropical plants shows how beautiful these are when effectively grouped. Florist visitors in particular noted the golden sleginella, the pollipodium and the bird-nest fern shown.

Fanning Park Dahlias

Mrs. R. J. P. Brown, of Oneco St., Norwich, who has established a reputation as a dahlia grower of rare success, has a corner space of sixteen feet devoted to baskets of her exquisite blooms, against a screen of oak leaves and laurel. Last week's storm played havoc with Mrs. Brown's gardens, but she has salvaged some marvelous blooms, headed by Siskiyon, a superb hybrid cactus. California, as well as New England, contributes beautiful blossoms to her display.

Robert Waddington is supervisor of the floral department this year and the continuous arrangement is very pleasing.

Individual Exhibits

It is a real wonder to see the great variety, the fine character and number of new exhibits, considering the adverse weather conditions of a freak year.

Asters, marigolds, zinnias, cosmos, gladioli, dahlias, and mixed flowers made an interesting collection.

W. F. Brown's Dahlias

Flower fanciers are always keen to inspect the results of this dahlia [illegible]'s experiments during each year. Mr. Brown does not disappoint them this season, but is showing a beauty which he will be ready to launch with his 1926 blooms. It is a seedling which he has patriotically christened "Western Hemisphere"—a big, showy, rich crimson, its gold-tipped petals silver on the reverse. Of the more than 1,000 varieties growing in his four acres on Palmer Street, he is showing over 400 varieties at the fair. Caruso, Mrs. J. R. Gardner, Robert O. Fletcher, Bashful Giant, English Singles, Pompons, Collarettes, all are featured in the exhibit.

County W. C. T. U.

From national headquarters at Evanston, Ill., come striking posters which are conspicuously hung in the county W. C. T. U. booth. There is the usual sale of aprons, which helps defray the expenses of the booth, in providing literature, 1,500 cups for the free ice water dispensed, etc. Fully 9,000 pieces of literature will be distributed during the fair. As annually, the ice is furnished by the John H. Ford company. In charge is Mrs. Joseph J. Fields of Norwich, county secretary, assisted by Miss Nellie J. Starr of Uncasville, Mrs. Maud Bunce and Mrs. Minnie Robinson of Norwich and Miss Winogene L. Pratt of Moosup.

Shea & Burke.

For over 20 years this Norwich firm has been making a display at the fair, this season showing Glenwood and Household ranges in a new double concession near the east door. The exhibit fills 50 feet. A feature is the gold medal Glenwood, so-called because of winning the prize at the Panama-Pacific exposition. This range is equally adapted to burn coal, wood or gas. The Household pearl range attracts special attention as being so efficient, yet economizing in space. The parlor stove is by no means out of date, but is shown in a number of atractive styles and prices. Thomas F. Shea is in charge here, with I. D. Fowler, representing the Glenwood Range company of Taunton, Mass., and H. E. Wilbur of the White-Warner company, Taunton, manufacturing the Household.

Hecker Cereal Company.

A booth 18x6 in the center aisle is filled with products direct from the Hecker Cereal company, New York, represented through the Bishop-Bidwell company, Joseph Cannor & Sons, and Austin-Nichols company of Norwich. Grandma's pancake flour, Hecker's cream farina and buckwheat flour lead in the exhibit. During the fair, with every four packages of these products there is given away an aluminum double boiler or an aluminum griddle. The exhibit is in charge of the Connecticut manager, L. M. Charlwood, who has the assistance of Mrs. E. Porter Rogers of Norwich, a prominent member and treasurer of The Bulletin's Social Corner.

Rings and Novelties.

L. J. Talbot of Providence is at the fair for the seventh season with chains, brooches, rings, beads and jewelry novelties.

United Workers' Nursing Department.

This branch of the United Workers' public health nursing department is shown in connection with the exhibit of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. The supervisor, Miss Kate McKenzie, Miss May Maher, Miss Margaret F. Reed, Miss Helen Murphy, Miss Josephine Portelance and Miss Margaret McNamara take turns in explaining the work. All children under school age are weighed, measured and tagged free.

Metropolitan Insurance Company.

Health literature is being distributed by representatives of the company, in charge of Leon DeCelles, assisted by L. F. Sylvia.

Standard Oil Company.

For the third year this company fills a big central space with a varied display of products from the New London branch office. Featured is a new water heater which is equal to gas in every way, and burns kerosene oil. A great variety of fancy candles is shown, also a variety of Socony motor oils. J. W. Mace of New London is in charge. Archie Hutchins and Charles Clark are assisting Mr. Mace.

Model Booterie

The Cantilever shoe is the big winner in the booth of this company. Comfort and flexibility are the two special qualities claimed for these shoes. A wide variety of styles is displayed, in pumps and oxfords. The newest fall model shoes are gore pumps and opera pumps, the favored color being black, in satin and patent leather. Russia calf, a light tan is also coming in strong. The crowd is attracted by the new riding boot, a sport exhibit. Joseph Alexander is in charge, here, assisted by Miss Annie Alexander.

H. H. Allyn Rubber Corp.

This new company, which occupies the former C. B. Rogers plant on Thames Street, is making its first appearance at the fair. The three kinds of crepe rubber used in the manufacture of rubber tubes are shown, also smoke sheets and milled rubber, as well as the only leak-proof tube in the world. Fully 250 nails have been driven in these tires, yet the tubes remain O. K. for service. H. I. Pettis has charge of the fair exhibit and William Mileski is assisting him.

Worcester Salt

This reliable product is demonstrated by C. E. Cornock and Robert P. Higgins. This is the highest grade salt on the market, best and purest, they claim.

Norwich State Hospital

The occupational therapy department of this big state institution is well represented by an increased display and larger variety of work done by probably 800 of the 1800 patients. Perhaps the greatest advance is shown in the exhibits of linens and toy furniture. Besides these, rugs, reed work of all kinds, raffia baskets, rag dolls, silk and parchment lamp-shades, paper flowers, lamps, trays, coasters, handwoven table runners, scarfs, bags, handwoven silk, homespun and oil-cloth, smoking stands, vases, cabarets, napkin rings, toy ducks and dogs, windmills and parrots, make up the display. The instructor in charge, Harry Kromer has the assistance of Miss Betty Flather of Nashua, N. H., and Miss Marjorie Barber of Norwich.

Nu-Art Tile Roofing Co.

Latite shingles, which cannot curl or buckle, form the feature of the display of this company. As a convincing proof of the practical value of these shingles, the Latites were the only ones which stayed put, at Watch Hill during last week's gale. Shown also are the materials used in the manufacture of these shingles natural Trinidad asphalt, felt before and after saturation and the crushed slate used on the surface, in natural colors, making the finished product the handsomest and most economical on the market. The booth is in charge of the proprietors, W. George Perkins and John F. Doyle, both of Norwich who are assisted by Albert L. Reynolds of Jewett City and Arthur B. Jopson of Norwich.

Schwartz Brothers

The Barstow-Richmond ranges, rugs, kitchen cabinets, the Vacuette sweeper, congoleum and the Hoover breakfast set, are on view in the usual space filled for many years by this firm.

All the housekeepers stop to admire the new pearl ranges, some for gas and others for coal. The first Barstow-Richmond range was built in 1836 and the firm claims that there is nothing better. Abner Schwartz of the firm and Clarence Brown have charge and are assisted by Miss M. L. Quinley and Mrs. P. G. Cruthers.

Ornamental Evergreens

A full line of decorative evergreens is shown by Maplewood Nursery Company, in charge of Edward Reynolds and Frederick N. Oat. In connection with evergreens, blue spruces, privet, boxwood, retinispora in gold and green, the firm shows French hydrangeas in tubs, showy and handsome.

The Talking Machine Shop

About 43 feet of wall space is filled by the Talking Machine Shop, with a well arranged exhibit of Brunswick radiolas, victrolas, DeForest radios, Gulbransen pianos and registering pianos. The fair crowds gather about the newest radio output, the Radiola -Brunswick, which is compact in itself—the only one of its kind, and which sells from $190 up. A. Curland is in charge of the exhibit and Harry Rosenberg, of Norwich, demonstrates the Radiola.

Norwich Electric Company

The Kelvimotor ice refrigerating system for home refrigeration, also the Easy Vacuum Washer and all electrical appliance, fill the customary booth of the Norwich Electric Company, Franklin Street. A new invention of interest to all housewives is the Universal Electric Cooker, at $30.

George L. Botham has charge of the display, assisted by Mrs. Botham.

Louis Meyer, Jeweler

From New Haven, Louis Meyer brings an appealing assortment of La Tosca pearl necklaces, of six different shades.

Optical Goods

Harry Shuster, from Providence is located nearby, with a stock of optical goods, including bone and gold glasses, spectacles, etc.

Ice Cream

Tait Brothers Venetian Ice Cream is on sale in the regulation center booth.

The superintendents of this department are Mrs. Ambrose Sullivan and Miss Ruby Vaughn. The judge is Mrs. Mary Rollins.

Cake, Bread and Honey.

The housekeepers of the county make their usual nice display in this department. Mrs. J. O. Peckham enters a splendid loaf of old fashioned fruit cake; Mrs. K. H. Smith has an assortment of tempting cake, filled cookies, hermits, also wheat, oatmeal, nut and raisin bread. Mrs. N. P. Wheeler, Stonington, sends delicate sponge cake, also layer cake with almond icing, and fine looking dinner rolls.

Gladys Upton, Norwich, shows a fine loaf of angel cake; Mrs. F. I. Burrows, Groton, contributes fine Klondike cake; Mrs. J. F. Sherman, Norwich, enters angel, raised and gold cake, and wheat bread; Miss Florence Browning makes a tempting entry of five kinds of cake, raisin and wheat bread and biscuit.

Fruit, Canned Fruit and Vegetables.

Considering the unfavorable season, the entries in this department are a big surprise.

H. E. Howe, Yantic, has a nice exhibit of apples, quinces and peaches; Judge S. N. Holdredge and Sons, of Ledyard, fill a big assignment of space with a variety of apples, peaches, pears, quinces, grapes, plums, strawberries, (sixteen varieties, picked and growing). The Norwich Town Farm, C. E. Ellis, superintendent, exhibits four varieties of prime apples and two of pears.

Vegetables and Grain.

Hour after hour, lines of visitors inspect the varied and meritorious display under this head.

H. E. Howe, Yantic, enters nice squash, potatoes, radishes, beans and beets.

S. E. Holdredge and Sons of Ledyard, contribute a notable showing of beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, snowball cauliflower, six varieties of sweet corn, Flint winter corn, four types of muskmelons, two of watermelons, six of onions, nice parsnips, five kinds of peppers, six of potatoes, radishes, spinach, squash, tomatoes, five varieties of cucumbers—including the new "White Wonder;" parsley, fennel, Kohl, pumpkins, rhubarb, rye, etc., a total of 117 entries.

W. S. Brown, of Central Village, shows mangel beets and good ensillage corn.

F. F. Cook, Norwich, enters fine potatoes and sugar corn. Calvin L. Swan, Norwich, exhibits fine celery, beets, carrots, spinach, summer squash and lettuce.

Mrs. C. H. Osgood's gardener adds to the display a very nice assortment of potatoes, tomatoes, cabbage, peppers, white rock turnips, beets, beans, onions, squash, muskmelons, cucumbers and potatoes.

H. Thurman Main, of Clark's Falls, helps out the collection with potatoes, beets, beans, endive, carrots, parsnips, spinach, radishes, cabbage, squash and six varieties of peppers.

E. K. Wilcox, Norwich, sends nice flat Dutch cabbage.

Miss Florence Browning, Norwich, has an excellent collection of twenty varieties of vegetables canned.

George E. Brown, Westerly, makes an attractive display of potatoes, turnips, beets, kale, parsley, endive, carrots, rhubarb, six varieties of beans, onions, tomatoes, citron and Swiss chard.

The Town Farm, Norwich, enters nice looking Swiss chard, peppers, squash, pumpkins, beets, tomatoes, onions, carrots, cabbage and beans in seven varieties.

Boss Farmer Walter Palmer, of Norwich State Hospital, decorates the hall with ten foot broom corn, also shows fine cabbage, carrots, sugar corn, mammoth peppers, tomatoes, squash, beets, onions and potatoes.

Women's Rest Room.

As in other years, Mrs. Alexander Randall is in charge of the very convenient rest room, which is kept neat and orderly and is fully appreciated by the hundreds of visitors to the grounds.

Bees at Work.

John H. Sherman, Mountain avenue, Norwich, has an interesting exhibit of bees at work, a hive, strained honey comb, etc.

FAIR NOTES.

Supt. Fred G. Prothero could have sold out twice as much floor space in Exhibit hall as was at his disposal.

Charles Harris, noted Salem inventor and usually an exhibitor at the fair, was an interested visitor at the fair, Monday.

As for previous years, Secretary Edward Cook was kept busy Monday. He and S. H. Holdridge are superintendents of the new hall.

At the W. C. T. U. booth ice water tank Mrs. Fields and her assistants sold out their supply of 1,500 paper cups and could have used 300 more.

Two experts from R. I. State college, Kingston, will judge the fruit and vegetables today (Tuesday)

Frank Lacey continues night watchman of the hall.

George A. Sydleman was among the visitors Monday, but has given up his official labors, after many years.

A thrifty four-leaf clover plant, growing in a basket, was an interesting addition to the exhibit of Holdridge and Sons, Ledyard.

We will accept on DEPOSIT as CASH, LIBERTY BOND COUPONS due Sept. 15, 1924.

CONNECTICUT FEDERATION OF LABOR IN CONVENTION

President O'Meara Submitted Annual Report—Advised Continuance of the Policy of Refusal to Enter Into Any Partisan Political Action—Would Ask For Complete Revision of the Compensation Laws of the State—Opposed the Proposed Plan of the National Government For a Federal Department of Education.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 2—Advising continuance of the policy of refusal to enter into any partisan political action, Patrick F. O'Meara, president of the Connecticut Federation of Labor, submitted his annual report to the thirty-ninth annual convention of the federation today. The report reviewed the work of the executive department of the federation for the past fifteen months, and noted that this is his sixth anniversary as president of the organization.

Chief interest in the convention sessions, which opened here today, centered on the expected contest with reference to action of the national executive council of the American Federation of Labor at Atlantic City in endorsing the candidacies of United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette, of Wisconsin, for president, and United States Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, for vice president, both nominees of the conference for progressive political action at Cleveland.

The convention will elect a secretary to succeed Ira N. Ornburn of New Haven, who resigned recently to take a position on the eastern campaign staff of John W. Davis, the Democratic presidential candidate.

Discussing the question of political activity President O'Meara in his report referred to the "support extended to certain candidacies" by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor at Atlantic City and said:

"My report was compiled the same week that this action was taken, and whether or not the American Federation of Labor had decided this way, it would not have changed the report I have the honor to read to you this day."

Declaring that the next two months "he will be living in an atmosphere of feverishness that was never more a die-hard than this year" and that he would have no personal contact with the various political agencies "that have to do with furthering the candidacies of their respective friends," President O'Meara said:

In this convention you will no doubt be confronted with many resolutions bearing on the subject of support of certain candidates.

I am not going at this convention to further advise toward a situation as I have studied and associated with labor when I did at the conventions we held in Meriden—Waterbury—Bridgeport—Stamford and New Haven.

At these conventions I advised that we have no part in furthering any political party, but to follow along the non-partisan lines of political progressiveness."

Declaring that big business organizations are rarely heard of as endorsing parties or candidates, but in the most scientific manner, which fit the final decision means they look out for the future benefits of their organizations and themselves," Mr. O'Meara asked of the day is not near, when the wage earner be entrusted with some capacity for common sense under these conditions?"

"The great majority of our working people have physical and mechanical ability, but when election seasons come around their mental ability is sadly lacking," Mr. O'Meara said. "I am safely predicting that 95 per cent. of the working people do not give careful thought to the value of our right to vote," he declared.

"For the reason that I have disagreed with some of our officers and members of our unions over political lines," Mr. O'Meara said, "these same men have not missed an opportunity for the past month or more to travel this state and use the most foul, unjust, high-handed, unsportsmanlike, base, petty, unfair, lying propaganda against me, which eventually meant selfish efforts and a back-dive for the entire movement.

"I beg you not to heed many of the highly paid political agents and some of them our own working people, who will promise you many things from this time until election. I plead with you to use your own good judgment all the time."

Discussing the question of legislative activities President O'Meara declared the legislature of 1925 "will be called upon to remedy many of the existing evils now among us."

"We as organized workers are to vote, like all other eligible electors, for men and women aspiring for political honors in Connecticut who must guarantee support to us in this proposed work," he said.

Referring to the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution he predicted that legislative ratification of the amendment would be vigorously opposed. He appealed "to the fair minded employer of Connecticut to favor ratification," and said: "It is not my desire to convey the impression that the state of Connecticut has a menace amongst us of the child labor problem." But by passing or ratifying the amendment, he said, the state will "assist in curing an evil elsewhere which eventually is bound to lower the high standards of industrial life in Connecticut."

"And if nothing else is accomplished in our legislative plans," declared Mr. O'Meara, "we must use our moral and financial forces to change the law pertaining to the appointment of the public utilities commissn of the state. The work and decisions of this commission to my mind should be brought nearer to the people of our state, and the manner of doing this is to pass laws providing for the election of the public utilities commission by the people."

President O'Meara criticised the trade schools of the state, asserting that most schools in the state attempting this work are "farcical in the final results." He urged trade union cooperation with employers and town officials who will pledge their support to schools that will teach the trades in full, including academics."

"We must ask for complete revision of the compensation laws of the state," he said. He called attention to the fact that the present law was passed in 1913 when "wages were nearly one half what they are today, with rents 200 to 300 per cent more than in 1913."

Mr. O'Meara advocated defeat of the proposed plan of the national government for a federal department of education. He urged that pledges be enacted from candidates with reference to better remuneration and working conditions for federal postal employes.

Referring to immigration and particularly to the smuggling of aliens, Mr. O'Meara said:

"Do you know that the state of Connecticut is indirectly aiding this human smuggling by permitting many of its road building constractors to assist smuggling agents? Do you know that the state permits shacks and camps to house laborers where it is easy to stbre away the strangers and there in these camps it has been known that many of these smuggled men have been brought by agents engaged in this illicit work? I trust that a proper survey will be made by our labor organizations and if necessary, an investigation as to why these conditions go on."

Refe[illegible]ing to prohibition enforcement conditions, for comments on which, in a previous report, he was criticised, he said, by the press and others, particularly for a statement "that there were thousands of homes in Connecticut where children were viewing and assisting in the making of illicit liquors." Mr. O'Meara declared: "I am extremely happy after one year and three months, to note that conditions are worse than the one I complained of then." He further referred his critics to "the records of our police departments and to the courts of Connecticut to substantiate that since last we met in convention our much lauded and home-loving state of Connecticut has awarded contracts for large additions to our principal insane retreats at Middletown and Norwich and the inebriate home at Norwich, proving that drunkenness and insanity are on the increase and the incarceration of our people for ills brought on by the use of bad liquors is a serious thing in this state."

Mr. O'Meara reported that there had been collected in pledges [illegible] a substantial nucleus toward the working out of plans for establishment of a labor bank and expressed the hope that the convention would vote to continue a committee on this work.

The report urged support of the union label; congratulated the state trolleymen on "their sound judgment in bringing about a renewal of their working contract without resorting to cessation of work;" referred to contests in progress among the "label trades," the United Hatters of North American, the Cigar Makers International Union and the Bakery and Confectionary workers and urged assistance to the Metal Trades Organizations, which he said, "are having very serious opposition from employers of the state," referring particularly in this connection to reports of violation of Section 6389, "the blacklist law," which he says are reaching the federation.

LAFOLLETTE'S NAME WAS PLACED BEFORE CONVENTION

Hartford, Sept. 2—The supporters of Senator Robert M. La Follette in the Connecticut Federation of Labor lost no time in officially bringing before the federation the Wisconsin senator's candidacy for president when the state labor organization opened its annual convention in Eagles Hall today. No sooner were the preliminaries of the convention disposed of than a resolution was introduced giving the federation's endorsement to the candidacies of Senator La Follette and Senator Burton K. Wheeler.

The resolution, which is expected to precipitate sharp debate when it is reported at a later session by the committee on resolutions, was presented by Karl Lang, a delegate from the Brewery Workers local in Bridgeport, who is an officer of the La Follette state organization.

Accompanying the resolutions was a list of the signatures of forty eight delegates. As the secretary read the list it was apparent the number of names it contained made a deep impression, although it was known that La Follette numbered many supporters within the federation.

One hundred and fifteen delegates were seated at the opening session, and som ten more are expected today. An active supporters of the Wisconsin senator's candidacy predicted after the session that the resolution would be adopted. He pointed out that labor organizations in many cities in the United States have already endorsed LaFollette, and that a resolution similar to the one introduced yesterday had been adopted last week by the New York Federation of Labor with only two delegates voicing their opposition.

The session was a stormy one for the most part. Under the rules no discussion was permitted to follow the introduction of the LaFollette resolution. The heated discussion which interrupted the progress of the session was precipitated by two matters of rather small moment.

Examination of the line of descent of those claiming ancestry with the Mayflower's passengers was provided for in an amendment proposed at the tenth triennial general congress of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants, which began its business sessions in Plymouth, Mass.

To Reorganize Bi[illegible] Textile Corp[illegible]tion

B. B. & R. Knight, Inc., Default Interest Payment on $7,393,000 Bonds.

New York, Sept. 2—Reorganization of the Consolidated Textile Corporation, the largest manufacturers of cotton goods in the country, has been made necessary by the default today of the interest payment on the $7,393,000 outstanding 7 per cent, ten-year bonds of B. B. & R. Knight, Inc., which operates seventeen mills in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. The Consolidated Textile Corporation owns the entire common stock of the Knight Company, which, in turn, owns the entire common stock of Converse & Company, selling agents for the Consolidated, Knight and other mills.

Unfavorable conditions in the textile industry forced the closing of the Knight mills, impairing working capital and causing large losses.

B. B. & R. Knight was incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts in September, 1920, with a perpetual charter, succeeding a Rhode Island corporation of the same name, which was one of the largest manufacturers of cotton cloths in the world. The Consolidated Textile Corporation was organized on September 27, 1919, under the laws of Delaware. It has acquired either directly or through stock ownership the business and assets of: The Pilot Cotton Mills Company of Raleigh, N. C.; James N. Williamson & Sons Company (Ossipee and Hopedale Mills) of Burlington, N. C.; Elia Manufacturing Company of Shelby, N. C.; Lynchburg, (Va.) Cotton Mills Company, Windsor Print Works, North Adams, Mass., Peham (Ga.) Manufacturing Company, Bonnam (Tex.) Cotton Mills, Henderson (Ky.) Cotton Mills and the Union Cotton Mills of Lafayette, Ga. The company also has a large stock interest in the exposition Cotton Mills of Atlanta, Ga.

The original reorganization plan for the Consolidated Corporation provided for the liquidation of $9,500,000 bank loans by the payment of 30 per cent. in cash and the remainder in five-year-notes, and the liquidation of Converse & Co., and the organization of a new selling company capitalized at $3,000,000. The Kelsey Textile Corporation recently sought to enjoin the reorganization and compel the payment of a claim for $1,200,000, but the application for an injunction was denied.

It is understood, however, that the Kelsey suit resulted in the withdrawal of some of the minor interests who previously had assented to the reorganization plan. Efforts are being made, however, to induce these interests to reconsider their action and permit the carrying out of the original program.

Meanwhile, a tentative bondholders committee has been formed, including representatives of the investment firm of Harris Forbes & Co., and E. H. Rollins & Sons. The present plan of the committee is understood to keep the properties intact until a change in the textile trade situation will permit either the successful operation or the profitable sale of the Knight plants. Six months' grace is allowed before foreclosure.

BAND LEADER HELD UP ON HIGHWAY NEAR MERIDEN

Meriden, Sept. 2.—Warrant Officer Philip Azzolina, leader of the 118th Regiment band, of this city, was held up and robbed of $70 by two masked gunmen in the Meriden-Middletown highway early tonight, according to a report he made to the police.

He was driving his machine past Mt. Highby reservoir when the two men stepped from the roadside, halted the vehicle and, pointing a gun in his face, ordered him to hand over his money. A partial description of the robbers was broadcast to other cities.

WILLIAM H. ROBINSON WAS KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Baltimore, Sept. 1—William H. Robinson of Front Royal, Va., race horse owner, was almost instantly killed in an automobile accident near Catonsville, suburb, early today. The driver of the car, Dawson Lee, of Columbia, Ind., said he was blinded by the glare of an approaching automobile. His machine swerved and crashed into a telegraph pole. Robinson's neck was broken and his throat was gashed. Lee suffered cuts and bruises.

NEGRO SLAIN BY BANDITS IN SUBURB OF CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 2—Six bandits shot and killed a negro musician in holding up a roadhouse in Proviso, a western suburb today, line up fifty men and women against a wall and robbed them of jewels and money totalling $6,000. As they fled they engaged Patsy Danno, the proprietor in a pistol battle and wounded him in the hand.

Fermand St. Cyr, 26 Wood street, Meriden, whose automobile crashed through a fence into the yard of former Governor Frank B. Weeks in Middletown, was fined $200 and costs in the police court on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

A safe containing $5,000 representing the holiday receipts of the Canadian steamship lines office in Lewiston, New York, which was stolen from the home of C. W. Fieldus, the company's agent, was found intact by officers about 50 yards from the Fieldus home.

Karl Hau, one time professor of Roman law in George Washington university, Washington, D. C., who has been serving a life sentence in Karlsruhe, Germany for the murder of his mother-in-law, Frau Molitor at Baden-Baden in November, 1906, has been pardoned.

New Haven police stated that they expected soon to clear up the recent reported robbery of John T. Dempsey, a plumber, who complained that he was relieved of $3,200 in cash in a vacant lot in Orange after a taxi ride to Waterbury and back with two strangers.

20 Foreign War Craft In Harbor at Shanghai

Civil Warfare is Likely to Break Out in Two Fronts Within 24 Hours.

Shanghai, Sept. 2—(By the A. P.)—Civil warfare, threatened for a week is likely to break out on two fronts within twenty four hours, it was said in well informed quarters here tonight.

The Italian cruiser Libia has been ordered to go to Shanghai from Tientsin.

An official notice issued tonight suspending indefinitely all passenger and freight traffic on the Shanghai-Nanking Railroad left the entire community in a fever of expectancy, though ignorant of what might be taking place thirty miles from the city.

The Shanghai-Hang Chow-Ningpo Railroad was still open tonight but was being devoted for the most part to military uses and the movement of refugees, including missionaries, into the city. It is estimated that the native population of Shanghai has been increased 100,000.

All native hotels are filled to capacity while the more wealthy Chinese have been actively securing residential quarters in the French and the international concessions.

Foreign war craft in the harbor tonight totaled twenty. Five more American destroyers arrived from Chefoo this afternoon while the French cruiser Jules Ferry, flagship of the French Asiatic squadron arrived with Admiral Forchet aboard.

WOODBURY EXPERIENCED SEVERE ELECTRICAL STORM

Woodbury, Conn., Sept. 2. — The worst strom of the season hit Woodbury early this evening, causing considerable damage, and leaving the town in darkness for several hours. Two barns filled with hay and a silo on the farm owned by G. M. Henderson were struck by lightning and destroyed by fire. Neighbors formed a bucket bridage and with water from a tank nearby used for cooling milk managed to save the beautiful Henderson home from destruction. All the animals were served with the exception of one pig which was so badly burned, it was necessary to kill it.

Lightning also struck the barn belonging to L. H. Thompson of the Minortown district. The building went up in flames and with it ten tons of hay.

ELECTRICAL STORM WAS SEVERE IN DERBY

Derby, Sept. 2.—A thunder and lightning and wind storm struck Derby late this afternoon and levelled several large trees in various parts of the town. One 5-foot popular in Housatonic avenue was uprooted, but fell without doing any damage. The largest tree in Derby, a weeping willow, also fell as the wind swept through the town. Lightning struck and shattered a tree in Park avenue and the roofs of three chicken houses were blown off.

Several motorboats were out an Lake Housatonic but all reached shore safely when the owners saw the storm approaching. A plate glass window in a new store in Oliva street near the Housatonic river bridge was broken by the wind.

TREES UPROOTED, POLES FELLED IN TORRINGTON

Torrington, Sept. 2.—Trees were uprooted and telephone poles knocked down by lightning and wind which accompanied a thunder shower that visited Torrington shortly before four o'clock this afternoon. An auto bearing a New York marker was struck by the falling limb o a tree but was not badly damaged and the occupants escaped unharmed.

SHERIFF'S STORY OF KILLING OF A DEPUTY

Marion, Ills., Sept. 2.—(By The A. P.)—Sheriff George Galligan and Deputy Ora Thomas today in an interview declared that members of the Ku Klux Klan of Williamson county opposed to law enforcement by duly constituted authorities, killed Deputy Sheriff "Bud" Allison Saturday at Herrin before a shot was fired by the sheriff or any of his deputies or any one else. Galligan and Thomas admitted they did most of the shooting for the anti-klan forces in the battle at Smith's garage, in which six men were killed and several wounded.

Replying to ministers of Williamson county who are demanding that he be removed from office, Galligan said four Protestant ministers whom he named, could restore law and order in Williamson county if they would cease preaching "murder and law enforcement by the Ku Klux Klan."

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE NOT IN SYMPATHY WITH KLAN

New York, Sept. 2.—President Coolidge is not a member of the Ku Klux Klan and is not in sympathy with the organization, his secretary, C. Bascom Slemp, stated in a letter written to Joseph Branin, editor of a newspaper syndicate, and made public today by Mr. Branin.

The letter from Mr. Slemp was in answer to one by Mr. Branin.

"Concerning the Ku Klux Klan," wrote the secretary, "the president has repeatedly stated that he is not a member of the order and is not in sympathy with its aims and purposes."

WEDDING.

Mills—Fell.

Narragansett Pier, R. I., Sept. 2.—Congressman Ogden C. Mills of New York and Mrs. Dorothy Randolph Fell of Philadelphia, were quietly married here today.

The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace Elmer J. Rathbun in Wild Field farm, the home of Phillip S. P. Randolph, father of the bride.

The spacious drawing room of the Randolph residence was decorated with palms, ferns, roses and potted plants. The matron of honor was Mrs. Philip S. P. Randolph, Jr., and the best man was Perry Rosborne of New York. The immediate families were present.

Mrs. Mills is the divorced wife of John R. Fell of Philadelphia. The couple left on a wedding trip on Congressman Mills' yacht.

WORLD FLIERS ARRIVE AT HAWKES BAY, NEWFOUNDLAND

American Machines Encounter Dense Rains and Fog—Came Safely to the Water in the Bay and Tied up to Emergency Buoys—Hope to Make Flight From Hawkes Bay to Pictou, N. S., Today—Proclamation Issued by Mayor Curley of Boston For Welcome of Fliers.

Hawkes Bay, Newfoundland, Sept. 2 (By the A. P.).—The American world flier's tonight are one step farther in their task of girdling the world.

The planes of Lieutenants Lowell H. Smith and Erik Nelson are resting on the waters of Hawkes Bay, to which point they flew today from Ice Tickle, Labrador.

Starting from Ice Tickle in good flying weather, the American airmen drove their planes steadily forward under fine conditions until over Belle Isle Straits and along the coast of Newfoundland, where they were beset by rain and fog and a 30-mile head wind.

With the populace awaiting them, the planes broke through the fog and came to the water of Hawkes Bay at 3.48 o'clock, eastern standard time, this afternoon, having made the voyage from Labrador in 5 hours and 45 minutes.

Shortly after coming down, Smith and Nelson taxied their craft to the yellow buoys which, owing to the heavy sea, had been laid to the windward side of Hawkes Bay, and within two minutes had tied up to them.

The airmen spent this evening tuning up their engines and refueling preparatory to proceeding tomorrow on the next leg of their journey, Pictou Harbor, Nova Scotia, 420 miles distant. The destroyer Charles Ausburne is standing by the aircraft.

The short hop from Ice Tickle to Hawkes Bay, 276 miles, was slowed up by the head winds, which, cut down the speed of the planes 40 miles an hour. The thick fog and the rain squalls also served to delay them.

Lieutenants Smith and Nelson made their jump-off from Ice Tickle at 10.13 o'clock this morning, eastern standard time. They passed out of sight of the base ship Milwaukee at 10.25 o'clock and next were sighted by the torpedo boat destroyer McFarland off Hawk Island, Labrador, 140 miles from the start, at 12.03 p. m., and passed over that vessel at 1.33 p. m. Later they were reported passing over Battle Harbor and finally arrived here at 3.58 p. m., and tied up to their moorings.

PROCLAMATION IN BOSTON FOR WELCOME OF FLIERS

Boston, Sept. 2.—A royal welcome awaits the army world fliers when they return to home soil here in the next day or two, and Mayor Curley today made it a matter of formal proclamation.

"I ask that the citizens of Boston fly national flags from their homes and houses. I direct that similar decorations be made on all schools and public buildings, and I trust that the people will assemble in great numbers on Boston Common, that these heroic men may learn the place that have made for themselves in American hearts."

Boston's wish to make the fliers stay here a ground of greetings and gifts was modified to meet the airmen's request for rest, but the mayors proclamation outlined a public reception to be tendered them at the Boston Common, where the national colors will be tendered, and they will be presented with the keys to the city. They will be given also a reproduction of Paul Revere's bowl in silver, swords of gold and steel as gifts from military organizations and other markers of their epoch-making trip.

At the East Boston airport, at which the planes will alight, an artillery battery will give the airmen the 21-gun salute reserved for presidents. Thousands of persons will line the waterfront there and at other points. All in all, it will be a welcome in keeping with the mayor's proclaimed request that the men who have "given to the world a splendid evidence of American courage, skill, resolution and tenacity should be given a public welcome worthy of our city."

MAY MAKE 420 MILE FLIGHT TO PICTOU, N. S., TODAY

On Board the U. S. S. Richmond, Sept. 2 (By the A. P.)—Lieutenant Smith and Lieutenant Nelson announced today prior to their departure from Ice Tickle for Hawkes Bay, Newfoundland, that they hoped to speed on their flight toward Boston by jumping off from Hawkes Bay for Pictou N. S. tomorrow, and from Pictou for Boston on Thursday, if they should have good flying weather.

An extra landing is to be made at St. John, N. B., for refueling on the day of the Pictou-Boston flight.

FRENCH TROOPS TO BE WITHDRAWN SECRETLY

Paris, Sept. 2—(By the A. P.)—The date for the evacuation of Dortmund and the surrounding territory to the River Lippe has not yet been definitely fixed, but one thing has been settled, namely, that the withdrawal of the troops will be conducted with the greatest secrecy. "Invisible occupation." The citizens of Dortmund, it is forecast, will awake some morning to find the French troops gone. The order, it is stated, will be given after sunset and the operation conducted during the night.

This method of evacuation has been adopted, it is explained, in order to ward off any possible incident by the exhuberant citizens expressing relief by words or acts which might develop into an insult to the French flag or army. The withdrawal, however, is still some weeks away, it is declared, as the French customs officers on the eastern frontier of the occupied territory are not due to leave, according to the London pact, until Sept. 20, and the troops will remain there until all the French civilian occupants have left.

NEW HAVEN ROAD SHOWS INCREASE IN EARNINGS

New York, Sept. 2—New Haven railroad promises to make good the prediction of its officers earlier in the year that 1924 would result in ending the long series of deficits and produce a net profit after fixed charges. So far this year, allowing for season variation, the net income is at an annual rate sufficient to cover fixed charges and leave a balance equal to approximately $1.70 a share on the capital stock. Aside from the earnings position, which to date is somewhat $5,000,000 ahead of last year, New Haven stock is influenced by a series of other considerations, such as pending applications for higher fares, pending sales of property of subsidiaries, and the contested valuation set by the interstate commerce commission on which the road claims is at least $100,000,000 too low.

GUARDING AGAINST RENEWAL OF HOSTILITIES IN HERRIN

Herrin, Ills., Sept. 2.—(By The A. P.)—Williamson county tonight is guarding against a possible resumption of hostilities. Tomorrow morning the sworn enemies—the Ku Klux Klansmen and anti-klansmen—will face each other in the Herrin city hall.

The occasion will be the coroner's inquest into the shooting affray here Saturday in which six men were killed and several wounded.

Sheriff George Galligan said he and his witnesses would be on hand from Marion, headquarters of the sheriff and the anti-klansmen.

"We will come armed with machine guns if necessary," he said, "and after the inquest we will go to the Smith garage and get the automobile we went after Saturday," he added.

State's Attorney Delos Duty said he would not be present.

"If the coroner's verdict is adverse to the klansmen they would say I let my official position to influence the jurors," Mr. Duty said. "For that reason I think it best that I stay away."

Montana has a Milk river—but it is mostly water.

REP. WOOD COMMENTS ON ADDRESS OF JOHN W. DAVIS

Chicago, Sept. 2—Representative Will R. Wood, of Indiana, chairman of the national republican congressional committee, issued a statement today commenting on the New Jersey address of John W. Davis, who arrived here today.

"Mr. Davis was solicitor general during the war and it was his duty to prosecute criminal acts," the statement said, "but from the record it does not appear that the saw anything wrong in contracts involving billions made in defiance of the law, even after the comptroller of the treasury had notified the secretary of war that the contracts were illegal.

"The state of West Virginia, where he lived before he became a New Yorker, furnished an opportunity for the solicitor general to give a demonstration of his demand for honest government when war department located a nitrate plant not for from Charleston, W. Va., made verbal contracts for the building of the plant and proceeded to build a city as the first process in making powder.

About $70,000,000 was expended there and no powder was made to reach the boys in France. The house committee that investigated the expenditures of the war department made an official report on the enterprise and one item in that special report showed that an agent acting for the government secured options on the land for $20,000 and turned it over to the government for $146,125.

"The committee recommended that the department of justice investigate this transaction with a view to criminal prosecution, but Mr. Davis had apparently found no fault with that fraud on the government nor did his conscience trouble him when the contractor first proceeded to build a city with houses to accommodate 20,000 people with clubs, rest houses for the various welfare organizations, a hospital in which were installed 100 doctors and 150 nurses, water works capable of supplying 60,000,000 population. He was not disturbed about the honest of government when when millions of feet of much needed lumber was burned to clear a place to build a platform for the secretary of war to make a speech.

"The expenditure of $70,000,000 was no doubt a good thing for West Virginia, as it developed a tract of wild land and built a model city close to the coal and oil fields, but it did not enable the governmeht to send a pound of powder to Pershing in France. The plant was kept going for a year after the armistice with several thousand men on the payroll and by a strange coincidence after the end of the war, a train-load of alleged workmen were taken from Montana, to Nitro W. Va., kept there for a week, a good part of them in the hospital with diseases, and then taken back to Montana. Their transportation both was was paid out of government funds as was their wages. It was in the nature of an excursion at government expense, perhaps to celebrate the end of the war."

The preservation of this country's forest resources demands that present agencies for their protection be quadrupled, Samuel T. Dana, director of the northeastern forest experiment station, declared at the annual conference at Peterboro, N. H., of the Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests.

WILLIMANTIC

The September term of the criminal side of the Windham county superior court opened in this city Tuesday morning, with Judge George E. Hinman on the bench. Prayer was offered by Rev. A. Stanley Muirhead, pastor of the Methodist church. Jailer Walter Tripp and Deputy Sheriff Charles E. Ayer were in charge of the two bound over prisoners, Fred Luzuvick and Edward Lovely. During a recess called at the suggestion of State's Attorney Searls, the attorneys conferred with the state's attorney regarding pleas of their clients. The drawing of the jurors for the term also took place during the recess, with the following results: Windham, Eugene E. Curran, Everett D. Hopkins; Putnam, Donat Jolly, Omer J. Wilmot; Ashford, James Sunderland; Brooklyn, Sherwood P. Potter; Canterbury, James L. Appleby; Chaplin, Ivan M. Johnson; Eastford, Charles Clark; Hampton, George Fitts; Killingly, Henry E. Amidon, James L. Knight, George B. Guild; Pomfield, William J. Wilkinson, Urgele LaFrance, Roswell C. Stevens; Pomfret, William L. Darling, Herman E. Danielson; Scotland, Byron Wilson; Sterling, George F. Pierce, Jr.; Thompson, John Wisher, Charles Sandstrom; Woodstock, Albert Hammond, Dr. George Perley.

Edward Lovelev pleaded guilty to a charge of statutory burglary in Brooklyn on July 10. A sentence of six months in the county jail was imposed.

Yvonne Takmon, charged with adultery and abandoning her husband, Stephen Takmon, pleaded not guilty and elected to have her case tried by the court.

To a charge of manslaughter, Fred Lazwick of Willimantic, pleaded not guilty and by his election the case was heard by a jury. He was represented by County Protector Charles L. Torrey.

In the case of William P. Burke, charged with statutory burglary in Willimantic, a continuance for plea was granted until next Thursday. The defendant's attorney, County Protector Charles L. Torrey had doubts regarding the mentality of his client.

A plea of not guilty was entered by Alfred L. Chalifoux, of this city, charged with reckless driving and taking an automobile without the owner's permission. He elected to have the case heard by the court.

Frank M. Russell, charged with reckless pleaded not guilty and his case will be heard by jury.

Henry McManus and Stephen Bergeron, charged with violation of the liquor law pleaded not guilty and elected to have their cases tried before the court.

Eva Goldstein, charged with violation of the liquor law took on a belligerent attitude when asked to plead through her attorney, H. S. Thaucher. She let it known that it was understood that she was to plead guilty. The case was waived by Judge Hinman and the afternoon session of court was devoted to the case.

William Edgar Brown pleaded not guilty to a charge of breaking and entering and elected to have his case heard by the court.

Louis Brettschneider, Arthur Buffington, Aramos, all local men were fined $100 and costs on charges of violating the liquor law and chose to have their cases heard by the court. The case against Brettschneider for one hour was nolled at $50.

Two cases were disposed of and the ends in two others were called during the afternoon session. Julius N. [illegible] of Chaplin, charged with [illegible] property under false pretenses, pleaded not guilty and elected to have his case heard by the court. The case was called and hardly stepped out of the court room when he returned with the information and informed the court that he desired to change his plea to guilty. Those questioning as to his sobriety by Judge Hinman brought out the fact that Guay had been before the superior court on two previous occasions. He was given another chance to mend his ways and given a suspended sentence to the Cheshire reformatory, being placed on probation for one year, in the care of Town Clerk C. Lumis of Chaplin.

Amidst tears and sobs Mrs. Eva [illegible] was presented before the [illegible] County Protector Torrey and pleaded guilty to the charges of violation of the liquor law. Judge Hinman found the woman guilty of the third and fourth in the series of counts upon which she was charged, for selling liquor last April. Allowance was made by Judge Hinman for the fact that the woman was practically the sole support of a large family as her husband remained in New York most of the time. The original sentence of twenty days in jail was put into effect in addition to a thirty day suspended sentence on the fourth count. The $100 fine imposed in the fourth count was not put into effect, but the defendant was required to pay the costs of the case to the lower court.

Michael and Caroline Rosek of this city, husband and wife, failed to appear in the court room during the day to answer to charges of violation of the liquor law. State's Attorney Searls ordered that their bonds of $500 each be called and this order was continued with by Sheriff Charles E. Hayes. Court adjourned until today at 10 a. m.

Clifford H. Wilson, 28 of Mansfield, was fined $25 and costs Monday morning on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses and $2 and costs on a charge of not having a driver's license while operating a motor vehicle. This would not raise the assessment of $52.65 and had no friends to come to his assistance. Wilson was taken to the county jail at Brooklyn later in the day.

At the session of the September term of Tolland county superior court held Tuesday, at Rockville, with Judge William M. Maltbie, of Hartford, on the bench, the cases of Russell Fryer, 18; Robert Vondbeck, 17, and Marcus Kelley, 17, all of South Coventry, charged with breaking and entering and theft were heard. They were taken to trial before Justice George H. Andrews of Mansfield Wednesday and the cases were prosecuted by Grand Juror Robert G. Brooks. The young men admitted that they had broken into the store of Julius Belville, on the north shore of Lake Wangumbaug, South Coventry on last Friday, also into the tea room conducted by Captain William A. Wolfe at Lakeside park, last Sunday. Judge Maltbie announced that he would reserve his decision in the case until next Tuesday, during which time the youths are to be in charge of Sheriff Robert O. Vinton.

Funeral services for Elbert Cornelius Little were held Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock in Columbia Congregational church. Burial was in the Columbia cemetery. Arrangements were in charge of Avery and Van Zandt.

WEEDEN MURDER SUSPECT LOCATED IN NEW YORK

(Special to the Bulletin)

Willimantic, Sept. 2—Frank Weeden, suspected of the murder of 7 year old Vincent Picano of Thornton, R. I., more than a year ago and who kept the inhabitants of Eastern Connecticut in a state of terror, following his escape from the Rhode Island Hospital for Mental Diseases, in July 1923, has been located at the Hudson River State Hospital, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where he has been incarcerated since August 3, 1923. Weeden's whereabouts became known through a letter from Dr. Walter A. Ryan of the Hudson River hospital to Dr. Arthur H. Harrington, head of the Rhode Island institution in which Dr. Ryan enclosed a photograph of a man who had been admitted to his hospital as Claude R. Metz, but who recently claimed his real name was Frank Mayfield Weeden. Dr. Harrington recognized the photograph at once as that of Weeden and conferred Monday with the Rhode Island state officials relative to the return of Weeden.

WESTERLY

The adjourned meeting of Westerly town council for September Tuesday was held in the council chambers of the Westerly town hall at 9.30 o'clock. There were present Council President Campbell, Councilmen Morrison, Utter, Rossie and Smith, Councilman Fowler being out of town was the only absentee. There were also present Clerk Whipple and Town Solicitor Ferguson.

Mrs. Davis C. Anderson, president of the Watch Hill Improvement society, appeared before the council in regard to the pollution of the waters of Little Narragansett Bay. She stated that she came up as a committee to inform the council of the conditions on Bay street, Watch Hill, which should be made more sanitary. The Improvement society were powerless to act in the matter and each year as the colony becoming larger and larger, conditions were becoming steadily worse. A month ago there was a conference at Watch Hill with the Rhode Island state board of pollution of waters and that directions were given to make a survey that a definite report could be made. She doubted if pipes could be laid for drainage as they would be below sea level and thought that the pollutors of the water should be compelled to install septic tanks. She asked the council to look into the matter before there was an epedemic of typhoid fever or other disease from the unsanitary conditions.

Town Solicitor Ferguson said that a committee of the Improvement society had seen him and that a meeting with the Rhode Island state authorities had been arranged, as he said the town of Westerly had no jurisdiction in the waters of the bay. Supt. McKenzie of the Westerly water works and other interested parties had been present at the investigation and the meeting resulted in the recommendation that a competent engineer be engaged to make the necessary survey and the individual offenders listed. Mrs. Anderson said that the Improvement society had not the funds or authority to move in the matter, even as much as he Watch Hill fire district, which had worked under a supposed charter authority which did not exist.

Councilman Utter asked if the R. I. state board was the only board having jurisdiction and if it was not possible for the Westerly council to act.

Solicitor Ferguson said that the public statute set forth that complaints should be made and that the names of all the offenders, analysis of the water, and so forth, should be presented in a formal complaint. In Westerly the sewage district had the authority from the legislature to compel all persons to empty into the sewers. Mrs. Anderson said "We just need a head, gentlemen," with the added authority from some source to have tanks constructed for the reception of sewage before it is sent into the bay. Mrs. Henri Deroches told the council that each one at the Hill seemed ready to co-operate, once plans were started and that there was no question but pollutted matter was run into the bay.

In reply to President Campbell's request as to how the question should be cared for, Solicitor Ferguson said that a committee from the Westerly town council could take the matter up with the abutting property owners on the bay and if an agreement could not be arrived at that way then prefer a formal complaint to be laid. The Rhhode Island state board. The result would then be if the owners agreed, they would have to work out some sewage system for themselves.

Theodore Picard and George Trout appeared before the council in regard to the erection of a second gasolene pump on the premises of Stephen Farago on Canal street, where Mr. Picard has operated a filling station. Before granting the request the council wished to look over the premises.

Thomas Salimeno asked that permission be granted him for the Italian Athletic club to hold a boxing exhibition in Rose avenue club house Sept. 25th. It was no voted. Permission to play Sunday football will have to be given a public hearing, as asked for, before it can be granted.

Council President Campbell, a committee on the Atlantic Beach Casino license question reported the payment of $110 by Proprietor Charles R. Johnson.

Westerly police department bills were voted paid as follows: Automobiles $35.75, motorcycles $62.52, special officer, Walter H. Nash, $27.00; traffic $39.14, medical attendance $10, telegram and telephones $39.90, prohibition enforcement $15.06, a total of police bills for August of $229.37.

Town of Westerly bills for August were paid as follows: James M. Pendleton, to pay water bills $2,349.09, to pay sewer bills, $104.88, and to pay poor department bills, $489.63, a total of $2,943.60.

Town officers, services of board of assessors, $1500, and Supt. of Health Samuel C. Webster $100.

Miscellaneous, $125; town hall $24.71, printing and advertising $23.50, city planning, Robert Whitten, services, $1,600, and new schools, Harold A. Sweetland, expenses and services, $100.85.

The report of Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown for August was received and recorded. It showed 57 arrests, as follows:

Exceeding speed limit 22, no operators' license 3, driving car while intoxicated 1, kidnapping 5, assault 3, revelling 3, car not registered 1, leaving scene of accident 1, muffler cut out 3, passing standing trolley 2, defective brakes 1, and intoxicationg 9.

There were six taken into custody and two liquor raids were made.

The report of the the superintendent of health, Dr. Samuel C. Webster, showed one case of chicken pox, one case of mumps and one case of scarlet fever reported.

The council denied the petition that William Totten be made a special constable at the Opera house, as requested by Manager David Novogrod, it not having the endorsement of Chief of Police Brown.

Charles Alexander was granted a victualizing license and milk licenses were granted Charles Alexander and C. Palmer Chapman.

John Doe, of Miami, Fla., who has been at the Vars pharmacy at Watch Hill, R. I., for the summer months left Westerly Tuesday, having completed his duties at the Hill, for an automobile trip to Newport, R. I., previous to returning south.

George M. McBride resumed his duties at Dubrelle and Gallin's after two weeks' vacation passed on an automobile trip through Nw England stats, Nw York and Canada.

PRETTY BOOTHS AT PENDLETON HILL FAIR

The Pendleton Hill fair held recently proved very successful which was encouraging to those in charge of the arrangements. In addition to the booths already described there was a pretty punch table in a booth decorated entirely in yellow even to the chairs and tables with a background of beautiful white birches. Here Mrs. Frank Brown served most delectable fruit punch. Mrs. Brown was costumed in yellow. She was assisted by Mrs. Emil Gladfellow.

The post office was nestled among the white birches and was as popular as it was pretty. Miss Amelia Palmer dispenced mail from all quarters of the country to a throng.

The gypsies occupied the next stall. Their decorations were a real tent. The fostune teller was Miss Anna Palmer North who summers in Westerly. She is the daughter of Dr. C. E. North of New York.

Rebecca at the Well was Miss Clara Brown who dispensed drinkables from a beautiful and very realistic well of huge stones surrounded by ferns. This well was constructed for the occasion by Llewellyn Palmer.

The flower stand under a canopy of white birches was beautiful with a mass of flowers presented by friends and gathered by Miss Alice Chapman, Miss Juliet Palmer Boardman and Mr. Willis Miner. Miss Bertha Lewis led the sale.

Mystery Island was the great attraction of the second day. Miss Jean Palmer North heralded this event and a considerable sum was realized at this stall. Miss Amelia Palmer North dressed in red and white with huge red bags, was the travelling grab bag.

Added attractions were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rae and friends, who gave a fine exhibition of English folk dancing on the church green Friday afternoon. Mr. Rae is an expert and was one of those chosen to dance at the exhibition in New York last winter.

The Rae boys, Walter, Jack and Robin were dressed as clowns in white and red, and the Rae pony furnished amusement for many both young and old with Walter and Jack as guides. In addition these three little clowns sold candy. Master Richard Palmer also took the part of a clown.

The Light ladies who took part in the special drama entitled "My Aunt From California" worked for two weeks to perfect the play and were highly commended for the rendering of their individual parts.

The Goode Minstrels of Westerly who volunteered their services crowded the church with people and entertained their audience royally.

At the last the fair patrons, not forgetting Miss Walling of Watch Hill sold anything and everything from pins to people. Their work added much to the sum total.

The auction with the expert Hilyard Anthony as auctioneer was by no means the least attractive of the fair.

Aside from those who were devoting their time at home to the fair, those who have been on the grounds at work every day and nearly all day for the past week are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Thompson and Mrs. Louise Thompson, Henry Johnson, Barclay Palmer and son Llewellyn, Miss James Brooks, Miss T. C. Palmer, Ozea Kasteness, Mr. Oscar, Willis Miner, Miss Clara Brown and Marvan Palmer.

HOLIDAY CELEBRATION AT WA-WOG CAMPS

After a most successful season the activities at the Wa-Wog camps were brought to a climax with the series of events held over the Labor Day holidays which drew a large number of the people from the surrounding territory.

Saturday afternoon the Wa-Wog A. C. held their first annual track meet, which was well attended and through the large number of entries each event proved to be very interesting.

The results:

100 yard dash, first, J. Mara, Norwich; second, J. Zulka, Norwich; third, H. Behr, Garfield, N. J.

60 yard dash (girls), first, I. Guile, North Stonington; second, H. Dreher, West Orange, N. J.; third, Mrs. Guile, North Stonington.

Sack race, first, G. Reed, Preston City; second, H. Behr, Garfield, N. J.; third, J. Nelson, Hartford.

Potato race, first, I. Guile, North Stonington; second, H. Dreher, West Orange, N. J.; third, Mrs. Guile, North Stonington.

220 yard dash, first, J. Mara, Norwich; second, W. Mathesius, Orange, N. J.; third, G. Reed, Preston City.

Three-legged race, first, D. Guile and H. Behr; second, G. Reed and W. Lewis; third, G. Volk and W. Mathesius.

Base ball throw, first, J. Zulka, Norwich; second, W. Lewis, Preston City; third, H. Behr, Garfield, N. J.

Running broad jump, first, G. Reed, Preston City; second, W. Mathesius, Orange, N. J.; third, G. Reed, Preston City.

Saturday evening the second annual masquerade ball was held at Firemens hall at the camps, the music being furnished by Lambert's orchestra of Norwich. Prizes were awarded for the best costumes and Miss H. Dreher of New York city received the first prize, the second went to Miss Muriel Wachenfeld of Orange, N. J. and the third to Miss S. Schmidt of Orange, N. J. At this time medals were awarded to the winners of the events at the track meet held in the afternoon. From the large number of people present from the surrounding towns it seems that the annual masquerade is not forgotten from year to year.

Church morning the church services were well attended and those who came were more than rewarded by the very interesting talk given by the Rev. David A. Pitt of Norwich. It is the hope of all that Rev. Mr. Pitt will be heard again at the camp.

Sunday afternoon the deciding game of the baseball series between the Wa-Wog A. C. and the Cottrell team of Westerly was played and the final score showed 4-2 in favor of Cottrell. A great part of the game was played by the two pitchers, F. Ebele and Kinz, whose brilliant twirling caused one player after another to strike out. One of the features of the game was the home run hit by Wright in the fifth inning scoring the first run of the game. The clever base stealing of Jackson added excitement to the game on more than one occasion.

The Encubs:

Cottrell	0	0	0	1	0	1	0	0	2—4

Scored by innings:

Wa-Wog A. C.: Seed lf, Sullivan 1b, Tomat 3b, Jackson cf, Boyd c, Reed ss, Swanton 2b, A. Ebele rf, F. Ebele p.

Cottrell, Lonahan ss, Kenyon 2b, Roberts cf, Cavenaugh 1b, J. West 3b, C. West lf, Brown rf, Wright c, King p.

After the game the members of both teams enjoyed dinner at the camp, singing and dancing completed the day and the Cottrell team left for home after a rousing send off. After their very interesting encounters, the Wa-Wog A. C. are looking forward to meeting Cottrell next year in another series.

Monday at the camp was taken up with boating, swimming, hiking, tennis and other out-of-door games and many of the guests were started on their way home after the typical Wa-Wog send off.

GARDINER'S POINT SOLD AT $50 FOR A PARK

The Long Island State Park Commission announced Tuesday that it had acquired a new park at a cost of only $50. The United States War Department has transferred for that consideration a small spit of land known as Gardiner's Point in Gardiner's Bay.

Gardiner's Point is a sandy island of about three acres on which stands a picturesque "ruin" dating from Spanish War days. This is Fort Tyler, a concrete fortification hastily thrown up in 1898 when there were reports that the Spanish fleet was going to attack the north Atlantic coast. Owing to the quick ending of the war, the guns for the fort were never placed in position. The concrete structure is in a fair state of preservation, with many inclosed rooms.

The new park site is swept by the breezes of Gardiner's Bay and Block Island sound. It is about seven miles from Orient Point, and about ten miles from the new state park property on Montauk Point. There is deep water for anchorage off the west side of the island.

The fort has been abandoned and has been unoccupied since except by seagulls and occasional picnic parties. It was carried on the list of forts by the war department, but the erection of formidable modern fortifications on Plum Island and Fisher's Island, in much better position to defend the eastern entrance to Long Island sound, made it useless for military purposes.

The war department recently decided to dispose of such useless military property, and a bill was passed in congress providing for the transfer of land to states, counties, cities and towns. New York city recently obtained ninety acres at a low price on Plum Beach, Jamaica Bay, through this bill.

Is Your Back a Handicap?

DO YOU SUFFER CONSTANT BACKACHE — FEEL OLD AND WORN OUT? THEN FOLLOW THE ADVICE OF THESE NORWICH FOLKS.

Is a bad back keeping you upset and miserable? Every day bring lameness, stiffness and torturing twinges? Are you so tired, nervous and dispirited it seems you can never be well again?

Surely, then, you should be finding out what is wrong!

More than likely it's your kidneys. Your kidneys, you know, are constantly filtering impurities from the blood. But weak, sluggish kidneys slow up in their work, allowing poisons to accumulate until there's an upsetting of the whole system.

Then comes constant backache, sharp, stabbing pains, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder irregularities. You feel tired, weak, nervous and depressed.

Don't let this unhappy condition go on! Help your sluggish kidneys with a stimulant diuretic. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. Norwich folks recommend them. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These Norwich Folks:

C. I. ALLEN, Stationary Engineer, 695 East Main Street, says: "I was bothered with my kidneys for four months and the doctor told me they were causing the severe lameness in my back. I used Doan's Pills and they helped me. When I bent over it would be quite a few minutes before I could straighten again. Doan's Pills continued to help me, regulating the passages of the secretions and doing away with the lameness in my back. The care Doan's gave me has lasted."

MRS. JAMES E. MORAN, 33 Second Street, says: "A cold settled in my kidneys and weakened them. My back ached continually for some time and I could hardly get around to do my housework. My kidneys didn't act right at all. I had known of Doan's Pills helping another member of the family, so I used them and found relief. Lately I had another attack of kidney trouble but Doan's were just as sure in helping me again as they were the first time."

NATURE'S DANGER SIGNALS.

Nervousness, melancholia, backache, headache and pain in the side are all nature's danger signals which indicate some ailment peculiar to a woman. When such warning symptoms appear women may avoid much pain and suffering if they will rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as its tonic, strengthening influence speedily removes the cause and restores the system to a healthy, normal condition.

Glenwood heaters are made in three types, Single-Pipe, the 3-Way System, and the standard Pipe Furnace.

Glenwood

THESE are some of the special advantages of the Glenwood Single-Pipe Heater.—1. The straight sides of the fire-pot insure a clean fire around the edges. 2. The feed doors are made extra wide to admit large logs. 3. The floor register has an 82% open-air area, allowing a freer and more rapid circulation of heat. 4. The heater itself is of exceptionally heavy construction throughout.

Come in and let us show you why a Glenwood makes heating easy.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Killingly's schools opened Tuesday for another year of study and several hundred pupils went back to their class rooms in the pursuit of knowledge—Superintendent William E. Parker is in charge.

There are numbers of changes in the teaching staff from the organization as it existed at the close of the last school year, in June. Principal Ernest R. Warren continues to direct the work at Killingly High school. In the faculty of the high school Miss Iva M. Bryant of Roslindale, Mass., replaces Miss Ruth Fenton, teacher in the commercial department the past year.

Richard W. Hawes is principal of the school at Goodyear, replacing Herbert D. Hoyt, who resigned to become submaster of the high school at Norwell, Mass.

Mrs. Emma J. Reach is teaching in the fifth grade at Danielson, replacing Miss Myrtle Marland, a very successful teacher in Killingly's schools for a number of years. Miss Marland is teaching this year at Plymouth, Mass. Miss Mabel C. Frink of Jewett City will teach in the Goodyear school, succeeding Miss Agnes Jacobs who is spending a year's leave in California. Miss Mary A. Warneke of Springfield is the new teacher at the Valley school, filling a vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Leah Allen. Miss Ida M. Dunham of Hennikon, N. Y., takes up the duties of supervisor of music in Killingly's schools, succeeding Miss Helen O. Howman resigned.

Otherwise the teaching organization in Killingly's schools is much the same as during the past school year.

From a hot weather standpoint, it was a tough day for the introductory, but hundreds of school children flocked back to their studies Tuesday morning and put in the usual number of school day hours. It is doubtful if the schools ever opened a fall term on a hotter day than was Tuesday. Like the pupils the teachers in many instances found the organization work irksome.

Case No. 5,000 since the town court began to make official records on May 1, 1917 was entered Tuesday by Judge W. Fenner Woodward who also has the clerical work of the court. It was an unimportant case dealing with a matter disposed of in the town court during the morning. A review of the town court records during the 27 years since it was established reveals many cases that may well be forgotten. There is no need of delving into those records here for a news item, the would interest for a few [illegible] memories that would be one to many. It may be said however that the great majority of cases that the town court has considered have had to do with minor offenses. In fact the cases are rarely of the more serious nature in dealing with the court in many offenses. Hardly a week goes by that there is no fewer than is the case in [illegible] and cases where [illegible] and up and going people.

As in [illegible] cases many of the cases coming before the town court have to do with violations of the liquor laws and with violations pertaining to automobiles. The automobile [illegible] to furnish a goodly portion of the business that the court considers.

[illegible] was a small fire in the town [illegible] Monday. Two men were presented on charges of having been under the influence of liquor and one man charged with driving an automobile at a fast rate other to [illegible] was placed under bonds for his appearance in court.

All effort to trace relatives of William Hanlon [illegible] without success, arrangements were completed Tuesday to hold the funeral services today and to proceed with the burial. Hanlon died a week ago Sunday at a boarding house in Baltimore where he had been visiting. He came there it is understood from some place in Massachusetts. Formerly he was a mill worker in Attawaugan and Ballouville. The body has been in the undertaking rooms of L. E. Kennedy while the search for his relatives have gone on. Some of these relatives are said to live in Blackstone and others in New York, but they have not been located.

Hanlon's life was covered by an insurance policy written through an agent in this town. In view of this fact, First Selectman John A. Gil-

French Physician Gives Prescription To Safely REDUCE

Prominent American Specialists, Doctors and Former Health Commissioner Exclusively Recommends New French Discovery to FAT PEOPLE.

Without injuring your health or having to diet or exercise, you can to-day easily take off 5 to 6 pounds a week with a French prescription, conveniently put up in a small tablet, called "SAN-GRI-NA." Since "SAN-GRI-NA" has been introduced in America it has met with such tremendous success that Doctors, Specialists, Nurses, and Dr. J. J. Rudolph, former Health Commissioner, have thoroughly investigated it, and now exclusively recommend it to fat people as absolutely harmless and most effective. If you have been fat for years; if your case is most obstinate; if you have tried everything advertised without success; if you suffer from puffing, high blood pressure, tired feeling—simply do this: Get a package of "SAN-GRI-NA," take 2 small tablets before each meal, and watch your weight gradually go down and your health improve. Not only will "SAN-GRI-NA" do away with ugly rolls of fat, but almost from the minute you start taking it you will feel a wonderful change in your entire system. Thousands of people already have been benefited by "SAN-GRI-NA," and are sending in most gratifying reports. These cases vary in reducing from 10 to 70 pounds in a remarkably short time, and all agree that "almost immediately after taking 'SAN-GRI-NA' they felt 100 per cent. better."

NOTE—Since "SAN-GRI-NA" has been introduced in America, it has met with tremendous success, and imitations cannot be avoided. Save yourself from disappointment. Ask for, and be sure to get, "SAN-GRI-NA." Do not accept a substitute claimed "just as good." On sale at

AN-GRI-NA is now sold at Lee & Osgood, McLaughlin's, or Bray's drug stores.

PUTNAM

Although the Putnam State Trade school is open twelve months in the year, there is always a larger enrollment when the public schools begin than at other times. The number of applications shows that there will be a good sized school the coming year. The school furnishes pre-vocational trade and home economics instruction to about 100 boys and girls of the grammar schools, also first year home economics work for high school girls and upper class pupils, electing these courses, together with the high school cooperative courses in the trades for boys.

The instructors in charge of the various departments are: Home economics department, Miss Hannah E. Pease, Miss Ethel E. Spooner; drafting department, C. L. Ransom; machine department, K. J. Bogardus; electrical, J. R. McCormick; textile, C. S. Blossom, carpentry, Ernest Stary.

Funeral services for Mrs. Inez V. Hoyle were held at the Masonic Temple, Grove street Tuesday afternoon. The service was conducted by Jessamine Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, of which Mrs. Hoyle was secretary. Burial was in the Grove street cemetery.

A meeting of teachers of Putnam school was held at the Israel Putnam school Tuesday afternoon. Matters pertaining to the new school year, which begins today (Wednesday), were discussed. It is anticipated that there will be a large freshman class at Putnam high school but the exact number can not be determined for several days.

Two Eastford girls are desirous of obtaining a high school education. The nearest high school is Putnam, some fifteen miles from Eastford. These girls are willing to work to obtain their education in Putnam homes, in return for their board. The case of these ambitious girls is left with Mrs. W. J. Bartlett, Main street.

Funeral services for Miss Nellie Breen, 46, for many years a housekeeper at the home of Dr. S. B. Overlock, in Pomfret, were held at Holy Trinity church, Pomfret, Tuesday morning, Rev. Father George J. Donahue officiating. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, Putnam. Miss Breen was taken with an acute attack of appendicitis last Friday and died soon after being removed to the Day Kimball hospital.

Nearly two hundred members of Camp Utopia on the shore of Roseland Lake, Woodstock, left for their New York homes on the morning train, Tuesday. The camp is composed of young people from New York of Hebrew extraction and has been growing in numbers for several years until it has become the largest summer camp in eastern Windham county. When the order of the state health commissioner forbidding bathing in Roseland lake was issued, it was received with consternation in the large camp. Bathing was continued however and two of the campers were arrested but were discharged in a justice court and no further action to enforce the commissioner's order was taken.

There was not a single arrest in Putnam over the week end and holiday which is considered an excellent record by the police.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Clark attended the fair at Worcester, Monday.

Miss Gertrude Jones is in New Brunswick the guest of her nieces, Misses Ruth and Dorcas Bartlett, who are on the winter Chautauqua circuit as members of the Festival Ladies Quartette.

The Bar Harbor express, heavily loaded, was passing through Putnam in from three to five sections last week bringing the summer residents of Maine resorts back to their city homes.

Mrs. F. O. Armington had the members of the Coolidge club at her home for a meeting Tuesday evening.

Letter received from men of the service battery who are at Camp Eustis, Va., make mention of the hot weather down in that country.

This (Wednesday) morning the Connecticut company will resume what is known as its school trips between Danielson and East Killingly. This will give a car out of Danielson for East Killingly at 7.10 a. m. and 3.10 p. m. and cars out of East Killingly at 7.50 a. m. and 3.50 p. m.

Mrs. Albertus C Chase of Dayville was under the care of a physician Tuesday as the result of having been knocked down Monday night about 7 o'clock in Dayville near where the trolley turns north at the old carhouse, by an automobile driven by George Pope of Goodyear. Mrs. Chase was cut about the head and has an injured arm, which was considerably swollen Tuesday. Mr. Pope is unfortunate in that this is the second accident of the kind in which he has been involved within a few days. He is schedule to appear in a justice's court in Brooklyn this (Wednesday) evening to answer to a charge of reckless driving growing out of his having run into and knocked down Mrs. Margaret Murray of Main street, Danielson. The accident in which Mrs. Murray was injured occurred while she was crossing the street on the West Side, one evening last week. She has been receiving treatment at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Bassett, Arthur Bassett and Miss Alice Bessette returned Labor day evening from a motor trip that took them through northern New England and into Canada, where they visited with relatives.

Danielson lovers of horse racing contributed to making the attendance at the New London county fair in Norwich Tuesday.

During the early afternoon of Tuesday the mercury reached the 92 degree mark here, but was driven back as the afternoon wore on by a lively southerly breeze.

Henry A. Perkins of Lowell was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Tuesday.

Howard G. Franklin, teller at the Danielson Trust company, has returned from a vacation of two weeks.

Marshall I. Frink is engaged this week in collecting the taxes of the Brooklyn Center fire district.

A number of motor vehicles that figured in minor accidents in this territory over the holiday period are in garager hereabouts for repairs.

Jules A. Richmond of New Bedford was a visitor with friends in Danielson Tuesday.

L. S. Ingalls of the West Side won an award of $100 in the trap shoot held by the Danielson Rod and Gun club, at its shooting place on the West Side, Labor day, when participants from many points were on hand to enjoy the day's events.

So Much Easier!

That's why so many women love the Vacuette—the non-electric vacuum cleaner. It's so light—so easily handled—such a tremendous advance over the heavy, cumbersome electric machine. No cords to untangle—no dangerous connections to fuss with.

As it glides easily over your floor it develops full vacuum suction that gathers all hidden dirt. There's also a fast-revolving bristle brush—to take up surface litter. The Vacuette is exceedingly thorough.

Cost isn't half what you'd expect. Time payments, too, if desired. Ask us to show it to you in your own rugs and carpets. Phone or USE the COUPON—today!

BANK RECEIVER INTIMATES AFFAIRS IN STRANGE TANGLE

(Special to The Bulletin).

Putnam, Sept. 3—Charles H. Coffin, receiver of the First National Bank, when asked if he had any idea how long it would take to wind up the bank's affairs, stated that he could not tell anything about it. He intimated that he had never seen exact conditions before such as those existing at the Putnam bank. While he did not go into detail or explain just what he meant, it is believed that the fact that so many people trusted Cashier Gilpatric so implicitly as to put large funds in his hands for investment or safe keeping without receipt of any kind as evidence of the transaction was what Mr. Coffin meant. This phase of the situation, which is one of the factors that serves to entangle matters, is believed to be unique in the experience of bank examiners. It seems incredible that any person of the slightest business judgment would entrust to any man a large amount of money with no evidence to prove that such sum had been handed over. If such a trusting person had the most implicit confidence in Gilpatric it might at least have occurred to him that the cashier might die suddenly and leave the person with no evidence of his or the bank's indebtedness. This was also the case with notes which makers of the instruments paid and left at the bank instead of taking these evidences of their own indebtedness and destroying them upon payment. It is assumed that it has been due to claims of this nature being presented that has led the examiners and the receiver to state that the exact condition of the bank is not known.

The persistent effort to have a statement made has been abandoned as hopeless. Only on rare occasions at this time are opinions that the examiners or receiver should give out a statement expressed. For the most part citizens have become resigned, and, while curiously ready to hear from anyone in authority as to the bank's condition and the probable outcome, are not actively making any effort in this direction. As far as the public is concerned it has developed into a situation of watchful waiting.

At the Day Kimball hospital it is said that the condition of Gilpatric remains unchanged. The extreme heat of the past few days has affected him and he has been restless and unable to sleep well. His relatives visit him every day, but no one else is allowed in his room except the doctor and nurses. His brother, Attorney Walter H. Gilpatric of New York has returned from his summer home in Mt. Desert Island, Me., and is staying in Putnam before returning to New York.

Hourigan Bros., were in charge of the arrangements.

Funeral services for Mrs. Gustavus D. Andrews were held at her home, in Sylvandale, Monday afternoon. Rev. E. E. Scates, pastor of the Jewett City Baptist church conducted the services. Burial was in Yantic cemetery, Norwich. The bearers were Warren and James Andrews, Frank Ayer and Morris Anderson. Mrs. Andrews, who was Lucy Avery, was born in Preston January 6, 1848 the daughter of James and Eliza Fitch Avery. Before her marriage she was a much beloved teacher in Preston, several of her pupils coming to attend her funeral. She married in 1870 Gustavus D. Andrews, who survives her. For some time since before the death of her brother, James Avery, Mr. and Mrs. Andrews have lived in Sylvandale.

Never having good health, yet those who knew her remarked upon her wonderfully sweet and patient disposition. She was a member of the Preston City Baptist church and Home Chapter of The King's Daughters, of Norwich. Besides her husband she is survived by three children, Warren Andrews of Norwich, James Andrews of Plainfield, N. J., and Mrs. Frank R. Ayer, of Preston. Another son, Edward G. Andrews, died nine years ago. She leaves seven grand children and one great-grandchild. There were most beautiful flowers sent by a large number of friends. Relatives and friends were present from Plainfield, N. J., Providence, Norwich, Preston, Hanover, New Haven and Jewett City.

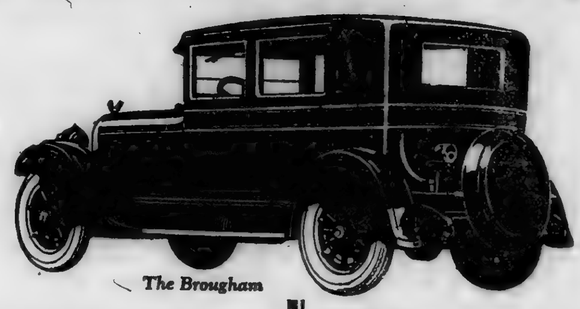
Spring Suspension That Cuts Out Side-Sway



The Brougham

Combine the Chrysler Six new spring suspension with the special six-ply high speed balloon tires, standard on all models, and you have an unequalled degree of comfort in riding. Other features that help set the Chrysler Six apart are the utter lack of a vibration period at any speed, the ability of the motor, although only 3-inch bore by 4¾-inch stroke to deliver 68 horsepower, a speed capacity better than 70 miles an hour, gasoline economy of better than 20 miles to the gallon and an alertness that enables you to shoot from 5 miles an hour to 50 in less than 19 seconds.

All prices f. o. b. Detroit; tax extra.

The Chrysler Six

Pronounced as though spelled, Crif-sler

Results never before known, which you can count on the Chrysler Six delivering, bear upon every phase of performance. None of these surprising accomplishments is more remarkable, or more acceptable, than the elimination of side-sway.

This is due to the adoption of an entirely new practice in spring suspension. In the Chrysler Six the rear springs are mounted at right angles to the axle, close to and parallel to the rear wheels—instead of at an angle to conform to the taper of the frame.

As soon as you can, take a ride in the Chrysler Six. Try it out on a turn and note how securely it takes it, without the slightest suggestion of disagreeable or alarming side-sway. And while you are in the car, try it out also on a cobbled street or rutted road. You'll find you can ride in comfort at 60 miles an hour.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan.

DEFENSE DAY

Health is highly desirable and yet too many fail to appreciate it until they have gone through a spell of sickness. Health is priceless and yet it gets too low a rating by those who know little else and who fail to realize the importance of maintaining it.

In connection with Defense day it is pointed out by Secretary Weeks of the war department that it might also be considered Health test day with excellent results. Defense day is for the purpose of strengthening our insurance against war and it is quite necessary also that we should increase our protection against disease. We abhor both war and disease, and for that reason whatever can be done to prevent both of them operates to our benefit.

Quite the same as war is a menace to peace, disease is a menace to health. It is folly to ignore it. It is time to take such precautions as are called for to obtain both peace and [illegible]

Secretary Weeks points with perfect good reason to the fact that out of [illegible] and three quarters million people whose records were taken there were nearly 47 per cent of them who were physically below normal, and [illegible] are made up [illegible] those who [illegible] physical requirements are [illegible] of it in a large percentage of cases.

Looking to the health before it gets to such a low state that it means sickness is something which is of the utmost importance and yet it is too [illegible] It is highly probable that the suggestion made by Secretary [illegible] in connection with the [illegible] Defense day will not be [illegible] forward to [illegible] confronted [illegible] preparedness of war there isn't [illegible] greater value to a [illegible] individual than good physical [illegible] Prevention of the detrimental and the undesirable is much [illegible] for but good advice [illegible] taken just because it is admitted to be such.

NEEDLESS DESTRUCTION

It is a question whether anyone will ever know just what caused the explosion of the tankwagon containing [illegible] gallons of gasoline discharging at a Pittsburgh garage, which caused the death of nine persons and property damage to the extent of [illegible]

It is assumed that gasoline is highly [illegible] A spark is required to connect the fumes with a bit of [illegible] and there is no stopping it. The havoc is quickly done and the consequences are invariably very serious.

In the Pittsburgh case all of the garage were killed. It is intimated [illegible] one account that the fire might have resulted from the striking of a match to light a cigarette, a cigar or a pipe and that the flame came in contact with the gas or that the ignition came from a firebrand in the hand of or discarded by, a smoker.

In view of the freedom with which smoking is done under such circumstances the wonder is that there are not more such explosions. Frequently is attention attracted by the "No Smoking" signs but those in charge of such places or those on business there have too little regard for them. And it is natural that when the proprietor indicates that the sign means nothing that others are going to disregard it, even as he does.

Lighting a cigarette and throwing it down, without regard for where it lands is a bad habit. The discarded firebrand may be long or short, but it is invariably consumed before the fire goes out. If it falls into anything inflammable there is furnished just the combination to make trouble. It is impossible to regard it otherwise than criminal carelessness. There is no excuse for it, but many good reasons why such a practice should not be tolerated.

Possibly it can be shown that negligence of this character was not the cause of the Pittsburgh fire, but the instances where such great chances are taken are so many that there can be no surprise that it is considered probably. The wonder is that there are not more of the deplorable affairs.

PEACE PLAN FOR EUROPE

Following the prize peace plan in this country, it was considered time to get the countries of Europe to thinking about such a plan for that continent and a prize was offered for the best plan in several of the countries.

The best French plan has been decided, though the name of the writer is for the time being withheld, and it proposes that the countries of Europe be united in a political and economic federation that might be known as the United States of Europe.

The idea is advanced with full regard for the revolutionary character of the suggestion. The writer understands the difficulties that have prevailed in the past, the jealousies, the spirit of conquest and the difficulty of getting cooperation. Knowing Europe as it has been and as it is, there seems to be no likelihood of such a plan being carried to fruition. Of course Russia has had ambitions for a world revolution, but that doesn't lend any particular encouragement to a politically united Europe. At least it is something that cannot be expected to take place in a brief space of time. Europe doesn't depart from the rut so spontaneously. It fully understands the effects of wars but it has come to be so deeply imbedded in the national life that its eradication is going to require a long and persistent struggle. War itself has never been able to effect the reform.

What is necessary however, is to get and keep the thought of the respective countries headed in such a channel. For that purpose the peace plan idea is bound to be of valuable service. Through the persistency of such an undertaking, and the digesting of the many plans which are presented from the respective nations, there may crystalize some plan that will insure peace for Europe. It may be a prize plan or it may be a composite of several peace plans. It matters little what the source is so long as the object is attained and common support can be obtained for it. Peace plans are well calculated to help along such a cause.

SAFEGUARDING THE HELPLESS

In the District of Columbia the fire chief has recommended the abandonment within five years of the frame buildings which house orphans, invalids and others dependent upon charity. That is the outcome of a fire in a wooden structure housing many inmates, where no lives were lost, but where it was disclosed that inadequate fire protection was afforded.

This is a matter which concerns many a community from time to time. Public charges are too often housed in buildings where the protection against fire is poor and where little or no chance is permitted for them to escape should a serious fire take place. Perhaps it does not follow in every case that present buildings should be abandoned as is recommended in the District of Columbia. There may be ways of overcoming the fire hazard so as to give protection without piling up huge costs for new buildings, but there can be little quibbling over the point that when the time comes for new buildings intended for the housing of children, invalids or aged there should be an insistence upon fireproof structures.

Fire protection hasn't always gotten the attention that is being given to it today, but that doesn't mean that delays and oversight concerning such protection should continue to be ignored. Neither should there be awaited a long death list from the burning of such buildings before doing something to prevent such losses. The advice and recommendations which have been given to the District of Columbia are intended to forestall trouble, to save lives and to prevent regrets. Life saving certainly cannot be done under more commendable methods.

PROTECTION FOR SAILORS

How long will it be before all vessels which sail the high seas, including schooner as well as "tramps" are fitted out with wireless?

From such demonstrations as have been given of the effectiveness of the wireless in obtaining help and effecting the rescue of those imperilled, it is clear that there is no danger of too much protection of that character being thrown about those who go down to the sea in ships. Passenger carrying vessels are provided with such equipment, but the freighters, whether propelled by, steam or depending upon wind, are not so fortunate. And yet there is no reason why they should not be subject to call by others in distress or in a position to get quick assistance when needed.

This week there was brought into Hoboken a party of six sailors who had been adrift on the cabin skylight for six days and only by chance and the absence of a storm were they rescued. Most unstable was their raft. Rough seas would have made a wreck of it in jig time, and yet there is no good reason why the plight of these sailors could not have been made known to other vessels or to the mainland before they were obliged to desert their four-master.

Their ship was in distress before they were obliged to leave it. S O S calls would have received attention within a few hours at the most, while it was an entire week before they happened to attract the attention of a passing ship.

What the wireless has done for the steamships, large and small, it can do for the freighters and the windjammers, and human life on the latter should be placed in jeopardy no longer than is required to obtain the installation of wireless equipment.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Getting back to September means getting back to the oyster.

The one great need seems to be for a peace loving population in Herrin, Ill.

Probably the Prince of Wales long since realized the futility of traveling incognito.

The man on the corner says: The big fight from now on will be waged against the freckles.

It does seem as if Mars would have been interested in getting the latest points on mah jong.

One doctor say it isn't as easy to die as it was in 1900. He'll probably admit, though that it costs more.

The storm has raised havoc with the fruit crop and the cider mills have promise of an early season if any.

Of course it will go up in smoke and out on the ash heap, but those who get in their coal supply now will avoid a lot of worry.

It is to be sincerely hoped that Mr. Darrow is never forced to give up his life by two such angelic young men as killed the Franks boy.

Probably it doesn't cheer Candidate Davis to know he is running with a confirmed pacifist. Mrs. Shaver is certainly treating him rough.

A Boston man, being drunk and knowing it parked his car on a side street and slept it off. Not all those seen asleep in cars by the side of the road should be rated in his class, however.

BLUNDER IN FLOORS

"It was just terrible!" related the bride. "You cannot imagine all the excitement that Tom stirred up around that apartment building! It has forty flats in it and I had not expected to know a soul, no matter if we lived there ten years, but I guess we are the most generally known people residing there from now on. Everybody I meet in the halls or at the doors speaks to me now with large and expansive grins and takes such an interest in us.

It was the Sunday after we had moved into our third-floor apartment and we were using the back door, because the front entrance to the building was not yet completely finished. Tom went out to the corner drug store, saying he'd be back in five minutes, but time went on and on and he had not appeared in half an hour. So I began to worry. I glued myself to the front windows and waited. Maybe he had been run over by an automobile. Maybe he didn't love me any more and had eloped with that old girl of his? The telephone wasn't in and I couldn't call up the police station either. I didn't know what to do and was getting frantic.

"As for Tom, he said he came back on time from the drug store, whistled our whistle as he dashed up the back steps and banged on the kitchen door when he found it locked. There was no response. He banged harder and whistled louder. Nothing happened. He had left me not five feet from that door and he said he thought I probably had died, so he tried to open the bathroom window and found it locked. So was the kitchen window. He was positive now that I had passed away and so he rang the bell across the back way and begged the man who appeared to let him try his key. Both of them tried the key and it did not work. By this time several other back doors on that stairway had opened and lots of people brought keys. None of them fitted.

"'Get the janitor!' somebody cried, and a searching party went after him. The janitor of the forty flats was not to be found. All the pretty girls and young married women were endeavoring to soothe Tom. He said one girl kept asking him what I had on, as though she were trying to identify somebody in a crowd. Another woman related how a perfectly beautiful aunt of hers had passed away suddenly just two weeks after her wedding day and how her husband had never got over it, although he married again and was tolerably happy.

"Tom said he'd break in a window, but people restrained him. They said besides bleeding to death he would incur the wrath of the glass setters' union and nobody would have any windows all summer and anyhow when one smashed a window there always were jagged pieces that stuck out every which way and prevented one's climbing through unless one were a burglar. They looked at him expectantly then, but he felt that he was no burglar and could not live up to scheme.

"Two or three people went back into their flats and came out with old keys, rings full of the junk people save from year to year and Tom says the clank of keys around that back door sounded like Verdun.

"The cheerful lady broke in at this point to say that she did hope it wouldn't turn out to be like the case she had read about in another town, where a beautiful young bride had secretly loved another man and at the first opportunity had taken her life.

"At this Tom picked up the nice shiny new garbage can and threw it through the kitchen window and made the kitchen in two jumps. He tore on through, yelling my name—and the front door opened to admit a very indignant couple just home from church, who thought he was an escaped lunatic.

"Yes, it being a basement building, Tom had counted two flights of stairs and thought he was on the third floor when he was really on the second. The whole tenancy escorted him home and crowded in to see how I would receive him. So now we know everybody in the place.

"That is, except the couple on the second floor just below us. You see, when Tom jumped in he jumped into the custard pie they expected to have for dinner and spread most of it down the hall rug!"

"Well, you can't expect to be popular everywhere with every one," said the interested listener. "Ninety-nine per cent is a pretty good average, let me tell you." — Exchange.

Stories That Recall Others

Strange Bedfellows.

The house was filled with company Phil, one of the younger sons of the large family, was sharing his bed with his father because of the crowded conditions. About the middle of the night the father was awakened by Phil, who was looking under the pillow and in the covers. He was almost on the verge of tears.

"What are you looking for, son?" the head of the house demanded.

"I caught a pretty snake down along the brook today and put it under my pillow when I came to bed, but now he's gone," the child sobbed.

Better Than Lawyers.

"Where's your lawyer?" demanded the judge of a colored man who was up before him for trial. When the colored man replied that he did not have a lawyer, the judge assigned him one. The man looked at the judge a minute and leaned over the bar and "whispered" in a voice that could be heard throughout the court room, "Judge, if you would give me a couple of good witnesses, I think they would do me more good than a lawyer."

PRESTON DEMOCRATS HAVE ELECTED THEIR DELEGATES

The Preston democratic caucus was held at the town hall, Long Society, Preston, Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock, with a large attendance, when delegates to the various conventions of the party were chosen. The moderator was Appleton Main and A. B. Burdick, clerk. The men selected by the voters were the following:

State—Allen B. Burdick, Frank A. Krug, William Spicer, Earl Bennett.

Congressional — Appleton Main, Frank Fitch, Berian Burdick, Frank Crary.

Senatorial—Otis A. Browning, Albert Bennett, Sterry Pierce, Lymwood Crary.

Probate—James Henry Fitch, Robert A. Peckham, George A. Pendleton, Henry Betting.

The most conservative city in the world now has its telegraph line and telephone system, Lhassa, capital of Tibet. The extension of the telegraph line from British India, under the direction of English engineers, was very difficult because of the mountainous, sparsely peopled territory, and the fact that most of the material had to be carried on the backs of natives. The line extends for 240 kilometers. The telegraph is for commercial use, the telephone, first placed in the palace of the grand lama, now is in wide use. The Tibetans are a loquacious race and the lines carry a heavy load of neighborhood gossip.

Markham, Station Agent in the Desert

Deming, New Mexico, is in the desert, and Charles H. Markham had to keep the railway station and platform clean, even in the blistering summer months.

Born in insignificant Addison, N. Y., he attended public school and at 14 started west to make his fortune. At Kansas City his funds gave out, and he became a laborer in the packing houses. Shortly afterward he was section hand at Dodge City, Kan., and at 21 was shoveling coal into the locomotive tender at Deming.

Promoted to the position of baggage man and janitor, he swept the platform with such vigor that the chief traveling auditor of the Southern Pacific railroad confidentially reported to headquarters that Markham was worth watching. Soon afterward Markham was made station agent at Lordsburg, N. M., with a salary of $100 a month.

At 29 he was agent at lonely and dusty Benson, Ariz., and in their little home over the waiting room he and his wife dreamed of the time when they could be in a little town where there was grass and they could raise chickens.

Soon afterward he was sent to Reno, Nev., station and then to Fresno, Cal. He learned the problems of the shippers and how to put them before railway officials. Julius Kruttschnitt, then general manager of the Southern Pacific, saw how he conserved space in loading freight cars, got him to solve the problem of loading wheat, save him other tasks, and then had Markham made general freight and passenger agent in Oregon. Next, vice president in charge of lines in Texas, Markham learned railroad management, and made good.

In 1911 the Harriman interests made him president of the Illinois Central railroad. He inherited a condition that brought on one of the most disastrous railroad strikes in history. Then he showed how he could handle a hard situation. In the face of adverse conditions his administration has been a triumphant success.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Seymour Parker Gilbert, Jr., who is mentioned for the post of agent general under the Dawes reparation plan, was formerly Under Secretary of the Treasury at Washington. Though not yet 35 years of age he has achieved an international reputation as a financial expert. It was in 1918 that he first went to Washington for special work in connection with the flotation of the Liberty loans. Previously he had been in the offices of a prominent New York law firm. The unusual ability he displayed as a member of the war loan staff won for him the confidence of his superiors, and his advancement was rapid. In the summer of 1920, at the age of 27, he was advanced to the important post of Assistant of the Treasury. At 28 he was given the newly created position of Under Secretary—one step removed from a Cabinet post, and carrying a salary of $10,000 a year, or twice that he had received as Assistant Secretary.

"Guard the child's teeth"

Those tiny teeth are a priceless gift — guard them well!

WRIGLEY'S is a wonderful help to keep teeth clean and sound, for it clears out the crevices, makes the mouth sweet and removes acid conditions from which most people suffer.

A prominent physician says: "It is surprising how free from decay the teeth can be kept by using gum after each meal."

WRIGLEY'S is good, not only for the teeth, but for the nerves and appetite and digestion, too.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT
By DAVID CORY

The Blue Heron

Cousin Cottontail's neat little bungalow under the Old Brush Heap was a pleasant home. The trailing vines that roofed it over kept off the rain and made everything snug and comfortable. It was only a short distance from the dear Old Bramble Patch, just on the other side of the Bubbling Brook that divided the Sunny Meadow from the Pleasant Pasture. Of late all the little fourfooted folk had renamed that part of Rabbit Land. For years it had been called the "Pleasant Meadow," but so many letters had gone astray, the old maid grasshopper postmistress dropping them in the Sunny Meadow boxes, that they had decided to make the change.

Mrs. Cottontail was hanging clothes.

As Daddy Longlegs crossed the old log bridge, he saw just below, in a curve of the bank, the little Fresh Water Crab.

"Hello!" shouted the long-legged insect, stopping short right on the middle of the old log, "you're the very person I want to see. Who's hunting minnows with a lantern at night?"

"Mr. Blue Heron," answered the little crab, quick as a wink.

"You don't mean it," gasped Daddy Longlegs, carefully balancing himself on the wabbly pushmobile. No easy task on a narrow log bridge, let me tell you, little reader.

"Yes, I certainly do," replied the tiny crab. "I saw him myself only last night."

"Dear, dear, who would have thought it," murmured Daddy Longlegs. "Wonder where he bought the lantern. At the Three-in-One-Cent store?"

"No, indeed," quickly answered the tiny crab. "It's not that kind of a lantern. He doesn't use a store lantern. No, indeedy. It's fastened right on to his breast."

"What!" shouted Daddy Longlegs in amazement.

"The light from a little patch of yellow feathers on his breast is all he needs," explained the tiny crab. "He just stands knee-deep in the water and when a minnow swims by, he picks him up with his long bill. The tiny ray of light from his yellow feathers brightens the dark water."

"Well, well, well," exclaimed the long-legged insect. "I have worried for nothing. I was going to warn Cousin Cottontail to keep her bunny children home tonight. Guess I'll make her a call, just the same. I'll give her the latest news. Did you read last night's Bunnybridge Bugle?"

"To be sure," answered the little Fresh Water Crab. "But I saw nothing startling."

"So long," answered Daddy Longlegs, giving a shove with his handy legs, and away he went across the Pleasant Pasture to the Old Brush Heap. Mrs. Cottontail was hanging out clothes for it was Monday, the day on which all the Rabbit Land ladies do their washing. That is, if Mr. Merry Sun is obliging and smiles down warm and bright from the Big Blue Sky. Yes, right outside in her neat little back yard stood the lady bunny, winning to the line with a clothes-pin a pair of tiny pink pajamas.

And in the next story you shall hear what good news Daddy Long Legs had for Mrs. Cottontail.

POETRY

SEPTEMBER.

Sweet is the voice that calls
From babbling waterfalls
In meadows where the downy seeds are flying;
And the soft breezes blow,
And eddying come and go
In faded gardens where the rose is dying.

Among the stubbled corn
The blithe quail pipes at morn,
The merry partridge drum in hidden places,
And glittering insects gleam
Above the reedy stream,
Where busy spiders spin their slimy laces.

At eve, cool shadows fall
Across the garden wall,
And on the clustered grapes to purple turning;
And pealy vapors lie
Along the eastern sky,
Where the broad harvest-moon is redly burning.

Ah, soon on field and hill
The wind shall whistle chill,
And patriarch swallows call their flocks together,
To fly from frost and snow,
And seek for lands where blow
The fairer blossoms of a balmier weather.

The cricket chirps all day,
"O fairest Summer, stay!"
The squirrel eyes askance the chestnuts browning;
The wild fowl fly afar
Above the foamy bar,
And, hasten southward are the skies are frowning.

Now comes a fragrant breeze
Though the dark cedar trees,
And round about my temples fondly lingers,
In gentle playfulness
Like to the soft caress
Bestowed in happier days by living fingers.

Yet though a sense of grief
Comes with the failing leaf
And memory makes the Summer double pleasant,
In all my Autumn dreams
A future Summer gleams,
Passing the fairest glories of the present!

—George Arnold.

THE GREAT VOICES.

A voice from the sea to the mountains,
From the mountains again to the sea;
A call from the deep to the fountains;
O spirit! be glad and be free!

A cry from the floods to the fountains,
And the torrents repeat the glad song
As they leap from the breast of the mountains;
O spirit! be free and be strong!

The pine forests thrill with emotion
Of praise as the spirit sweeps by;
With a voice like the murmur of ocean
To the soul of the listener they cry.

Oh, sing, human heart, like the fountains,
With joy reverential and free;
Contented and calm as the mountains,
And deep as the woods and the sea.

—Charles Timothy Brooks.

The scheme for the settlement of British emigrants in Canada may assume a new aspect as a result of the presence of J. A. Robb, minister of immigration for Canada, in London. It has been felt hitherto that the movement of population has not been directed upon a sufficiently definite plan. Canada takes the view that the movement of British families to unoccupied lands in Canada is desirable, and more so than the migration of single men.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. A. S. Spalding.

Following an illness of some time, the death of Lillian Maynard, widow of Archibald S. Spalding, occurred Tuesday morning at her home, 326 Main street.

Mrs. Spalding was born in Norwich, the daughter of the late Jedediah and Julia Rockwell Maynard and had always resided here. She is survived by a daughter, Helen M. Spalding, two sons, Carrol M. and Archibald R. Spalding, two sisters, Mrs. George A. Smith, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. Lewis R. Church of Norwich and one brother, William W. Maynard, also of this city.

The news of her death will be received with sorrow by her many friends and those left to mourn the loss of a loved one have their heartfelt sympathy.

Elias E. Watrous

Following an illness of less than one week, the life of Elias E. Watrous, 71, came to a close Monday evening at 7 o'clock at his home in Ledyard.

Mr. Watrous was born in Ledyard, June 3, 1853, the son of Timothy and Abia Chapman Watrous and had followed the occupation of a farmer for many years. He also ran a turning mill on his farm, making wooden handles for all kinds of tools.

He is survived by the following children, Mrs. S. R. Olin of Ledyard, E. A. Watrous of Norwich Town, Mrs. Nathan Crouch of Ledyard, Mrs. Cleveland Ison of Waukesha, Wis., Zephie W. and Nathan L. Watrous of Ledyard, and Miss Evangeline Watrous and Roscoe Watrous who lived at home. His wife, Mary Phillips, died in Ledyard about nine years ago.

Mr. Watrous was a Quaker and a faithful member of that church. He was of a kind and loving disposition, always thoughtful of those more in need than himself and his death came as a shock to the entire community.

WEDDINGS

Dumas—Carson.

At the parsonage of the Greeneville Congregational church, September 1, Felix Joseph Dumas, a petty officer stationed at the Submarine Base, and Stella Lucille Carson of this city, were united in marriage by Rev. Charles H. Ricketts. The groom is a native of Lowell, Mass., and still retains his residence there. The bride is a native of Norwich and has always lived here. The parties were unattended.

Martin—Wilson

Antone Martin, Jr., and Miss Mary Wilson were united in marriage at St. Patrick's church, Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock by Rev. M. H. May, the couple being attended by Miss Mary Martin, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid and Jesse Perry, as best man.

The bride was gowned in robin's egg blue georgette with black panne velvet hat and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The brides's maid wore pink georgette with pearl and crystal trimming and carried American Beauties.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride, 99 Franklin street, relatives and friends attending. The bride received many beautiful and useful gifts of cut glass, silver and linen. The gift of the bride to her maid was a diamond bracelet and the gift of the groom to the bride was a string of pearls. To his best man the groom gave a set of gold cuff links.

Following a honeymoon to be spent in New York and Boston the couple will reside in a newly furnished home on Main street, New London. The bride left Norwich carrying with her the best wishes of her many friends for a happy married life.

Fainted at Work in Mill

Miss Ida Pechie was seriously injured Tuesday morning at her work in the Lawton Mills Corp., at Plainfield. Miss. Pechie, who is employed in the carding department fainted while working. A revolving spindle hit her in the head when she fell on her frames. She was taken to the L. M. C. where she was treated for a very bad bruise on the forehead.

At Liberty Hill Church

After service this (Wednesday) evening at the church the resignation of the pastor of the Liberty Hill Congregational church will be acted upon.

GOOD RACING MAKES ATTRACTION ON SECOND DAY OF COUNTY FAIR

The second day of the 70th annual fair of the New London County Agricultural society at the fairgrounds, East Great Plain, brought out a crowd of 3,500 Tuesday. It was an ideal day, the temperature having dropped considerably from the intense heat of Monday. There was quite a stiff breeze blowing, which made the afternoon much more comfortable as compared with the opening day. Late in the day thunderheads blew in from the west and there were fears at one time that rain would put an end to the racing before the events were completed, but the heavy dark clouds passed off to the north and the only rain was a sprinkle about ten minutes after the final heat had been run. As on Monday, there were three events on the race card—a county race, 2.35 trot or pace for a purse of $800, a 2.24 trot, purse $500, and a special trot or pace, purse $500.

Sally Ann, blk m, owned by F. A. Smith of this city, took first money in the county race, second money going to Peter Agan, 2d, owned by John Lasave, Occum. Little Boy, a local horse, getting third money.

First money in the 2.24 trot went to Lee Allerton, a New Haven horse, Dewaretta Boy winning second money and Judge Leyburn third.

In the special race, Grover E., an Ansonia horse, carried off the race and first money. Second money went to Morvic, owned by A. R. Martin of Willimantic, third going to Famous Nutwood, Fred Burnham, Hebron, owner.

All three races proved extra heat events, the county race going five heats, the special race five heats and the 2.24 trot four heats. At one time during the late afternoon it looked as if two of the races would have to go unfinished until this (Wednesday) morning, but the events were speeded up, little time being lost between the heats, and the final heat was run off at 6.30 o'clock.

In the county race, 2.35 class, purse $200, there were six starters. Peter Agan, 2nd drew the pole and Peter Bates drew second position. All six drivers agreed to waive distance for this race. The first heat was called shortly after 2 o'clock. Little Boy got away to a lead on the first turn with Steel Preferred close behind him. They maintained their positions throughout the remainder of the mile, Little Boy winning the heat, with Steel Preferred coming in second and Peter Agan third. Time of the mile, 2.25 1-4.

The second heat was uneventful, Sally Ann which finished fourth in the previous heat won the heat. Steel Preferred again finishing second. Little Boy, winner of the first finished last. The heat was half second faster than the first heat. Time of the mile 2.24 3-4.

In the third heat the horses were pretty well stretched out along the track with Peter Agan 2nd in the lead and Little Boy second. Peter Agan 2nd got the heat, Little Boy finishing second and Steel Preferred third. Time of the mile 2.26 1-4. Peter Bates and May Direct were ruled out.

There was another change in the positions of the horses in the fourth heat. Sally Ann won the heat, giving her two heats, the second and fourth. Steel Preferred came in second with Peter Agan third. It was an Easy win for Sally Ann. Steel Preferred was ruled out, leaving but three starters for the fifth heat. Time of the mile 2.26 1-4.

There were very few people in the grandstand when the fifth heat was called. The three horses got away the first time down the track with Sally Ann slightly in the lead at the end of the half-mile. He lengthened out his lead in the second half winning the heat and race by a good margin. First money went to Sally Ann, second money to Peter Agan 2d, third money to Little Boy, and fourth money went to Steel Preferred, ruled out in the fourth heat. The summary:

Purse $800, 2.35 trot or pace, county race.

Sally Ann, blk m, by Baron May, F. A. Smith, Norwich (Smith)	4	1	4	1	1
Peter Agan, 2nd, ch g, by Peter Agan, John Lasave, Occum, (Charon)	3	2	1	5	2

Time 2.25 1-4; 2.24 3-4; 2.26 1-4; 2.26 1-4; 2.26 1-4.

The second event was the 2.24 trot for a purse of $500. There were six starters, with Lee Allerton on the pole Peter Daw drawing second position. This race was slow in getting under way as the horses were scored a dozen times and the heat had to be held up a few minutes while Dewaretta stopped to have a shoe fixed. Lee Allerton took the lead right after the word and kept the lead throughout the mile finishing second. Tramp Joe was distanced. Time of the mile 2.22 1-4.

Lee Allerton got away to a slight lead in the second heat and for the first half mile had hard work to keep it as Judge Leyburn was pushing him hard. They passed the wire at the half mile neck and neck. In the last half mile Judge Leyburn dropped back slightly and Lee Allerton got the heat by an easy win. Judge Leyburn finishing the heat second. Dewaretta came in last. Time of the mile 2.21 1-4.

Lee Allerton broke badly just after making the first turn in the third heat and before Driver Cook could get him straightened out the others passed him leaving him in the rear. Dewaretta Boy won the heat, Judge Leyburn finishing second. Peter Daw was ruled out for the next heat. Time of the mile, 2.21 1-4.

The four horses got away the first time down the track with Dewaretta getting a slight lead in the fourth heat but losing the lead by a hair at the end of the half mile. Peter's Lady dropped way back and was distanced. Lee Allerton won the heat, Dewaretta finishing second. Time of the mile 2.22 1-4. First money went to Lee Allerton, second money to Dewaretta and third money to Judge Leyburn. The summary:

Purse $800, 2.24 trot

Lee Allerton, b. h., by Lee Axworthy, F. I. Shores, New Haven, (Cook)	1	1	4	1

Tramp Joe, b. g., J. K. Palmer, Montowese, Co. (Hall)	x

*—Ruled out.
x—Distanced.

Time 2.22 1-4; 2.21 1-4; 2.21 1-4; 2.22 1-4.

There were five starters in the third event, a special trot or pace for a purse of $500. Morvic W. drew the pole, Lillian Russell drawing second place. Morvic W. got a small lead, Red Russell giving him a hard race throughout the greater part of the mile. Morvic W. got the heat, Red Russell finishing second and Grover E. third. Time of the mile 2.19 1-4.

Red Russell pulled away to a lead in the second heat and kept it throughout the mile finishing first time 2.18 1-4. Lillian Russell was distanced Morvic W. winner of the first heat finished third.

The third heat was disastrous for Red Russell the Bridgeport horse which won the previous heat. Red Russell broke badly in the first quarter mile and was distanced. Grover E. won the heat. Famous Nutwood finishing second. This left but three starters for the fourth heat, Grover E., Famous Nutwood and Morvic W. Time for the mile, 2.20 1-4.

Grover E. pulled ahead for the lead in the fourth heat, the other two horses close behind. Grover E. was still leading at the end of the half mile, although his lead was slight. He widened his lead however in the last half mile and finished for an easy first, Famous Nutwood second and Morvic W. third. This left only two horses for the fifth heat, Grover E. and Morvic W. Time of the mile 2.19 flat.

Grover E. got the lead in the fifth heat and kept it throughout the mile. It was the slowest heat of the afternoon, 2.28 1-2. Grover E. got first money, second money going to Morvic W., and third money to Famous Nutwood ruled out in the fourth heat. The summary:

Purse $500. Special trot or race

Grover E., b. g., by Walnut Grove, R. H. Hall, Ansonia (O'Brien)	3	2	1	1	1
Morvic W., by Paral, A. R. Martin, Willimantic, (Martin)	1	3	2	3	2
Famous Nutwood, Fred Burnham, Hebron, (Flood)	4	4	3	2	*

Lillian Russell, M. D. Kabatznick, Cornwall, (Kabatznick)	5	x

*—Ruled out.
x—Distanced.

Time 2.19 1-4; 2.18 1-4; 2.20 1-4; 2.19; 2.28 1-2.

During the latter part of the afternoon Arthur Williams of Lebanon auctioned off a full brother to Little Boy with C. E. McFarlane acting as auctioneer. The horse was knocked down to Louis Strom for $63.

E. B. Grover auctioned off a good looking saddle horse and it went to Michael Carroll whose bid was $25.

It was 6.30 o'clock when the final heat was run off.

Those to whom the balloon ascension was the big attraction of the day had to leave the grounds disappointed as the balloon men found it impossible to get the balloon away owing to the wind. An attempt was made to fill the balloon about 4.45 but the wind was blowing so hard that the men and boys on the ropes couldn't hold the big bag still and it flapped and banged against the poles so hard that the only thing to do was to give up the idea of an ascension. If the balloon men could have got the bag in position over the hot air pit long enough to get the fire in the pit started it probably would have taken fire and burnt up if it had not been ripped to pieces on the supporting poles. The parachute jumper, George Spurr, who made the double drop Monday afternoon, will go up this (Wednesday) afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The style show, arranged by the Porteous and Mitchell Co., with Paul A. Brown in charge, was the first stage event of the afternoon. It was put on at one o'clock many of the season's fashions in the latest Irene Castle Corticelli gowns and coats, just over from Paris, being shown.

Swahn's military band was again on hand and gave their usual excellent concert program during the afternoon and between the race heats. The six free vaudeville events were repeated with Announcer Edward T. Connelly in charge. Robbin, the comedy juggler, the comedy barrel jumpers, the Flying Howards, trapeze artists, the Five Steppers, dainty girl dancers and Wilbur's comedy circus entertained the crowd with their excellent vaudeville bills. Alfreno, the high wire artist, had a hard time of it when he presented his act.

Alfreno, who does his stunt on a tight wire, about 40 feet from the ground, found a young gale blowing when he reached his elevated and perilous position. With nothing but a long pole to balance him and without a safety belt or a net beneath the wire he actually took his life in his hands when he stepped out on the wire in the face of the high wind that was blowing just at that particular time. In spite of the handicap he seemed at home on the wire and went through with his diarobing stunt in the usual manner, and stood on his head on the wire which was almost swaying in the wind. He got a big hand at the conclusion of his act.

FAIR NOTES.

Housewives all were interested in the demonstration of the handsome sewing machine, "The Free," in the exhibit of the Plaut-Cadden company. The Free is run electrically.

In connection with the Oriental objects on view in the exhibit of the Plaut-Cadden company, it became known that Wednesday Vice President Adelard Morin released from the New London customs house a consignment of Oriental goods brought back by Mr. Cadden and Mr. Plaut which has just arrived and is valued at about $8,000.

Although Tuesday was not as big a day as Monday, the midway attractions did a fairly good business Tuesday afternoon.

The poultry department comes in for its share of compliments and favorable comment. This department is larger than ever this year. In fact, it was found necessary to stop booking entries or the department would have been overcrowded.

Many of those who visited the fair remarked on the size and quality of the cattle show, which is larger, by far, than any cattle show in recent years.

Scout Executive F. A. Benton and a detail of Boy Scouts were on hand Monday and Tuesday and rendered valuable aid in various ways to the fair officials.

Officer William Sharvan was on duty Monday and Tuesday, directing traffic at the main gate, and will again be on duty at the gate today (Wednesday).

Frank Galligan is leading Swahn's Military band this year in the absence of the regular leader, John M. Swahn.

When he is not busy announcing race results, vaudeville numbers, etc., the official announcer is kept busy shooing the younger generation off the grandstand roof and down from the lofty telephone poles which Alfreno uses to hold up his tight wire. Danger seems to have an attraction for the rising generation, and the higher up they can get the better they like it.

Dynamite, the bucking mule with Wilbur's circus, had his inning yesterday. He got in a couple of unexpected and well aimed kicks that one of the clowns who appears in the act can without doubt testify were not down on the program.

So eager are some people, grown-ups as well as children, to see the races that they crowd on to the track while the heats are being run. Several of these careless spectators came within an ace of spending the remainder of the week at the hospital. Only unusual care on the part of the drivers prevented an accident in at least two cases.

About the middle of the afternoon Tuesday a strong wind swept over the track, raising a cloud of dust that had the appearance of a sandstorm on the Sahara. The watering cart was hurriedly called out for a heat and did a mile in record time, laying the dust for the remainder of the afternoon.

It is expected that a hundred or so of the patients at the Norwich state hospital will visit the fair this (Wednesday) afternoon, following out an annual custom.

Simon E. Brewster, first vice president of the New London County Agricultural society, is acting head of the society, owing to the recent death of President Elmer R. Pierson.

RUM RUNNER YACHT IS SOLD AT AUCTION

New London, Sept. 2.—The steam yacht Vereign, formerly owned by Gale Borden, head of the Borden Milk company, but more recently an alleged rum runner, was sold at public auction here this afternoon for $900, the purchaser being Attorney George Curtis Morgan, of this city. The yacht is said to have cost Mr. Borden $200,000. The sale was made in accordance with an order issued by Collector of Customs Harvey P. Bissell of Bridgeport.

The Vereign was captured on June 4 with a $100,000 liquor cargo, after the coast guard cutter Seminole had riddled her super-structure and injured three of the crew with the shell fire. She was the largest and most valuable vessel of any kind to be sold here as an alleged rum runner.

Previous to the sale a clash occurred between Attorney Morgan and Mr. Bissell. The attorney, who is representing the men captured on the Vereign, addressing the spectators charged that the capture and sale of the boat was illegal and that he had filed a formal protest with Mr. Bissell against the sale. He said that whoever purchased the boat would be involved in a law suit as he would contest the ownership of the vessel in the courts. Mr. Bissell at one time threatened to call in the police.

Morgan and Louis Lubchansky were the only bidders for the vessel. The bidding started at $500 and rose to $900 when the boat was sold to the attorney.

The Vereign was said to have plied the bootlegging trade for many months. Her original name Little Sovereign was shortened by dropping Little and finally the first two letters of Sovereign were struck out, producing the name she now bears.

Thirteen men comprised the crew of the Vereign. They were arraigned here, including Captain John Wilson, master, and John Stack, super-cargo and alleged managing owner, who was injured during the shell fire. United States Commissioner Earl Mathewson bound Stack and Wilson over to the federal court and held the others as material witnesses.

The Vereign, listed in the marine register as the Sovereign, was built at New York in 1909. She is a 91 gross and 61 net ton vessel, 136 feet long, 13 at the beam with a draught of seven feet.

The motorboat J-1151, seized with a 500-case liquor cargo in Stamford on July 6 and brought here, also was sold today to J. J. Connell, of Newport, R. I., for $1,400.

ROTARY FALL CONCLAVE TO BE BIG EVENT

It is expected that about 600 Rotarians of the 30th district will assemble at the Hotel Griswold at Eastern Point this (Wednesday) noon when the Fall Conclave will be officially opened by District Governor Albert E. Lavery of Bridgeport. The noon luncheon today will be in the nature of an "acquaintance meeting" and will be in charge of the Norwich club.

The conclave will come to a close with the Friday noon luncheon. The general committee, of which Howard W. Selby of Springfield is chairman, has arranged a very attractive programme for the conclave. The morning will be devoted to business and the afternoon will be given over to pleasure for both men and women. The committee has arranged for a delightful programme of golf, tennis, a boat trip through the sound and many other attractions. On Thursday afternoon there will be a ball game between the Norwich and New London clubs.

The New London and Norwich clubs will act as host clubs and the conclave committees of these clubs were busy Tuesday posting the roads leading to the Griswold. Guests began to arrive at the hotel as early as Monday and have been registering greater numbers as the conclave draws near.

Visitors From Bridgeport

Mr. and Mrs. Byron H. Evans of Court Street had as guests over the week end and Labor Day, their son, Major Lafayette E. Evans and wife and their daughters, Miss Lucretia Evans, and Miss Lorena Evans of Bridgeport, who motored to Norwich, Sunday. Major Evans with his family, also his parents and his grand mother, Mrs. Rebecca Moraty of Worcester, Mass., who has been visiting for several months at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, motored to their former home in Thompson, also visited Roseland Park at Woodstock where Byron H. Evans was superintendent for a number of years.

Pays Fine for Law Violation

Harry Kaplan of Clover street, New London, paid a $5 fine in the Norwich police court Tuesday morning for driving to the left of the flashing beacons in Franklin square Monday night.

Constant Beauregard of Taftville was in court on the complaint of Harold Decelles that a machine bearing Beauregard's registration numbers had sideswiped the Decelles machine at a bridge in Taftville and had evaded responsibility. The case was nolled but later in the day Joseph Gladue of Taftville was arrested in connection with the case and it is understood that the police have information that both Beauregard and Gladue were in the car when it struck the Decelles machine.

ENGINE DRIVER BREAKS NEAR THE DRAWBRIDGE

Passengers aboard the 3.16 p. m. train, southbound, on the New Haven road Tuesday were treated to a little excitement when the middle driver on the engine broke, causing the train to come to a standstill just north of Poquetanuck Cove. The outlet pipe of the engine was broken off when struck by some flying object causing steam to shoot out into the air and this for a time caused passengers to believe that the engine was likely to blow-up as the train was enveloped in a cloud of steam.

Among the passengers on the train were Ex-Lieutenant Governor Clifford Wilson of Bridgeport and Attorney Thomas Dorsey of New London who assisted in quieting the 25 or more children aboard the train. The passengers were taken aboard the 3.55 o'clock train out of Norwich and carried to their destinations in time to make the regular connections.

BUELL FAMILY REUNION FOR CALIFORNIA GUESTS

A Buell reunion was held at Roseland Park, Woodstock Monday, Sept. 1, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Buell of Los Angeles, Cal., who are here for a month to be spent visiting friends and relatives. Mr. Buell went west, 23 years ago and this is his first visit east. There were sixty-eight present, coming from East and North Woodstock, Southbridge and Petersham, Mass., Hartford, Plainfield, Pomfret, East Thompson and Eastford, Conn.

WILL BE EMPLOYED AT WILLIMANTIC Y. M. C. A.

Richard Holden of Norwich has been engaged for combination desk secretary and boys' secretary at the Willimantic Y. M. C. A. Mr. Holden is a graduate of Norwich Free Academy. During the summer he had been one of the leaders at Camp Hazen. He is a popular Norwich young man and for several years has been a leader at the Norwich "Y". He started on his new duties Tuesday morning.

FUNERAL

Mrs. Edward Bromley

Funeral services for Isabelle Bromley, widow of Edward Bromley, were held Tuesday morning at 10.30 from St. Andrew's Episcopal church. Rev. L. E. W. Mitchell, rector of the church conducting the service. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends at the services and the floral tributes were most beautiful.

Burial was in the Fishtown cemetery, Mystic, where Rev. Mr. Mitchell conducted the committal service. The bearers were Thomas S. Howard, William McMullen, Kirk Spaulding and Calvin Miner.

Arrangements were by Church & Allen.

Robert Panizzoli.

A simple funeral service was conducted Tuesday afternoon for the seventeen months old son, Robert, of Rev. and Mrs. Valentino Panizzoli, 61 Union street. Rev. David A. Pitt had charge of the service, assisted by the Italian pastor in Bridgeport, a classmate of Mr. Panizzoli's. There were a number of beautiful floral pieces. Church and Allen had charge of the arrangements, interment being in Maplewood cemetery. The deepest sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Panizzoli who came to Norwich only a little over two weeks ago but have already endeared themselves to many.

Suggestion of Rain

A few drops of rain fell at intervals Tuesday night in this city but Norwich did not have the heavy rain that was experienced in towns further north. Autoists who passed through Willimantic during the evening said that there was quite a heavy fall of rain in that city, the heavier portion coming about 6 o'clock, when the sky to the north of this city was extremely black and threatening.

Christian Endeavor Meeting.

The fall meeting of Norwich Christian Endeavor Society, is to be held at the Leffingwell Baptist church, next Saturday afternoon and evening.

TILDEN RETAINS CROWN AS NATIONAL SINGLES CHAMP BY BEATING JOHNSTON

Forest Hills, N. J., Sept. 2.—(By the A. P.) William T. Tilden is still the king of American tennis. The Giant Philadelphian removed any doubts that may have existed on this score when he swept to victory this afternoon over his veteran California rival, William M. Johnston, and won the national singles championship for the fifth successive year.

It took Tilden exactly fifty-eight minutes to batter his gallant, but badly beaten little opponent into submission by scores of 6-1, 8-7, 6-2, and established not only his preeminent position among American racquet stars but recognition also as world's champion, for he emerged triumphant from one of the greatest international fields ever gathered together.

A gallery of 7,000, considerably smaller than yesterday, had come in expectation of a keenly fought battle, with "Little Bill" staging a come-back to give his rival a brilliant tussle. They had anticipated a real struggle between the champion who had been forced to five thrilling sets yesterday by Vincent Richards and the Johnston who had crushed the Australian title-holder, Gerald Patterson, in a sensational exhibition of skill. But instead the onlookers saw Tilden, the champion racquet genius, at its greatest height in one of the most decisive victories of his career.

Except for a spirited rally in the second set which he forced to duece several times and even threatened to capture, Johnston was outstroked, out generaled and outclassed. It was the fifth time Tilden has vanquished Johnston in the six successive years they have met in the national championships, and although he allowed the Californian fewer games last year, the schoolboy's victory today was as convincing as any previous triumph. Each of the encounters between the two "Bills," who will team together to form America's line of defense in the Davis cup challenge round next week, have been in the finals.

When Tilden completed his triumph characteristically in the final game with two smashing placements and a cannonball service, he left the court amid a tremendous ovation, one of the greatest he has ever been accorded.

A half hour later he was again acclaimed as he walked on the courts in Roman clothes to receive the big challenge cup, emblem of his triumph, at the hands of George Wrightman, president of the United States lawn tennis association.

Tilden and Johnston have been finalists seven times each in their brilliant careers, but where "Big Bill" now has been victorious five times, Johnston has tasted defeat in the same ration. Since his second and last triumph in 1919, when he defeated Tilden, the diminutive Californian has made five courageous but futile attempts to come back only to be repelled each time by the Philadelphia Wizard.

In 1920 and 1922 Johnston forced Tilden to five furious sets before yielding to the greater resourcefulness and stamina of his opponent. In 1921 the Californian was put out in the fourth round by Tilden, who, having deposed his greatest rival, went on to win the title easily, defeating Wallace Johnson in the finals. Last season Tilden was victorious in straight sets, but "Little Bill" showed the effects of a strenuous campaign abroad where he won the grass and clay court titles, and was far from his best.

Today Tilden was the master, rising to supreme heights of the type of which only he can exhibit to gain a triumph crowning him beyond the last fingerwave doubt as the world's greatest—one of the most dominating figures any branch of sport has ever known.

When he chose to unleash the full force of his dazzling strokes, Tilden had Johnston helpless. The withering fire that had blasted Patterson off the courts yesterday had no terrors for the champion. He was the forcing, aggressive figure from start to finish, driving "Little Bill" back with a rake like to all corners of the court. They had many brilliant duels at the net and from back court but invariably they ended with a streaking cross court placement or a passing shot down the side lines by the champion. Under this deadly fire, this relentless attack, Johnston wilted. He lost the control of his famous forehandes, driving many of them into the net, and wilted under a pace that he could not match.

Only in the second set did Johnston flash anything like his best. Both encountered a wild spell in this set, service being broken through four successive times before they settled down to a brilliant deuce struggle. Johnston, gaining control for the first time, led in this set at 5-4 and again at 6-5, but he did not have the reserve to break down the champion's defense. Tilden's errors, in fact were the chief items in Johnston's spurt, and when the champion finally pulled himself together, he battered his way through Little Bill's" service in the fifteenth game and bombared his way to victory on his own in the sixteenth.

The story of the other two sets was a story of Tilden's invincibility. The champion had everything—marvelous control, uncanny anticipation, flashing speed and devastating power. Johnston never was able to make headway in the first set and in the final set was quickly put to rout after holding the champion even for the first four games.

At this junction it seemed likely that an approaching storm would break over the stadium and interrupt the match, but Tilden, seemingly desirous of ending the contest before any such interruption occurred, reeled off the last four games with astonishing ease.

Analysis of the match shows conclusively how these booming shots of Tilden's were the decisive factors, for while he committed only ten less errors than Johnston he earned three times as many points, scoring thirty service and placement aces to only ten for the Californian.

YANKS LOSE GROUND AS THEY SPLIT WITH BOSTON

New York, Sept. 2.—The world champion Yankees lost ground in the American League race here today, when they divided a double header with Boston. The Red Sox won the first game 14 to 6 while New York took the second 5 to 2. Earl Combs, who broke his left leg in Cleveland in June, got into the first game as a pinch hitter. Ruth retired on account of a lame left arm in the fifth inning of the second contest.

WHITE SOX HAND TIGERS A DOUBLE SETBACK

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Detroit's championship aspirations were severely jarred by the White Sox today when the locals captured both games of a double-header by scores of 6 to 3 and 8 to 5. Chicago went on a batting rampage and in the second encounter lambasted Dutch Leonard for five hits and five runs forcing his retirement in the second inning. Thurston in defeating the Tigers in the first game registered his 18th victory for the season.

MURPHY HAS GOOD DAY AT HARTFORD TRACK

Hartford, Sept. 2.—Tommy Murphy drove two winners and finished in front in the only heat race in the 2:10 division of the Charter Oak stake in the Grand Circuit races at Charter Oak park this afternoon.

Murphy won the 2:03 trot with Czar Worthy and took the 2:10 pace with Baron Worthy, stepping the first heat in 2:01 3-4 in order to beat Sparkle, owned by James P. Berry, of this city and driven by Bill Crozier.

Owner Candler drove Marion C to a straight heat win in the three year old pace with Bootsie, a stablemate of the winner, second.

In the lone heat in the 2:10 division of the Greater Charter Oak stake, Watts-in-Bond, owned by John A. Pilgard, of this city, and driven by Crozier was beaten in the last step by Murphy's trotters.

Goldstein-Ryan Bout Postponed

New York, Sept. 2.—The 15-round bantamweight title match between Abe Goldstein of New York and Tommy Ryan of McKeesport, Pa., scheduled for tonight at the Queensboro A. C. in Long Island City has been postponed until next Monday night because of rain.

How It's Done In the Majors

By Frank Frisch
Fordham Flash Captain

Ninth inning. Score 5 to 1 in favor of team in the field. Runners on first and second and one out. Batter singles to left field.

Where should the left fielder throw the ball?

When the team in the field has a four run lead, it should play things safe and not make any unnecessary throws. When a batter singles under these conditions, the runner on second will score and the runner on first would naturally try for third. So a good play is for the left fielder to throw the ball to third base to prevent the runner reaching there. This also leads into another possible play of the batter who has singled then attempts to turn first and try for second on a throw to third. This permits either the shortstop or the third baseman getting in the throw in from left field and handling this runner at second.

BROWNS SPLIT A DOUBLE HEADER WITH GIANTS

Boston, Sept. 2.—Boston and New York split in a double header today. Behind Cooney's effective southpaw pitching the Braves won the opener, 7 to 3. Then McQuillan held Boston to five hits in the second and the Giants won, 10 to 2. O'Connell's hitting and catches by Thomas and Frisch featured. The scores:

Arrows vs. Nutmegs

The Arrows will play the Nutmegs Wednesday evening at the Academy Campus. Greene will be on the mound for the Arrows with Burns on the receiving end. Edwards another first class hurler will be held in reserve. Segal will probably twirl for the Nutmegs with Hamil doing the bankstop work. The game will be called at 6.15 D. S. T.

Profs Swamp Bears

Bridgeport, Sept 2.—New Haven defeated Bridgeport 17 to 7, in a weird baseball game here this afternoon. The Profs scored eleven runs in the third inning when 14 men faced Rabbett, a new comer. Martin stole home and Smith featured with five hits.

DEFEAT OF MISS HOLLINS BY MRS. HURD IS SENSATION OF DAY'S PLAY AT NYATHE

Nayette, R. I., Sept. 2.—(By the A. P.)—The defeat of Miss Marion Hollins, New York, metropolitan champion and former national titleholder was the sensation of the first round of match play today in the women's national golf tournament. She lost to Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia another champion, 4 to 3, largely through stymies and poor putting which offset her enormous drives.

Having played excellent golf all season and defeated Miss Edith Cummings of Chicago, the national champion, in a California winter tournament, and having made the excellent score of 80 in the qualifying round, Miss Hollins had been one of the favorites for the title.

Both went to the turn today in 41, equal to the best for nine holes made by any of the 32 players, but Mrs. Hurd was one up as the result of two stymies and the missing of a putt of one yard which prevented Miss Hollins from winning or halving holes. More poor putting by Miss Hollins and excellent approaches by Mrs. Hurd from trouble on the the incoming holes were the main factors in the final score.

Sun and humidity eliminated another excellent player, Mrs. F. C. Letts, Jr., of Chicago, who was forced to default to Mrs. J. Renwick of Mt. Kisco, N. Y. Six up at the ninth hole, Mrs. Letts collapsed and after being given first aid by the other players, was removed to the clubhouse in an automobile. She recovered quickly. Other players marvelled that she had been able to go to the turn in 46, as she was not fit at the first tee. In a few more holes after the turns he would have encountered cooling ocean breezes from Narragansett Bay, which swept over that portion of the course.

Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck, of Philadelphia, former champion, also had a slight illness, but it came after she had defeated Mrs. J. L. Anderson of New York, 2 and 1, and it is not expected to hamper her in future matches.

On the links as well as the courts Miss Mary K. Browne of Santa Monica, Calif., proved that she is a star. The former national tennis champion defeated Mrs. H. Arnold Jackson of Greenwich, Conn., former national gold champion, 6 and 4. Miss Browne only learned golf a few years ago, but experts who watched her today say she is of championship calibre. She is nearly as long as the best from the tee and putts well, but needs experience with brassies and irons, she says. Her medal for nine holes was 41, equal to the best, and it included five successive forces. She was six up at the turn and Mrs. Jackson won only two holes, both after the turn.

Youth was served when the youngest player of the tournament, Miss Virginia Wilson of Chicago and Miss Orcutt of Englewood, N. J., triumphed. Miss Wilson, playing in the national event for the first time, defeated Mrs. J. B. Rose of Pittsburgh, an experienced players, 4 to 3. Miss Wilson's was 41 for nine holes. Miss Orcutt was not so steady, but a mightly drive and a mashie iron put her on the home green with a resultant four and a victory, by two up, over Miss Frances E. Stebbins of Newton, Mass.

Other ranking players, such as the champion Miss Edith Cummings of Chacigo, Miss Glenna Collett of Providence, Miss Louise Fordyce of Youngstown, Miss Myriam Burns of Kansas City, Miss Audrey Faust of St. Louis and Miss Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wis., survived without difficulty.

DAZZY VANCE KNOCKED OUT OF BOX FOR FIRST TIME

Philadelphia, Sept. 2.—For the first time this season Arthur "Dazzy" Vance, Brooklyn's star pitcher, was hammered from the box in the first game of today's double header between the Robins and the Philadelphia seventh-place club.

Vance has been relieved in previous games when he gave way to a pinch-hitter, but in none of the 27 games has he been forced to retire under a fusillade of hits such as greeted him today. It was the first time any club in the league has scored as many as four runs in one inning from his delivery. The highest number of runs scored against him in any one game is five. The score:

LARGE NUMBER OF ENTRIES FOR TRACK MEET TODAY

The largest number of entries, 27, for the Eastern Connecticut track meet to be held in conjunction with the New London County Fair will compete at the Fairground this afternoon. Entries have been coming in up to the last minute, two being received Tuesday evening by P. T. Chase who is conducting the meet. The late entrants are Robert Hoffman and J. B. Burke of the Submarine Base who are both ent

NEW LONDON'S TENTATIVE BUDGET SHOWS INCREASE OF OVER $40,000

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, Sept. 2—At the city council meeting this evening the first steps were taken looking to the narrowing of the sidewalks on Bank street, to widen the roadway, that the congestion of traffic might be eliminated. Councilor Clark brought the matter up and explained that he did so to bring the matter before the council that it might be considered and reported upon at a future time and for the provision of the funds to carry on the work when the city budget is made up. He included Main street in the suggestion, that action may be taken on that street also.

There is a dispute between the city council and the state as to whether the surface excavation on outer Bank street, at the Waterford line, shall go to the contractor or to the city, or whether any portion of the excavation shall go to the contractor. There is a strong opinion that the excavation belongs to the city absolutely and the opinion is entertained that the material is of high value, perhaps $2,000. The state is disposed to claim 50 per cent of it, and the council feels that such claim is without any warrant in justice and right. The matter is held in abeyance and the contract will not be let until the disputed question is settled.

The tentative budget for the coming year, beginning in October was submitted to the council this evening and shows an increase in expenses of more than $44,200. The largest increase is for the schools, fire department and police, for the collection of garbage, public parks and street lighting.

The crew of the tug Underwriter, Captain Philip Hank, New York and 18 men, all who gave their addresses as New York or Brooklyn, were taken from aboard the craft this morning and lodged in cells at the police station until 4 o'clock this afternoon, when they were presented before United States Commissioner Earl Mathewson of Norwich at the customs house. Hank was held in bonds of $5000 and the other members of the crew were held in bonds of $500 each. The bonds for Hank and the crew were furnished by a surety company.

The Underwriter, a craft of 327 tons and with 600 horse power was taken in tow by a harbor tug this noon and towed to the pier at the United States Coast Guard, where she was sealed and placed in charge of a guard awaiting disposition by the federal authorities. The liquor 1000 cases of Scotch and rye and a quantity of alcohol, was loaded upon trucks and conveyed to the customs house where it was placed in the sub-cellar to await an order for its disposition.

Following the release of the crew at 6 o'clock, the entire gang went to the union station and boarded the 7.55 o'clock train for New York.

The New London police tonight are seeking the whereabouts of Margaret Taylor, employed by Mrs. M. J. Cohen, 34 Stuart avenue, Ocean Beach, for Mrs. Cohen alleges that the Taylor girl left her employ this afternoon and in her sudden leave-taking the girl stole $30, two silk dresses and a patent leather suit case. The theft occurred while Mrs. Cohen was in bathing. When she returned Mrs. Cohen discovered the girl missing and then discovered that her money and clothing was gone. The girl's parents reside at Potter Hill, R. I.

The continued case of Robert Smith, New York, a summer resident at the Strand, Pleasure Beach, charged with reckless driving and evasion of responsibility, was again continued in the Waterford town court tonight, continuance until Thursday night being granted by Justice of the Peace Thomas F. Morton.

Smith was operating his machine in Jordan Village a week ago and as the car emerged from an intersecting highway it collided with a machine owned by Ex-Mayor E. Frank Morgan and with Mrs. Morgan as a passenger. The Morgan machine was forced off the highway and against a telephone pole. The car was badly damaged and Mrs. Morgan sustained lacerations and bruises Smith, it is alleged, evaded responsibility, driving away. He was later arrested at his cottage by State Policeman Henry Albright of the Groton barracks.

Following the revealing of the burglary of the Quick Service Electric company, 80 Bank street, Monday, two more breaks in the business section of the city and an attempted break, were discovered this morning. Like the previous breaks in the stores along Bank street, today's discovery indicates the work of boys.

The stores entered were the hardware store of Eaton & Wilson, 208-218 Bank street and the Lyon & Ewald Hardware Store, Cronin Building, State street. The attempted break was at the market of Clark & Smith, 115 Bank street.

Entrance to the Eaton & Wilson store was gained by the crooks finding a rear cellar entrance unfastened. Going to the main floor they stole a quantity of jackknives and flashlights. The store has been entered or received attention in unsuccessful breaks several times lately. Entrance to the Lyon & Ewald store was made possible by the crooks removing a metal shutter from a rear window. Once inside the money drawer was rifled and $24.14 taken as were several cheap watches. This store was also burglarized about a year ago.

Entrance to the Clark and Smith market was probably frustrated by the crooks being scared away, for a read window showed marks of force.

Patients dismissed at Home Memorial hospital Sunday and Monday were Harry Selikovitch, 27 West Colt street; William O'Shea, Willow Point, West Mystic; Miss Marie Rogoff, 117 Bentley avenue, Ocean Beach, and Miss Burridge, Montauk avenue.

The estate of Ralph Wheeler has sold the residence 293 Williams street, occupied for several years by Congressman Richard P. Freeman, to Philip Butleman, 33 Tilley street. Mr. Butleman and family will take possession of the residence Oct. 1.

Mrs. John Coster, New York, spending several weeks at the Ninigret house, Crescent Beach, reported to the state police at Groton yesterday that a diamond ring was stolen from her room a week ago.

Milton M. Baker of Groton, employed as cashier at the National Bank of Commerce, is to conclude his duties with that institution the 15th inst. Mr. Baker's resignation was accepted today at a meeting of the bank directors. Mr. Baker has been connected with the bank in various positions for 29 years and prior to becoming associated with this bank was employed by the New London City National bank. Mr. Baker will shortly become resident representative of a firm in Hartford.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Gertrude Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred F. Hodgdon, 74 Ramsdell street, Groton, to Lewis Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merton Chapman of Starr Hill, Groton.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Sisson have returned, having spent a fortnight with relatives in Elgin, New Brunswick.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Edgerton of Atlantic, Mass., are spending a week with their son, Frederick W. Edgerton, Granite street. Mr. Edgerton, who was formerly employed by the Adams Express company, in New London, is now an accountant in the payroll department of the American Railway Express company at Boston.

Mrs. Thomas McGuire, Wall street, is a patient at Lawrence hospital, having recently undergone an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Hamilton, Orange, N. J., are guests of Mrs. Hamilton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Emmerich.

Joseph G. Harrigan and son Newman of Lincoln avenue have returned from a motor trip to the Berkshires.

The annual graduating exercises of the United States Coast Guard academy were held at Fort Trumbull Monday. Twenty-two cadets received diplomas from Rear Admiral Frederick C. Billard, U. S. C. G., Washington. The cadets are to report immediately to ships being used in the enforcement of the prohibition law.

Mrs. Robert Woodworth of Providence, Mrs. Walter Fannon and infant son, Crystal avenue, Mrs. George Peloquin, Willimantic, William Willett, Westerly, James Wilcox, Waterford, Harry Daghlian, Willetts avenue, Mrs. Arthur Cook, Huntington street, Mrs. Harry Collins and infant son, Eastern avenue, Mrs. Jennie Sykes, Eastern Point, Groton, Ralph Genovisi, Shaw street, Mrs. Angelo Lanphere, Mystic, Mrs. Rose Duhaime, Montville, Miss Marion Corcoran, Crystal avenue, Arthur Boyd, Mystic, Mrs. Hannah Maloney, Summer street, Mrs. Paul Gager and infant daughter, Bayonet street, Mrs. John Tinker and infant daughter, Broad street, Mrs. Henry Sparks, Twelfth street, and Mrs. Stephen Rush and infant daughter, Quaker Hill, patients at Lawrence hospital, were discharged yesterday and today.

Peter Dorsey was fined $10 in the police court today for operating an automobile without a license to do so. Harry Kavalanke was fined a similar amount for a like offense. The latter took a car, owned by his brother, without permission.

Sergt. James D. Gaffney has resumed his duties at the police station after his two weeks' vacation. Patrolman James McKenna has also concluded his fortnight's respite. Traffic Officer Clyde Murphy and Patrolman John Hogan have started on their vacations.

Miss Beth Keeney, assistant city clerk, resumed her duties today, after her vacation of a fortnight.

George Reginald Ashby, 311 Broad street, Norwich, reported to the police last night that while his Dodge sedan was parked on Meridian street earlier in the evening a thief removed a black leather bag containing numerous articles, principally wearing apparel.

The automobile, owned and operated by Thomas Martin and a Connecticut company trolley car were in collision this morning on Main street, corner of Hallam street. The automobile was damaged.

Annie M. Cullen has sold a building lot on Bank street to Anthony and Mary Moriscato.

Mrs. Catherine Hennessey, widow of John Hennessey, died this morning at the residence of her son, Edward J. Hennessey, 10 Franklin street. Mrs. Hennessey had been in ill health a long time and was of advanced years. Mr. Hennessey is a passenger conducter in the employ of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad.

Mrs. Annie G. Rowley, 55, widow of Elnathan Rowley, died last night at her residence in Waterford. Mrs. Rowley had been ill a number of weeks. She is survived by two sons, Newton and Seymour Rowley and a daughter, Mrs. George Green, all of Waterford.

The funeral of Mary P., widow of Eben Clark, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home, 33 Jay St. The services were conducted by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth. The bearers were A. G. Young, Englebert J. Sauter, Alfred Colt and Sidney H. Miner. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

Harriet Tate, widow of Horace Colt, died this forenoon at her home, 30 Broad street. Mrs. Colt had been ill many weeks, having suffered a series of shocks. She is survived by a son, Leonard Colt of Hartford and daughter, Mrs. Charles K. Smith, with whom Mrs. Colt resided.

Norman N. Hicks reported to the police today that Sunday afternoon the automobile he was operating collided with a car owned by Mrs. M. M. Baker and operated by Harold Stevens, at the corner of Broad street and Connecticut avenue. Both cars were damaged.

I. Freed of Bayonet street, was struck and painfully injured this afternoon by an automobile owned and operated by Dr. C. W. Vivian, 205 West Main street, New Britain, the accident happening at the corner of Bank and Pearl streets. The man was taken to a nearby drug store where his injuries, comprising bruises and lacerations were dressed by a physician.

Advance Showing of Irene Castle Corticelli Fashions

For Which We Are Sole Representatives In Norwich and Vicinity

IN PARIS, IRENE CASTLE HERSELF SELECTED THESE STYLES FOR FALL

IRENE CASTLE CORTICELLI FASHIONS
The ANTOINETTE Model

IRENE CASTLE CORTICELLI FASHIONS
The JUDITH Model

Each of the new models reflects the faultless taste and smart correctness of "America's Best Dressed Woman."

It is widely recognized in fashion circles that Irene Castle imparts to each of her selections and creations a charming piquancy and air of exclusiveness that no one else can quite achieve. And because of the variety of models offered in each month's collection the smartly dressed woman is sure to find just the costume she wants.

Realizing the important role the material plays in the effect of a style, Irene Castle always selects Corticelli Silks for the fashioning of her costumes. In Irene Castle-Corticelli Fashions you are sure of getting the same celebrated Corticelli Silks that she herself wears.

The exclusiveness and individuality of these smart costumes will appeal to women of taste. The number of garments of any one model is closely limited so that the purchaser is never subjected to the embarrassment of meeting on the street or in the drawing room some acquaintance clad in a similar costume. This strict policy is made possible by the fact that an entirely new collection of garments is received each month.

This store consequently obtains its volume of sales because of the great variety of models offered, rather than by selling many duplicates of a few models which is the custom with less exclusive creations. It will indeed be a pleasure to arrange a showing of the September models for you at any time. We would suggest that you come in before some of the models in the collection have been reserved.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

STOCK PRICES FLUCTUATED

New York, Sept. 2—Stock prices saw-sawed in today's relatively dull session, closing quotations showing a curious mixture of gains and losses.

Opening prices were strong as result of a fairly large accumulation of buying orders prompted by the progress being made in putting the Dawes plan into effect and increasing indications of a revival in trade. When these orders were executed the market turned dull, inviting a resumption of profit taking and short selling. All offerings were well absorbed and the market stiffened after midday only to run off again at the close.

One of the most interesting features of the session was the advance in the call money rate, which had ruled unchanged at two per cent. where it closed. The increase was generally attributed to the heavy first of the month requirements, the preparations for the government's billion dollar turnover September 15 and the flow of funds to the interior for crop moving purposes. Time money rates also stiffened slightly 60 to 90 day loans on mixed collateral being quoted at 2 3-4 to 3 instead of 2 1-2 to 3 and the four to six months maturities ruling at 3 3-4 to 3 1-2 instead of 3 to 3 1-2. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Most of the standard industrials showed recessions at the close. U. S. Steel common, which had touched 110 1-4, closed at 109 3-8, off 3-8. American Can, broke from 135 1-2 to 132 1-2 and then rallied 2 point, showing a net loss of 1 1-8. Baldwin closed 1 1-4 lower at 123 3-4 after having sold as high as 125 7-8.

A spirited demand for a number of the motors and motor accessories was in evidence just before the close. Nash Motors was run up 4 1-2 points to a new 1924 high at 132 1-2 and Studebaker touched a new top at 39 3-4. Stromberg Carburetor soared four four points to 71. Stewart-Warner Speedometer closed 3 1-4 hizher at 57 1-4 and American Bosch Magneto showed a net gain of 1 1-2 at 29 1-2. Earlier in the day the Maxwell motor issues touched new peak prices but later depleted their gains.

The rails showed more stability than the industrials with Frisco common, Missouri Pacific preferred and Katy common seling at new high prices for the year. Lackawanna crossed 138 and then fell back to 137 3-4, up 2 1-4, while Erie first and second preferred Delaware & Hudson, Louisville & Nashville and Pere Marquette preferred closed a point or more above Saturday's final quotations.

Good buying also was noted during the day in Brooklyn Union Gas, North American, Manhattan guaranteed certificates, Postum Cereal, Fleischmann, Foundation Company and Texas Gulf Sulphur, all of which broke through their previous high levels.

With few exceptions, net losses were held to a point or less, some of the conspicuous heavy spots being General Electric, American Tobacco "B", Colorado Fuel and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe.

Foreign Exchange trading was quiet with most of the European currencies showing only nominal changes. Special activity took place however, in Belgian francs, which were run up about 8 points to around 5.08 cents, and in Argentine Paper Peso which closed 35 cents as against a close of 34 3-8 last week. French francs were quoted at 5.41 1-4 points higher at 5.41 1-2 cents and demand sterling eased about 3-4 of a cent to $4.48 1-8.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 1—Lack of buying power in the late trading today caused a break in wheat values which had previously shown a tendency to rise, and the market closed weak, with all the early advance wiped out. At the finish wheat was 1-4c to 1 1-8c down with September 122 3-4 to 123 and December 127 7-8 to 128; corn was 1-8c higher to 1-2c lower; oats 3-8 to 7-8c off and provisions ranged from 5c decline to 15c advance.

Wheat was moderately active and higher at the start today due largely to firmness in Liverpool cables and generally bullish crop reports from Montana and North Dakota also tended to life values. Failure, however, of the official weather map to show frosts anywhere and an estimate of a heavy increase in the visible supply—one report placing the spring wheat crop at 11,000,000 bushels in excess of the government's August figures—slowed up buying in the late trading and resulted in a reaction. At the finish the market was under hedging pressure and selling became so heavy there was not enough purchasing power developed to absorb the offerings. Harvesting of spring wheat is under way and the movement is showing some increase.

Corn was extremely nervous and prices fluctuated rapidly, averaging higher early on good class of buying induced by private reports suggesting a reduction of about 100,000,000 bushels from the estimate of a month ago, the bulge failed to bring in outside buying and profit taking made a reaction.

Although oats were included to rule firm, the market was nervous and closed easy on private reports which estimated the yield at about 27,900,000 bushels over the figures of a month ago.

Provisions were rather dull and about steady.

CURB MARKET

New York, Sept. 2—Chief speculative interest in today's curb market centered in the securities of the proposed "Nickel Plate" system, which were admitted of trading on a "when issued" basis. The common opened at 74 1-4, eased to 74, advanced to 75 and closed 1-4 of a point below the top. The preferred ranged from 83 to 83 3-4, closing at 83 1-2. The quotations permitted arbitrage transactions between the new stocks on the curb and the stocks of the merging companies on the "big board."

Considerable irregularity developed in the genral list. A nine point jump to 287 in Standard Oil of Ohio featured the petroleum group with most of the active issues showing only fractional changes.

In the industrial and public utility groups, net gains of 2 to 5 1-2 points were recorded by American Power and Light, Ford Motors of Canada, Middle West Utilities, National Tea and Ward Baking "A" stock. Glen Alden Coal advanced more than a point but Lehigh Valley Coal certificates yielded fractionally. Radio shares showed mixed fractional changes.

BOND MARKET

New York, Sept. 2—Bond trading turned dull today after an early upturn had been checked by the psychological effect of a rise in the call money rate to 3 per cent. for the first time in two months.

Announcement that Germany had made the first payment of 20,000,000 marks under the Dawes plan stimulated activity in French, Austrian and other European issues in the early dealings. Government bonds held their gains fairly well, but prices of some of the French Municipal issues later sagged.

Operation of the U. S. government's sinking fund provisions featured trading in Liberty Bonds. Purchasing was begun last week for the first time in the current fiscal year after the treasury had been kept out of the market by prevailing high prices. Bids today, however, were considerably below the market and in some cases offering prices were lowered to meet them.

Prices of domestic corporation issues moved within narrow and irregular limits. Wilson & Co. liens recovered one to more than 3 points coincident with the formation of a protective committee for the seven per cent preferred stockholders. Gains of Chile Copper 6's, Frisco adjustment 6s, Southern Railway 6s and Erie Prior Lien 4s were offset by losses in Missouri Pacific 4s, Southern Pacific 4s, St. Paul Convertible 4 1-2s and Pierce Arrow 8s.

The second annual flower show, which was to have been held at Mystic Community house Thursday and Friday, was postponed until Friday and Saturday of this week.

Miss Clara Frink was a visitor in Norwich Monday.

Monday was a busy day at the railroad station, with a large crowd coming and going throughout the day, most of the expresses running in sections to accommodate the crowds. Traffic over the state highway was very heavy both Sunday and Monday, those who live near by stating that the cars were running all night long Saturday night.

Monday was very hot; in fact, the hottest day of the season, with so much humidity in the air that it seemed absolutely dead. It was a hard day for those who had to travel by train.

NOANK

Misses Florence and Grace Fitzpatrick have left for their duties in New York after spending two weeks at their home on Riverview avenue.

Karl Ebbetts, who has been spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ebbetts, has returned to New York.

The Noank baseball team won from New London Tabs 15 to 5. The game was played Labor day morning before a good sized crowd. The game scheduled for the afternoon was cancelled because the opponent failed to show up, by which many were disappointed.

John Ashby has gone to New York on a business trip.

Mrs. Noyes Hancock and daughter Goldie of Meriden, who spent a few days with the former's sister, Mrs. Susan Morgan, have returned home.

Miss Aldea Desrosier was at her home in Jewett City for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Variens and family motored to Willimantic Labor day.

MANSFIELD CENTER

The 34th annual reunion of the Storrs family was held at the church in this village last Wednesday, nearly 70 people attending, members of the family coming from Hartford, Westport, North Haven, Cheshire, Ansonia, Torrington, Willington, Willimantic, Mansfield, Illinois and other places. The officers elected were. President, Dexter Durand of Cheshire; vice president, Wayne Storrs, secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Abbie Storrs Olds; collector, Willard Stearns. The Ladies' Aid society served an excellent chicken dinner at noon, under the direction of Mrs. W. R. Davoll, Mrs. T. W. H. Jones, Mrs. Anna Clark and Mrs. G. Clausson.

The Ladies' Aid society had an all-day outing Tuesday at The Ledges, on the farm of Walter P. Storrs.

The schools of the town will open today (Wednesday) September 3. At the Center, Mrs. Paul Jansen will teach; Mansfield Hollow, Miss Hattie Johnson, who taught last year at Warrenville; Atwoodville, Mrs. Vera Bennet Steven. Miss Florence White will return to Chestnut Hill and Miss Lillian Miner from the Mansfield City school has been transferred to The Ridges, where she will teach with Miss Ada Littlefield.

Miss Josie Larkham, of Danbury, made a short visit with her niece, Mrs. Ralph Anthony, returning to her home Labor day.

We are going to be good tomorrow and do great things. But let us not forget to be kind today

NORWICH TOWN

Those from Norwich Town who attended camp meeting at Willimantic camp ground during the past two weeks included, from the First Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. and Mrs. James B. Aldrich and sons, Lewis and Mark Aldrich, who spent two weeks there; Frederick H. Bushnell, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Randall, Mrs. Albert G. Miner, LeRoy Miner, Millard Manning, William Moore, Miss Grace Mitchell, Ralph Mitchell, Miss Hazel Cruthers, Miss Gladys Cruthers, Miss Florence M Brown, Andrew Pember, Miss Miriam Griswold, Miss Gertrude Teft, Mrs. Irving Cruthers, Mrs. Richard Carter and children, John and Mildred Carter, Joseph Olsen. Others included Mrs. William H. Whitman, Miss Josephine Rogers, Miss Mabel Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Rudd and daughter, Helen Rudd, Mr. and Mrs. Sweetser and Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

Services were resumed at the First M. E. church Sunday morning, having been discontinued during camp meeting, which involved the two preceding Sundays. At the morning worship the pastor, Rev. James B. Aldrich, preached from Genesis 3: 9, "And the Lord called unto Adam and said unto him, 'Where art thou?'" The sermon topic was based on the last three words. The Young People's Christian Endeavor service in the evening was in charge of the flower committee, with the chairman, Miss Grace Mitchell, and Miss Effie Ladd in charge. The topic was The Importance of Keeping Promises. Josh. 9: 3-21.

At the First Congregational church Sunday morning Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey chose for the scripture lesson the second chapter of John. Miracles was the theme of the sermon. Announcement was made that the Thursday evening midweek prayer service would begin one-half hour earlier, 6.30 (standard time).

Another very inspiring meeting was held on Meeting House Rocks Sunday evening by the Young People's Christian Endeavor society. Miss Marjory Merry was leader. The topic assigned to this meeting was The Importance of Keeping Promises.

Rev. and Mrs. Gurdon F. Bailey and daughters, Miss Marion L. and Louise P. Bailey, of Elm avenue, also their son, Harold Bailey, of Hartford, were included with others from Norwich in attending the 250th anniversary celebration of the First Congregational Road church of Stonington Sunday afternoon.

GALLUP DAHLIAS SHOWN IN THE FAIR DISPLAY

One of the spaces at the fair is filled with a very interesting exhibit of dahlias from the gardens of Mrs. Ralph W. Gallup of Stonington road. Fifteen feet of effectively grouped and massed blossoms are representatives of the two or three hundred plants in the acre garden at the home of Mrs. Gallup, whose exhibit is in white and gold. Notably fine is a decorative basket of "Andula," a yellow seedling grown by Mrs. Gallup, who has become known for the choice seedlings which she raises with such success. Other beautiful and perfect blooms shown include Honeymoon and Flushing Bride. Californian blossoms as well as those of eastern growth feature the attractive display.

GRAND JURY FINDS TRUE BILL FOR FIRST DEGREE MURDER

A true bill for first degree murder was found by the grand jury in the criminal superior court here Tuesday morning against Malcolm Thomas Baker, colored, of Asbury Park, N. J., for the murder of Fred E. Pierce and George F. Wilkinson, Jr., of North Stonington. Trial of the case will probably not be reached until next week, but Baker will be put to plea Thursday.

When the superior court opened the September term Tuesday morning, with Judge Christopher L. Avery presiding, the grand jury was in attendance to take up the Baker case which arose from the murder of the two North Stonington young men on the night of Saturday, May 31, in the Brown livery stables on Coggswell street in Pawcatuck. James T. Duffy, white, and Clarence Sebastian, colored, of Westerly, have also been under arrest and in jail in the case, but they were not presented before the grand jury. Baker has signed a written confession that he was the one who committed the murder.

Judge Avery explained to the jury its duties in considering the evidence that would be presented before it and it was less than 45 minutes later that the grand jury foreman, Edmund W. Perkins, reported that a true bill had been found. A. T. Hale was clerk of the jury which comprised these men besides the two already named: Napoleon B. Lewis, George E. Fellows, Charles D. Noyes, Patrick A. Sheridan, Charles H. Smith, Frank M. Batty, Frederick A. Beckwith, Julius T. Rodgers, James R. Bugbee, George Grigwold, Llewellyn P. Smith, James H. Hyde, Louis Fontaine, George H. Bradford, John N. Lewis and Frank C. Whiting.

Sixteen witnesses were subpoenaed to testify before the grand jury, but all of the witnesses were not called. Those subpoenaed were Dr. William A. Hillard, Dr. Michael H. Scanlon Dr. W. G. Gray, George H. Pitcher, H. H Hever, Mrs. Samuel Allen, Amos S. Burdick, Benjamin L. Peadbody, William H. Casey, Francis J. McMahon, Charles W. Connors, William J. Schowles, William Haefs, Rosario Blanda and Henry W. Sutcliffe.

MANY CASES DISPOSED OF ON SUPERIOR COURT OPENING DAY

With Judge C. L. Avery presiding and Attorney Arthur M. Brown appearing as state attorney for the first time, the September term of the criminal superior court opened at the court house here Tuesday morning and under the driving force of the new state attorney the business of the court proceeded with a celerity that has not been known for years. Over 25 cases were disposed of before court adjourned for the day at about 5.15 o'clock, leaving a comparatively small number of cases on the docket yet to be taken up.

Twelve prisoners were in the steel pen, seven having come from the New London jail and five from the Norwich jail in charge of Sheriff Sidney A. Brown and Deputy Sheriffs Casey, Tubbs, Martin, Reed and Main. Deputy Sheriff George H. Stanton was the court officer.

Public Defender Charles L. Stewart appeared for a number of the accused.

Action was taken in the following cases:

Harold E. Brand, Waterford, seduction, one year in jail, suspended on probation.

John G. Cheneski, Norwich, continued from May term, embezzlement, restitution not made, 90 days in jail, no costs.

Mortimer Conley, Norwich, obtaining money by false pretense, restitution made, 1 year in jail, suspended under probation.

Boleslaw Dwoyakowski, manslaughter in Lisbon, nolled.

Benjamin Bogue, 23, Stonington, burglary of purse, flashlight and $2.05 on May 20 at the home of Miss Lillian Russell, sent to reformatory. Second count nolled.

Alick Chapinski, Montville, assault and violation of liquor law. The first count changed to simple breach of the peace and nolled on payment of $25, the second count nolled.

Frank Utz, Montville, breach of the peace and bribery, the first count nolled on payment of $25 and the second count nolled. State Attorney Brown remarked that these were cases that ought never to have reached the superior court.

Murray Davis, Norwich, issuing check with intent to defraud, restitution made, 6 months in jail, suspended under probation.

Daniel De Long, New London, indecent assault, one year in jail, suspended under probation.

Nostralia Facchini, New London, violation of liquor law, Aug. 18, in transportation, six months in jail.

Daniel Lewen, Groton, violation of liquor law, 1 year in jail, suspended under probaton.

Lawrence McPherson and Thomas Murphy, New London, burglary of two rings and a stick pin from the home of Abraham Katz on July 20; Murphy, who is 21, married, was sent to the state reformatory, but McPherson, who is 20, single, was sentenced to the state reformatory, sentence suspended.

Patrick J. Murphy, New London, violation of liquor law in transportation, fined $750, one year in jail, suspended under probation. Former Lieut. Governor Clifford Wilson of Bridgeport appeared as counsel for Murphy.

David Palitz, New London, violation of liquor law. State Attorney Brown said that the evidence was not sufficient to bring tis case to trial and on his recommendation a nolle was entered upon payment of $50.

The same action for the same reason was taken in the case of Thomas Severino, New London, charged with violation of the liquor law.

Joseph Perry, Waterford, incest, one year in jail, suspended on probation.

Martin Terr, Groton, violation of liquor law, one year in jail, suspended on probation.

John W. Tinker, New London, indecent assault, 6 months in jail, suspended on probation.

Louigi Trementozzi, Norwich, statutory rape, pleaded not guilty and elected for jury trial.

Toni Anthony, 17, Norwich, statutory burglary of 2 boxes of cigars and 2 cans of shrimps, Aug. 23, at the Bishop-Bidwell Co., store on Water St., sentenced to reformatory, suspended for one year on probation.

Nolles were entered in the cases of four men who broke into a gasoline station at the Poquetanuck drawbridge and were subsequently handed over to the naval authorities as they had escaped from the naval prison at Portsmouth. These were Joseph Whitney, alias Herbert White, George M. Maher, alias Laurence Izoleski, James S. McCool, alias John O'Brien, and Frank O'Neill, alias Harold Moran.

In presenting the case of Stephen Stankey, 16, a Preston young man accused of using an automobile without permission of owner and with larceny of two tires, a battery and a pump, State Attorney Brown said he thought Stankey was headed for trouble if he kept on in his career and he thought there ought to be a 30 day jail sentence in the larceny charge. Public defender Stewart spoke for the boy and explained that Stankey had come into possession last fall of an old Cadillac car, which during the winter he had driven to the home of George E. Bates in Preston, where the car froze up and couldn't be moved. Bates told the boy, according to Mr Stewart, that it would be all right to leave the car there and he could have it any time, but when Stankey went after the car in the spring, Bates told the boy he had to "come across" with $50 for storage if he wanted to get the car. Stankey had no money and had to leave the car with Bates who subquently traded it for a Chevrolet roadster. On Aug. 22 the boy went to the Bates place, pushed the Chevrolet out into the highway and drove it a short distance towards Norwich, then leaving it standing in the road after taking two tires, the battery and pump. It was not the act of a thief, Mr. Stewart said, and he asked leniency for the boy. Judge Avery sentenced Stankey to the reformatory, suspending sentence for one year under probation.

An unusual tale was unfolded when the cases of George Talbot, 30, and John T. Pettee, 26, two Boston motor truck drivers, was brought up on the charge of violation of the liquor law in transporting alcohol. Attorney Troland appeared for one man and Attorney Stewart for the other. The men were arrested at the same time in New London, when each was driving a truck carrying about 100 cans of grain alcohol. Each man, it was stated, had answered an advertisement in a New York newspaper and had the proposition made to them by a concern called the New York and Boston Daily Dispatch to put up some money to buy a Garford truck which they would drive between New York and Boston with the freight furnished by the company. Pettee put in $300 and Talbot $1,000 and gave notes for the balance which would be paid in 18 months. The company agreed to pay them $50 a week and to take care of the notes as they came due, and when the payments were completed the trucks would be the property of the drivers. As a matter of fact, the attorneys pointed out, the trucks would be little but junk by the time they were paid for. Talbot and Pettee started their driving and made many trips between Boston and New York by the Waterbury-Hartford-Springfield route, carrying freight for well known wholesale dry goods concerns.

Finally they were directed to go from Boston to Providence to get a load of freight at a designated address, which turned out to be an old abandoned carbarn that had been converted into a warehouse. They arrived in the early evening, left the trucks which were loaded in their absence while they had supper, and then proceeded towards New York, the first time they had ever made the trip by that route. Just outside of Providence three men who looked like bums asked for a ride and as they said they knew the road, Pettee took two on his truck and Talbot took one on his. Somewhere in New London, one of the trucks ran off the road and during the effort to get it back, one of the alcohol containers began to leak, the attention of the police was attracted and all four men were arrested. Pettee and Talbot were unable to secure bail and have been in jail for four months, but the three supposed bums were able to raise about $6,000 bail and secure their liberty. Both the state attorney and the public defender said this was a situation upon which they would like further light, when the men appear in court at this session. Albert Brown and John Lydis were on Pettee's truck and Morris Guderman on Talbot's truck.

State Attorney Brown said he considered the two drivers had been punished enough by the four months they had been in jail since May 22. Public Defender Stewart spoke of their fine records in the U. S. army and Judge Avery sentenced each man to six months in jail, suspended for a year under probation.

William E. Johnson of this city, charged with aggravated assault with a knife upon John Tennant on July 5 at Johnson's home off Baltic street, was given a sentence of six months in jail, suspended under probation for a year.

State Attorney Brown said that Johnson was married and has nine children and that the trouble was through jealousy of Tennant's attentions to Mrs. Johnson. Both men had been drinking a little and Tennant was slashed in the shoulder and forehead. Johnson ought to be taking care of his family, Mr. Brown said, but just at present he is serving a 30 day jail sentence for an attack on Mrs. Johnson.

Public Defender Stewart stated that the circumstances showed extenuating circumstances in Johnson's favor. He had told Tennant to keep away from Mrs. Johnson and the woman to keep away from Tennant. On the day of the trouble, Mrs. Johnson told her husband that she wanted to go down town to buy a wrapper. He gave her $2 and he did not see her again until she came home about 10 o'clock at night with Tennant. Johnson was sharpening a knife at the time. Tennant threw off his coat and challenged Johnson to stick him with the knife, but Johnson made no move. Then Tennant clinched with Johnson, who was physically inferior to Tennant, and Johnson did the cutting as he knew he was no match for the other man. There were many extenuating circumstances, said Mr. Stewart, as the man was attacked at night, in his own yard by a man bigger than he was, and his help now was needed to support the family. The public defender asked for leniency for the accused.

After disposing of the Johnson case, Judge Avery adjourned court until 9 o'clock Thursday morning, and there will be no Wednesday session.

$791,030 IN FIFTEEN HIGHWAY DEPT. CONTRACTS

Fifteen contracts for the construction of approximately twenty-one miles of new hard surfaced roadway and two concrete bridges were awarded August 29, by the state highway department. The cost of the work will aggregate $791,030.05. Work on the improvements is expected to get under way immediately.

Sealed bids for the work were received by the state from seventy-two contractors, the successful company in each case being the low bidder. This is the third large group of contracts awarded by the state this summer.

Following are the successful bidders and the location of the project involved:

Town of Cornwall: Concrete slab with 5 foot sidewalk on the bridge at West Cornwall to John DeMichiel & Bros., Torrington, Conn., $8,840.00.

Town of Colebrook: 5,350 feet of 7 inch native stone macadam on the North Colebrook Road, to Joseph Mascotti, Torrington, Conn., $38,430.00.

Town of Union: 22,000 feet of 7 inch native stone macadam on the Stafford-Union Road, to M. A. Gammino Const. Co., Providence, R. I., $148,300.00.

Town of Ansonia: 3,982 feet of 8 inch reinforced concrete pavement on Maple and Franklin Streets to Leverty & Hurley, Bridgeport, Conn., $35,650.00.

Town of Roxbury: 5,000 feet of 8 inch native stone macadam on the Roxbury Falls Road, to Louis Longhi & Son, Torrington, Conn., $27,400.00.

ROADSTER WENT BACKWARDS OFF ONECO BRIDGE

(Special to The Bulletin)

Oneco, Sept. 2.—A roadster that went out of control about 9 o'clock Tuesday evening rolled backwards down the grade on the state highway at Oneco and dropped off the embankment into the river, carrying with it Clarence Evans, about 19, of Sterling, and Miss Sarah Brown, about 16, of Oneco. The pair were rescued, thoroughly drenched. Evans sustained a broken arm and was given attention by Dr. J. L. Gardner of Central Village and afterwards was sent to the Day Kimball hospital at Putnam. Miss Brown was injured so slightly that she was able to walk to her home.

The accident happened at the bridge where two trucks of the state highway department broke through, late last winter, causing the death of one man.

WHEN YOU WANT to put your business before the public, there is no medium better than through the advertising columns of The Bulletin.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FOSTERS CIVIC INTERESTS

The August membership letters of the Chamber of Commerce touches upon matters of importance to Norwich as follows:

New England Week—The chamber is seeking the cooperation of the local manufacturers and local merchants for the display of locally made products in Norwich during the week of Sept 15th next.

"The factories of New England can supply employment the year round for more than 1,100,000 people. The total value of the finished products of New England exceeded seven thousand million dollars in 1919. New England is famous for the quality and the variety of its manufactures. And yet, New England goods seem to be better known outside of New England than at home."

"New England must determine whether her factories are to prosper, whether her workers are to be kept busy. The prosperity of all New England depends largely on the prosperity of the industries of New England."

One has but to pause and reflect but a short time to learn that New England is meeting stern competition of her manufactures from other sections of the country. Witness the growth of the cotton industry in the south. This growth is not a consequence of the lack of quality of New England made cotton manufactures, but is due to the saving of freight rates: the nearness to the factories of the raw material of cotton and coal. The hours of labor is also a factor.

Likewise the middle west is rapidly becoming the shoe manufacturing center in the country because of the nearness of the hides and saving of freight bills.

Therefore it is only too apparent that New England, noted for its conservatism must awaken to the peril of losing her leading industrial position to other sections of the country.

The time is opportune when we of New England should proclaim to the world that we have the experience, the workers, the water power, and the ability to meet competition from other industrial sections. Above all we should learn the lesson of loyalty to our state, our cities and our business interests. The industrial history of New England is one to be proud of and we New Englanders need to meet the boosting and the building spirit of the south and west.

Texas is raising millions of dollars in an effort to make Texas an industrial state. The west is spending millions of dollars in advertising appeals in the leading papers and magazines of the country. San Francisco, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Seattle, Chicago, Louisville, are some of the cities where very large sums of money are being raised and spent to bring industries and people to their confines.

Norwich should do its share to enliven the spirit of loyalty to New England and particularly to Norwich. We make our living in Norwich—we should cooperate for the betterment and prosperity of our home city.

U Tell Em Club—A novel method in Norwich is to be given a trial tending to give advertising to our community. A series of sales letters containing vital facts and progressive ideas concerning our community will be issued during the year to salesmen from Norwich manufactures and local business men generally. The U tell Em Club letters will be issued on private stationary of local business houses to their customers and salesmen. Already a number of members have been secured and the results should prove beneficial. The local idea is the creation of Mr. O. A. Ryfle, Salesmanager of the H. H. Allyn Corporation. The Lions Club has taken the lead and 500 letters will soon be sent out on their stationary.

Membership Meetings — Arrangements are being made for the regular monthly meetings of the chamber in September. A national speaker is invited to address the members. Consideration is also being given to plans for our annual meeting in October.

These monthly meetings are good for the organization and the individual members. They provide a means for a member to bring before the chamber any topic that may be of interest to him, to the organization, or to the community's welfare. In addition the spirit of fellowship is encouraged, acquaintanceship is established and friendships made.

During the coming indoor season we trust our members will become actively interested in our meetings. Our past experiences in this matter is indeed gratifying. But we cannot stop at our gratifications, we must endeavor to advance. Kindly bear this matter in mind, and give your cooperation to the committee in charge of our meetings.

Soldiers' Memorial—Plans were recently made in the chamber's offices for the dedication of the World war soldiers' memorial on Chelsea Parade. Norwich owes this fitting tribute to the boys in khaki who served the colors during that great crisis. The Memorial has been placed for some time but no dedicatory exercises or celebration was given to it. It is proposed to dedicate the memorial next Armistice day November 11th, and every effort will be made to make the event one to be remembered by our people. Time was when the hearts of our people were rent with sorrow at the departure of our boys. The time has arrived when Norwich should give every honor to the Memorial erected by the citizens in memory of our boys. The chairman of the general committee is President H. M. Lerou and all organizations will be invited to serve on the general committee.

County Fair—It seems fitting and proper that the attention of our members should be drawn to the seventieth county fair held in Norwich. Here is a valuable agency for advertising our community. During the past several years an average attendance of approximately 25,000 people have visited the fair, coming from all parts of Connecticut and Rhode Island.

The New London County fair is among the leaders in the state and like many other local features, its value and importance to Norwich is overlooked by many. The management is keenly alive to the possibilities and the results have always been satisfactory from an entertaining and instructive point of view. Anything that places Norwich before the state in such a favorable light as does this fair deserves commendation and loyal support of our citizens.

Norwich Building and Loan Association—It must be gratifying to those interested in this local association to learn that its assets are now over the $200,000 mark. Practically every dollar is invested in local real estate, enabling families in moderate circumstances to build or buy their homes. When one stops to think that a home owner is a valuable asset to the community, generally interested in his home city, the work of this association can be fully appreciated. In addition the association encourages thrift through systematic savings, and pays a good interest rate on savings. The association is gradually gaining local confidence and support and though it is true that there are larger associations of this kind in communities of our population throughout Connecticut the fact remains that the growth of the local association has been steady and strong. Many requests for loans are before the association at present for building or buying homes. The Norwich Building and Loan Association is doing its full share to make Norwich a prosperous community.

A. F. OF L. CALL FOR CONTRIBUTIONS FOR THE LAFOLLETTE-WHEELER CAMPAIGN IS CREATING DISCORD IN CONN. F. OF L.

Action on Political Dictation by the National Non-Partisan Political Campaign Committee of the A. F. of L. Will Come Before the Convention of the C. F. of L. in Hartford Today—State Federations of Labor, City Central Bodies and Local Unions Are Called Upon to Appoint Committees to Carry on the Work—Finances will be the Chief Topic of Discussion at a Meeting in Washington Today of the Committee, Which Lafollette is Expected to Attend—All Forward Looking Men and Women Are to Be Urged to Contribute Immediately and Generously.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Trade union organizations throughout the country were called upon today by the American Federation of Labor's national non-partisan political campaign committee to do their utmost for the success of the LaFollette-Wheeler ticket.

A "call to action," issued by Samuel Gompers, Frank Morrison, James O'Connell, Thomas A. Rickert, Matthew Woll and Martin F. Ryan, the six members of the committee, appealed for contributions of money and the immediate formation of local campaign organizations.

The American Federation of Labor," said the appeal, "purposes to engage in this campaign with its full resources. Political campaigns cannot be conducted without expenditure of money and effort. For this reason, we call upon trade unions and trade unionists, friends and sympathizers and forward looking men and women generally throughout our republic to contribute immediately and as generously as possible to the work of the committee.

"Our contributions must come from the rank and file. Our battle is the battle of the people and it must be backed by the people. We have neither the desire nor the opportunity to avail ourselves of the large contributions of the vested interests. Opposition to these interests, [illegible] for the freedom of the people, for justice to the people in general."

The appeal called upon state federations of labor, city central bodies and local unions to appoint committees to carry on the work of the campaign. National unions were urged to assign the largest possible number of organizers to work throughout the campaign and to make a special effort to put in the field experienced public speakers.

"The American labor movement," the committee's appeal said, "should and can have at work more effective workers than any other element in this national campaign. It should and can have more public speakers on the platform than any other organized force in the campaign."

Money collected by the federation's campaign committee will be devoted entirely to financing its activities. The LaFollette-Wheeler campaign committee also is soliciting funds from labor organizations, with William H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists, in charge of the work.

Finances will be the chief topic of discussion at a meeting here tomorrow of the committee which is in charge of the independents' campaign. Senator LaFollette is expected to attend the conference.

STORM BREWING IN C. F. OF L. ON LAFOLLETTE ENDORSEMENT

Hartford, Sept. 3.—The clouds of the storm which have been gathering within the Connecticut Federation of Labor the question of voting endorsement to the candidacy of Senator LaFollette nearly broke at this afternoon's session of the annual convention in Eagle's hall when a communication was read from the non-partisan committee of the American Federation of Labor.

The communication, which requested the appointment of committees to further Senator La Follette's candidacy and sought contributions for the campaign fund, was sufficient to open the flood gates of controversy. The supporters and opponents of endorsement, who have been impatient to come to grips over the matter since the convention opened, looked for the first opportunity to settle the issue.

There was a tacit understanding, however that the debate was to await the report of the resolutions committee on the endorsement resolution which had been introduced Tuesday. But as soon as the communication from the American Federation of Labor was read, Alex Dreissens of New Haven moved that the requests contained in the letter be complied with. Several delegates arose at the same time to second Delegate Dreissens' motion.

If the motion had been put to a have meant endorsement of the LaFollette candidacy and action later vote and carried, it would in fact on the formal endorsement resolution would have been rendered unnecessary except as a formality in completing the endorsement.

Action on the motion of Delegate Dreissens was blocked by an amendment offered by James Murray, of of Hartford, that the communication be tabled. Delegate Murray's motion was seconded by William Bacon of Hartford. Mr. Murray claimed that it was unconstitutional for the convention to act on political matters and characterized Senator LaFollette's action in entering the national political field as unsportmanlike. "Every vote you give to him you give to Coolidge," he asserted. "Let the two other candidates fight it out like men.

Peace was restored when President Patrick F. O'Meara, of New haven got Mr. Dreissens and the members of the original motion to withdraw it after explaining that the endorsement resolution would be thoroughly discussed when it was reported by the committee. He pointed out that the discussion was allowed to continue it would consume all afternoon and the discussion on the resolution would only be a repetition.

The resolutions committee met after the session, and it is understood they decided to report the endorsement resolution without recommendations at this afternoon's session. The fight will then go on without let or hindrance. A veteran labor leader attending the convention expressed fear that the controversy may, unless the cooler heads in the convention hall, cause the disruption of the federation.

Karl Lang, of Bridgeport, who introduced the endorsement resolution, predicted in an interview that the resolution will pass by a two-thirds majority. He and other supporters of La Follette have been marshalling votes for the resolution.

President O'Meara was nominated without opposition for his sixth term and will be elected tomorrow afternoon as will the other officers. Ira M. Ornburn, of New Haven, was renominated for secretary-treasurer. It is understood that Mr. Ornburn who has been appointed labor manager for the states of New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts for John W. Davis' campaign will withdraw in favor of John F. Egan of New Haven, which was also nominated for the office.

Reports of delegates of local unions and county labor councils were to the effect that conditions of employments and wages on the whole were good, with a satisfactory winter prospect. Delegates from cigar makers' unions sounded the one daleful note. They described the plight of the cigar makers in the state as unfortunate, one delegate stating that the average weekly wages for the year will be $23 or $24. Prohibition was given as the chief contributing cause of this situation by another delegate.

Frank O'Meara, of the Hartford central labor union, told the convention that before the next convention is held, the Hartford labor temple association will have acquired complete possession of property on Park street for use as the site of a labor temple. About $17,000, he said, had already been paid, leaving several thousand dollars yet to be raised.

Hugh Glover, general organizer of the United Hatters of North America, spoke on the union labor. He told the delegates it was inconsistent for trade unionists to ask employers to take only organized labor and then spend money they earn in union shops on non-union made products.

MILITARY RULE STILL EFFECTIVE IN HERRIN

Herrin, Ills., Sept. 3—(By the A. P.)—Military rule asserted itself here today while the inquest was being held into the deaths of the six men slain in Williamson County's latest clash of citizens against citizens.

It was the irrevocable word of Captain Harold Bigelow, in command of the 18 militiamen who have been kept here to prevent a renewal of civil warfare, that prevented the local Klan from appearing in public in the Klan regalia at the funeral of one of the victims of last Saturday's clash between Klansmen and Sheriff Gilligan and his force; and again it was Captain Bigelow's order that dissuaded the sheriff from coming over from Marion this afternoon to get the automobile he had intended to seize on Saturday when the clash resulted.

When it became known that the Klansmen contemplated appearing in their regalia at the funeral of Charles Willard, Captain Bigelow sent word to the Klan officers that they would not be permitted to appear on thme streets with their regalia, but that they could don them at the grave and remove their Klan garb before leaving the cemetery.

The coroner's inquest adjourned at 3 o'clock this afternoon until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Lawrence Balinski, who last Saturday reported that he was attacked by a group of men just outside of Herrin that afternoon "because I was a witness to the shooting Saturday," told the jury that he didn't know anything about the outbreak.

"I asked John Smith what all the excitement was about," Balinski testified, and said Smith answered him: "'Oh, nothing, just six or seven men were killed.'"

FLOSSIE STEELE SLAIN BY JEALOUS FARMHAND

Geneva, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Flossie Steele, 21, was shot and instantly killed this afternoon by William Taylor, 27, a Dublin farmhand. Taylor then shot himself, inflicting probably fatal wounds. The shooting took place at the Steele home at Waterloo and Canandaigua road, five miles north of here. The couple were alone at the time. Jealousy was said to have been the cause.

Gilpatric Released On Bond of $50,000

Twenty-Six Citizens of Putnam Subscribed Surety to the Amount of More Than $92,000.

(Special to The Bulletin)

Putnam, Sept. 3.—G. Harold Gilpatric, arrested two weeks ago on a charge of embezzling $10,000 from the First National bank of Putnam was released from custody shortly after 6 o'clock tonight after a bond of $50,000 had been furnished by his fellow townsmen. In fact 26 citizens of Putnam subscribed as surety to the amount of $92,000 where only $50,000 was required. It is believed that the plans are to remove Mr. Gilpatric from the Day Kimball hospital, where he has been a patient since he sent a bullet into his head Thursday, August 7th, and this will probably be done sometime today (Thursday.) Mr. Gilpatric will stay at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Gilpatric, Fremont street, under the present plans, until it is time for him to be arraigned in the United States district court, either in Hartford or New Haven.

Shortly before 5 o'clock this evening United States District Attorney George H. Cohen of Hartford, United States Commissioner Earl Mathewson of Norwich, United States Marshall Jacob D. Walter of Cheshire and Gilpatric's counsel, Attorney William A. King, of Willimantic met at the Day Kimball hospital and went to Gilpatric's room where he was formally arraigned before the commissioner in proceedings that took but a few minutes. Gilpatric's counsel waived examination and the commissioner fixed the bond at $50,000. The officers than went to the office of Attorney E. C. Morse, who is counsel for the Gilpatric family, where those who had signed an agreement to go surety on a bond for Gilpatric in amounts of $1,000 or more each had been asked to assemble at 5 o'clock. It took an hour for the preparations of the necessary papers as each bondsman was examined as to the amount of his property and required to make affidavit of his statements, as well as to sign the bond. These papers were prepared by the commissioner. When the work was completed it was found that 26 had signed for a total of $92,000.

The home of Gilpatric's parents is opposite his own former home which is now deserted, as Mrs. Gilpatric and the two boys, George and Richard, have gone to make their home with Mrs. Gilpatric's sister, Mrs. Ellen and Mary Wheelock and brother, Henry Wheelock, Church street. The daughter, Miss Rhoda Gilpatric is away at school. Attorney Walter H. Gilpatric, oldest brother of Cashier Gilpatric, left tonight for his home in New York.

Only residents of Connecticut holding Connecticut real estate were considered as bondsmen. Walter Gilpatric, a brother of the cashier, offered to furnish all of the $50,000 bond, but as his property is located in New York state, he could not be considered. Raymond Gilpatric, another brother, was one of the 26 bondsmen.

IN TWO ACCIDENTS WITH LIQUOR LADEN BEERTH

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Westerly, Sept. 3.—Elmer T. Pierson, 82 Fifth street, Norwich, driving his Oldsmobile touring car, 31-903 Conn., to Pleasant View, accompanied by Vincent Brophy, 88 Central avenue, Norwich, was struck Wednesday night about 8.30 o'clock near the ice plant on the Watch Hill road. The automobile which smashed their left rear hub was a Haynes sedan, 29-435 R. I., operated by Pasquale Salimeno of 87 Pierce street, Westerly, who was returning alone from a trip to Pleasant View. After being struck the Norwich young men started to return to Westerly followed by Salimeno, to arrange a settlement for the damage done. When near the Foster farm a Buick sedan, 58-628 R. I., driven by Andrew Washington of Pierce street, was also struck by the Salimeno car and a forward left wheel broken.

The Salimeno sedan swerved to the left, crossed the road and climbed the stone steps and a four foot embankment at the residence of Edwin B. Kenyon, 87 Beach street, crossed the front lawn and crashed through a side picket fence and came to a stop against a big tree in the next lot. Dr. John Champlin, Jr., was called and attended Salimeno for a sprained left hand and found his back injured. Motorcycle Officer Robert Kessel being called, learned from the doctor that Salimeno's breath had the odor of alcohol and directed that he be taken to the Westerly police station. Examination also showed that Washington was not only driving with a license which had expired but was using Ford plates and he was taken to the police station and locked up.

Dr. M. H. Scanlon was called and with Dr. Champlin announced Salimeno under the influence of liquor. Salimeno said that he had only taken two glasses of wine at 5.30 o'clock. Injuries to his back were attended by Dr. Champlin and after being served with a summons as directed by Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown, who was present at the hearing, to appear in Third District court next Friday Salimeno was sent to his home. The Norwich young men returned home, and the damaged automobiles were brought to Westerly.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF PREMIER MUSSOLINI

London, Sept. 4—A dispatch to the Daily Express from Rome says an attempt was made Sunday night to assassinate Premier Mussolini while he was travelling in an automobile from Acquapendente to Rome. Shots which were fired at the premier, the correspondent declares, missed him, but an automobile which was following was struck by a number of bullets. The authors of the outrage were not captured and their identity is unknown.

Misses Helen and Adele Joslin, local school teachers and daughters of Dr. George H. Joslin, medical examiner here for many years, are expected to arrive in Hamden Saturday from a motor trip across the continent and return, in which they have covered more than 12,000 miles.

World Fliers Have Arrived at Pictou, N. S.

Made 420 Mile Flight From Hawkes Bay, Newfoundland, in 6 Hours and 26 Minutes.

Pictou, N. S., Sept. 3—(By the A. P.)—The two world-encircling American army airmen, Lieutenants Lowell H. Smith and Erik Nelson, with their mechanicians, Lieutenants Leslie T. Arnold and John Harding, Jr., jumped from Hawkes Bay, Newfoundland, to Pictou, Nova Scotia, today.

The flight of 420 miles was made in 6 hours and 26 minutes. The fliers left Hawkes Bay at 10:12 o'clock, eastern standard time, this morning, and came down on the water here at 4:38 o'clock this afternoon. Head winds and rain squalls somewhat delayed the aviators, but otherwise they found flying conditions favorable.

Because of the late arrival here precluded the possibility of refueling, oiling and a general check-over of the planes before the coming of darkness, and owing to a broken spreader bar on Lieutenant Smith's plane, it was decided that the original plan to depart for Boston by way of St. John's N. B., tomorrow, would not be followed, and that the birdmen would not take off for United States territory until Friday morning.

FLEW FROM BOSTON TO NEW YORK IN 58 MINUTES

Boston, Sept. 3—Lieut. R. C. Moffat, U. S. A., today established what is believed to be a new record for flying between here and New York city when he covered the 355 miles to New York and return in 2 hours and 12 minutes.

Lieut. Moffat, who is attached to the air service in the first corps area, made the flight in a Curtiss pursuit plane. His record for the round trip included a seven minute stop at Mitchel Field, Long Island.

Starting from the airport in East Boston, where the American round-the world fliers are scheduled to set foot on American soil for the first time since leaving Alaska, Lieut. Moffat flew directly to New York, covering the distance in 58 minutes.

Against head winds, he made the return trip in 67 minutes, rising to a height of 16,000 feet over New Haven, Conn., in an attempt to gain favoring winds with altitude. The round trip of 366 miles was made in one minute stop. It took General Patrick's squadron 2 hours, 45 minutes to fly one way. At its close the man had streaked through the sky so fast that General Patrick said he could barely be seen, cut curleycues that had veteran airmen agape.

SEAPLANE IN TEST MADE SPEED OF 190 MILES AN HOUR

Philadelphia, Sept. 3—Roaring above the Delaware river in tests preliminary to defending the Schneider cup, international seaplane trophy, a U. S. naval seaplane, piloted by Lieutenant Ralph A. Ofstie, today registered an unofficial speed of 190 miles an hour, ten miles an hour faster than the seaplane record for this country.

The navy carried off the trophy last year at Cowes, England, and will defend it at Baltimore this year.

The mark at which the tests are directed is a reported speed of 220 miles an hour said to have been attained by a British seaplane in preliminaries in England.

Lieutenant Ofstie's planels equipped with a 500 horsepower motor. According to Lieutenant Ward, who heads the defending American team, a change in the pitch of the propeller may increase the speed of the machine.

NEW HAVEN ALDERMEN SUSTAIN MAYOR'S VETO

New Haven, Sept. 3—Mayor Fitzgerald's veto of the proposed municipal golf course project, which has been in the public eye for the past two weeks, was sustained by the board of aldermen tonight by a vote of 24 to 12. The controversy is not ended, however, for Alderman Henry H. Griswold brought in a petition which asks the city to appropriate $32,500, the identical sum asked in the first petition, so that land for a golf course may be obtained by "gift, purchase or condemnation." A map accompanying the petition shows that the same land included in the order vetoed is again to be asked for, with an adjoining plot added. The petition was referred to a committee.

MRS. EDWARD KILBORN OF SHELTON IS MISSING

New Haven, Sept. 3—The New Haven detective bureau was asked tonight to be on the lookout for Mrs Edward Kilborn, 72 of Shelton, Conn., who is missing from her home. Mrs. Kilborn was found in Hamden last night and taken to relatives in this city. After passing the night in New Haven she left this morning, stating that she was on her way to Shelton. At a late hour tonight she had not put in an appearance at her home.

Mrs. Kilborn is described as five feet four inches tall, weighs 130 pounds and has very dark eyes.

NEW HAVEN DEMOCRATS TO INTRODUCE ANTI-KLAN PLANK

Hartford, Sept. 3—The democratic city convention at the Hotel Garde tonight adopted by unanimous vote a resolution presented by former Mayor Richard J. Kinsella instructing Hartford delegates to the state convention to introduce an anti-Ku Klux Klan plank at the state convention. Mr. Kinsella's motion came after a resolution denouncing the klan was tabled at the request of Town Chairman John L. Purcell, who asked that the state convention have the first opportunity to condemn the hooded order.

George R. Curtis, 221 Columbus avenue, New Haven, and Alton Crowther, 140 Henry Street, New Haven, arraigned in the City Court in Bridgeport charged with automobile theft, waived examination and were bound over to the Superior Court in bonds of $4,000 each.

RIVAL CHINESE MILITARY GOVERNORS OPEN WARFARE

Hostilities Are in Progress in the Kwangto-Nansiang District, Less Than Twenty Miles From Shanghai—The First Day's Fighting Was Indecisive, But a Major Battle is Expected Today—French Sailors and British Marines Have Been Landed at Shanghai.

Shanghai, Sept. 3.—(By the A. P.)—The first day's fighting, less than twenty miles from here, in the Kwangtu-Nansiang district, in the warfare between rival Chinese military governors, proved indecisive, advices here tonight indicated.

The Chekiang troops, fighting for General Lu Young-Hsiang, were reported to have retreated to prepared positions near the Shanghai-Nanking railway, 12 miles away. A major engagement is expected there tomorrow.

An eye witness survey behind the Chekiang lines, from Shanghai to Liuho, showed that territory wholly undisturbed, but disclosed that about five thousand troops were taking up a position two miles west of Liuho, apparently in preparation for an attack tomorrow.

Shanghai tonight continued quiet but apprehensive.

Four hundred French sailors came ashore this afternoon to supplement the one volunteer company already on duty in possible emergency defense of the French settlement boundaries.

Several contingents of British marines also were moved from ship to shore, into the international settlement, but it was explained that the transfer was made largely because accommodations aboard the British warcraft were limited.

A fourth Chinese Red Cross unit was in process of organization here, today. The intention is to send it to the battle front tomorrow. Formal protests by commercial organizations against the promotion of hostilities continued to be made.

The principal one was a communication addressed to the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking corporation by the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, protesting against a reported project to lend the Peking government one million pounds sterling. The loan, according to reports, would be secured by German bonds.

The chamber's letter points out that the present conflict between the coast provinces is causing widespread suffering in addition to the purely material losses. It declares that granting of such a loan as suggested would have the effect of prolonging the strife as part of the money, at least, would be devoted to military purposes.

The chamber addressed a second communication to the belligerants and to the Peking government jointly, vigorously urging that a 25 mile strip of land surrounding Shanghai be declared nutral ground. The letter contends that to permit fighting near Shanghai means inevitably a heavy commercial loss, aside from the diplomatic complications that may be involved by the presence in the city of large numbers of foreigners.

Warning is given by the chamber that if its request is disregarded, the belligerents will be required to pay the resulting indemnities.

The war interfered directly with the foreign population today when the Shanghai Golf club, located in the northern suburb of Kiangwan in Chinese territory on the outskirts of the war zone, was ordered closed following encounters between club members and the Chinese soldiery. The club had about 1,500 members.

ANOTHER "GAS" STATION ROBBED IN NEW HAVEN

New Haven, Sept. 3—The lone "gas station bandit" staged his fourth successful hold-up within a month tonight when he secured $60 from the Gulf Refining station at Columbus avenue and South Orange street. The description of the bandit given by the employes of the station tallies with the person who held up three other stations here.

The bandit entered the station by the side door and ordered Joseph Dollenger, of 221 Columbus avenue, the cashier and John Foote of Branford, an employe, to stand against the wall. He then took the $60 from the register, leaving the nickels and pennies and a $5 gold piece in an envelope. After learning that the men did not know the combination of the safe, which was locked the bandit locked the two employes in a small closet and left. The closet held the switches which control all of the electric lights about the station, and the men turned off these lights. Another employe outside, seeing the lights go out, liberated the men. The bandit had made his escape.

GILPATRIC RESIGNS FROM REP. STATE COMMITTEE

Hartford, Sept. 3—Chairman J. Henry Roraback today received former State Treasurer G. Harold Gilpatric's resignation as a member of the republican state central committee from the twenty eighth senatorial district, comprising Putnam, Thompson, Woodstock, Ashford, Eastford and Killingly. The resignation is effective forthwith. Under a new party rule, the vacancy must be filled by the delegates to the spring state convention which elected Gilpatric. A meeting of those delegates will be called by Chairman Roraback as soon as a date is fixed. Miss Katherine Byrne, of Putnam, vice chairman of the state committee, is the woman member of the committee from the twenty eighth district.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS ADOPT ANTI-KLAN PLATFORM

Austin, Texas., Sept. 3—A strong anti-Klan platform including a plank favoring laws which would require the membership of the Ku Klux Klan to be published, was adopted today at the closing session of the democratic state convention. In addition, the convention endorsed and ratified the nomination of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for governor.

MISSING YACHT WAS LOCATED OFF BRIDGEPORT

Stamford, Sept. 3—Captain Stanley Ferris of Edwin Binney's Yacht, about whom grave fears had arisen when he failed to return here yesterday from a fishing trip at Block Island, was found today off Bridgeport chugging homeward in the "Betty June," the 30-foot motor launch of his wealthy Sound Beach employer. On the return trip Captain Ferris was forced to land at Thimble Island because of bad waether.

THIEVES ROBBED POOR BOX IN CATHOLIC CHURCH

Thomaston, Conn., Sept. 3—Thieves broke into St. Thomas Catholic church last night and robbed the poor box. Entrance was gained to the church by jimmying a basement window. Rev. Jerome Cook, acting pastor, stated today that there was only a small sum in the box as he had emptied the contents last Saturday. The thieves forced the lock of the poor box.

CHILD KILLED DURING WINDSTORM IN WASHINGTON

Washington, Sept. 3.—Edna Murphy, 3 years old, was killed and several persons were injured late yesterday in a heavy wind and rainstorm which raged in Washington for about an hour, attended by a marked drop in temperature, after several days of oppressive heat.

It always makes a man feel out of place when he loses his situation.

DARIO RESTA, AUTO SPEED KING, INSTANTLY KILLED

Brooklands, England, Sept. 3 (By A. P.)—The speed king, Dario Resta, hero of countless automobile victories and hairbreadth escapes during twenty years' career as a racer, met a terrible end today on the Brooklands track, which he quite recently had described as "the easiest track in the world to race on."

Resta was driving his 160 horse power Grand Prix Sunbeam with the intention of breaking the 50-kilometre record. The car had made a couple of circuits of the track, when suddenly it skidded for about 100 yards, then turned sideways, climbed over a bank and crashed into a wooden fence, nose-dived into the ground on the far side of the fence, righted itself and burst into flames.

Resta was thrown out with terrific force and his head must have struck either one of the large wooden posts supporting the fence or some part of the car, for he was almost decapitated and had other terrible injuries. He died instantly. His body was picked up a few yards from the car.

William Perkins, Resta's mechanician, was thrown clear of the car and was only slightly injured.

When the accident occurred, it was estimated, the car was going at a speed of 122 miles an hour. No one was able to explain the cause of the accident. The track was clear and the car was seen to turn completely around and then plunge towards the fence.

S. P. GILBERT AGENT GENERAL FOR REPARATIONS PAYMENTS

Paris, Sept. 3.—(By The A. P.)—Execution of the Dawes reparation plan went forward another step today when the reparation commission confirmed the selection of Seymour Parker Gilbert, Jr., of the United States as agent general for reparation payments to succeed Owen D. Young when the former member of the Dawes experts committee must return home to the United States toward the end of this year.

Thus, the commission has committed to an American permanent direction of the most important part of the plan—that of receiving large sums of the allied account and of transferring them outside of Germany as exchange conditions permit. The agent general, as chairman of the transfer committee, will have most to do with these operations.

In addition, the agent general has been referred to as likely to become exchange director of Europe since he is charged also with paying the German producers for coal and other commodities supplied to the allied account. The post is regarded as one with extraordinary responsibilities and the decisions of the agent general are likely to be subject at times to intense discussion in Germany and in the allied nations.

GIRL WAS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT BY HER BROTHER

New Haven, Sept. 3—Mary De Palma, 18, of 165 Wallace street, was shot by her brother, Amedo, 23, early when the latter pointed his gun at her and, thinking that it was unloaded, pulled the trigger. The girl was rushed to Grace hospital where it was found that the bullet had entered the left side of her chest. The wound was not considered serious.

Detective Sergeant John Moore, who made an investigation, found that the shooting was accidental. The young man had been cleaning his rifle and thought that he had removed all of the cartridges. As his sister entered the room he pointed the gun at her and the explosion followed.

FOUR BANDITS GOT BETWEEN $25,000 AND $50,000 FROM BANK

Springfield, Ills., Sept. 3—Four masked bank robbers looted the Jefferson state bank at the edge of Springfield today. They drove all employes into the vault and escaped with an amount estimated at between $25,000 and $50,000. Vice President Warren Lewis was beaten over the head when he offered resistance.

WILLIMANTIC

Willimantic and town of Windham school activities at the ten institutions got into full swing Wednesday. A reduction to only one teacher in the household arts department has been made at Willimantic State Normal school. At the Windham High school here are seven new members of the faculty. They will fill the places vacated in the spring by Janet Crawford, Ethel M. Breure, Antoinette Girard, Mildred Jenks, Nellie K. Milliken, Cecelia Morgin, Lillian E. Sherwood and Vice Principal William O. Brooks. Six new teachers are included in this year's staff at the Windham street school which comes under the supervision. With the transfer of the sixth grade of the Oaks school to the Natchaug grammar schools the teaching staff at the former is reduced by one. Miss Dorothy Hevan having been assigned to teach the first grade of the Natchaug school. The Windham schools retain the same teaching force. The teachers of Windham High, the parochial and public schools in the town total one hundred, with a few special teachers. Seventy-three of this number teach in the public schools and 27 in the parochial.

The list of faculty members follows:

State Normal school—George H. Shafer principal; Frederick W. Staehner, nature and geography; Eliza S. Spencer, librarian and clerk; Miriam S. Skidmore, director of training; Edith Scott Paschall, physical education; Morgan B. St. John, music; Harsler M. Stone, English; Harris D. Gerould, dean; Dorothy Murdock, drawing; Frederick R. Noble, psychology; Lucy Reddish, history and civics; Joseph Wiseltier, superintendent of art education.

Windham Street school—Frederick R. Noble, principal; Mary A. Quinn, VIII.; Mae E. Davison, VII.; Helen M. Reise, VI.; Annie Buchanan, V.; Margaret L. Robshaw, V.; Florence G. Woodward, IV.; Ethel L. Bush, IV.; Ethel B. Lord, II.; Nada Reddish, III.; Ethel F. Lewis, II.; Dorothy Ayres, II.; Annie J. Oates, I.; Hazel Shire, I.; Iva Chapman, kindergarten, supervisor; Dorothy L. Stockstaders kindergarten critic; Margaret B. Hasler, special class. Oaks school, Gladys Orcutt, Grades IV.; Eleanor Tideman, grades II-III.; Madeline W. Holmes, grade I.; Dorothy M. Norton, kindergarten. South Windham grammar school, Magdalene R. Moriarty, grades V, VI, VII., and VIII.; Alice Gadbois, grades I., II., III., and IV.

Windham High school—Egbert A. Case, principal; Helen A. Barker, Annie W. Bonney, Thomas A. Callaghan, Muriel Gelinas, Ray L. Hahn, Rodney Hebert, J. Zalmon S. Hunt, Muriel Kennedy, Laurence A. King, Josephine Lennox, Veronica McQuillan, H. Chester Nelson, Thusa G. Palmer; (new teachers); Claire Callen, Adeline Cox, Raymond Ebner, Gertrude Giorouard, Frances S. Hyde, Belle E. Kelley and Catherine E. Wheeler; Florence Howie, secretary, Charles H. Caswell, teacher of music, Margaret B. Harvey, physical education.

Natchaug Grammar school—James [illegible] principal; Hattie A. Jacobs, assistant principal and grade [illegible]; Allen, VIII.; Eleanor [illegible], Mary L. Gibson, VI.; Marion [illegible], V.; [illegible], IV.; [illegible], III.; Edith E. Coit, II.; Dorothy Moriarty, II.; Gertrude [illegible], II.; Dorothy Heyward, I.; Jean McFarland, I. Jean [illegible], Clara P. Gotch, assistant; Mabel [illegible].

Windham Center Grammar school—[illegible] L. Moggy, principal and [illegible] VII. and VIII.; Elsie M. [illegible], Grades V and VI.; Helen [illegible] Grades III. and IV.; Marion [illegible] Grades I and II.; North Windham Grammar school, Clara A. [illegible] and Bernice T. Schell. Arthur R. Sharpe is teacher of manual training and Miss Dorothy Murdock teacher of drawing in the public schools.

The staff of sixteen at St. Mary's parochial school and the eleven at St. Joseph's school remain practically the same.

Thirty-two hundred pupils were registered in the schools of the town Tuesday morning; 57% of the number are at the Windham High and one half of these pupils come from outlying towns. Public grammar school lists showed a total registration of 1,434 at the two parochial schools there was a total of 1,200 pupils. It is generally believed that the registrations at the schools will be increased ten per cent. by the close of the week, making a grand total of approximately 3,000 pupils in the grammar schools of the town.

The heads of Windham High school are looking forward to a registration of over 600 by the end of the week. Principal Egbert A. Case has a total of 525 applications from pupils who desire to enter this year. The entering class is the largest in the history of the institution.

The Natchaug Grammar school addition was opened Wednesday. Two rooms on the first floor are taken by grades one and two and grade three takes up the two rooms on the second floor. Also located on the second floor in an assembly hall and the principal's office. The addition houses the overflow prevalent last year, when the lower grades had to be divided up into afternoon and morning session. According to Principal Harroun the registration Wednesday afternoon was 632 including some 36 pupils from the Oaks school which make up the sixth grade of that school now removed to the Natchaug. This change has caused a decrease in the registration at the Oaks school which Wednesday was 109. Normal registration figures were given out from The Windhams, the Windham Center school reporting 112, South Windham 50, and North Windham 46. With an expected increase to 700 the attendance at St. Mary's parochial school was 653 Wednesday. It was announced that the kindergarten department at St. Joseph's school would not open until September 8.

As a Rule She Is.

After making a strenuous effort to marry the man of her choice a woman is apt to be badly disappointed if she succeeds.

May Wed English Prince

Lady Margaret Scott, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch, Prince Henry, third son of the British King and Queen, is now visiting the Lady Margaret's parents in Scotland and the visit is believed to presage the announcement of the betrothal of the Prince and the Lady. Like the other Scottish lass, who married the Duke of York, Lady Margaret was first mentioned as a probable bride of the Prince of Wales, two years ago.

CHAPLIN

The Congregational and North Windham Sunday schools and many friends united in a picnic Thursday of last week on the grounds by the lakeside owned by E. L. Mansure. The weather was ideal and a large number attended who brought with them an ample supply of refreshments. Mr. Mansure was present and provided a generous supply of ice cream for all, also furnished a four-piece orchestra led by A. E. Lyman of Columbia, which played popular selections during the day. Mr. Mansure was given a unanimous vote of thanks for his hospitality and entertainment. Mr. Mansure responded in a happy way, saying he was glad to have the people there, and enjoyed the picnic with them.

The community was made sad to learn of the death of Floyd Russ, 27, who died Sunday after a painful illness of only a few days with infantile paralysis. Owing to the nature of the disease, there was no public funeral, but a brief service was held at the grave at the Russ cemetery on Tower Hill Monday afternoon. Rev. John H. Knott conducted the committal service, attended by about forty relatives and friends. Mr. Russ leaves his mother, Mrs. Ellen Russ, his wife and a brother, Adelbert Russ, of Willimantic.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theater

Another perfect vaudeville and picture show is scheduled for the Broadway theatre the last half of this week starting today.

The order of appearance of the acts are as follows:

Dave and Tressie appear in a comedy singing and dancing act entitled I Thank You Very Much.

Marge Carson in A Variety of Songs, offers humorous, descriptive character and sentimental songs.

One of the outstanding hits in vaudeville is presented by Annie Kent and Minnie Allen in Why Cry.

A Flirtation comedy novelty from a somewhat different angle than usual entitled You Pick 'Em, is offered by Ray W. Snow and Norine.

America's foremost equilibrists, The Three Ambler Bros., present an act sensational.

After all, there are as many laughs in the sub-titles of a motion picture as in the picture itself.

Aware of this, Paramount engaged H. M. Walker, one of the best known comedy title writers in the motion picture industry, to prepare the titles for Changing Husbands, featuring Leatrice Joy. Walker is the head title writer for the clever titling of the Harold Lloyd comedies while that funmaker was under contract with Roach.

Changing Husbands was adapted to the screen from Elizabeth Alexander's Saturday Evening Post serial. Roles. The picture with Raymond Griffith, Victor Varconi, ZaSu Pitts Julia Faye and others playing in support, opens a three days' run at the Broadway theater today.

Strand Theater

The course of true love ran any thing but smoothly in the old pioneer days, judging from The Covered Wagon, a James Cruze production for Paramount which is at the Strand theater all this week.

Will Banion, hero of the story, is under a cloud because Sam Woodhull, who was with him in the Army during the war with Mexico, accuses him to the wagon train people of theft.

The great wagon train of 1848 sets out for Oregon. Molly Wingate, the heroine, is loved by both Woodhull and Banion. She favors Banion but will not wed a man under a cloud. But during the journey, Banion saves her life several times and finally is enabled to prove his innocence.

Lois Wilson, J. Warren Kerrigan Alan Hale, Ernest Torrence, Tully Marshall, Charles Ogle, etc., are in the cast.

An augumented orchestra furnishes some excellent music with the original music score.

Short subjects include a comedy and news.

Palace Theater

Newspaper criticisms which have come to hand of Douglas Fairbanks glorious fantasy of the Arabian Nights The Thief of Bagdad, which will begin its engagement in this city at the Palace theatre, Sept 4, 5, 6, indicates beyond question that this is the most extraordinary moving picture that has yet been made. Every critic of New York, Philadelphia, and Boston proclaimed it as being an unparalled photo-play. The critic of the "New York Times" said, "It is a feat of motion picture art which has never been equalled." So also the "Herald-Tribune" which said: "It is the greatest film ever made." The critic of the Boston Post said: "It is foolish to compare this marvelous fantasy with any other photo-play production." The Boston Traveler said: "It is so far ahead of all others that there is no comparison to be thought of." The Philadelphia North American said: "You have to see it to believe it. Not merely ahead of its field it creates a field of its own." "The Thief of Bagdad will be presented in this city exactly as at the Liberty theater, New York.

Bread Theater

By his performance in Second Youth the Distinctive Pictures Corporation's version of Allan Updegraffe humorous novel, Alfred Lunt takes his place among the leading comedians of the screen, as well as the stage. A more amusing characterization than Lunt's portrayal of the supersnv silk salesman could hardly be imagined. Last night's audience at the Breed theater was moved to a degree of laughter bordering on hysteria. In his funmaking Mr. Lunt has an excellent foil in the beautiful Mimi Palmeri who contributes the best performance of her career. She is particularly imposing when called upon to act the role of a siren.

Second Youth will be shown ass'n today and other pictures on the bill include the Fox news and a Sunshine comedy.

An old bachelor says that the greatest improvements of the age are those which hide the ravages of time and keep women looking young.

SKIN TROUBLE

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

A clipping from a New Orleans paper shows that much was made of the fact that the Janelew, a giant steamship commanded by Capt. William H. Stone, formerly of Danielson, recently came into port to have some urgent repairs made to its refrigerating machinery.

The paper describes the Janelew as the largest vessel ever to dock at New Orleans. She is of 27 foot draft, is 402 feet in length and of 9400 deadweight tons. She was built in a Pennsylvania yard in 1920 and is now sailing out of a southern port in overseas trade. She was en route to London when the accident to her refrigerating machinery obliged her putting into New Orleans. Her draft was so great that soundings were taken all the way along her route to her dock—the municipal dock, the only one in the port of sufficient size to dock her at.

Captain Stone will be remembered here as a former resident of Academy street. He has been at sea now for many years, first taking up the life in Providence as a member of a tugboat crew and gradually working his way to his present responsible position through hard work, careful study of navigation and all the other essentials to becoming the commander of a great vessel such as the one of which he is now in charge.

During the war, Captain Stone was engaged for a time in the perilous work of guiding ammunition ships across the ocean in the interest of the United States government, taking 5000 tons of T. N. T. per on one voyage—at a time when the ocean was infested with enemy submarines.

Collections turned in by Tax Collector James R. Walsh at the first of the month bring his collections for the period since he took office, yet well under a year to approximately $131,000, the largest amount ever collected in a similar period in the history of Killingly. Collector Walsh has been a consistent and well informed collector, so far as one is able to judge, for the year. Of the amount mentioned above, $1900 was interest on overdue taxes. Mr. Walsh has here taxes to collect—a matter of several thousand dollars—and hopes to have this money on hand, or a good part of it, within a short time.

There is a sporting chance that the people of Danielson and surrounding communities will see the United States army aviators next Sunday afternoon, if the flight from Boston, announced to the press of Wednesday, has held good. If no changes are made and the flight starts out of Boston on Sunday as planned the planes should be over Danielson some time between 10:30 and noon. It has been stated that the army fliers will follow the line between New York and Boston. This route would take them over Danielson. [illegible] over the [illegible]

PUTNAM

It is learned in Putnam with a great deal of gratification that the Beachmont Worsted Company, Mechanicsville, is starting up and the prospects are that within a week all of the 350 looms in the large plant will be in operation. There is even a rumor that it may be necessary to run the plant nights, if the necessary help can be secured. It is said that nearly 200 of the 350 looms are now in operation and others will be started just as fast as weavers can be secured. Mechanicsville's shopping center is Putnam and Putnam benefits by the resumption of business at this mill.

There are already about 400 employed, which means a payroll of between ten and fifteen thousand dollars a week.

Mayor Chapdelaine does not look with favor on apparatus of the Putnam fire department leaving the city to answer calls in adjoining towns. This was evidenced when the matter of making a contract with John P. Grosvenor of Pomfret to have the fire department of Putnam respond in case of a call from the Ben Grosvenor Inn, Pomfret, was discussed.

"I do not favor having the trucks leave the city," said the mayor, "especially out into the country where the roads are rough and I am opposed to leaving this city unguarded by the absence of the truck and firemen."

Fire Chief Ralph E. Thurston stated to the mayor and members of the common council that Mr. Grosvenor had approached him relative to making a contract with the city of Putnam to answer his call, in case of fire in his hotel. Mr. Grosvenor was willing to pay from $50 to $100 to the city, if such a call was answered.

Alderman Rogers, who is proprietor of the Putnam Inn, said he was not favorable to having the truck leave the city, but he thought that in this instance the situation was a little different. The Ben Grosvenor Inn is a large wooden hotel and if there was a fire there the department might be the means of saving lives as well as property.

Chief Thurston stated that the hotel had two large water tanks and was surrounded by hydrants of standard thread, so that in the event that the Putnam department answered a call they would have water and hydrants. In many instances, Chief Thurston stated, the department could be of no assistance out in the country, on account of lack of water. He also said that often the response of the department to out of town calls was not appreciated. He told of one or two instances where telephone calls had come in from outside and that response to the request for assistance was made. "When we got there," the chief said, "we found a chimney fire and that it had been put out. The only thanks we got for our effort was to hear someone say: 'We put the fire out ourselves, what made you hurry?'" He also stated that the last fire answered outside the city was in Pomfret and a man who lost property had stated that the department did no good. This thankless attitude when the department had done its best, arriving when the building was a mass of flame, was provoking.

The run to the Ben Grosvenor Inn is over good state road and it was thought that the city might accept Mr. Grosvenor's offer in view of all of the circumstances but not to in any way bind the city to have to go outside the city to answer a call. The fire chief has been directed to draw up an agreement with Mr. Grosvenor whereby the city will send apparatus to his hotel in response to a call, if, in the opinion of the chief, it is wise to do so, the charge to be paid the city for answering any such call to be $100.

Forty sunburned, healthy children, with bright eyes, a glow in their well rounded cheeks, left Putnam railroad station for their homes in the east side tenement districts in New York. They came from there two weeks ago wan, and pale and with eyes that expressed lassitude. They were the Fresh Airs of the New York Tribune's fresh air fund and they had enjoyed two whole weeks in the country. Through a misunderstanding two children were not brought to the station. They will return home Friday thereby having two extra day's vacation.

Their visit to the northeast corner of Windham county was made possible by the generosity of its people. Homes were thrown open to receive the youngsters and while they were a care, their delight at everything they saw and the quick response of their frail little bodies to nature's remedy, plenty of exercise in the open wholesome food with plenty of fresh milk, was a sufficient recompense for any extra work and worry they have caused.

Every year friendships thus formed are kept up. Children who came here seven or eight years ago write regularly to those in whose homes they spent the never-to-be-forgotten two weeks. From their homes in the tenement districts come their little letters asking all about the farm they visited, not forgetting the pets they adopted among the calves, the pigs and other animals.

Fortunately the thermometer had dropped nearly 20 degrees overnight and the children did not have to return to the city in the torrid heat of the past few days.

City Engineer George W. Perry is preparing surveys of a number of streets in the city. These streets will be taken over by the city as city streets, if the council deems it advisable after receiving the engineer's report at the next common council meeting. One of the streets is Mill street, where the property owners have been petitioning the council for electric lights, as well as to accept the street. Difficulties on this street have been overcome and it will be reported on with the other streets by the engineer at the council meeting next month. The houses on the street were formerly a part of the Nightingale-Morse mill village, but since the company sold its property the houses have come into the hands of individual owners who wish improvements.

The Rotary Club held its weekly luncheon Wednesday, but Charles H. Coffin, receiver for the First National bank, was not present. Mr. Coffin had accepted an invitation to address the Rotarians on banking but Tuesday he thought he was to be called out of town therefore cancelled his engagement.

All the schools in Putnam began the new school year Wednesday with a large enrollment. Due to the confusion in getting adjusted and settled the exact figures as to numbers of pupils was not compiled. The Putnam State Trade school shared in the large enrollment for the year. The rural schools in Woodstock, Pomfret and Eastford will not open until next Monday.

The Citizens' committee appointed to proceed along lines with an ultimate purpose of forming a national bank to be known as the Citizens' National Bank of Putnam held a conference with Chief Bank Examiner, N. S. Bean of the New England district, at the First National Bank, on Tuesday evening. Following the meeting the members of the committee stated that it had been deemed advisable to say nothing as to what transpired at the meeting, except that the plans to organize a new bank were going forward. However, it was noticed that the depressed expression among committee members had somewhat disappeared Wednesday and it is taken from that that there is a more hopeful attitude that the new bank may become a reality than has manifest since the despatch from Washington gave the impression that a charter might be refused.

The city has had one check protested on account of the closing of the First National Bank and it will be made good. The amount was $37.50 and was given in payment for paint used by the police department in painting white lines to guide triffic on Main street. In addition to the face value of the check the city will have to pay $2.25 in protest fees.

The N. Y., N. H., & H. Railroad company has sent a communication to the city asking that if any applications for bus lines paralleling the railroad are received by the city, that the railroad company be notified and given a chance to be heard.

PLAINFIELD

At a smoker held in the Veterans of Foreign War rooms Friday evening an Army and Navy club was formed of the retiring members of the previous association of the Veterans of Foreign War, Joseph Vanasse Post, 308.

During the evening ice cream, cake and punch were served.

At the election of officers the following were chosen: Commander, James Muldoon; senior vice commander, Edgar Smith; adjutant, Richard Hetherston; quartermaster, Jessega Alexander; presiding officer, Nelson Greenwood; committee on rules and by-laws, Henry Delaney, Theodore Marriotti and Elizor Courtenoir; sport committee, Leo Vincent, chairman; Jesse Alexander, Edgar Smith.

At the meeting thirty-five members were enrolled. A drive will be made this week with the intention of getting 100 per cent of the ex-service men to join. Regular meetings will be held the first and third Wednesday of the month. Many members lent a hand this week toward renovating the old rooms.

THE BROOKLYN SAVINGS BANK

A MUTUAL SAVINGS BANK — DANIELSON, CONN.

The Trustees, Officers and Employees of the Brooklyn Savings Bank, who direct and work for the Bank, are naturally pleased with the success of this institution, which, while not the oldest, is the LARGEST as well as one of the STRONGEST Banks in Windham County.

Without the support of nearly 7,000 loyal depositors who are really the Owners of this Mutual Savings Bank, such success as the Bank has attained would not be possible. We want each and every depositor to feel at home in this Bank and to realize that each New Depositor makes for a larger, stronger and better Bank.

On account of Monday, September 1st, being a holiday, all deposits made on Saturday, September 6th, will draw interest from the first of September.

"SCHOOL HOUSE AHEAD"

On both sides and at a fitting distance are signs calling attention to auto drivers that schoolhouses are ahead. This furnishes a warning, and should be sufficient to cause drivers to reduce their speed and to keep a sharp lookout for child on going to or leaving the schoolhouses. It doesn't overcome the necessity of caution on the part of children, who are disposed to dash into the streets on their way without regard for what may be in the way, but it does serve notice on vehicle drivers to be on the caution and be prepared for they may be involved in a serious accident, the avoidance of which is always preferable.

During the summer months, while the school children have been enjoying the one long vacation there has been no reason for taking heed to such signs. It is but a very easy matter to overlook them, our knowledge of the fact that there is no school obviates the necessity of respecting the appeal.

It is well to bear in mind however, that the vacation season is over, school is again in session and the warnings are due to receive the respect that is intended. It is an unfortunate fact that many of the auto fatalities involve children. They are disposed to dodge out from in back of other vehicles to run into the street regardless of what may be coming and to devote their entire attention to play instead of self preservation, and it is in the vicinity of the school houses that the danger is the most to be guarded against.

Whatever slump there has been in driving slowly in the neighborhood of schoolhouses should not be abandoned. Care must be exercised to see that the laxity permitted during the summer months in the sightseeing contributed now that schoolhouses are occupied once more and thereby cause more accidents than would otherwise be the case. This is one matter in which it is far preferable to be a little overcautious than to take chances and be sorry.

Regardless of what they have meant during the summer, the "schoolhouse ahead" signs now more deserve to be taken seriously.

DAWES PLAN AT WORK

No much leeway was allowed between the time of ratifying the accords of the London conference and accepting the provisions of the Dawes report and the putting into operation of the new plan hereunder. Not much time elapsed between Germany's signing of the first payment of 2,000,000 gold marks. Each operation however was desirable and is gratifying as it is the plan has become effective without a hitch. Germany has begun its payments and as a manifestation of its sincerity of purpose the French are making preparations for the early withdrawal of troops from the Ruhr even though this move may be made without demonstration.

However, judgment has been delayed in placing Owen D. Young in charge of getting the plan into operation. He was one who was directly concerned in framing the conditions and making the recommendations. He has a first hand knowledge of what should be done and as a citizen of this country he stands next in general question among the allied nations. It is up, of course, to see that the provisions of the agreement are carried out. There will be no partiality, and while he will guide the work for only a period of six months the organization should be well along by that time.

The countries of Europe are now committed to a policy that should result in a marked improvement across the water. The plan has the advantage of receiving the endorsement of all concerned. Its effectiveness is going to be marked by the manner in which the provisions are respected.

For Germany it means the recognition of that fact that its policies in the past have been failures, and the burden of them has placed the country in a much worse situation than would otherwise be the case. For the allied nations it is to be hoped that it means the end of the German resistance to the inevitable, and for the world it should mean a restoration of settled conditions in that continent where such great devastation and havoc have been needlessly caused.

HUMAN FLIES

Though fully conscious of the danger there are those who have repeatedly risked their lives and there are those who will continue to do so. It doesn't make much difference whether it is negotiating railroad crossings, diving into shallow water or filling the role of "human flies."

Within the past few days there have been two of these who made their livings by crawling up the fronts of buildings, who have slipped, failed to get a grip or made a misstep and been thrown to the sidewalk. Death was the immediate result in one instance and it is not improbable that it will follow in the other. They have reached what must be regarded as the inevitable outcome of such stunts if they persist in doing them long enough.

There have been numerous cities where the authorities have refused to permit such exhibitions. There is nothing that can be said in commendation of them. They are intended as thrillers, and they are all that is claimed for them. It is a case where men take their lives in their hands every time they start such an exhibition, while there are instances where the danger is much greater than in others.

City authorities which have refused to sanction such thrillers have anticipated just what happened in the Pennsylvania and Minneapolis cities where the climbers fell and were killed or frightfully crushed before the eyes of large crowds. It was an added thrill which was not expected to be part of the programme, but only what was within the bounds of probability. Few there are who want to see a person commit suicide and yet that is just about what it amounts to. Such thrillers are done without the protections that goes with the movie stunts are the circus performances, and cities where they have been prohibited can feel thankful that it was not along their main thoroughfare that these fatal exhibitions were permitted to take place.

RESTRICTING ARMAMENTS

One of the big questions before the league of nations now in session at Geneva is that of disarmament. It is a problem that always awakens much interest, but while there are proponents there are always opponents, regardless of the recognized need of peace and the contribution thereto which would come from keeping down the endless competition between the nations.

When such a question is raised, it is so easy to point out the conduct of nations which are directly opposed to it that there is bound to be difficulty in impressing these countries which it is desired to reach and which might otherwise be favorably disposed that they can abandon the policies of increased armament, or even curb them.

What is needed is to be able to convince each nation that it can and should enter with the rest in the restriction of armaments, that the larger nations are committed to it and will participate and that there can be no exceptions and have the desired effect obtained.

When, for instance, it is possible for a small nation to point to a larger one and show that it is by its acts opposed to disarmament not much progress can be made toward winning that nation to restricted armament until those it must guard against change their methods. That is the problem that is faced in the disarmament fight. Perhaps the league will be able to make some progress toward the goal at this session but the indications are not such as to create the belief that an agreement will be reached this year. That doesn't mean, however, that it isn't a desirable goal.

OVERDUE SHIPS

Every now and then there is anxiety expressed because some vessel at sea has not been heard from and fear is felt lest it has met with trouble and gone to the bottom. It happens so often that there is nothing surprising about such an interpretation of overdue vessels, and particularly sailing craft, though there are many circumstances which operate to delay.

Just now the five master Edna Hoyt bound for Boston is overdue and ships have been requested to be on the lookout for her. Tomorrow it may be some other ship that is missing. All may work out well and the ships be heard from in time. But with the means at hand for keeping in touch with the mainland and therefore of letting the rest of the world know about the location of ships and the cause for any delays, isn't it time for those who are financially interested in ships to equip them with the means of communicating with other ships or with the shore that they may disclose any difficulties, reveal their location and explain any cause for delay?

"No news is good news," is repeatedly proven true but that doesn't bring assistance in case of need and it doesn't relieve anxiety. Much money is involved in the large numbers of vessels that are not equipped with wireless. The protection which such a means of communication gives would warrant the necessary outlay to obtain the equipment. With all vessels able to communicate with others or with the shore shipwrecks might not be prevented but fewer would happen without others knowing about it and offering assistance. Lost ships would be few and far between.

EDITORIAL NOTES

How many rated the school bell as a welcome sound breaking a too long silence?

The man on the corner says: Some people have their happiest time when agreeing to disagree.

With Labor day double headers over the race for the baseball pennants reaches the home stretch.

Probably Germany feels greatly relieved now that the custody of the 20,000,000 gold marks is in the hands of another.

They express it a bit differently but Fannie Hurst and Emma Goldman seem to agree in general about Soviet Russia.

It requires a lot of self control these days for the school children to keep their thoughts off the vacation that has gone.

Now it is said John D. Rockefeller eats everything he likes. Is he like those youngsters who like very little but want lots of that?

Labor leaders are pledged to one side and labor leaders are pledged to the other side and yet there is talk of controlling the labor vote.

There was something about Ice Tickle, where the American aviators landed, which made those suffering from the hot spell a bit curious.

How tantalizing it would have been had we received a cheerful and understandable greeting from Mars only to have that planet get more offish daily!

It took six years to recover the millions the Germans sank in a few minutes, but even that is faster than Germany has been able to recoup its wealth.

WHERE THINGS ARE

"Oh, say!" called the head of the house in the general direction of elsewhere, "where is my?—"

"I don't know!" interrupted the lady of the house with extreme abruptness and an air of ultimatum. "I have been thinking things over and I have resolved never again to know where anything in this house is except my hat and pocketbook! I am through being the framily brains and memory slut!

"I might just as well be a curator in a museum. But a curator draws a good salary and all I get is brain fag. I am expected to reply instantly when anybody inquires the location of the road map to Duluth that was used three years ago, a button like the ones on Mamie's spring coat bought last year, a half-can of paint left over from the work on the screens the previous season, Aunt Lucy's knitting needle which she is certain she must have dropped on our front lawn or in the back alley when she was here last month, a postage stamp, the can opener, some more hairpins like these and the letter you are sure you left in the pocket of the vest that went to the cleaners.

"And I am tired of it. When you shed any garment you automatically relieve your mind of it until you want it again because it disappears, and you know I must have put it somewhere and of course I'll remember. I am sick of telling where the hammer, the saw, the hatchet, the screw driver are. When you use one of these articles and get through with it you make a general motion in the direction of the chest where you claim you keep your tools and let it go at that. This is the reason I continually am finding the screw driver in the linen closet, the hammer on top the piano and the other items variously distributed around on mantels, bookcases and outdoors.

"I consider that I have been doing you a great wrong because I have assisted your powers of observation and memory to atrophy. You come in from the garden and drop your cap on a radiator in the hall and the trowel on the kitchen table, and after dinner I hear you wildly rampaging through the sun parlor. You say you came in and put your cap carefully upon the chaise lounge and somebody has taken it and you are in a hurry.

"And the trowel! You struck that trowel upright in the edge of the zinnia bed and now its gone! Probably the puppy next door ran away with it and you are going to do something about these dogs let run loose in the neighborhood, by ginger! The cook removes the trowel indignantly from the midst of her strawberry shortcake and you saw how the dickens did that get in here? Who brought that in when I left it outside?? Nothing will convince you that you are the guilty party.

"And the things you bring home from the office to look over, telling me that they are extremely valuable papers and please not to touch them or remove them from the top of this layer of books in the bookcase! One week later I come in from a bridge party and find your hair standing every which way, the house a wreck and you frantic. What, you yell, have I gone and done with those papers? Didn't you beseech me to leave 'em alone where you put 'em with your hands. Why, in the bottom of the music cabinet, of course, where they'd be safe—but they're gone and you've looked everywhere and no doubt the cleaning woman has thrown them out.

"You know the recitation you deliver before I can walk over to the bookcase and show you where you did put them! I'm just going to insist from now on that you and Mamie and Junior, each of you, shall remember your own rightful remembrances and let me have room in my brain cells to devote to the really interesting things."

"Aw," wheedled the head of the house, "honest, what I wanted to know was where my checkbook is so's I could give you a little extra money to spend."

The lady of the house eyed him grimly "Just for that I'll tell you!" she said. "I'll even get it for you, Josiah!"

"You just can't beat 'em!" sighed the head of the house, as he got out his fountain pen. — Chicago News.

Stories That Recall Others

Not in Wholesale Business.

During a recent trip through the country a salesman handling mill supplies stopped at a grocery and being rather fond of candy looked over the dingy candy case and decided on some pink and white "dainties." Pointing to them, he told the grocer he would have a dime's worth.

The old man eyed him over his spectacles. "Well, I can't let you have that many. I've got to keep some in stock for my regular customers," he said.

Lucky, Nothing Else.

Jim has come to believe strongly in luck. A few nights ago he drove his flivver over to the other side of the city, picked up a boy friend and went out to Baltic, where they spent the time until 11 o'clock discussing starology with two girls. Coming back home, the boys stopped at a candy store in the center. "Come on in and I'll buy you a drink," said Jim.

"You'll have to if the drink is bought," said the friend, "for all I have is a nickel."

Inside the store, Jim began fishing around for the $5 bill which he took when he left home. "Wait a minute, Jimmy," said Jim to the clerk, "don't give us that order. We haven't any money."

They hurried outside and there was a hurried inspection of the car and a further search of the pockets. No $5 bill there.

"Your home is the next stop," yelled Jim, and upon arriving there Jim got out and struck a match and began a hurried search of the walk where they had stood before starting.

"Here she is, Bill!" he announced. "Found her right in the middle of the walk. Gosh, how lucky! And after three hours!"

"Come on, let's go get that soda," said Jim as he climbed in back of the wheel.

A race between a horse and an automobile amused onlookers at Pottsville, Pa., until the spectacle almost resulted seriously. The owner of the horse had tied it to the spare tire of Bernard McCall's machine and when McCall got into his car he failed to notice the predicament of the animal. McCall stopped the auto just as conditions were getting serious for the hard-pressed horse.

Wood, the $4-a-week Man

For years William M. Wood's salary remained the same. He tried various positions in different fields, but in every case his employers paid the same amount.

Born in Edgartown, Martha's Vineyard, the son of a sea captain, he saw little of his father. He was a baby when the family moved to New Bedford, Mass., where he went to school. Eleven years old when his father died, he had to leave school and go to work.

Securing a job as office boy in the Wamsutta Mills, he worked 12 hours a day, and studied at home at night. His pay was $4 a week and remained at that figure for many years in spite of a number of changes in positions.

At 18 he went by schooner to Philadelphia, where he obtained work in a coal company's office, and the pay was $4 a week. After a few months he returned to New Bedford and started to work in a bank at $4 a week.

Finally he seized an offer to go with a railroad company as clerk, and the salary was $40 a month. But he did not enjoy the work and in a short time was back in the woolen mills, this time at Fall River. Six years later he became assistant manager in the Washington Mills, in Lawrence. Later he was placed in charge and made the business succeed.

Many of the New England woolen mills were in financial trouble and in 1899 Wood effected the consolidation of eight of the 17 into the American Woolen Co. Soon afterward he was elected president and the organization prospered and grew. Ten years after its organization it was the leader in the industry, and Wood was called a business genius. Then came the strike of 1910, during which he was execrated as a tyrant grinding down labor.

The strike settled, the company resumed its growth and put in sick benefits, insurance and other welfare plans.

At 65 Wood still is head of the American Woolen Co., with its 60 mills and nearly 40,000 employees. He is rich and his salary alone is many times $4 a week.

Tomorrow—Lindenthal, College-Bred Bricklayer.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Archbishop Biondi, the apostolic delegate in Washington, celebrates his 52nd birthday today. Long before coming to the United States he had established a wide reputation as a brilliant churchman and diplomat. On numerous occasions he had been commissioned by the Vatican to conduct church affairs that required the greatest skill and diplomacy. When Cardinal (then Bishop) O'Connell, following the close of the Russo-Japanese war, established diplomatic relations, between the Vatican and the Japanese Government, Monsignor Biondi was named as the first delegate to Japan. Later, when the Pope reorganized the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, he recalled Monsignor Biondi from Japan and placed him in charge of the society that has branches in all the countries of the world. In 1922, after a successful career as the head of this commission he was sent to Washington to succeed Mgr. Bonzano as apostolic delegate.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT
By DAVID CORY

ANOTHER SECRET

"Howdy, Mrs. Cottontail," said Daddy Longlegs as he stepped off his pushmobile near the Old Brush Heap. "Oh, I'm pretty well," answered the nice lady bunny, after taking out of her mouth a clothespin with which to hang on the line a little cottontail shirt. "What brings you here so early in the morning?"

"Good news," laughed the old insect.

"The old lady grasshopper mistress is engaged to be married," asked Mrs. Cottontail, bending down for another clothespin.

"No, guess again," replied Daddy Longlegs, with a grin.

"Mrs. Cow has a new calf?"

"No," chuckled the old insect. "Dear me, I should have read the Bunnybridge Buble last night. But I was so busy mending I overlooked it."

"Little Miss Mousie has a new pair of slippers," said Daddy Longlegs, unable to keep the good news longer.

"Pretty pink slippers with silver bows

"And a satin gown with laces and tuckles."

went on the excited old insect, reading aloud from the Bunnybridge Bugle which he had pulled out of his coat-tail pocket.

"Mr. Lucky Lefthindfoot, the nice old bunny rabbit.
Who has a ton of money and a kind and generous habit.
Presented Missy Mousie with a satin gown entrancing.
And a pair of pinky slippers for her to go a-dancing."

"Well, well," exclaimed Mrs. Cottentail

"Now she'll be down at the Opera House
To dance every night with a handsome mouse."

"Never can tell," answered the old insect, placing the paper in his pocket. "I must be going," and away he went on his Pushmobile down the Old Cow Path and over the log-bridge that spanned the Bubbling Brook. As he glanced across the Sunny Meadow he saw Little Jack Rabbit hopping into the Shady Forest. But the bunny boy didn't see him. Oh, my no. He was looking the other way, that's why. Pretty soon, not so very long, he came to the Big Brush Heap, where Mrs. Porky Porcupine had her home. The next moment out she came, smiling. But on seeing the little rabbit, up stood the thousand little spear-like quills hidden in her furcoat.

"I don't mean any harm," cried the bunny boy. "What makes you look so cross?"

"Well, seeing it's you, a nice little bunny, I'll tell a bit of good news," answered the lady porcupine. "I have two little babies hidden under this old brush heap."

"I'm so glad," laughed the sociable little rabbit.

"But you must promise not to tell anyone where I have my little home. It wouldn't do to have Bunny Fox hanging around. Not that I fear him, but one must be doubly careful when there are babies to care for."

"I promise," answered the little rabbit and in the next story I'll tell you what happened after that.

POETRY

THE GOLDEN MEAN.

Receive, dear friend, the truths I teach
So shalt thou live beyond the reach
Of adverse Fortune's power;
Not always tempt the distant deep,
Nor always timorously creep
Along the treacherous shore.

He that holds fast the golden mean,
And lives contentedly between
The little and the great,
Feels not the wants that pinch the poor
Nor plagues that haunt the rich man's door,
Imbittering all his state.

The tallest pines feel most the power
Of wintry blasts; the loftiest tower
Comes heaviest to the ground.
The bolts, that spare the mountain's side,
His cloud-capped eminence divide,
And spread the ruin round.

The well-informed philosopher
Rejoices with a wholesome fear,
And hopes, in spite of pain;
If winter bellow from the north,
Soon the sweet spring comes dancing forth,
And Nature laughs again.

What if thine heaven be overcast!
The dark appearance will not last;
Expect a brighter sky.
The God that strings the silver bow
Awakes sometimes the Muses, too,
And lays his arrows by.

If hindrances obstruct thy way
Thy magnanimity display,
And let thy strength be seen;
But O! if Fortune fill thy sail
With more than a propitious gale,
Take half thy canvas in.
—After Horace, by William Cowper.

Ort did so, and when he removed his hand it was so badly frozen that he had to go to a hospital for treatment.

An order for a fairly large tonnage of unusually long rails has recently been placed by one of the western railroads. By the use of such rails the number of joints will be reduced 15 per cent., resulting in an economy, as the expense of constructing and maintaining joints also means easier riding with less tear on the rolling stock and the passengers' nerves.

BEFORE TWINS WERE BORN

Was Very Miserable. Felt Lots Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wyocena, Wis. — "I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my twins were born because my sister used it and recommended it to me. I was so I could scarcely go about my daily work I was in such misery. But after I began taking the second bottle I was feeling lots better. I took three bottles and a half before I was confined and finished the bottle while I was in bed. I got up feeling fine and have taken care of the twins alone ever since. I recommend the Vegetable Compound highly and will sing its praises in the future." — Mrs. Ida Giesitz, Wyocena, Wis.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after childbirth, and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother both before and after childbirth. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and can be taken in safety by nursing mothers.

What A Woman Should Do When She Is Weak and Nervous

THOUSANDS OF WOMEN HAVE SURPRISINGLY INCREASED THEIR STRENGTH, ENERGY AND ENDURANCE IN TWO WEEKS' TIME BY THIS SIMPLE EXPERIMENT.

On account of the terrible weakness, nervousness and alarming symptoms, which are often produced by iron starvation of the blood, frequently the sufferer never suspects the real cause of her trouble, but thinks she has some other ailment. As a result of iron starvation you may suffer from headaches, dizziness, shortness of breath or heart palpitation, pains across the back, loss of memory, weak will-power, melancholy or the "blues," disturbed digestion, loss of appetite, sleepless nights, night sweats and so on. In such cases do not wait until you go all to pieces and collapse in a state of nervous prostration but eat more spinach and green vegetables and take organic iron like Nuxated Iron with them for a while and see what a difference it makes. But be sure the iron you take is organic iron and not metallic iron which people usually take. Metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron, while organic iron like Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Beware of substitutes. Look for the name "Nuxated" on every package and the letters N. I. on every tablet. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists.

WILL SELL BUILDINGS TO MAKE ROOM FOR SCHOOL

The selectmen are preparing to sell two buildings on the East Side school property on Main street, in order to make room for the new $100,000 school building that is to be erected there. These are a one and a half story dwelling house and a barn that are to be removed by and on which the selectmen will ask bids. The two buildings are to be sold to the highest bidder with the understanding that they must be removed on or before Oct. 1.

The bids will be received at the office of the selectmen at any time until 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday, Sept. 10. Each bid must be accompanied by cash or a certified check to the amount of at least 5 per cent of the bid and the said amount to be forfeited if the bid be accepted and the balance of the purchase price be not paid in at or before Sept. 15. The selectmen also reserve the right to reject any or all bids.

Seventh Birthday Party

On Saturday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lillie entertained at their home 94 Stonington Road a party of little friends in honor of their daughter Phyllis, it being her seventh birthday. Games were enjoyed after which a dainty lunch of sandwiches, fancy cookies, cakes, ice-cream, candy and gum were served by Mrs Lillie assisted by Mrs. A. W. Spaulding and Mrs. Ned Manning. Those present were the Misses Mildred McNeeley, Mary Brook, Gene Wigley, Adele, Phyllis Lillie and Master Edward Old Manning. Phyllis received many presents and they all departed at an hour wishing her many more birthdays to come.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Henry Francis Andrews

Funeral services for Mrs. Henry Francis Andrews, a former resident of this city, were held Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. John W. McKinley, 126 Prospect street, many relatives and friends attending, some from out of town.

The services were conducted by Rev Lionel E. W. Mitchell, rector of St. Andrews Episcopal church, Greeneville, assisted by Rev. Levi F. Miller of St. Mark's Episcopal church, Worcester. During the services Mrs. William Crowe sang Nearer My God To Thee and Christian's Good Night. There was a wealth of flowers.

Burial was in Maplewood cemetery, Rev. Mr. Mitchell reading the committal service. The bearers were John McKinley, A. D. Zabriskie, William Andrews and Edward Salsbury.

Undertaker Charles Gager was in charge of the local funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Andrews, whose death occurred in Worcester, Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, was born in Providence, R. I., Sept. 11, 1887, the daughter of John and Margaret Harwood and on June 18, 1906 she was united in marriage with H. Francis Andrews in Trinity church, Pomfret, by Lucien Hardy.

Besides her husband she leaves two sons, Curtis Ronald and Leon Francis Andrews, of Worcester, two sisters, Mrs. A. D. Zabriskie of Ferguson avenue, Bean Hill, and Mrs. John W. McKinley of 126 Prospect street and two nieces, Ruth and Mabel McKinley of 126 Prospect street.

Mrs. Albert C. Karkutt

The funeral of Mrs. Albert C. Karkutt was held at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon from her late home at 162 Broad street with a large attendance of friends and relatives. The service was conducted by Rev. H. Hunzinger, and burial was in Yantic cemetery, relatives acting as bearers. There was a profusion of floral tributes. Cummings & Ring were in charge of the funeral arrangements.

BELIEVES HE HAS MILLIONS; SENT TO STATE HOSPITAL

Harboring the belief that he is possessed of millions in silver stacked up in his house, and other millions in the Norwich savings banks, houses in several cities, and acres of land bearing big crops of watermelons, cabbages and green corn, Powell G. McKnight, 60, colored, of 25 Lake street was sent to the Norwich state hospital Wednesday afternoon by Selectman W. S. Murray on a temporary committment after the man had been examined by Dr. F. J. Harper at police headquarters.

McKnight's condition was reported to the police Tuesday night by some of his friends after he had come out into Lake street and began to shout and arouse the neighborhood. He was brought to police headquarters where he was kept until he could be examined by a physician Wednesday afternoon.

FINED IN COURT FOR EVADING RESPONSIBILITY

Joseph Gladue of Baltic and Taftville paid a fine of $50 and costs total $74.28, assessed upon him in the city court Wednesday morning for evading responsibility after an automobile accident Sunday night. He was riding in and driving the machine of Constant Buregard with Beauregard in the machine, when it struck the machine of Harold Decelles of Lisbon at the Taftville bridge. The testimony against him was that he drove away after the accident. The two men claimed on the witness stand that they did not know the machine had been in an accident, but George Weller and William Burgess testified that they heard the crash 100 feet away and they were the ones that secured the number of the Beauregard car.

BALLOON GOES UP IN FLAMES BUT AERONANT ESCAPES BY JUMPING

George A. Spurr, parachute jumper, of New Haven, narrowly escaped death at the fairgrounds shortly after 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when his balloon ascended in flames. The ill-fated balloon ascension was one of the final attractions at the 70th annual fair of the New London County Agricultural Society which came to a close Wednesday. There was a stiff breeze blowing and during the early afternoon there was some question as to whether it would be possible for the balloon men to get the big bag filled and away. An attempt was made to fill the balloon about 3 o'clock in the afternoon but was given up at that time owing to lack of help in holding the balloon over the fire pit and because of the wind.

A second attempt was made about 5 o'clock with disastrous results. The men and boys who were aiding the aeronaut in filling the balloon had considerable difficulty in holding the big canvass bag which swayed back and forth in the wind. Then Spurr adjusted his straps, took a final look at his parachute and was ready. It is claimed that several boys who were holding the balloon on the side away from the parachute jumper let go a few seconds ahead of time, the wind tipping the balloon so that the side caught fire from the flames in the pit. Almost at the same moment the balloon went up carrying the parachute jumper with it. In an instant one side of the balloon was enveloped in flames.

Spurr did not know the balloon was on fire until he was about 35 feet in the air. Hearing the cries from the crowd and glancing upward he saw the flames. He was much too close to the ground to attempt a parachute jump as he would have fallen to the ground before the chute would open. Keeping his head, and realizing that there was nothing to do but to wait until the burning bag was high enough in the air, he ignored the cries of "cut loose," "jump," "the balloon is on fire," until he was about 300 feet above the ground. Then he cut. By this time the balloon was nearly half consumed by the flames.

His parachute opened and he landed on the race track inclosure about 500 feet south of the balloon pit. The plucky jumper escaped injury, although he landed rather hard and was considerably shaken up. The burning balloon landed a few feet away from him and the flames were stopped with aid of a fire extinguisher. The balloon was a total loss. The value of the balloon was set at between $300 and $400. The parachute was undamaged.

It was a narrow escape for Spurr who has been riding balloons for the past four years. This was the first accident of its kind that he has had during that time. In spite of his harrowing experience he helped untangle the ropes on the parachute and pack it up ready for transportation to the balloon company's next engagement, West Newbury, Mass. It was the most spectacular balloon ascension ever seen at the local fairgrounds.

Attendance About 1,500.

The attendance was about 1,500, an average third day crowd. The threatening weather no doubt kept many people away. The rain clouds however, started to break up during the early afternoon and by four o'clock the sun was shining brightly. Patients from the Norwich State Hospital to the number of 192 enjoyed the racing, vaudeville and athletic events from grandstand. They were transported to and from the fairgrounds in five large busses and three trucks, the transportation being arranged for by Superintendent Franklin S. Wilcox.

Decision in 2.17 Trot.

Owing to the long athletic programme there was but one event on the race card, a 2.22 trot or pace, county race, for a purse of $500. Just before the first heat was called Starter Powers announced the result of the suspended decision in the 2.17 trot Monday, stating that Rolla Chimes was distanced in the fifth heat.

There were five starters in the county race. They got away in good time and Cameron took the lead. In the last quarter mile of the heat Peter Torment spurted and pulled ahead from fourth place into second place, giving Cameron a neck and neck race down the home stretch. Cameron, however, nosed ahead for a win. Peter Torment finished second and Bonnie's Baby third. Time of the mile, 2.22¼.

Cameron again got the lead in the second heat and kept it throughout the mile, with Bonnie's Baby following close behind. Peter Torment, in fourth place at the end of the half, moved up into third place but was unable to overtake Cameron and Bonnie's Baby. Cameron got the heat with Bonnie's Baby finishing second and Peter Torment third. Time of the mile, 2.21 1-4.

Bonnie's Baby turned the tables in the third heat finishing first, Cameron coming in second and Justin third. Time of the mile, 2.21 1-4. Steel Preferred, finishing fifth in all three heats was ruled out for the next heat.

The fourth heat was a win for Bonnie's Baby, Cameron getting second place again, Justin again finishing third. Time of the mile 2.21 1-2. Peter Torment and Justin were ruled out for the fifth heat, leaving only two horses for that heat.

The fifth heat was a close race between Bonnie's Baby and Cameron, Bonnie's Baby winning the heat and first money, second money going to Cameron. It was the slowest heat of the afternoon, time 2.29 3-4.

The summary:

Purse $500, 2.22 Trot or Pace. County Race—

Bonnie's Baby, b g, Peter Agan, Thos. Burns, Norwich (Grover) ..	3	2	4	1	1
Cameron, b g, Walnut Hall, G. E. Bates, Preston (Bates)	1	1	2	2	2
Peter Torment, b g, Peter Agan, Milton Mitchell, Montville (Bates)..	2	3	4	4	ro
Justin, by Justo, Fontaine, Occum (Fontaine)	4	4	3	3	ro
Steel Preferred, b g, Gen. Watts, F. Bowers, & Sons, New London (Bowers)	5	5	5	5	ro

Time 2.22 1-4, 2.21 1-4, 2.21 1-4, 2.21 1-2, 2.29 3-4.

The annual athletic programme arranged by Prentice W. Chase proved one of the big attractions of the afternoon. The events were run off in good order on the track between the heats. Following is a list of the events, entries, winners and prizes:

100 yard dash, amateur—Prizes, three cups: John Mara, first; Joseph Jackson, second; Majewski, third; Lufley, Ed. Burns and Robert Cardie. Time 11 seconds.

100 yard dash, professional—Prizes, sweater coat, coat sweater, shirt and T. sweater shirt, Couillard, first; J. Murphy, second; Rogalla, third. Time 10 3-4 seconds.

220 yard dash, amateur—Prizes, cup, gold pencil, cuff links, Jackson, first; Mara, second; Majewski, third; Cardie, fourth; and Spivery, fifth. Time 24 1-2 seconds.

220 yard dash, professional—Prizes, watch, cuff links, silver pencil, Couillard, first; Rogalla, second; Murphy, third; Lufly, fourth. Time 24 seconds.

440 yard dash—Prizes, traveling bag, sprint shoes, pocketbook. Majewski, first; Rogalla, second; John Murphy, third; Hoffman, Burke.

Hop, skip and jump—Prizes, keds, razor, fob, James Murphy, first, 36 feet, 4 inches; Cardie, second, 36 feet 3 inches; Spivery, third.

Tug of war, 2 minutes—Prize, cup. Pachaug Grange won over Ashland by two inches. Teams—Pachaug Grange: Miller, Heber, Palmer, Davis, Woodmansee. Ashland: Harris, Sambor, Bellevance, Chase.

Half mile relay—Prize, cup: won by Riverview over Ashland, time 1 minute 42 seconds. Teams—Riverview: Burns, Lufley, John Mara, Couillard. Ashland, Murphy, Spivery, Majewski, Rogalla.

This completed the programme for the day, the final event, the half mile relay being run off about 5.30 o'clock.

Between the race heats and athletic programme the six free vaudeville events were repeated for the third and last time. The performers, especially the comedy juggler and Alfreno, the tight wire artist, worked against odds, owing to the wind. They all received well earned applause. Swahn's Military band again rendered their usual excellent concert programme and furnished the music for the performers.

During the afternoon the children at the New London County Home were guests of the Agricultural Society at the fairgrounds. Fred G. Prothero, superintendent of the main exhibition hall, saw to it that the children were treated to ice cream cones. Needless to say it was an afternoon of real pleasure for the children.

CHARLES F. NOYES HELPS OPEN BIG BUILDING SECTION

The Brooklyn, N. Y., Standard-Union recently had the following of Norwich interest:

The last step in the development of the New Flatbush section of Brooklyn will be taken today when Joseph P. Day and Charles F. Noyes, agents and auctioneers, will sell at auction 867 lots of the Sheepsshead Bay-Harkness estate property.

For years that section of Brooklyn lay dormant. A year ago this month the famous "iron fence" that surrounded that vast tract of some of the finest land in Brooklyn, finally was removed and the westerly half of the property sold.

Within thirty days after the 3,000 odd lots were disposed of at that time foundations were being dug for scores of one and two family dwellings that inside of a year were to house hundreds of families anxious to get away from the more congested sections of the city.

There are now 600 houses on the plots and a $1,000,000 school is building.

Mayor Hylan has said he intends to push to completion the construction of the new city subway routes. The Mayor indicated in a statement that the growth of the New Flatbush section is being noted by the heads of the city government. The mayor said:

"The importance of the city's new transit programme and the construction of city owned subways is emphasized most forcibly by the rapid development of the New Flatbush, Sheepshead Bay and Coney Island sections of Brooklyn. One of the important factors in the growth of that district was the sudden opening to the public of the westerly half of the Sheepshead Bay-Harkness estate property a year ago.

"I understand the easterly half is to be sold, which will mean the opening of another large tract of land for the people. It is conditions like this, not only in Brooklyn, but in other sections of the five boroughs, that we, as head of the city government, are constantly compelled to meet and it is for this reason that the new subway improvements are being pushed as rapidly as possible."

OFFICER DOMBROSKI IS STRICKEN WITH SHOCK

Officer John Dombroski, 49, one of the most efficient men on the Norwich police force, suffered a shock about 4 o'clock, Wednesday morning at his home 74 Oak street when he had returned there after completing his usual service on the night beat on the West Side. The shock has paralyzed his right side, but has not affected his speech and there was said to have been some slight improvement noticeable in his condition Wednesday afternoon.

Officer Dombroski had partially undressed in preparing to retire when he was seized by the shock. He was able to get from the bed to the telephone that was close by and attempted to call up a doctor, but he had difficulty in reading the numbers in the telephone book. However, he called up police headquarters and notified Sergeant John H. Casey what had happened so that Sergeant Casey summoned Dr. W. T. Driscoll to the stricken officer's home. The physician did what he could for him and left him in the care of his family, whose members had been called by Mr. Dombroski after he called up the police station.

C. E. PICNIC PLANNED AT LEFFINGWELL CHURCH

The Christian Endeavor summer picnic for this district will be held Saturday on the Leffingwell church grounds, beginning with a program of games at 3 p. m., daylight time, which will be in charge of Miss Edith Ellis and Rev. Mr. Ferguson of Norwich. These will be continued to 5.45, when the picnic supper will be enjoyed, which will be followed at 6.45 by the praise service, at which Rev. Mr. Ferguson will be leader, and impressions of the Hartford convention will be given by several who attended. In the evening an address will be given by Rev. Hollis B. Sloat of Hartford.

Conveyance from the end of the trolley line to the church will be furnished at the 2.30 and 3.30 trolley cars. The gathering will be over in the evening in time for those attending to reach Franklin square at 9 o'clock.

BOYS' TREE-HUT IS FOOD FOR FLAMES

The tree-hut built by a club of a dozen West Side boys in a big maple tree off Maple street on land belonging to Fred L. Tourtellotte went up in smoke about 3.21 Wednesday afternoon. The fire department responded to a call and used 12 gallons of chemical on the blaze, but the fire had too much of a start to save much of the hut. What started the fire is not known.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Thomas Wormsley

In this city Wednesday morning at 10.45 o'clock the long and useful life of Frances C. Almond, wife of Thomas Wormsley, came to an end at her residence 133 Mt. Pleasant St., after an illness of seven months in bed but she had been an invalid for nine years.

She was born in Virginia, the daughter of John and Rachel Almond, came to this city when quite young and was united in marriage with Thomas Wormsley Sept. 25, 1875 by Rev. Mellor Howard. She was one of the organizers and faithful workers of Grace Memorial Baptist church where she was a consisted member. She leaves her husband, Thomas Wormsley, one daughter Fanny W. Thompson of this city, two sons, Dr. William C. Wormsley of the Philippine Islands, who is seriously stricken with paralysis at his home at this time, George A. Wormsley of parts unknown, one sister, Mrs. Sarah Almond Freeman of this city and eight grand children, four of this city and four of the Philippine Islands with a host of friends and other relatives.

Mrs. Wormsley was carefully and tenderly cared for by her faithful and loving daughter and husband. She will be sadly missed in her home and church.

Victor L. Caron

The death of Victor L. Caron of Taftville occurred Wednesday morning, following illness with ulcers of the stomach, which became serious last Friday.

Mr. Caron was born in Taftville Oct. 5, 1889, the son of Mrs. Christopher Caron. His father died in Taftville only a few years ago. He was educated in the public schools of Taftville and was a graduate of the Norwich Business college.

Mr. Caron was a great athlete, being interested and an active participant in many of the sports throughout this locality. During the 250th anniversary celebration of the founding of the town of Norwich he carried away in the athletic sports five first prizes and he had often been seen on the basketball floor with some of the best basketball players in this locality.

He was a member of Battery B, 56th regiment and served 13 months overseas with the rank of sergeant.

Mr. Caron was married in Taftville Oct. 8, 1923, to Miss Clara Thoma and had always resided in his home town. He was a member of St. Jean De Baptiste of Taftville, of Sacred Heart church, Taftville, of the Knights of Columbus and of the American Legion. He had been foreman in the finishing department of the A. C. Swan company and was a man of high character. In his death the town of Norwich loses a promising young citizen and a life is cut short that had every promise of success.

Mr. Caron is survived by his mother, his wife, four sister, Mrs. Augustin LeMoine, Mrs. Fred White, Mrs. Theodore Belval and Miss Hortense Caron, all of Taftville and three brothers, Christopher Caron, Jr., Henry Caron, both of Taftville and State Policeman Frederick T. Caron of the Groton barracks.

TRUCK BOWLS OVER BIG TOURING CAR

The Studebaker Big Six touring car of Frank D. Crooker of Page street extension was hit and bowled over about noon Wednesday at the flashing beacon at the foot of Schofield hill at the intersection of Central avenue and North Main street by a motor truck of the Eastern Connecticut Power company which was driven by Arthur Rheaume of Montville.

The Studebaker was practically demolished and Kirk Ricketts of Prospect street, who was a passenger in it, received cuts on the chin and upper lip which were sewed up by Dr. Paul F. Gadle, who took nine stitches in the chin and two in the lip. The other passengers, Harry McGlone, Miss Elizabeth Glenning and Miss Margaret Suthill, escaped with a severe shaking up. The Backus hospital ambulance was summoned and responded but was not needed.

Crooker was driving north on North Main street and was to turn into Central avenue. As he made the turn past the flashing beacon, his view was obstructed, he claimed, by a closed car ahead of him, but he caught sight of the big truck bearing down on him from North Main street. He stepped on the accelerator with the hope that he might shoot out of the way, but the truck caught his right rear wheel and knocked the car over. The truck driver claimed that the Crooker car cut in in front of him so that he could not avoid hitting it.

The wreck was cleared up as soon as possible after the accident, the Crooker car being towed to the Studebaker service station in Greeneville. The truck was but slightly damaged.

HUMAN FLY IS TO SCALE COURTHOUSE

One of those daring spirits who rejoice in the title of "human fly" will be in Norwich on Friday to scale the heights of the courthouse building a feat for which he has received permission from Mayor Milo R. Waters. The climb will be made at 6.45 p. m by George Polley of Springfield Mass.

Starting from the ground floor Mr. Polley will scale his way up the building without the aid of any mechanical device and will do stunts on his ascension. He will climb to the extreme pinnacle of the courthouse dome and upon reaching the top will do the daring stunt of standing on his head. Mr. Polley has scaled the heights of the Flatiron building in New York, about two years ago, and the Little building in Boston was another of his conquests.

This is Mr. Polley's farewell climb in New England, and he expects to wind up the climbing business Oct. 15. This is the second time that the human fly has visited this city, having been in town about five years ago, climbing the city hall and the Wauregan hotel. Mr. Polley has been in the climbing game 16 years and has proven a success in this work, but he now expects to quit the game entirely.

Boys Destroyed Ice Cream Cones.

Shower For Miss Rossoll.

After the meeting of the True Blue class of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church held at her home on Dunham street, Wednesday evening, Miss Hilda Rossoll was pleasantly surprised by members of the class when they showered her with gifts of linen and cut glass in honor of her approaching marriage to Walter Streich of this city. Those present were Mae Guile, Miriam Bergstresser, Esther Erickson, Eleanor Button, Maytice Germain, Gladys Newbury and Mildred Crowe.

RHEUMATISM

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It.

In the year of 1893, I was attacked by Muscular and Subacute Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus afflicted know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, but such relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally, I found a treatment that cured me completely, and such a pitiful condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bed-ridden, some of them seventy to eighty years old, and the results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and subacute (swelling at the joints) rheumatism, to try the great value of my improved "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of getting rid of such forms of rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

At Last—A Blonde Hair Shampoo!

Keeps Light Hair from Darkening—Lightens Faded Blonde Hair.

When light haired people wash their hair in an ordinary way, a thin film of oil is left on each hair, which collects dirt and dust, causing the hair to darken. That is why blondes should always use a special shampoo. For while light hair is always attractive, its beauty is lost just as soon as it becomes uncertain in color, dull-looking and streaky. Blondex, the new Swedish light hair shampoo, not only keeps blonde hair from darkening, but actually brings back the true golden beauty to even the dullest and most faded blonde hair. Makes hair fluffy, silky. Highly beneficial to both hair and scalp. It is not a dye. Contains no injurious chemicals. Money instantly refunded if not delighted. Get Blondex today at all good dealers, such as Lee & Osgood, Andrew McLaughlin, G. G. Engler, druggist, George M. Rathbun, H. M. Lerou.

MISS CUMMINGS, PRESENT CHAMPION, IS ELIMINATED IN NATIONAL GOLF TOURNEY

Nayatt, R. I., Sept. 3.—(By The A. P.)—An exciting match that went to three extra holes today assured a new queen in American golf this year. Miss Edith Cummings of Chicago was dethroned as champion by Miss Myriam Burns of Kansas City in the second round of the women's national tournament at the Rhode Island country club.

The result was the more pleasing to Miss Burns because in the recent western women's title event she lost the championship to Miss Cummings by 12 and 10, illness being a large factor in her defeat then.

Joe Horgan of New York, caddy for Miss Cummings carried with her clubs today a new horseshoe to make sure that the number of her competitior's, thirteen, would not be unlucky. It seemed for a while as if the horseshoe would be effective, for the breaks were all against Miss Burns. But the long shots of Miss Burns in a heavy wind told in the end, despite poor putting and bad judgement at times in the selection of clubs for approaching.

They went to the turn in 44 each, each having won three holes. Miss Burns missed a short putt on the first hole for a win and Miss Cummings sank an eighteen-footer there for a half. On the incoming nine Miss Cummings found trap after trap on the way from the fairway to the green only to sing long putts or see her opponent miss short ones.

At the thirteenth Miss Cummings sank a thirty-footer to retain a lead of one hole, but Miss Burns took the next two holes in par fours as the result of better first and second shots. Miss Cummings squared the match at the seventeenth with a par three when Miss Burns used the wrong club and overshot the green. Miss Cummings was enabled to halve the eighteenth when her opponent's pitch rolled back off the green. Each went around in 87. At the first extra hole Miss Burns missed a putt of less than a yard for a win and at the third extra hole luck was almost against her again. After a drive 15 yards in front of Miss Cummings, Miss Burns put her second on the green, while Miss Cummings took four to get on. Miss Cummings sank a five. The fourth shot by Miss Burns hung on the edge of the cup a moment, then dropped in for victory.

Miss Fordyce lost three holes when her putts went astray, and to off set had to do such things as make a birdie four at the 523 yard dog leg eleventh.

One match went to the home green for decision. Miss Bernice Will of Oshkosh, Wiss., defeating Mrs. Henry R. Watson of Canton, Mass., one up after being three down at the turn. Both were erratic, but Miss Wall was less so on the windiest part of the course. She went around in 97 to 98 for Mrs. Watson.

The best medal of the day for nine holes was made by Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia, who defeated young Miss Maureen Orcutt of Englewood, N. J., 6 and 4. Miss Orcutt was 44 to return, hitting as long a ball as the veteran former champion but lacking the finesse in wind play.

The wind also accounted for the elimination of the other youngsters of the tournament, Miss Virginia Wilson of Chicago, who lost to Mrs. Quentin F. Bolton of New York, 3 and 2, after reaching the first three holes.

Miss Glenna Collett of Providence had an easy time surviving as did another former champion, Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeek of Philadelphia. Miss Vanderbeek's longer hitting enabled her to offset the excellent short game of Miss Elizabeth Gordon of Providence.

YANKS WIN LAST GAME FROM RED SOX

New York, Sept. 3.—The New York Yankees made it four out of five from Boston here today, winning the last game of the series by a score of 11 to 7.

Walter Beall, a pitching recruit from Rochester, made a good start for New York, but became wild in the eighth inning when Pennock was sent to his relief with the bases full and none out. Two hits off Pennock sent in three runs, but Jones got the next three men.

The Yankees hit Quinn hard in the fifth and sixth innings and continued scoring on Ross and Murray, his two successors. Ward hit a homer and a triple. Score:

DODGERS RUN WINNING STREAK TO 11 STRAIGHT

Philadelphia, Sept. 3.—Brooklyn ran its winning streak to eleven straight games by taking both ends of today's double header with Philadelphia by scores of 7 to 6 and 7 to 0. Grimes was batted hard in the opening game when the Phillies got away to a four run lead by scoring five runs in the second and third innings, but Grimes tightened up while the Robins fought a hard uphill battle.

Doak held the locals to two singles in the second contest. Wheat hit two homers in this game. Scores:

Nutmegs Beat Arrows

In a thrilling 5 inning game at the Campus the Nutmegs with Brigham in the box trimmed the Arrows by the tune of 7 to 2. Brigham's masterly pitching and field work without a question won the game, being responsible for two double plays with the bases full, while, Greene, the Arrows wonder pitcher was battered all over the field. Hits made off him included a triple by Hamel and a triple by Steinman.

The Nutmegs will play the Braves Friday at 6:30, at the Academy Campus.

How It's Done In the Majors

By Frank Frisch
Cardinal New York Giants

Ninth inning. Team in field has a 4 run lead. One out. Batter hits ball to the right of the second baseman.

Should second baseman attempt to make the play at second?

With a four run lead, the team in the field should always make sure of one man. Under such conditions, the fielder should not take the chance of making wild throws, as that means they will lose both plays. If the throw to second base is difficult, the second baseman should throw the ball to first and make sure of the batter. This would leave the team in the field in a good position, as there would be two out and a runner on second and they would still hold their four run lead. You see if the second baseman attempted a difficult double play, under such conditions, and it failed, it would put his pitcher in a tight position. Be sure of one man and play things safe, when you have a good lead at the end of the game.

GREB GETS DECISION OVER JIMMY SLATTERY

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, Middleweight champion, won the decision over Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo in a six round bout here tonight. Greb weighed 163 1-2 and Slattery 163 pounds.

The fight was all Greb's after the scond round. In the opener Slattery rushed the fighting fiercely and gave as good as he got. The champion's peristent windmill attack wore the Buffalo down, however, and in the final rounds Slattery was perceptibly tiring, although he went into the exchanges gamely and, slashed out with occasional brilliant rallies that got under Greb's guard.

The champion was undamaged at the finish. Slattery received a cut over the right eye, but it did not inconvenience him. The fighting was fast throughout. Despite Slattery's local popularity, the decision was a popular one and Greb was given an ovation.

PLUTO WATTS WINS CHARTER OAK FEATURE

Hartford, Sept. 3.—Walter Dickerson drove Pluto Watts to a straight heat victory in the 2:06 trotting division of the Greater Charter Oak stake, valued at $5,000, here this afternoon. Etta Druen, Murphy driving, was the contender in each heat.

Hope Frisco, driven by Murphy won the 2: 10 division of the stake, unfinished Tuesday. Iva Loo, with Fred Hyde in the sulky, captured the 2:06 pace and Sumatra, driven by Ben White, took the two-year-old trotting event.

"POP" GEERS, DEAN LIGHT HARNESS DRIVERS, DIES FOLLOWING ACCIDENT

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 3.—Edward "Pop" Geers veteran of the race track, died here tonight from injuries sustained in a race at the Wheeling State grounds this afternoon.

Geers was injured when his horse, My Lady Guy, fell throwing Geers and the sulky in a heap. Before track officials could reach him, the horse stepped on his chest. He was taken to a Wheeling hospital unconscious. Geers was in second place when the accident occurred.

Geers whose home is in Memphis, Tenn., was 73 years old. He had been driving on the race track for over 50 yeasr, and was known as the "Grand old man of the turf".

At the bedside when death came were Robert Neal, his nephew, and Laf Schafer and Reddie Patterson, nationally known horsemen, who have been lifelong friends.

Geers never was conscious from the moment he was thrown head on from his sulky onto the race track. Physicians assigned his death to shock and internal injuries.

Edward F. Geers for many years was known as the "Grand Old Man of the trotting turf." To all patrons of the Grand Circuit he was "Pop" Geers—loved and honored by all as the premier reinsman of the light harness world.

In addition to his skill as a driver, Geers was noted for his success in developing champions. In all-round horsemanship the scope of his accomplishments was unparalleled. Not only did he take several world's single harness records, both trotting and pacing, but he also took the team records in both classes and held the world's triplicate team record, won in one of the most spectacular events ever seen on a race track.

This latter achievement was made in 1893, when he drove Belle Hamlin, Justina and Globe, hitched three abreast, a mile in 2:14 to a high four-wheeled skeleton wagon.

To Geers also belonged the two and three mile championships held respectively by Harvester and Nightingale.

"The Silent Tennessean," as Geers was called, was noted for his self-control and slowness to anger, on the track as well as in the stables. Not a half dozen times in more than 50 years of race driving was he known to go into the stands to complain of an adversary for foul driving or unsportsmanlike tactics, and never was he known to attempt to repay such tactics in kind.

Geers was born January 25, 1851, near Lebanon, Wilson County, Tenn. His passion for horses manifested itself early and while a young boy he became the owner of a fast colt. At the age of 20 he was training several horses and had won his first race at Lebanon with a little Morgan stallion called Little Dave; time 3.04 to a skeleton wagon. This horse belonged to a Tennessee preacher, who hired Geer to drive for him.

In 1873 Geers moved to Nashville, and two years later opened a public stable there. He soon attracted the attention of Major Campbell Brown, who had a farm at Springhill, Tenn. Brown sent him a few horses and from them Geers developed Brown Hal, the prophet of the famous Hal family.

For the next 12 years Geers made his headquarters at Columbia, and the Almont filly Alice West was one of the first horses he trained there. In 1877 he made a trip north with her and won at Cincinnati and again at Fleetwood Park, New York. He also appeared at Hartford, where he won with the same filly in 2:29 1-2 over Hogarth. His first champion, Mattie Hunter, 2:12 1-4 was brought out in 1878, and the following year she was made the pacing queen of the American turf. Geers won his first Grand Circuit race in 1881 with Annie W. a notable trotter.

After Mattie Hunter was sold, Geers dropped from sight for a time, but in 1889 he appeared at Cleveland with Brown Hal and Hal Pointer. In 1891 Harry Hamlin an influential turfman, purchased the latter and a number of the famous Village Farm horses were placed in Geer's stable. The results were so satisfactory that Hamlin made a contract with the trainer to move his headquarters to Buffalo.

For the Village Farm he raced The Abbott, which he drove to a world's record of 2:03 1-4; and Robert J., Nightingale, Fantasy, Bright Regent, The Monk, Heir-at-Law, Lady of the Manor, and Lord Derby.

Upon his return to Tennessee, Geers brought out and raced Walter Direct, Anvil, Dudie Archdale, Ardelh, The Harvester, Napoleon Direct, Billy Buck, Peter June, St. Frisco and Utawah. While following the Grand Circuit Geers won the chamber of commerce and the M. and M. at Detroit five times; at Hartford he won the Charter Oak purse with Nightingale, Billy Buck, the Harvester, and St. Frisco; at Lexington he won five of the Walnut Hall Cups, the Transylvania twice and the Kentucky Futurity with The Harvester and Etawah.

It was not until his 65th year, however, that Geers won the coveted honor of driving a mile in two minutes or better. In a free-for-all pace at the Columbus, (O.) Grand Circuit meeting on August 16, 1916, the veteran Geers, behind Napoleon Direct, made the first heat in 1.59 3-4.

His best showing following that was in 1922, when he brought out Sanardo, also 1.59 3-4, and Miladi Guy, 2:07 3-4.

STILL HOPES BRUTAL PRIZE FIGHT WILL STOP

Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 3.—"We still hope that this wretched, brutal prize fight will be prevented," said Rev. James Parker, president of the New Jersey society for the prevention of crime and the promotion of morals, today in connection with the society's plans to stop the scheduled Wills-Firpo heavyweight fight here September 11.

Dr. Parker said that with the Rev. Frank Ritter, secretary of the society, he is co-operating with Canon Chase of the Episcopal diocese of New York in preparing to "go to the courts if necessary to stop the fight.

RICKARD TAKES MEASURE STOP PREVENTION OF FIGHT

New York, Sept. 3.—Having shifted from Saratoga Springs to New York the scene of preparations for his 12-round battle with Harry Wills at Boyle's thirty acres on the night of September 11, Luis Angel Firpo today re-arranged his training schedule while Tex Rickard took steps to thwart any attempts to block the first, growing out of agitation for the deportation of the Argentine heavyweight.

"I anticipate no actual interference with the match, despite proceedings now before the department of labor," declared Rickard, referring to the efforts of the Rev. William S. Chase to have Firpo deported.

"However," the promoter continued "I called Firpo to New York to complete his training so that he will be on the ground in the event anything develops and have taken steps to protect his and my interests. These charges against Firpo are absurd, but I am prepared to fight any action designed to prevent the match. I have no reason now to believe any interference will actually develope. I am going right ahead with plans for the contest."

Nevertheless, Rickard seemed relieved when informed that in department of Labor circles it was not felt that sufficient time remained to accomplish deportation proceedings against Firpo before the fight. Should an order against Firpo be issued, it was pointed out, upon completion of the investigation by immigration authorities, the Argentine still would have recourse to the courts for a stay.

NEW LONDON POLICE WILL TESTIFY IN LIQUOR CASE AT NORWICH TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 3.—Several members of the New London police force will be important witnesses in the superior court tomorrow morning at Norwich when the cases of Patrick J. Murphy, Albert Brown, John P. Pettee, John Lyons, Charles Beecker, George Talbot and Morris Goodelman, charged with violation of the liquor law in transporting liquor through the city, will be tried. State's Attorney Arthur M. Brown let it be known this evening that the trial would start and he instructed Sergt. John Cavanaugh and Patrolmen William Graham, Thomas Lyden, William Manice, Howard Sloan and Dennis Murphy to be on hand, ready to testify.

The accused were arrested on Montauk avenue and Evergreen avenue on the morning of May 22 last, when found with three automobile trucks, laden with beer. They are now at liberty under bonds of $5,000 each.

The trucks were the property of the Boston-New York Transportation company and were en route to Bridgeport and New York. When the trucks reached New London a detour from Bank street to Willetts avenue existed because of road construction and when Willetts avenue was reached the drivers, being unfamiliar with the road, continued to Ocean Beach, where they made inquiry for the road to New York. Patrolman Sloan, who was off duty, was at the beach, and he detected the nature of the contents of the trucks. He telephoned to police headquarters and Sergeant Cavanaugh and a squad of patrolmen held up two of the trucks on Montauk avenue and the third on Evergreen avenue, where it had become stuck in the mud.

The continued case of Morris Plouzzner, 259 Huntington street, former local motion picture house manager, charged with violation of the automobile law in refusing to show his operator's license when requested to do so following his automobile colliding with another automobile, and failing to have an operator's license, was again continued in the police court this forenoon, the continuance being until Friday next. Counsel for Plouzzner appeared in court and stated that his client had been detained in Hartford, and for that reason the third continuance was granted. Plouzzner is at liberty upon his own recognizance.

Mrs. Edwin Keeney, 28 Pearl street, many weeks, continues to grow weaker. She is 83. Her husband, who is 94, is in feeble health, having grown extremely weak the past few days, the illness of his wife having had the effect of causing general breakdown in health.

Thomas Fitzgerald, Hartford, formerly of New London, is spending a few days in town.

George Fontaine, 22, of 2 Lena street, Southbridge, Mass., is a patient at Lawrence hospital, suffering from iodine poisoning taken last night at Groton with suicidal intent. Fontaine, who was recently discharged from the United States army, was despondent because of inability to obtain work. At the institution this evening it was stated that the man would undoubtedly recover.

Fontaine, in the uniform of a soldier, was noticed late in the evening in the vicinity of Thames and School streets. While in conversation with Tyson Hewes, Fontaine suddenly pitched forward and fell unconscious in the street. As he fell a vial that had contained iodine, and the contents of which Fontaine had swallowed a few minutes before he collapsed, was found by his side. He was taken to the office of Dr. F. W. Hewes, where antidotes were given him, after which Fontaine was transferred to the hospital.

Wallace Mather, Jr., is confined to his home, Smith street, Groton, suffering from a fractured great toe. Mather sustained the injury Sunday while at his work in the Midway yard of the New Haven railroad, a large piece of iron falling upon his foot.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezekiel Spitz, 300 Montauk avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. George H. R. Lawrey, 32 Harris court, have returned, having spent a week at Atlantic City. The trip was made by automobile.

Rev. and Mrs. Chester H. Howe and children returned to their home on West street today, having spent a fortnight at Center Sandwich, N. H. Rev. Mr. Howe is pastor of the First Baptist church and conducted the prayer and covenant meeting at the church this evening.

Capt. Stanley Ferris of Sound Beach, master of the 20-foot launch Betty June, owned by Edwin Binney, New York, is missing, as is the craft that Ferris sailed from this port. A search of Long Island waters has been started in an endeavor to locate the missing captain. Binney went to Block Island Labor day aboard the launch and after fishing throughout the day, the craft came to this port, where Binney went ashore. Ferris was given instructions to meet his employer at Sound Beach. Binney went to Sound Beach later and no trace of the Betty June nor the captain could be found. When Ferris and the boat failed to put in an appearance today, Binney caused a search of the waters of the sound to be started.

Groton is following New London in the matter of borrowing money. A special meeting of the borough will be held next Friday night to take action upon various matters, including the authorization of the water and light commissioners to make temporary loans to pay off $150,000 bonds which will become due Oct. 1st. Another matter that will be acted upon will be the authorization of the commissioners to purchase 400 acres of land from Charles A. Thompson, to add to the borough's watershed.

Charles E. White, treasurer of the Savings Bank of New London, addressed a meeting of the South Waterford Parent-Teachers' association in Waterford last evening. Mr. White's talk had reference to school savings and was highly interesting.

John Harrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Harrington, Warren street, this city, and Miss Florence Olsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Olsen, Groton, were married Monday evening at the rectory of Sacred Heart church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William J. Fox. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones, New London. Mr. Harrington is employed as clerk at the Groton postoffice.

A messenger boy in the employ of the Western Union Telegraph company lodged complaint with the police this evening because of the driver of an automobile parcel delivery backing over his bicycle and damaging it and then driving away without stopping to ascertain the extent of damage to the wheel.

Work on the construction of the new Woolworth building, 38 State street, is being rushed as rapidly as possible, for it is planned to have the structure closed in before cold weather. An additional force of workmen will be put on the job within a week or so.

Mrs. Adealide Huntley, 65, wife of Cassius Huntley, Bank street, died at New York Monday. On the same day Mr. Huntley was struck by an automobile while riding his motorcycle on Mohegan avenue and sustained painful injuries. Mrs. Huntley, besides her husband, is survived by a son, William Huntley, Jr., of New York, and by two daughters, Mrs. Wilson Decker of New London and Mrs. John Martinez, of New York.

Ira Allen, 18 Alger place, employed by the Robert Gair company, Montville, suffered a painful injury late yesterday afternoon when his left index finger was caught in a machine which he was operating. Avery was brought to Lawrence hospital where the injury was dressed after which he went to his home.

Ernest F. Gates, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Gates, 50 Nameaug avenue, and Miss Charlotte M. Ganey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Ganey, 38 Lincoln avenue, were married this morning at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, the nuptial mass, which was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends, being celebrated by Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley, the rector. Joseph T. Harrison was best man and Miss Helen Ganey, sister of the bride, was brides maid. Upon the conclusion of a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Gates will reside at 9 Hempstead street. Mr. Gates is deputy collector in the office of the internal revenue collector in this city.

F. H. Parker, a member of the crew of the U. S. S. General Timdry Pickering, one of the army transports plying between this port and the island forts, complained to the police this morning that he had been relieved of $25 last night, while visiting a friend in a dwelling in the rear of the detention hospital, off Garfield avenue. Sergeant John Cavanaugh investigated the complaint and obtained a confession from the tenant of the house where Parker spent the night, that the former took the money. The thief agreed to make restitution and Parker dropped the complaint.

A. Willis Wilson, New London, and Miss Lillian M. Stephens, of Chicago, were married yesterday afternoon at 294 Main street by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, pastor of the First Church of Christ.

Funeral services for William C. Daniels, caretaker of parks in the city, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at 13 Ocean avenue. Rev. Joseph A. Elder officiated. Among the mourners were delegations of members of Knights of Pythias and Pequot lodge, I. O. O. F., of which orders Mr. Daniels had long been a member. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Dorothy Davis, of Westerly, Sarah Castagna, Westerly, and Laura Bardini, Waterford, were patients dismissed today at Home Memorial hospital.

Harry Selikovitch, 27 West Coit street, has been ordered to appear in the police court tomorrow morning charged with violation of the city's traffic ordinances in parking his machine on State street for a period longer than 30 minutes. Selikovitch was detected parking his car in the restricted territory this forenoon by Traffic Officer John Courtney.

The funeral of Mrs. Annie G. Rowley, widow of Elnathan Rowley, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home in Waterford, the services being conducted by Rev. Joseph A. Elder, pastor of Huntington Street Baptist church. Relatives of Mrs. Rowley acted as bearers. Burial was in the family plot in Cedar Grove cemetery.

Edward Haskell, a youth residing at 31 Bellevue place, complained to the police this forenoon that while bathing at Butler's Beach, Pequot avenue, Labor Day, his bicycle was damaged by other youths. Sergant John Cavanaugh found two boys who confessed to causing the damage complained of. The offenders were turned over to the custody of Probation Officer Richard Mansfield.

A new traffic signal is being erected at the corner of State and Bank street. The new signal is electrically controlled and not only provides for the guidance of motor vehicles but pedestrians, also. The signal, which will be illuminated at night, will be in operation within a day or two.

Harold Jackson, of Pequot avenue; Louise Woodstock, Lenox street; Eleanor Lawson, Federal street; Arthur Durnars, Uncasville; Rosie Ballady, North Bank street; Mildred and John Matthews, West Coit street; Beatrice Palmer, Westerly; Frederick Kline, Fishers Island; Florence Berg, Williams street; Mrs. Leonard Lightine, Fishers Island; Mrs. Mary Phillips, Boston and Laure Romania; Fishers Isand, patients at Lawrence hospital, were discharged today.

The automobile owned and operated by Leslie Avery, clerk at the post office and a machine owned and driven by C. William Kaneen, 21 Culver street, were in collision this afternoon at the entrance of the driveway to the post office, State street. Both automobiles were damaged.

STONINGTON

In the Stonington town court Wednesday morning, Maurice Wein of Westerly was before Judge William A. Wilcox on a charge of reckless driving, Sunday, August 31. Inasmuch as young Wein, 19 years old, had no counsel his case was continued to next Monday.

There was also a charge against Alton Wilcox Dunham and Salem Taylor for reckless driving. The complaint was not pressed, however, as they had made a settlement through Attorney Flynn and were discharged.

John E. Austin was before the court having figured in an accident on the North road recently. He was unrepresented by counsel and witnesses and his case was continued until Monday's session at 9 a. m.

In the case of the state vs. John Kilkanny of 33 1-2 Liberty street, Pawcatuck, charged with disturbing the peace and assaulting Alton Hoxie on August 27th, he pleaded not guilty. The case was interesting and the trial was extremely humorous at times. Hoxie, who took the stand for the state, claimed that Kilkanny called him indecent names and tried to strike him without provocation on the afternoon of August 27. He was borne out in these statements by his housekeeper, who testified that she saw the attempted assault. A moment later, however, when Kilkanny took the stand, he denied these charges and alleged that Hoxie insulted him. Kilkanny said that Hoxie was sitting in a chair in his yard under the former's window muttering and swearing so that he could be heard about the neighborhood; when Kilkanny came downstairs and remonstrated in a lawful manner, Hoxie insulted him, called him indecent names and had him arrested. There were no other witnesses.

Judge Wilcox found Kilkanny guilty and imposed a fine of $10 and costs, which amounted in all to $26.82. The court was adjourned to Monday morning next at 9 o'clock.

An attractive athletic programme is being prepared by the high school students for the coming season. The captains, managers and coaches of the various teams have been selected. Football practice will begin in less than two weeks, and the schedule of games is being completed. There are bright prospects in all the sports this year. Especially is this true of football. Twelve letter men have returned and all will be available for the squad. Following is a list of those who will head the various athletic departments:

Value of Sentimentality.

We often hear it said that sentiment is nothing more than a species of maudlin self flattery, but be sure this is a cynical view of it. Whenever we sentimentalize we plow up the moral soil within us.—Henry Watterson.

MARKET WAS REACTIONARY.

New York, Sept. 3.—Stock prices developed reactionary trend today but trading continues on a restricted scale, total sales again approximating about three quarters of a million shares.

Various reasons were forthcoming from market observers for the downward trend. Stiffer money rates were considered a contributing factor. With the presidential election only seven weeks away, there was also a disposition on the part of some traders to ascribe the decline to political considerations on the theory that speculators for the advance desired further light on the drift of political sentiment before extending their commitments.

Except for the default on the B. B. and R. Knight, Inc., bonds, trade news was largely favorable. Weekly steel trade review reported further improvement in demand and increased operations, while pig iron output in August increased six per cent. over July, the first sign of an upward trend in the past four months. Other bullish factors included reports of a sharp reduction in Mexican Oil production, heavy oversubscription of the $30,600,000 Belgian bond issue and rising commodity prices.

United States Steel common closed a point lower at 108 3-8 on total sales of about 15,000 shares. American Can showed a net loss of 1 1-2 points at 132 and Baldwin closed 1 3-4 lower at 122.

American Woolen broke more than 5 points to 71 1-2 in reflection of the unfavorable conditions in the textile trade. Net losses of two to nearly six points also were registered by Associated Dry Goods, American Smelting, Colorado Fuel, American Agricultural Chemical preferred, American Ice, International Paper, Stewart-Warner, Stromberg Carburetor, National Lead and Woolworth.

United States Cast Iron Pipe touched a new high at 109 1-2, but later slipped back to 107 for a small fractional net loss. Among the relatively few strong spots in the industrial list was South Porto Rican Sugar, Virginia Railway and Power, Universal Pipe and Radiator preferred and Brooklyn Union Gas, up 1 to 2 points. Rails yielded with the industrials, although exceptionally good buying was noted in Norfolk & Western. Nickel Plate common and preferred and Pere Marquette preferred, up 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 points.

Call money held at 2 1-2 per cent. throughout the session. Time money and commercial paper rate were unchanged.

Foreign exchange displayed an easier tone. Demand sterling dropped nearly 2 1-2 cents lower to around $4.47 and French francs ruled about eight points lower at 5.33 1-2 cents. A further rise in Argentine paper pesos to above 35 cents reflected the increased grain and livestock exports from that country.

BOND MARKET.

New York, Sept. 3.—Bond prices drifted idly today, with sagging tendencies developing toward the close after an early period of steadiness. Trading again was restricted by the shifting of bank funds in connection with current first of the month requirements and crop moving demands.

Leadership of the foreign list was assumed by the new Belgian 6 1-8s, offered yesterday at 94 the bonds sold today as high as 95 on a large turnover. Allotments on the $30,000,000 issue, which was about four times oversubscribed, were cut to 25 per cent., with the new Hungarian bonds selling a point above the price at which they were offered in July. It was reported that bankers would market an additional $1,000,000 issue, originally allocated for foreign subscription.

Norfolk & Western convertible 6s kept pace with a rise of several points in the stock, but other rail issues moved within narrow limits. New Haven trance 7s, Northern Pacific 5s and St. Paul refunding 4 1-4s lost ground.

Reports from Washington that no change in the sugar tariff would be ordered before election imparted a firm tone to sugar company liens, with Eastern Cuba, Cuba Cane and Manati issues moving moderately higher. Brooklyn Union Gas 7s of 1932 advanced more than three points to a 1924 record. Steel, copper and rubber company bonds were heavy.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Sept. 3. — Wheat rallied sharply today on reports of heavy export busines with France, Germany and Italy. Offering which were readily absorbed by strong commission houses and seaboard interests who were removing hedges, were largely responsible for the upturn. Wheat closed one to 1 3-4 higher, September $1.24 3-8 to $1.24 1-2 and December $1.29 3-8 to $1.29 1-2; corn advanced 1 to 1 1-2c; oats unchanged to 1-4c up and provisions 7 1-2 oo 17 1-2 lower.

Reports of more favorable weather for harvesting in Canada and an easier tone in Liverpool cables gave wheat a downward slant at the start. However, reports of much damage to Argentina's new wheat chop, due to the continued drought and aggressive buying here by exporters, changed the trend of the market and prices shot upward, all deliveries showing substantial gains at the finish. Estimates on export business were more than one million bushels while yesterday's sales were said to be as much as five million bushels.

Corn rallied sharply on commission house buying. Strength in wheat and cool weather over the corn belt being the bullish influences.

Short covering, improved investment buying and reports of some frost damage in the Canadian northwest, carried oats higher after a weak start.

Weakness of hog values affected provisions.

CURB MARKET.

New York, Sept. 3.—After displaying early steadiness, curb securities reacted today on largely professional operations, several public untilities offering little resistance to selling pressure.

A fairly large turnover again was noted in the new Nickel Plate shares which were admitted to trading yesterday on a "when issued" basis, the common closing at 76 for a gain of 5-8 and the preferred at 84, up 1-2.

On a small turnover, National Power and Light advanced 27 points, but American Power and Light lost about six points and Commonwealth Power yielded 1 1-2.

Prairie Oil and Gas dropped 1 1-2 points but most of the other active oils showed only fractional recessions. Creole Syndicate the most active feature, advanced nearly a point on reports that the Gulf Oil Company had completed the first well on its property.

National Tea, which moved up 3 points, was one of the few strong spots in the Industrial list. The coalers and radios showed only nominal changes.

WESTERLY

At least twelve airplanes passed over Westerly about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, flying northerly, some of them in formation and at a considerable altitude. It is thought that the planes were a part of an immense fleet to be present in Boston to meet the round-the-world flyers expected to arrive at the Boston airport the latter parf of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle Penfield and son, of Derby, were guests Wednesday of the family of Stephen Evans in Westerly, making the trip by automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Keegan, Joseph A. Daly and Mr. and Mrs. John Casey of Norwich, have returned to Westerly after an automobile trip to the White Mountains during the Labor day recess.

Tuesday on the Potter Hill road, near the residence of Simon Nichols the Ford roadster, N-6588 Conn., of Harold H. Hammick of Clark's Falls collided with the Chevrolet touring car, 38-920, R. I., of Wallace Brayman of Arcadia. The force of the collision was such that the Ford car was sent off the road to the left, capsized, so that it rested on the top and all four wheels cleared from the ground. Although the machines were generally damaged, the occupants escaped injury. Westerly Traffic Officer Robert Kessel investigated the collision.

Births for the latter part of August, 1924, recorded in the office of the Westerly town clerk are as follows:

Aug. 16. Nancy Margaret Murono, daughter of Louis Williams and Susie Lydia Ferrore Murono.

19. John Lewis Toscano, son of Michael Angelo and Rose Anna Donovan Toscano.

21. Aaron Tetlow, Jr., son of Aaron and Arabella Wylde Holland Tetlow.

Margaret Capalbo, daughter of Joseph and Mary Perri Capalbo.

26. Frank Servido, son of Pasquale and Margaret Broccolo Servido.

29. William Smith, son of William T. and Clara Bonner Smith.

Rose Ritacco, daughter of Pasquale and Philomena Simone Ritacco.

30. Vincent Trebisacci, son of Nicholas and Theresa Bonvenuto Trebisacci.

Joseph Edward DePerry, son of Joseph and Edith May Chase DePerry.

Relative to National Defense day, Friday, Sept. 12th, the Westerly town council at its Tuesday meeting and on recommendation of Clerk Everett E. Whipple, who is to be the marshal of the parade on that day, adopted the following:

"The Secretary of War having designated Friday, Sept. 12, 1924, as National Defense day, this town council, believing that the day should be observed in an appropriate and patriotic manner, hereby adopts the following resolution:

"Resolved: That citizens generally be requested to display the Stars and Stripes on that day from sunrise to sunset; that all veteran, patriotic and other societies, Boy and Girl Scouts, citizens who may be considered enlisted for the day, and the several bands of music be requested to take part in the parade to be held on the afternoon or evening of the day; and that all the people o Westerly and vicinity be urged to do all in their power to make the patriotic exercises to be held, a success."

Edward J. Butler was elected grand knight Tuesday evening at the annual meeting of Narragansett council, No. 21., Knights of Columbus, of Westerly.

Other officers were chosen as follows, Russell Lenihan, deputy grand knight; James A. Donahue, chancellor; James McCormick, recording secretary; James F. Spellman, financial secretary; John H. McGuire, treasurer; Richard J. Butler, Jr., lecturer; Louis Phelan, warden; Angelo Pucci, inside guard; Thomas Donovan and Louis Toskas, outside guards; Cornelius L. Murphy, trustee for three years; Rev. J. Francis Vincent, chaplain. Past Grand Knight W. Lester O'Brien, delegate to R. I. state council; P. G. K. James McCormick, first alternate; P. G. K. William Donovan, second alternate.

The death of J. Irving Maxson, for many years prominent in Westerly as a builder and contractor and a representative of the town in the general assembly of Rhode Island from 1898 to 1899 and for 30 years secretary of the Westerly Rifle association occurred at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning at his home on High street. Mr. Maxson had been in poor health for several years. He had been confined to his bed for the past few days.

He was a member of the firm of Maxson company, contractors and builders, successors to C. Maxson Co., a building concern which started in 1842 and built from Cape Cod to New York and along the Connecticut shore. The concern was located for many years in a mill on West Broad street where the Walton block now stands.

Mr. Maxson was born Sept. 22, 1856 in Pawcatuck, the third son of Jonathan and Mathilda Mandana Maxson. He was educted in the public schools of Stonington and Westerly. After completing his education he became a teacher at the Avondale school in 1875 and 1876. The following winter of 1875 he studied in an architect's office in New York city and fitted himself for the building and contracting business. Mr. Maxson was librarian of the Westerly public library before it was removed from Union street.

March 2, 1872, he joined the Seventh Day Baptist church and for 28 1-2 years he was church clerk.

For 18 years he was an active member of the militia in Westerly, passing through the various grades to the rank of first lieutenant. He was secretary of the Westerly Rifle association for 30 years and was the association's last secretary. Mr. Maxson represented the town of Westerly in the Rhode Island legislature in 1898 and 1899. In 1912, with his family, he went to the Isle of Pines, West Indies, where he remained until 1917, returning to Westerly some time later.

Nov. 1, 1881, he was united in marriage with Miss Sarah Yarnell Randolph, daughter of the late Thomas F. and Carrie Yarnell Rondolph, of Plainfield, N. J. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ethel M. Guinn, and a son, J. Irving Maxson, both of Westerly. Mrs. Maxson died July 11, 1924.

There have have been few changes made in the teaching force of Westerly public schools which open this (Thursday) morning. At the high school there will be two new instructors, Miss Orina W. Kidd, teacher of history and civics and Miss Dorothy Honsan, teacher of English. Pleasant street will have five new teachers, the Misses Joan McDonald, Hattie E. Chisholm, Mae Murphy, Dorothy Beal and Caroline Hazard. Miss Louise Frechette and Miss Mary R. Doe have been added to the teaching staff of the Bradford school, which will open this (Thursday) morning. In the new building, John T. Kent, instructor in woodwork and mechanical drawing, is the only new member of the staff of special teachers.

Crowded conditions at the Pleasant street school have made it necessary to put two more classes on part time. All classes of grade III. and all but one class of grade IV. (six classes in all) will be on part time for several weeks until the new school building is ready for occupancy. At Bradford, where four classes were on part time last year in the old quarters, the new building makes it possible to remedy this condition and put all classes on full time.

Following is the complete list of teachers as announced Wednesday by Supt. Willard H. Bacon:

High school—Laura E. McIntire, principal; Kathryn H. Sturtevant, French; Charles Mason, vice principal, science; Thesbe Galanic, English; Ethel M. Frizzell, mathematics; Lena J. Russell, stenography and typewriting; Mary C. Burke, English; Margaret McWeeney, Latin; Orina W. Kidd, history and civics; Mabel R. Comstock, commercial subjects; Dorothy Hanson, English; Charles Weston, science and mathematics; Harold Rice, science and mechanical drawing.

Elm street school—Herman Driggs, principal, history; Annie M. McNelly, science; Katharine V. Nestor, English and music; Beatrice I. Gaylit, mathematics; Charlotte Larkin, English and history; Helen Papalia, English; Doris Rayner, geography, physical training and music; Maude A. Bottomley, history and mathematics; Eliza H. Syme, grade 6; Zella E. Shea, grade 6; Maud Ennis, grade 5; Gertrude C. Keleher, grade 4.

Pleasant street school—Pauline W. Stahle, principal, grade 6; Mary T. Thorp, grade 6; Helen B. McWeeney, grade 6; Sarah R. Read, grade 5; Elsie Rayner, grade 5; Dorcas Williams, grade 5; Bessie West, grade 4; Ethel L. Bishop, grade 4; Hattie E. Chisholm, grade 4; Joan McDonald, grade 4; Elizabeth M. Marr, grade 3; Mae Murphy, grade 3; Margaret Oatley, grade 1 and 2; Dorothy Beal, grade 1 and 2; Beatrice W. Madison, grade 1 and 2.

Park avenue school—Mary L. Kelcher, principal, grade 5; Mary E. McAvoy, grade 4; Blanche S. Mason, grade 3; Kathryn Wilbur, grades 1 and 2.

Quarry Hill school—Jessie S. Berry, principal and state critics; Ruth Rockwell, grades 1 and 2; two pupil teachers, grades 3, 4, 5 and 6.

White Rock school—Ella C. Elderkin, principal, grades 7-8; Charlotte E. Percy, grade 5; Helen G. Marshall, grade 3; Louise Frechette, grade 4; Mary R. Doe, grade 6; M. Edna Niblock, grades 1 and 2.

Dunn's Corners school—Lillian K. Greene, grades 1-8.

Industrial school—Samuel W. Slocum, wood working; LaVerne D. Langworthy, machine shop practice and auto mechanics; Elwot T. Avery, related subjects.

Special teachers——Harriet M. Hood, penmanship and drawing; Jennie B. Stanton, physical training, reading; Marguerite Whitney, domestic science and art; James F. Kent, woodwork and mechanical drawing; Robert Valentine, music; Marjorie Haworth, domestic science and art.

The Westerly town clerk's office is in receipt of a communication from the federal engineer's office, Providence, relative to the dredging of the Pawcatuck river near the channel by the Pawcatuck plant of the Standard Oil Co., of New York. The proposed dredging is to cover an area 145 feet long, 30 feet wide and 11 feet deep. Work has already begun.

William McGinn, residing on Margin street, beyond Clark street, appeared before the town council and complained of the stench from the sewage plant. The council president assured Mr. McGinn that the matter would be taken up with the sewage commissioners. The apportionment of sewage assessment was voted petitioners.

Following an unfavorable report of the committee named to look into the matter of Arthur N. Nash's erecting a shelf by the Stanton Bazaar over the Pawcatuck river on which he was to move his temporary store, on Broad street, beside the new Washington Trust Co., building, the council voted that the petition should not be granted.

Councilman Campbell reported that he was unable to agree with Mrs. Powers as to any arrangement whereby the land of the unsed section of the Watch Hill road near the residence of Mrs. Powers who recently moved there from Springfield, Mass., might be purchased for the purpose of installing an ornamental fountain and the spending of large sums of money by them for landscape gardening.

A long discussion followed the report of Council President Campbell in which he stated that by a proposed agreement with Receiver Robert W. Perkins of the Shore Line Electric road an agreement was proposed whereby the town was to receive $3,000 and that the rails for the time being were to be left in the roadbed and become the property of the town on High street, Railroad avenue, Main and Beach streets and that part of the highway in Watch Hill between Nanigret avenue and along Bay streets. On other sections where the rails were taken up the ties were to be replaced with gravel or stone and the top smoothed off, scraped and rolled.

It was decided that the town was to be given two weeks notice before the junking of the electric roads began and that a complete draft of the agreement be submitted before it was voted.

Special consideration to two special building permits was given to two locations on Pierce street.

On motion of Councilman Smith, seconded by Councilman Nichols, Patrolman Fred T. Mitchell was voted Sergeant of Police in Westerly, which carries with it the deputy chief's authority, if his resignation is tendered of the deputy sheriff's office which he now holds, and when he qualifies.

New Oil Quickly Relieves Swollen Painful Joints

Swollen, painful and distorted stiff joints, whether it be in the ankle, knee, thigh, shoulder, neck, wrist, elbow or fingers of your hand, are due to some infection which has involved the tissue lining of the joints. This, in most instances, can be traced to internal poisons such as blind pus pocket in a tooth or a diseased tonsil which gives off poisons, and are carried in the blood to the joints thereby setting up an infection of the delicate membrane lining of the joints and causing the joints to become enlarged, swollen, creaky and extremely painful.

Buhler Oil, when applied to the affected joints, is readily absorbed by the tissues and penetrates quickly to the aching joint, neutralizing the pain-causing poisons in much the same way as milk of magnesia neutralizes an acid stomach, giving instant relief.

Get a bottle of Buhler Oil today and try a few applications in one evening. It gives quick results because it is instantly absorbed and contains a special ingredient which at once penetrates to the poison infected membrane in the pain causing swollen joint. Your druggist has it and we guarantee it to help you or it costs you nothing. For sale by Lee & Osgood, Andrew McLaughlin, J. A. Morgan, G. G. Engler, George M. Rathbone.

TAFTVILLE

Funeral services for Mrs. Pauline Antleman were held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter Mrs. Adolph Meyer of Lisbon. The services were conducted by Rev. H. Hunzinger of the German Lutheran church. Burial was in the family lot in Maplewood cemetery. The bearers were John Ely, Louis Boehm Charles Meyer and Henry Gley. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends at the services and the floral tributes were a silent testimonail to the esteem in which the deceased was held by her many friends.

Undertaker George Grant was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Antleman whose death occurred in this city Sunday evening at 8 o'clock was born in Prussia, Germany, Dec. 31, 1840, coming to this country in 1883. For 33 years she made her home in Taftville after which she removed to Lisbon, where she was resident for 17 years, up to the time of her death. Her husband, Adolphe Antleman died 31 years ago in Germany.

Mrs. Antleman, besides her daughter, Mrs. Adolph Meyer of Lisbon, is survived by five grand children, Mrs. John Ely, Mrs. Norman Boehm, Mrs. Henry Gley, Charles and Antinette Meyer, and three great grand children, John Jr., and Harry C. Ely and Hope Ann Gley, all of Lisbon.

Miss Dora Gladue of Norwich avenue and W. Dufault of Spencer, Mass., were married at Sacred Heart church Monday morning at 9 o'clock, Rev. U. J. Belrose, pastor of the church, performing the ceremony. Miss Mary Rockwell was maid of honor and the best man was Omer Gauvin. The bride was dressed in canton crepe trimmed with Spanish lace and wore a veil trimmed with orange blossoms. Her traveling dress was powder blue with Spanish lace trimmings with hat to match. The maid of honor wore a gown of pink canton crepe with hat to match.

Following the wedding ceremony breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents on Norwich avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Dufault left on a wedding trip which will include many points of interest in Worcester and Spencer, Mass. Upon their return they will reside on Norwich avenue.

Included among the guests from Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Jewett City, Taftville, Norwich and other places, were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dufault and son, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morneau and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dufault, from Massachusetts; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bernard from Rhode Island, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gladue, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hoppman, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Hoelck, Mr. and Mrs. Ducharme, Mr. and Mrs. LaRose and Mr. and Mrs. George Lasse and Postmaster of Connecticut.

ROTARIANS START CONCLAVE WITH ENTHUSIASM AT EASTERN POINT

Although murky and threatening clouds hovered over the Hotel Griswold at Eastern Point on Wednesday morning, it in no way cast a depressing feeling over the 500 or 600 Rotarians and guests gathered there for the "acquaintance conclave" of the 30th district, Rotary International. These Rotarians assembled for business and pleasure and the feeling of "It Ain't Gonna Rain No Mo'" prevailed throughout the day. The hotel, always a famous gathering place for those on pleasure bent, presented a colorful scene from early morning, when the first guests began to arrive, until late into the night. The hotel management and retinue left nothing undone for the comfort a nd pleasure of the guests.

Rotarians began arriving early and there was a steady inflow during the morning and greater part of the afternoon until by 6 in the evening it was estimated that nearly 600 Rotarians and Rotarannes had registered. Delegates from some clubs came by automobile caravan, while others from distant points came by train. All upon arrival at the hotel were welcomed by the reception committee and the hostess committee and escorted to the registration parlor, where they secured their badges, and then went out to become acquainted with other members of this big Rotary family. It was "Hello, Bill," and "Hello, Ed," and "Hello, Jack," in heavy masculine tones, and then in softer and sweeter tones, but none the less cordial, "Why, Mrs. ——, I am so glad to see you" and "If there isn't Mrs. ——. I must talk to her. I haven't seen her since Rutland" and so on during the morning.

DR. HUGH B. CAMPBELL, President of Norwich Club.

This contagious spirit of good fellowship flooded the hotel until every room rang with laughter and resounded with the slaps on the shoulder as friend and brother greeted one another. This continued until luncheon time.

Promptly at 1 o'clock the Rotarians and their guests assembled in the beautiful and spacious dining hall of the Griswold. The meeting was opened by District Governor Alfred E. Lavery of Bridgeport who after a brief welcoming speech introduced Hugh B. Campbell, president of the Norwich club, who presided at the "acquaintance meeting." President Campbell in turn introduced Senator "Bill" Park of the Norwich club as song leader.

Senator Bill, always one of the snappiest song-leaders, was even in better form than usual and he injected a wonderful spirit of enthusiasm into the assemblage and the singing was the "best yet."

Presidents Sing

The attending presidents of the various clubs throughout the district were called upon for a song. Seventeen presidents responded and were duly decorated with a placard bearing their name and the club from which they came. The clubs representatives were Percy L. Wright, Greenwich; Robert O. Harper, Great Barrington, Mass.; Leo Korper, Hartford; Rev. John Ailson, Holyoke, Mass.; E. T. Bradstreet, Meriden; George L. Smith, Milford, Fred J. Dawless, New Haven, Edward B. Regan, New London; Harry Finlayson, North Adams, Mass., Hugh B. Campbell, Norwich; Gilbert M. Brewer, Pittsfield, Mass.; Howard Selby, Springfield, Mass.; Lester Ross, Torrington; Albert Smith, Turners Falls, Mass.; George Crais, Wallingford; James Dewey, White River Junction, Vt. The presidents sang in fine harmony and were roundly applauded for their efforts.

Following the presidents' songs there were two selections by the club secretaries. There were eleven secretaries at the acquaintance meeting and they were: Louis M. Pawlett, Bridgeport; Samuel Ludlow, Hartford; Fred Lyon, Milford; Henry T. Frenier, Montpelier, Vt.; J. William Clark, New London; J. Nelson Weymouth, Norwich; Chester Pike, Springfield; John Jack, Torrington; John R. Cottrell, Wallingford; Edward W. Hubbell, Westport; A. J. Parker, White River Junction.

The Norwich club with about 60 members present was called to sing its Rotary song, Rotary Forever, the words and music by Henry J. LaFontaine, club pianist. This song was first sung at the Fall Conclave held two years ago at the Griswold. The club sang with a spirit that swept the room and they were forced to respond with an encore.

Following several announcements by Lew Olney, chairman of the sports committee, relative to the programme of sports for the conclave, there were two delightful solos by Mr. Fontaine, Major and Minor (Sprose) and Kitty O'Toole, (Protheroe). Mr. LaFontaine was accompanied by Mrs. Charles A. Saxton of Norwich. Mr. LaFontaine's selections were heartily received and the Rotarians were reluctant to let him go.

Charles A. Saxton, recently returned from a trip abroad, brought greetings from the Edinburgh, Scotland and London, England clubs to the Acquaintance Conclave.

James L. Case Speaks

The after-dinner speaker was James L. Case of the Norwich club, who took for his topic "The Challenge of Friendship." Mr. Case said in part:

An occasion such as this exerts a most stimulating influence over each one present. To me it is "The Challenge of Friendship." We may all possess a variety of talents, live in different sections of this 30th Rotary district, represent one of the several classifications of business, may be married or single, in fact, each may differ widely from the other in personality, manner of living, habits or customs, but in one respect, at least we are all alike. The older I grow the more I believe the friendships I have made are the most valuable asset I possess. They are the choicest of my possessions. The little snap from the slums was right when he said: "A friend is a fellow who knows all about you but who likes you just the same."

I am thoroughly confident that you will agree with me when I assert that any man, and any real Rotarian particularly, is alike when he places an almost sacred valuation upon the friendships he has made. And so, perhaps, because this is true we may, with profit, consider, at the very beginning of this acquaintance conclave, some of the friendships that have made their impressions upon us and what friendships have helped us to do for the other fellow.

Rotary is built upon a solid foundation of friendship. Had not Paul Harris believed in his friend there might never have been a Rotary International today. Had others of our acquaintance not been moved by a similar sentiment, neither you nor I would, today, be Rotarians. The history of the ages is filled to overflowing with stories of friendship and the mere mention of the names of "Jonathan and David," "Damon and Pythias" or "that friend sticketh closer than a brother," and your heart and my heart beats a little quicker and life seems better and even more worth while. Those of you who are familiar with the life of Robert Louis Stevenson remember that when the dread disease which at last claimed him as its victim, fastened itself upon him, he decided to spend his remaining days on the island of Samoa, in the home he built for himself on the heights far above but overlooking the clean and beautiful waters of the ocean. You remember how he learned of the fact that many persons were being kept within prison walls on the island that day after day as opportunity offered, he visited them and endeavored to cheer them in the hour of their confinement. By word and deed and smile he worked. When some of them were freed they sought in some way to repay the kindness he had shown, but how to best express their love they scarcely knew. They soon discovered that it was with the greatest difficulty that Stevenson was able to make his way both to and from his mountain home over the rough paths on the mountain side and each day his failing strength made such a journey even harder. One of the natives conceived the idea of building a road up the mountain side to the cottage on the heights and told his companions of his desire.

They told others and the thought was turned to action even though the Samoans are rarely known to work when it is not absolutely necessary. In course of time with much labor, toil and effort the road was built and named in the Samoan dialect, "the road to the house of the loving heart."

Such is the story of a friendship that had touched the hearts of beings of a foreign nation. Your life has been influenced by The Friends of Yesterday. Can you ever forget the charms of your childhood days? Do you not recall the hours and the days and the years you spent in the companionship of the pals of your youth? Are you not thinking this very minute of her friendship, who with perhaps only the exception of your mother, has, more than any other being, helped to make you what you are today. If so, then, thank God for them. And the friends of today, those who know all about you, all about your strong points, all about your weakness, all about you, just as you really are, and they, the ones who like you just the same. Am I not correct in saying they are the most precious assets you possess? I know I am and I know you know I am.

The friends of tomorrow. Yes, what of them? Who will they be? It is a question that only you and I can answer for ourselves. Remember please there are: a friend, a good friend, a better friend and a best friend. Some are better friends than others and only a few are "best."

Friendship cannot be bought with money. You must pay for such, however, by giving the best you have of character, of love and affection for "a man who would have friends must show himself friendly" and for all of these Rotary stands.

What are you and I using to build up and develope these virtues, these ideals, this every practical standard. Before me on my desk in my own room in my own home is the copy of my Rotary Code of Ethics. I look at it every morning and read a sentence for the day. I look at it every night and seek an inspiration from it, as I recall the experiments of the last preceding hours. Have you ever done a similar thing? If not, please let me commend such a practice to you.

It won't make you perfect I am sure, for I know it has not made me so, but it has helped to make me a better man, a better Rotarian and a better friend because it has taught me to strive to live by the teachings of the Golden Rule.

This is the message to you, today, my fellow Rotarians. Let us strive to preach and practice this Gospel of Friendship. Let us rededicate ourselves and our lives to its teachings. Let us purpose to appreciate more and more our friends of the past and of today. Let us resolve to seek the companionship in the future, particularly of the best of friends and because we need such friends so much. We will here and now determine to be the friend to our friends that we would have them be to us.

If there shall be one pledge we will long remember the Acquaintance Conference of the 30th Rotary District and thank a kind Providence for having made possible our attendance at this meeting.

At the conclusion of his talk Mr. Case was accorded a flattering ovation after which the meeting came to a close.

Pittsfield Boys' Band

Following the luncheon there was a delightful concert given by the Rotary Club Boys' band of Pittsfield, Mass. The following is a brief history of this band.

In the fall of 1922, a few members of the Pittsfield Rotary club conceived the idea of providing musical education for boys who showed aptitude but were unable to obtain training. In January 1923, the Pittsfield Rotary Club had established a fund for purchasing instruments, uniforms and employing a regular instructor. In that month twenty-eight boys, almost without exception unable to read a note of music, started their musical education. In four months time these boys appeared upon the street in band formation, uniformed and trained. There has been no other instructor than one band master who has taught the playing of each individual instrument. Today there are thirty-eight regular members of the Band and ten others who are taking preliminary lessons and will soon be ready to play band parts. The Boy's Band is being entirely supported by subscriptions of members of the Pittsfield Rotary Club without assistance from Club's Treasury.

At the meeting at noon E. Lewis Olney of the Rutland, Vt., club called attention of all golf players to the tournament to be played off at the Shennecossett Country club while the conclave was in progress and the large silver loving cup won last year by Rutland, after being given by the club as a competitive cup, was shown. This cup, explained Rotarian Olney, was to go to the club in the district whose men turned in the four lowest scores during the qualifying rounds, Wednesday. The award he said, with others in the golf tourney and competitive sports list would be made at the Friday noon luncheon.

Seven prizes, he said, would be awarded in the golf tournaments, for club, winning team, for lowest individual qualifying score, for winner of tournament, for runner-up of second sixteen and third sixteen and also winners of each losing eight.

Play began shortly after noon at the Shennecossett course and continued until late into the evening. Norwich men came through with the lowest scores received up until late Wednesday evening and unless figures are changed Willis Austin and Frank Welch of the Norwich club will be tied for lowest qualifying scores, at 89 each, and the Norwich club will get the Rutland cup for best four scores of any club, the four lowest scores returned being by Rotarians Willis Ausin, 89, Frank Welch, 89, "Bill" Park 93 and Ed Harris 102. Unless these figures are beaten by cards turned in too late for publication it looks like an all Norwich day on the links.

The scores of Wednesday's qualifying round and pairings for today (Thursday) are as follows:

First Flight—F. P. Welch, 89; J. Allison, 98; Dr. Lockwood, 94; B. C. Buxton, 101; J. Caulkins, 92; Dr. Gibson, 100; J. A. Calder, 97; E. A. Harris, 102; Dr. Bush, 91; D. St. C. Donnelly, 99; H. Wilcox, 97; H. Toothacker, 102; F. G. Patience, 94; A. G. Bliven, 101; S. B Gibbs, 97; Dr. Reardon 102.

Second Flight —: H. F. Bliven, 103; G. W. Pike, 108; E. S. Olny, 106; G. P. Miller, 108; R. Clapp, 104; H. G. Manning, 108; H. A. Cook 107; J. R Cottrell, 114; E. Frederick, 103; J. F. Ahern, 108; R. P. Miller, 106; M. G. Beebe, 112; H. A. Lyman, 104; Warren Higgins, 108; C. W. Olson, 107; L. J. Ross, 115.

Third Flight—T. W. Burden, 116; E. A. Smith, 130; H. B. Curtis, 119; F. G. Smith, Jr., 110; F. G. Smith, 118; bye: M. E. Van Duyn, 120; bye; Dr. Gilbert, 116; bye; G. Empsel, 119; bye: H. W. Bliven, 120, bye; J. E. Mallett, 129, bye.

Competitive Sports

During the afternoon opportunity was given for those wishing to enter the barn-yard golf tourney (horseshoe pitching) to get in some practice and led by "Al" W. Vining of the Springfield club a number of close and interesting practice games were run off on the quoit grounds at the rear of the tennis courts.

Match games are to be started this (Thursday) afternoon and already over thirty entries have been received and it is likely that play will be close, assuring large galleries. Prizes will be awarded for best players in each division.

Many others enjoyed an afternoon of sport on the tennis courts or at the swimming beach, while others took automobile rides through New London and nearby towns enjoying the beautiful scenery of the various shore roads leading out of Eastern Point.

Dinner Program

Shortly after 7.30 in the evening the dining hall was once again the scene of a happy gathering as Rotarians, wives and guests attended the president's dinner in charge of the Springfield Rotary club, Springfield, Mass. Throughout the dinner delightful selections were furnished by the Griswold orchestra after which Governor "Al" E. Lavery read before the conclave, a telegram from Everett W. Hill of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, president of Rotary International, which read as follows, "Greetings to the executive committee and may the Rotary program for the year meet with your cooperation, executive committee, district governs and clubs.

The meeting was then turned over to Howard W. Selby, president of the Springfield club, who said that it was a delight to him to work under such a man as Governor "Al" but that he had noticed one omission in the reading of the telegram from President Hill, as follows, "We are fortunate to have Al laboring for us as governor this year."

Springfield Rotarians and Rotarianes then grouped about the piano and delighted the audience with two special Fall Conclave songs entitled "Springfield Greets You New London" and, "Springfield We'll Always be True to You."

President Selby then explained that it had been the purpose of the club to call upon the various club presidents during the evening, but, in as much as the presidents were introduced at the Norwich club meeting at noon, this part of the program would be omitted.

He then called on "Ed" Regan president of the New London club, who called the attention of the ladies to the two boat rides in store for them, the first this (Thursday) morning, starting from the Griswold dock at 9 o'clock, thence up the beautiful Thames river to Norwich and return. On Friday morning the trip, which will start from the hotel dock, will be out into the sound, around the several islands off the coast, the starting time to be the same as on Thursday.

The next number on the program was a vocal one, Mrs. C. William Kaneen of New London favoring with two selections. She was in excellent voice and charmed her audience with her rendition of Spring, by E. M. Grant. As an encore after an insistent applause, Mrs. Kaneen sang with feeling that tender melody, At Dawning, by Cadman.

Humorist Entertains

No Rotary conclave would be complete without some amusement, something to bring out a real hearty laugh to drown whatever cares the happy hearted Rotarians may possess, and, with this view in mind, the Springfield club presented John Thomas of Gloucester, Mass., the man who could play the "Perfect Fool."

For over an hour Mr. Thomas kept his large audience in good humor with his poems, jokes and stories. His facial expressions were exceptionally clever and went far towards making his selections the success they proved to be. In opening his program Mr. Thomas took sweet revenge on President Selby and the Springfield club by saying that he felt complimented to be picked out as the fool to entertain, out of all the fools there were to pick from in Springfield. At the conclusion of his entertainment, Mr. Thomas found it impossible to leave, and after one more humorous number, he launched into a more serious talk on Laughter, which in part was as follows: I love to make people laugh, you should laugh, get to really enjoy it, for it is the cheapest thing we can do in this life. No one knows any better than you Rotarians do, who believe in the cheerful attitude and the helpful word, just how much laughter really means to us. I tell you that if I had my way everyone would be a Rotarian. The Bible tells us to study ourselves and know ourselves. We must study God Almighty's clock to know our faults and lackings and then make up our minds to change. Smile all through life, it gets you a lot. The melancholy person loses much, people pass to the other side to speak and meet the smile of one who is happy. We live in the greatest country under God Almighty's canopy and under the best banner that floats. You hear people say, "We don't want preparation days. Let me tell you we do want them. The only way to keep out of war is to be so well prepared that no one would dare to fight us. We want to know where we are at, just as every housewife likes to know how things stand in her home. Other nations in the world are looking to our country today, looking to us for money, love and affection. We must set them right. We must show them how strong we are, then speak out and say to the world, "No sir, No more war."

President Selby then announced that an informal dance would be held in the hotel ballroom until midnight and under the supervision of the New London Rotary club this event proved as enjoyable as all others during the day.

In checking up the registrations it was found that the clubs were represented as follows: Barre, Vt., 2; Bellows Falls, Vt., 2; Bridgeport, 42; Burlington, Vt., 3; Greenwich, 27; Great Barrington, Mass., 5; Hartford, 49; Holyoke, Mass., 6; Meriden, 20; Milford, 4; Montpelier, Vt., 6; New Britain, 15; New Haven, 85; New London, 104; Newport City, Vt., 2; North Adams, Mass., 8; Norwich, 72; Palmer, Mass., 8; Pittsfield, Mass., 12; Putnam, 2; Randolph, Vt., 2; Rutland, Vt., 4; Stamford, 1; St. Johnsbury, Vt., 2; Springfield, Mass., 38; Torrington, 26; Turners Falls, Mass., 15; Wallingford, 12; Waterbury, 14; Westport, 5; White River Junction, Vt., 2; Willimantic, 12; Winsted, 4; Windsor, Vt., 2.

The reception committee is the members of the New London club and their wives with President Ed Regan acting as chairman. The hostess committee of which Mrs. Albert E. Lavery chairman, comprises the wives of the members of the executive committee, Mrs. Howard W. Selby of Springfield, Mass., Mrs. Louis M. Pawlett of Bridgeport, Mrs. Frederick J. Dawless of New Haven, Mrs. Gilbert M. Brewer of Pittsfield, Mass., Mrs. Arthur G. Hinckley of Hartford, Mrs. E. Lewis Olney of Rutland, Vt., and Mrs. Edward E. Regan of New London.

The members of the hostess committee arrived Tuesday evening and immediately communicated with the wife of each club president of the district, who presented the women guests of the club members. Through the cordiality of these committees the conclave soon became as one big and happy family.

In the registration parlor four young women were kept busy registering the Rotarians and their guests as fast as they arrived. Miss Miriam Fisher, assistant secretary of the New Haven club, assisted by Miss Laura J. Conni of Groton, Miss Maud Louba of Waterford and Mrs. Florence C. Hermanns of New London as acquaintance registrars had charge of the registering of guests.

The executive committee, to which no small amount of credit is due for their untiring efforts in making the conclave a success, by their genial hospitality and their readiness to serve comprises: Howard W. Selby, chairman, of Springfield; Louis M. Pawlett, secretary, Bridgeport, Frederick J. Dawless, treasurer, New Haven, Gilbert M. Brewer, Pittsfield, Arthur G. Hinckley, Hartford, E. Lewis Olney, Rutland, and Edward E. Regan, New London. Lew Olney was in charge of the sports that fill in the afternoons of the conclave, the mornings being devoted to business.

CONCLAVE NOTES.

Not much doubt but that everyone is enjoying the "acquaintance conclave" judging from smiling faces and jolly, good natured banter.

Speaking of smiling faces, there were four in the registration room who, although busy nearly all day registering guests, greeted everyone with a cheery smile.

The Springfield club with their special overseas hats made a snappy appearance and lent color to the occasion.

The New Haven club was distinguished by gold and blue hatbands and turned out 85 strong.

Don Adams of New Haven, recently elected first vice president of Rotary International, was a busy man receiving the congratulations of his many friends in the 30th district.

Another busy individual was Lew Olney, chairman of the sports committee, who rounded up the golfers both ancient and royal, and the more humble barnyard variety.

There was a rumor about the hotel that the Prince of Wales, who is a member of the London (England) club, would arrive in the harbor in the royal battleship to attend the conclave. This, however, proved to be false, although an invitation had been extended him.

Governor Al Lavery was as busy as the proverbial bee on a blossom and yet he had time to greet one and all. He made a graceful response when the Rotarians sang "Our Governor."

Many wondered when the club presidents sang "How Dry I Am" whether it was an invitation or a lament.

The programs, which contained the pictures of the executive committee and other notes of interest, were artistic in their design and a very welcome bit of paper.

Genial Jim Hammond, chief welcomer, never erased that broad smile from his face from morning until night. Jim greeted every Rotarian like a long-lost brother or sister.

Small wagers are being made on the outcome of the Norwich-New London ball game and there have been many requests for Ray Nash to pull his diving act again.

First International Vice President "Dan" A. Adams of New Haven and Past District Governor George Crais of Pittsfield, Mass., arrived at Griswold late Wednesday and were given a rousing reception.

Rumor has it that a number of Rotarians departed suddenly for parts unknown, rather than stay at Griswold and be questioned about their golf score Wednesday afternoon.

"Al" Vining brought his own horse shoes for the barnyard golf tourney. They say he's a bad man to beat as he has the habit of using ringers to help him win.

Looks like the Rutland boys are going to lose the big silver loving cup to the boys from the Rose of New England.

RETURN FROM MOTOR TRIP OF A MONTH

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hagberg returned Tuesday at 2 in the morning from a month's automobile trip and visit to Rock Falls, Ills., the former home of Mrs. Hagberg. They left Norwich August 1 by way of Pittsfield, Albany, Rochester and Buffalo, where a first brief stop was made including a sidetrip to Niagara Falls. While in Buffalo they took an airplane ride of about 15 miles over the city. They then continued westward through the lake shore towns to Toledo, Ohio, where they visited a former Norwich boy, Charles Hulse, through there to Chicago where a visit was made to an uncle of Mr. Hagberg, and then westward 150 miles to Rock Falls. On the way through Ohio they visited the city of Ukraine, seeing the wreckage of the recent tornado which so badly wrecked the city. About two weeks was spent around Rock Falls. The return trip was started Tuesday morning southward to Peoria and the badly flooded district where going was bad and many detours were necessary because of washed out bridges.

While in Peoria Mrs. Hagberg visited many of her girl friends. From there the trip eastward was through Indianapolis and Columbus, Ohio, the Allegheny Mountains to Washington, D. C., where they arrived and spent Sunday evening. On the last day a run of 325 miles was made making a total milage of 3,516.

ON AUTOMOBILE TRIP FOR NINE MONTHS' HONEYMOON

New Haven, Sept. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. George Harrison today completed half of a nine months' honeymoon which will take them on an automobile trip of 16,000 miles when they stopped here on the way from Los Angeles, Calif., where they were married, and paid a visit to relatives of the groom.

Harrison, who was born and grew up in this city, traveled extensively, leading in Los Angeles after serving in the World war. There he wooed and wed his bride. Carrying out a life-long intention to "see America first," he said, he and his bride started on the trip around the border of the country.

So far they have been through the northwestern states and into Canada, traversed the Yellowstone valley, where they encountered a forest fire, visited several middle western states and cities, continued east through New York state, thence to the Thousand Islands and south to this city. They expect to return over the southern route. Mrs. Harrison is keeping a diary and will write a book on their travels when they reach Los Angeles, she says.

A dozen cameras were aimed at a couple in the marriage license bureau at Philadelphia, all because they received the 500,000th marriage license issued in Philadelphia under the present law, which has been on the statute books for thirty-nine years. Mrs. Spencer D. Wright, a widow, and one of the recipients of license No. 1, issued in September, 1885, sent her best wishes to the holders of license No. 500,000.

"Is there a candidate who hasn't the endorsement of the klan outside of La Follette?" Minor S. Treat, of Bridgeport demanded to know. Ira M. Ornburn, retiring secretary-treasurer of the federation, who is a John W. Davis worker, replied that there is. "There is not," Mr. Treat insisted. "Tell the truth," said Mr. Ornburn.

"After Senator La Follette attacked the klan," Mr. Treat continued, "Mr. Dawes and Mr. Davis came out in half denial against the klan. The imperial wizard of the order shortly said, Senator La Follette was the arch enemy of Americanism. We will do nothing to menace Dawes and Davis I am eligible to join the klan, but I am not a bigot."

"Vote for La Follette and Wheeler," Mr. Ginty said. "It's the ticket which will unloosen the shackles of 48,000,000 labor men in this country."

The resolutions committee referred the endorsement resolution to the convention without recommendations.

The reception committee was authorized to invite Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, to address the convention tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. Ornburn, who had been nominated Wednesday for re-election as secretary treasurer, declined the nomination. He explained that his action was not prompted by any action of the convention or anticipated action.

Mr. O'Meara was re-elected president, John J. Egan, of Bridgeport, was elected secretary-treasurer and the following were elected vice presidents: Danil A. Gorman, of Danbury; Otto J. Schuetz, of Hartford. Charles J. Moore of Torrington, and Renseflear Beadle of Meriden. New Britain was chosen as the next convention city.

Among the other resolutions passed was one urging the passage of a bill in the next legislature requiring all women in beauty parlors to serve an apprenticeship of three years as is required of male workers in barber shops. It was claimed that the health of the community was endangered by inexperienced women.

Another resolution demanded that "the proper authorities enforce the law pertaining to the closing to the public of all meat markets on Sunday except those affected by religious belief, and that such latter be closed to the public on Saturday."

still another resolution condemned President Coolidge's veto of the postal workers wage increase bill as cruel and inhuman.

A resolution proposing that the salaries of compensation commissioners be increased from $4,500 to $6,000 aroused lively debate but was defeated. Secretary-Treasurer Egan pointed out that the federation was in no position to make such a request and that passage of the resolution might be interpreted as an effort to influence the commissioners in adjudicating compensation cases.

AMERICAN WOOLEN OMITTED COMMON STOCK DIVIDEND

New York, Sept. 4.—In view of the extreme depression in the textile business, the directors of the American Woolen Company, meeting today in Boston, omitted the quarterly dividend of 1 3-4 per cent. of the common stock. The stock had been on a 7 per cent. annual basis since October 15, 1919, prior to which the rate was 5 per cent. from April 15, 1916, when dividends on the common stock were inaugurated.

While the unfavorable conditions in the textile trade have been a matter of almost common knowledge, the omission of the dividend at this time was entirely unexpected by Wall street and resulted in the stock breaking from 72 3-8 to 68 1-2, the lowest price since 1921. The high price of 78 7/8 was established last January, but the stock had sold within 3 points of this top yesterday.

In a brief announcement of their action, the directors stated that "when conditions warrant, dividend on the common stock will be resumed." They declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 3-4 per cent. on the preferred, payable October 15 to stock record September 15.

While production in 1923 was the largest on record for any peace year and exceeded in only two war years, the goods openings last winter were disappointing and resulted in unsatisfactory operations during the first half year. Present operations are believed to be 40 per cent. of capacity as compared with 61 per cent. last June.

Two of the company's largest mills, the Ayer and the Wood mills, have been practically shut down all summer although ordinarily a two weeks' shut down is sufficient to take up the slack in business. Heavy cancellations, especially in women's lines, have been reported from time to time.

WORTHLESS CHECK PASSER HELD UNDER $2,500 BOND

New Haven, Sept. 4—Dudley Shannon Mackenzie, 20, who claimed after his arrest on charges of passing worthless checks on several local merchants to have taken the action order to secure some first hand impressions of the county jail as a sociological investigator, was given additional opportunity to observe life at the institution today. He appeared in court where the charges against him were continued until Thursday until a bond of $2,000. Mackenzie was stopping at a Yale dormitory when arrested and claimed to have been directed in his sociological investigations by a Yale professor. The police say they have found a number of checks passed by Mackenzie, in addition to the three first discovered. They are still looking into his record.

OCCULIST SAYS GILPATRIC IS HOPELESSLY BLIND

(Speial to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, Sept. 4.—G. Harold Gilpatric, cashier of the First National bank, is still at the Day Kimball hospital but will be removed to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Gilpatric, before Sunday. Thursday afternoon his eyes were examined by Dr. George M. Burroughs, an eye specialist of Danielson. Dr. Burroughs announced after the examination that Gilpatric's sight is absolutely hopelessly gone. This was not told Gilpatric.

It is still unknown whether Gilpatric realizes his condition or not, but it is believed that he must know it by now although he has never put the direct question as to whether or not he is blind. Whenever he has questioned about it indirectly he has been given evasive answers.

It was four weeks ago Thursday evening that Gilpatric was found in his bedroom with a bullet wound in his right temple following his knowledge that the federal bank examiners were at work in the bank. He has not seen daylight since he fired the shot and will never see the sunshine again. It is in a great measure this self-inflicted punishment, more severe than any court would mete out to him, that has aroused sympathy rather than censure for the defaulting cashier and this was doubtless a factor in the case with which a bond of nearly twice the amount set by the government was raised. It doubtless could have been doubled again had necessity required to keep him from being incarcerated for the time being, for there were but 26 out of the 40 signers of the petition who appeared to carry out their agreement to sign the bail bond, as the meeting was so unexpected and so hurriedly called.

The most pointed statement made by Gilpatric leading to the belief that he is blind was uttered this week while one of the members of the family was calling on him. When he started to walk across the room the relative started to assist him when Gilpatric said: "Please don't. I must learn to do that for myself." Nothing further was said and he was not asked the meaning of his statement.

Besides resigning from the state central committee, as announced on Thursday, Gilpatric has resigned as a trustee of the hospital where he is now a patient and will resign from all other positions that he now holds.

REPORT OF BATTLE IN PROGRESS NEAR SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Sept. 4—(By the A. P.)—Although only one of the three armies of General Lu Yung Hsiang, Tuchun of Chekiang, who is fighting to retain control of Shanghai, against the assaults of General Chi Skieh-Yuan, of Kiangsu, was engaged in the battle which continued throughout today, the Chekiang headquarters asserts it was able to more than hold its own.

Despite the fact that its line from the Shanghai-Nanting railway to the Yangtze River was lightly held, the Chekiang leader reported that their army held their positions in the center and made some progress in the Hwangtu sector on the railway and in the vicinity of Liuho, on the river. The Kiangsu force used artillery in its attacks on the Chekiang wing near Liuho, some of the shells falling in that town and damaging the Seventh Day Baptist Mission Hospital in which two American women, Miss Grace I. Crandall, and Miss Susie M. Burdick, remained with their patients.

Both sides are said to be rushing up reinforcements, besides, men and women in the affected area are being conscripted, causing a further influx of refugees into Shanghai, the Chinese quarters of which already crowded with people fleeing to escape the fighting.

General Lu has two further lines of defense. The second, held by 200,000 men, the same number as engaged in today's battle, extends from near the boundary of Northern Chekiang to a point west of Woosung the outer port of Shanghai. The third army, some 8,000 strong, is stationed in Hangchow and Ningpo, in northern Chekiang.

THIS SHAD WANDERED FAR FROM ITS "OLD HOME" STREAM

Hartford, Sept. 4—A shad bearing a brass tag clamped on its tail by the Connecticut state board of fisheries and game when caught in Salmon river, this state in June, has been caught by a commercial fisherman off Sequin Beach, Phippsburg, Me., according to word received by Superintendent John W. Titcomb from the United States Bureau of Fisheries. The shad was one of eight hundred caught by agents of the state board in the Salmon river and released after being tagged. The tag on the recaptured one bore the inscription "C. F. C. No. 3059," the initials standing for "Connecticut Fish Commission." Knowing that the federal bureau of fisheries has been tagging cod fish, in a study of migrations the fisherman reported his catch to the bureau. Superintendent Titcomb says that the finding of this fish off the Maine coast upsets a theory held by many that the shad hover off the parents stream after migrating from it.

PROVED FARMING COSTLY FOR THE INEXPERIENCED

New Haven, Sept. 4.—The wrecked plans of a New Yorker, who had never seen a farm but bought one in this state and despite many tribulations managed to raise some of many incubated chickens was told in the bankruptcy court here today. Louis Schwartz, of Mt. Carmel, said he came here fresh from Gotham with money furnished by a philanthropic organization. He bought a farm, he said, purchased nine cows which proved tubercular, so that he was prohibited from selling milk and an incubator that raised more chickens than money. He experimented with a second hand automobile and contracted so many feed and grain bills and loans that his creditors finally forced him into the bankruptcy court, with liabilities of $20,000 and a 43 acre farm that was appraised at $1,350 as his only asset. Five lawyers for the creditors, with others listened to the man's story of his agricultural venture.

Why Pershing Was Chosen Commander

Former Secretary of War Baker Makes Public the Outstanding Factors in His Selection.

Indianapolis, Sept. 4.—General Pershing's military record and his fidelity to orders from Washington while in command of the Mexican punitive expedition were the outstanding factors in his selection as commander of the American expeditionary forces in France, it is disclosed in a letter from Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, which the American Legion Weekly prints tomorrow.

Seven years afterward, in an issue which the Legion has devoted to commemorating General Pershi retirement from active army service Sept. 12, the "inside story of his appointment as commander in chief by the late President Woodrow Wilson," is told, according to the story.

Mr. Baker's letter, written from his law offices in Cleveland, in full, follows:

"The story you ask is interesting and has never been told, and I know of no reason why you should not have it exactly.

"When it was determined in 1917 to send an expeditionary force to France, I remarked to General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff, that it would be necessary to send a commander who would ultimately become commander in chief of a very large force, and asked him to have sent to my house the records of all the general officers and senior colonies of the regular army.

"These records I studied for some days and finally, purely on the basis of the records, selected General Pershing, whom I had never seen. My judgment, however, was reinforced by the fact that General Pershing had been in command of the punitive expedition in Mexico, with which I had been in daily contact by telegram, over a long period of time.

"The punitive expedition in Mexico had a most difficult and responsible task and its leader was required to exercise tact, self-restraint and consideration for the rights of the Mexican people in a very high degree. The desire of the president with regard to that expedition were explicit and positive, and the limitations imposed on General Pershing's freedom as a military commander were dictated by considerations of public policy rather than military expediency. General Pershing met all the requirements with splendid ability and loyalty to the wishes of the president as commander in chief.

"Further, the (Mexican) expeditionary force under General Pershing was the largest body of troops in active service which any American general (then on the active list) had commanded.

"After I had made my selection I submitted it to the criticism of General Scott, who approved it. I then carried it to President Wilson, discussed it, and it met with his approval. I at once telegraphed General Pershing in code to report to me at Washington, which he did. He and I had many conferences, and he established himself in an office in the war department, where, in co-operation with the chief of staff, the preliminary plans for the expeditionary force were worked out."

PONDERING ON THE FATE OF LOEB AND LEOPOLD

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Judge John R. Caverly, who will decide whether Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, will go to the gallows or the penitentiary for the murder of young Robert Franks, has finished a digest of the evidence and has only to write his opinion as to the punishment, he indicated today.

He said that sentence will be pronounced without fail on September 10th.

It was reported that the defense is considering two surprise moves in case the judge inflicts the supreme penalty. A plea that the boys have become insane since their pleas of guilty, and a plea before or after sentence to withdraw the pleas of guilty and change them to not guilty, were reported to have been considered. Defense attorneys refused to confirm or deny the reports.

WEATHER CONDITIONS AT PICTOU GOOD FOR FLIGHT

Pictou, N. S., Sept. 4—(By the A. P.)—Late tonight the indications were that fine flying weather would prevail tomorrow for Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith and the other American round-the-world fliers if they decide to make a jump from Pictou for Boston. The storm had subsided and the barometer was rapidly rising.

PRAISE FOR AMERICA'S WORLD FLIGHT AVIATORS

Ottawa, Sept. 4.—America's globe-circling aviators were such "good sports" in their contacts with Britain's flyers who also sought to blaze an air trail around the earth that the leader of the British squadron, Major A. Stuart Maclaren, will hurry to Boston to greet the Americans on their return to home soil.

Major Maclaren, on his arrival here today, announced he would depart tomorrow for the Massachusetts capital. He paid high tribute to the Americans' sportsmanship, declaring that without their aid, and the United States navy so graciously rendered at different points he could not possibly have flown so far as Japan, where disaster ultimately overtook him.

He would not mind "having another shot" at a round-the-earth flight, he admitted, and attributed his failure to the delay in the first stages of expedition. These delays, he said, brought him to the Pacific when weather conditions were the most adverse of the year.

"It was rotten luck that stopped us," he concluded.

NEW HAVEN SPORTING MAN HAD ONLY "CHICKEN FEED"

New Haven, Sept 4—John A. McKee, well known in local sporting circles, when cross examined in the local court house today as to his worldly possessions, drew his hand from a trousers pocket and tossing a few coins on the table declared them to be his total assets. He was under cross examination by Attorney R. J. Woodruff, counsel for Manes Sofas, who recently obtained a judgment against McKee in the superior court for $2,500 in a suit for recovery of money alleged to have been placed with McKee for gambling purposes.

Judge Munger as a committee of the court was hearing evidence as to McKee's ability to meet the judgment. McKee refused to reply to questions intimating that he owned an expensive car in which he was alleged to have ridden to court, denied that he had any interest in certain bank deposits in the name of another and replied to several questions by saying: "I refuse to answer on the ground that it might incriminate me."

THREATENING LETTER SENT TO PRINCE OF WALES

New York, Sept. 4.—A letter to the Prince of Wales saying, in part, "If you don't get out of the United Sattes soon you will meet a violent death." was received by the French consul-general's office today, it was reported to the police.

The letter, which was said to be three pages long, and in most portions incoherent, was postmarked Syosset. The police, to whom the letter was given, sent a man to Syosset in an effort to locate the sender.

Dr. Silas McBee, 70, former editor of The Churchman, died at his home in Charleston, S.C.

BRITISH VIEW ON QUESTIONS OF PEACE AND DISARMAMENT

Prime Minister MacDonald Tells Assembly of the League of Nations That the Problem of Aggression Should be Handled by Courts of Arbitration—Declares That Military Alliances Would Not Bring Security From Warfare—Insists That Germany Must Become a Member of the League—Predicts That America Will Enter the League When Europe Has Given Evidence or Her Desire For Peace.

Geneva, Sept. 4 (By the A. P.).—The British prime minister, Ramsay Macdonald, with characteristic forcefulness and precision, set forth before the assembly of the League of Nations today the British government's attitude on the questions of security and disarmament.

Arbitration was the keynote of his speech. The problem of aggression, he declared, could best be handled by a court or courts of arbitration. His government had no faith that military alliances could bring security, he said.

Everything in its power would be done by the British empire to widen the influence and prestige of the League of Nations, but Germany must become a member of the league, Mr. Macdonald insisted.

"If we cannot devise a system of arbitration, do not let us fool ourselves that we are going to have peace," the premier exclaimed.

Mr. Macdonald's references to the loyal way in which the American government was co-operating in the reconstruction of Europe were especially remarked on by many Americans. These references and his prediction that one day America would enter the league, when Europe herself had given evidence of her desire for peace, were widely commented upon.

Despite fundamental differences between Great Britain and France as to how best reach the goal of outlawing war, a hopeful note was struck in authorized French circles tonight that a way would actually be found before the present sessions of the assembly were concluded. Mr. Macdonald will deliver his feverishly awaited address before the assembly tomorrow morning.

The most favorite outline of the situation tonight is that France deems that security must come before unlimited arbitration and that disarmament should logically follow in the wake of the operation of arbitration

Two statements made by Premier Macdonald caused much misunderstanding and a particularly unpleasant feeling among Frenchmen. One was his apparent characterization of the league arbitration solution of the upper Silesia affair as a mistake.

Following upon the uproar caused by his remark, Mr. Macdonald issued a statement saying that he cited Upper Silesia as a case hotly criticized in some quarters and meant merely to point out that criticism like this received great publicity, whereas good

WILLIAM B. HAWLEY, 86 YEARS OLD COMMITTED SUICIDE

Sherman, Conn., Sept. 4—William B. Hawley, 86 years old, former town treasurer, and a former member of the Connecticut legislature, committed suicide in the attic over his store today. Mr. Hawley, who was one of the most prominent men of the attic over his store today. Mr. Hawley, who was one of the most prominent men of the town and well known in state republican circles, had been worrying for some time over a mix-up in financial accounts of the town while he was treasurer. Despite the fact that the town of Sherman had expressed their confidence in him in an official town meeting vote and has erased all suggestion of irregularities in his accounts, Mr. Hawley had brooded over the situation, according to his friends and has been in ill health for several days.

Mr. Hawley was found in the store attic, sitting in a chair with his head resting in the loop of a rope hanging from the ceiling. The rope had been used for some business purpose recently and had been left hanging from the rafters. The aged man sat down in the chair, leaned forward and placed his neck on the rope. It was in this position in which he was found. Medical Examiner Brown of Danbury, gave strangulation as the cause of death.

GERMAN INDUSTRIES ARE SEEKING LOANS IN THE U. S.

New York, Sept. 4.—Loans and credits for upwards of $100,000 are from American banks, and active negotiations which will result in the extension of a large number of these credits are now in progress, it was learnd today.

One of the largest inquiries has been received from the Radische Anliline and Sodafabrik Company, a German chemical and dye concern, which is seeking $6,000,000 in New York. Hundreds of letters asking for commercial loans ranging from small amounts to millions of dollars have been received in the last fortnight by banking firms which have taken an active part in German financing.

German potash and sugar industries recently were granted credits aggregating about $10,000,000 in addition to the $25,000,000 made available to German trade through the gold Hjalmar Schahct.

CORONER'S VERDICT CHARGES KLAN LEADER WITH MURDER

Herrin, Ill., Sept. 4—(By the A. P.)—John H. Smith, garage owner and local Ku Klux Klan leader, was charged today, in the verdict of the coroner's jury, with having shot and killed Chester Reid, one of the men who lost their lives in the Klan and anti-Klan fight here last Saturday.

The jury recommended that Smith be held over for the grand jury when it meets September 22, and a warrant charging him with murder was signed by Coroner William McConnell, and placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff Harry Walker for immediate service.

Up until a late hour this afternoon, however, the warrant had not been served, although Smith was still at his garage waiting for the visit of the deputy sheriff.

"I will be glad to be served by my friend, Uncle George Walker," Smith told newspapermen. "The finding of the coroner's jury can not affect my case, because I am already charged with murder and am now out on bonds of $10,000."

Smith was arrested Sunday afternoon, with nine other men and taken to Harrisburg, Ill. All were released on a writ of habeas corpus the following day and returned to Herrin where they filed bonds for $10,000.

"Of course, the action of the coroner's jury was based on the testimony of Mrs. Reid," Smith continued. "She was in a hysterical condition that day, but she was not hysterical but that she knew who shot her husband. I have one witness—a man—who rushed up to Mrs. Reid as she was bending over her husband's body. To this woman Mrs. Reid said: 'The officers have just killed my husband.'

"I also have thirty-five witnesses other than those who have testified at the inquest, who can and will swear that I was not at the scene of the shooting at the time of the shooting."

Smith is the only living man who was named by the jury as taking part in the shootings.

The jury found that Deputy Sheriff W. H. "Bud" Allison, anti-Klansman, was killed by Green Duncan, Klansman, and that Dunning was killed by Alison and that Otto Rowland, Deputy Newbold and Charles Willard were killed by persons unknown. Newbold and Willard were Klansmen and Rowland was a bystander killed by a stray bullet, it found that Chester Reid was killed by Smith, while acting as peace maker.

Conferences between the attorneys preceded the opening of the second day of the September term of the Windham county superior court here Thursday. With Judge George E. Hinman on the bench, the session opened at 10:15 o'clock. The case of Mrs. Celia Chasen of this city, charged with violation of the liquor law, was the first called. Through her attorney the accused pleaded nole contendre and the court was asked to recognize the fact that Mrs. Chasen was not in good health and had to support three small children. Judge Hinman stated that in his review of the case he had found that Mrs. Chasen had previously appeared before the superior court on a similar charge and that one could not expect any more leniency than had been accorded other women in the same predicament. She should have heeded the warning given her after her first offense. A sentence of 20 days in jail and the original fine of $200 and costs was then imposed by Judge Hinman.

William P. Burke, charged with statutory burglary, whose mentality had been doubted by State's Attorney Searls, was examined by Dr. L. I. Mason before court and pronounced sane and able to stand trial.

When the case of H. C. Doorin, alias [illegible] Marion, was called on a charge of embezzlement, the defendant did not respond and his bond of $2,500 was ordered. Similarly the bonds of $500 for William H. DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Forthcoming annual reports, not to be completed of the town of Killingly, will show a striking reduction in the amount of indebtedness since the annual reports were issued a year ago.

The town's balance sheet, as of July 31, 1923, showed a total indebtedness of $164,507.27. The forthcoming reports will show a big shrinkage from that total. Within recent months the town has retired approximately $30,000 in outstanding notes that were held by individuals and figures now being compiled indicate that between $7,000 and $4,000 more can be paid on what remains of the debt. The total reduction in debt may amount to as much as $35,000, but that cannot be told definitely as yet.

Retirement of the notes referred to was made possible by the fact that much money came into the town treasury through the payment of back taxes owed by manufacturing concerns that had appealed from an assessment and taken the matter to the courts, the appeals later being withdrawn and the accumulated taxes paid.

From Fore Eustis, Va., where the members of the Service batter are turning their attention to the subject of starting on their homeward journey Lieut. Harold E. Greene has written the following relative to the battery in camp, years encampment and has revised the roster of officers and men who make up the command on its southern tour of duty:

We arrived here safely at 2 p. m. on Thursday, August 21st, stopping a few hours in Washington and Richmond where most of us enjoyed dinner.

After arriving and arranging the different details we settled down to camp life and Friday began making preparations for the coming of the engineers. This work consisted of unloading cots mattresses, kitchen utensils and issuing provisions.

The battery this year is engaged in engineering supply work and has charge of the purchasing and issuing of supplies etc., also the drawing and distributing of ammunition.

The muster of the command took place Saturday morning and consisted of a field inspection. In the afternoon the fourth annual field day was held on the 51st Field Artillery athletic field. The service battery won second place in this meet and will receive a silver cup. In this meet Sergeant "Pon" Williams was one of the shining stars, registering first place in the 12 lb. shot put with a distance of 42 feet 11 in., a record he established at Camp Eustis. He also captured third place in the 100 yd. dash (closed) the time being 11 seconds flat. Lt. Gale was also a star performer, winning second place in the high jump at 5 ft. 3 in. Pvt. Rapp of the band section made a fine showing in this event and received a third place. Pvt. Lewis captured third place in the pole vault among a field of star performers. In the tug of war the battery defeated Battery D of Danbury and the Combat Train, 3rd Battalion respectively. This team consisted of 1st Sgt. Meunier, Master Sgt. Doyen, Sgts. Williams and Armington, Sup Sgt. Evans, Cpl. Brouillard, Pvt. 1cl Socquet, Pvts. Browne, Opperman and Reeves, Cpl. Eaton and Pvt. 1cl. Lionel Poirier did fine work in the 220 yard dash. On Wednesday of this week Governor Templeton will review the troops here and the battery will participate in this brigade review.

The weather has been extremely hot here this year and the shower baths are a great relief for all.

The following is a roster of the command at camp:

P. S. Mess Sgt. R. H. Doyen, Cooks Hamilton and Linder have served the boys an excellent mess this year and the health of the command is of the best.

Respectfully,
HAROLD E. GREENE,
1st Lt., F. A., C. N. G.

Reward for return of lady's watch to Miss Alexandrine Chabot, of 36 Dyer street.—adv.—

At the South Killingly cemetery Thursday afternoon, following a funeral service in Cranston, R. I., where he died, a committal service for Cyrus Day, formerly a resident of Danielson, was conducted by Rev. Walter E. Williams, of the Westfield Congregational church. Relatives from Danielson were at the cemetery, where the body was accompanied, among others, by delegations from the Cranston Masonic lodge and Odd Fellows' lodge of which he was a member.

Thursday afternoon at the undertaking rooms of L. E. Kennedy a funeral service for William Hanlon was conducted by Rev. Chester Armstrong, pastor of the Danielson Baptist church. Burial was in Westfield cemetery. Mr. Hanlon died at Pineville, in this town, a week ago Sunday. Since than all effort to trace hisrelatives have failed. Mr. Hanlon, who was here from Massachusetts on a visit when he died, left a small life insurance, sufficient to pay his funeral expenses and to leave some balence.

Funeral services for Thomas W. Adams were held at his home on North Main street Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Chester Armstrong of the Baptist church officiating. Numbers of relatives and friends were in attendance. Burial was in Westfield cemetery. The bearers were Frank A. Davis, Alvah J. Hall, Alfred Mason, Joseph Johnson, Herbert Chase and George McComber. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements. There were beautiful floral pieces.

The body of Michael Zbyr, about 35, of Dayville, was brought here Thursday evening in charge of Undertaker L. E. Kennedy. Zbyr was fatally injured, sufferinp a fracture of the skull, when his motorcycle skidded Wednesday night, while he was riding along a state highway near Arctic, R. I., and crashed head-on into a tree. Zybr died later of his injuries at St. Joseph's hospital in Providence. He leaves his wife and two children.

This year's enrollment of pupils in the public schools of Killingly, including the high school, totals 1209, an increase of 23 over the figures for last year. In the Danielson school (graded) 302 pupils are enrolled, at Goodyear 219, at Dayville 127 at Attawaugan 122, at Ballouville, 65, Killingly Center 62, East Killingly 52, Valley 21, South Killingly 16.

Killingly High school with an enrollment of 226 has the largest attendance in its history. The enrollment in the elementary schools of the town is two less than a year ago, but the attendance is expected to increase during the coming week.

In a justice's court at Brooklyn, George Pope of Goodyear was fined $25 and costs by Justice Frank M. Bedard, on a charge of reckless driving, this growing out of an accident in which Mrs. Katherine Murray was knocked down on a recent evening by Mr. Pope's car. The court remitted $10 of the fine. Investigation of the other accident in which Mr. Pope's car struck Mrs. Albertus Chase at Dayville Labor day night established it as one of those unfortunate accidents that appear unavoidable.

Miss Florence Gingras of St. Francis hospital, Hartford, where she is a student nurse, is spending a few days at her home here.

Mrs. A. P. Fulton and family of Lynn are visiting Mrs. Fulton's mother, Mrs. George Stone of Academy street.

Rev. M. J. Twomey, formerly pastor of the Danielson Baptist church, visited many friends in Danielson Thursday.

Mrs. Nelson Gauthier, recently operated upon at the hospital in Putnam, is steadily gaining in strength.

Miss Beatrice Lindner of Broad street has entered as a student at the Normal school in Willimantic.

Henry W. Babson is visiting for a few days with friends at Princeton, Mass.

Mrs. Clinton Pellett will have the members of the W. C. T. U. at her home for a meeting Tuesday.

Mr. and rs. Fred Card and Miss Grace Spalding are spending a vation at Oakland each.

Members of Moriah lodge, A. F. and A. M., will attend a service at the Hampton Congregational church on Sunday, when two memorial windows, gifts of Mrs. Marinda C. Butler Robinson, are to be dedicated.

PUTNAM

Everything is set for the annual outing of the H. K. H. Silk Company to be held at Wildwood Park, Saturday. Employes from the mills in Putnam, Watertown and Haverstraw, N. Y., will participate in the day's sports which will include a baseball game, races and other athletic events. A basket lunch will be carried.

The feature of the day will come in the evening, when a reception and dance will be held in the company's new mill on Providence street. The whole first floor of the mill, into which machinery has not yet been moved, containing thousands of square feet of floor space, probably the largest single room in the city, will be decorated and transformed into a ball room. Champeau's orchestra of Putnam will give a concert from 8 to 8.30 o'clock and will play for the dancing following. Admission to the affair is by ticket, but a generous number have been distributed. Refreshments will be provided.

The new mill is one of the largest in the city and will soon house most of the company's plant in Putnam. The machinery from the Eureka plant on Truesdell street has already been installed in the upper story and soon the removal from the main plant on South Meadow street will begin. The old Eureka plant will be utilized by the company in the manufacture of silk stockings, a new industry for Putnam.

The new mill was formerly the Powhattan mill of the Nightingale-Morse Company, which sold out a year or more ago. The H. K. H. Silk Company purchased the mill at public auction and has since been fitting it up, making repairs, laying new floors and painting the interior. It is one of the largest single mill buildings in Putnam and will be one of the largest silk mills in New England when the company ho ses all of its Putnam plants there. The main product of the company is sewing silk, button twist and embroidery silk. It has within a few years added stocking making and weaving, but none of this has so far been done in Putnam, this line of manufacturing being confined to plants of the company elsewhere.

A meeting of the merchants of Putnam is to be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms this (Friday) evening to discuss the matter of half holidays throughout the year. At a meeting held last June to decide if it was advisable to continue half holidays, it was voted to continue until September and then to discuss the situation again.

There has been a growing feeling among the merchants that a half holiday, which means the closing of stores throughout the year was an expensive burden also a detriment to the general business interests of the city. It was believed that it tended to turn rade from Putnam to other nearby centers.

It was apparently the unanimous opinion of those assembled at the June meeting that the clerks were entitled to half a day off a week, but it was thought that this could be arranged without closing the stores.

The plan of a weekly half holiday throughout the year has now been in effect for a twelve-month period. The only exception was December, during the holiday season. When the clerks asked for their holiday all the year round it was voted to try it out for one year and for that reason it was decided to continue, when the matter was discussed last June. The year has now expired, the plan is fully tried out and all merchants will have an opportunity to express their views as to the advisability of a continuance or a change at tonight's meeting.

Jerome William Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand N. Andrews, Farrows street, and Miss Ruth Gibney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gibney, Florence street, were married Thursday evening at 5.30 o'clock at St. Mary's rectory. They left on the evening train for New York for a short wedding trip, after which they will make their home for the present with the bride's parents. Both young people were born in Putnam and have always lived here where they have a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

J. Harry Mann and family have returned from their summer cottage at Gales Ferry.

Mrs. A. D. McIntyre and daughter have returned from Pine Grove, Niantic, where they spent the summer.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph C. Jenkins stated Thursday, that there was the largest enrollment of pupils in the schools of Putnam this year than at any previous time. The total enrollment Thursday was 917 of which number 250 were pupils in the high school. Last year the total enrollment was 844 with 236 high school pupils. Mr. Jenkins says that the enrollment will be slightly larger, as a few pupils come in after the year begins because they have not returned from vacations on time, or for other reasons. By Monday the schools will all be running smoothly with teachers and pupils settled down for the first term of the year's work.

There was a full house when the city court convened Thursday morning, and a quintette of drunks was presented. Three were of the hobo variety, strangers in the city, and a pair were local performers.

The trio who came into Putnam stopped at a house near the Wamn Tavern and asked a woman for something to eat. When she refused them they became abusive and an officer was called to take them away. They were all treated alike by Judge Geissler and will spend the next thirty days in the county jail at Brooklyn.

The local pair made a big mistake when they offered a Putnam policeman a drink of liquor. The offer was refused and they were invited to a night's lodging at the police station. Both were put on probation.

The most trouble a woman has with her husband is getting him.

PLAINFIELD

Alfred Devolve has been confined to his bed for the past week, because of illness.

Wednesday evening after the regular meeting of the card room union, a boxing exhibition was witnessed and enjoyed by the members. There were three three-round bouts, Zurick Burby vs. Battling Cusson; Bobby Mays vs. Johnny Woods and Bobby Mays vs. Kid Frisco.

John Oates was referee of all bouts.

Plans as to where the new state road would be built have been finally decided. The three-mile stretch will extend from Bishops' Crossing to the top of Hopkins' Hill.

Vallette sustained a broken finger as the result of an accident on the state road Wednesday afternoon. The accident occurred while Mr. Vallette was passing a lumber wagon. A Putnam car came along, a woman driving and tried to go between the teams. The car struck the hubs on Vallette's buggy and threw him into the air. He also received internal injuries. The buggy was not serious damaged.

The following letter has been sent to every family with children going to school:

Officeof Superintendent of Schools
Central Village, Conn.
September 2, 1924.

To Principals, Teachers, Pupils and Parents:

At a meeting of the Town School Committee held Aug. 29, 1924, it was voted:

"That in accordance with Chapter 271 of the Public Acts of 1923 and in pursuance of the Regulations of the State Board of Health

"It is hereby ordered that no child shall be admitted to the Public Schools of the Town of Plainfield after September 22, who shall not have been vaccinated within the past five years, unless such child shall present a certificate from a physician, approved by the health officer of the town, certifying that, in the opinion of such physician, such vaccination would not be prudent on account of the physical condition of such child."

Teachers will require of every child a certificate showing vaccination withing five years, and on and after September 22nd, any child who cannot produce such certificate, or a physicians certificate as above specified, shall be immediately excluded from school, and a report of such exclusion be immediately transmitted to the principal and by him to the Superintendent of Schools.

By order of the Town School Committee,

Signed, J. L. CHAPMAN,
Superintendent of Schools

George Cleveland has in his garden, one of the most peculiar sunflowers seen in this section of Connecticut. There are five large flowers on the top of the stalk, which stands about five feet and five more beginning to blossom lower down on the stalk. The flowers are so heavy that the stalk had to be supported by sticks.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Burke spent Wednesday with friends in Hartford.

There was bustle and excitement at the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. station Wednesday morning while many children of this village were waiting for the Worcester train, which would start them on their trip to school in Canada. Most of the children, the majority of them around the age of ten, attend various convent schools in Canada. About 25 children from the village of Plainfield left Wednesday morning. The children were to take a special train from Worcester to Canada Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Butler and family have returned after a pleasant vacation in Franklin, Maine.

Ralph Yeet is spending two weeks at Atlantic City, from which point he will go back to Michigan where he is a student at the ministry.

The railroad crossing on Railroad avenue are getting worse as time goes on. These crossing have been in a poor condition all summer and the company does not seem to be in a great hurry to remedy this condition. Many complaints have been made this season, but in vain, and the crossing is next to impassable at pregent.

Instead of replacing a board or two every now and then, the railroad should build a crossing and keep it in good shape.

Cars going over the crossing are forced to slow down to less than a mile an hour. Motorists in this district talk of making a complaint to the railroad office, which is probably ignorant of the situation.

Mrs. Everett Dawley and two children, also Mrs. Harold Barstow and son, spent a few days last week in South Manchester, guests of Mrs. Jesse Bitgood.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moffitt attended the fair at Norwich Labor day.

Mrs. Hannah Sawyer is spending a vacation with her daughter on Gallup avenue.

Miss Ione Barstow has been the guest of Miss Beatrice Cathcart of Jewett City the past week.

No person is so punctual when it comes to keeping appointments as the bill collector.

Healthy, Happy Children Is Mother's Greatest Joy

New Way to Take Cod Liver Oil—Greatest Tonic and Builder of Firm Flesh and Sturdy Bones in the World.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets

Of course, all mothers—and grandmothers too for that matter—know that the greatest builder of firm, healthy flesh in thin, puny, run down children is cod liver oil, and especially where there are any signs of Rickets.

But here's something every mother doesn't know—Cod Liver Oil helps to make strong, healthy bones—and even helps to make better teeth.

Yes, it's true: Doctors know it.

Dentists know it—chemists know it.

And now here's another surprise! No more will kiddies have to take the vile, nasty tasting, evil smelling oil that nine times in ten disturbs their sensitive stomachs and almost turns them inside out.

Never again! thank goodness, will they even have to smell the vile stuff, for now science has given us—and people who keep up with the times are taking—McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—sugar coated and as easy to take as candy.

So now you can go ahead and make the sickly youngsters strong and well—make the puny one sturdy and full of pep—make the skinny one put on good solid flesh—and if any one of them has Rickets you can conquer that too.

Mother: Try McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets for 30 days if any of your children aren't up to par. You'll be surprised at the quick help they will give them, and if you arn't satisfied with results, Lee & Osgood Co., or the druggist you purchased them from will return your money. One New Jersey boy gained 11½ pounds in 7 weeks. Be sure and get the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets.

AMPICO

Heard in the quiet seclusion of home, beautiful music comes with a message that all may read.

The Keys of Your Piano Touched by the Greatest Pianistic Talent in the World

MUSIC undreamed of from your piano! The hush and mystery of a summer night revealed in Chopin's Nocturnes; the majesty and solemnity of a Beethoven Sonata; the romantic charm of Schubert and Schumann, and the tonal glory of Liszt. These and a thousand other beauties are revealed in recordings for the Ampico, played by the greatest pianists in the world.

There is popular music too—the offerings of Vincent Lopez, Ralph Reichenthal, Ferdie Grofé and others—all masters of syncopation.

The possession of the Ampico and its treasure of music is possible even for the moderate purse. Toward the purchase, your little used or silent piano has value in exchange, and the balance can be arranged on convenient terms of payment.

ABANDONED AND NEGLECTED PETS

There are two periods of the summer when the question of the proper treatment of pets fails to get the proper attention. When the family goes away for the summer there are too many who leave the dog or cats to the tender mercies of the neighbors without making any arrangements for such service, and again comes the time for leaving the place and leaving behind these pets which have been accumulated during the vacation.

Regardless of what attention the household pets get during the remainder of the year there is no excuse for neglecting them when the time for spending several weeks elsewhere arrives. The unwillingness to make provision to take care of them or to get anyone who will do it during an absence forces many to refuse to have a pet or a dog at all. It is a sane decision and one that displays the proper humane attitude. Leaving cats and dogs to poach on the neighbors is not going along the best they know how and cruel. Yet it is done in numerous instances and in addition to the hardship on the animals it creates a distinct nuisance to the neighborhood.

It is under such conditions that the [illegible] American Rescue League comes in for full appreciation. Such organizations in the larger cities are a necessity now. Not only do they provide for starving animals, turn unclaimed animals over to those who want the services of pets and care for pets while the owners are away but they see that they are painlessly put out of the way when conditions warrant it.

It is unfortunate that more cities are not provided with such an organization. Many are the instances where a need and should be employed to prevent cases of starvation and neglect in the story. This is particularly because of that great army of pets that are abandoned or "dropped" and which fails to find homes in the search for food and shelter. Regardless of the name by which it is called such an organization serves a much needed purpose.

NEW ENGLAND PRODUCTS

The New England Week committee declares that the fairs at this period of the year should be employed for the advancement of New England products. It says, "The local exhibitions, many of which some hundreds are held in New England at this time of year and many of them during the week of September 15 to 20 are one of the best agencies in the world for introducing the products of New England industries to the farmers and it makes the suggestion that a revolving "joint" exhibit might be used in making a circuit of such fairs.

There is merit to the suggestion. The fairs are not now employed for such a purpose with no particular stress being laid upon New England products. Instead attention is given to those articles which it is considered the farmers are interested in, regardless as to where they are produced.

The suggestion which is advanced is one that might well be adopted by New England producers every year in connection with the fairs. The effort to concentrate attention upon the goods of this part of the country at this time is only what can be done and should be done on all occasions. And it is an excellent opportunity which is offered by the fairs.

Farmers are big users of all kinds of products, but the farmers are not the only ones who attend fairs. The hundreds of thousands who patronize the fairs from the smallest to the largest, are just the ones to be reached in connection with New England goods. There is no danger that they will know too much about them. It is invariably the case that they know little or nothing about what is produced in their own city or town and would be thankful to be informed and to have the chance of taking advantage of such information. There's little doubt but what the opportunities offered by the fairs are greatly neglected. It should not be overlooked, however, that the means of reaching the farmers is also the medium for placing displays and working models before the general public as a supplement to judicious advertising.

AGENT GENERAL GILBERT

Age wasn't the basis for the choice of agent general in charge of reparation payments. Owen D. Young's service in that role was limited. He acted only until the reparation commission had approved the permanent choice and the new appointee could assume the duties. The selection of S. Parker Gilbert, Jr., former undersecretary of the United States treasury, places a young man and an American in a responsible position. But for the fact that he has been tried and found admirably fitted for the duties he would not have been recommended. Youth is not to be regarded as an impediment to such service. His ability is known, he has made an excellent record in connection with the administration of United States finances and his training and experience were all strong factors in his behalf.

It is not going to be an easy job to which he will go, for if one stops to consider what the situation in Europe is and what the difficulties have been in connection with reparations payments it is easy to understand that his responsibilities are unusual.

As agent general he will become chairman of the committee dealing with the European currency situation and will be at the head of the administrative organization created by the Dawes plan. It is thus a high tribute which has been paid him in his selection. It means that there is confidence in his ability, that there is assurance he possesses the firmness required to fairly direct the office and that he is rated as being enough of a financial wizard to handle whatever problems may arise.

The fact that he is young is not his fault. Of him, as of many others, it can be said that he will overcome that condition in time and with as little trouble as possible. It is highly to the credit of Mr. Gilbert that he has been selected because of his recognized fitness and not because of any political pull or friendship. It is to be expected in this case that old judgment will be found on young shoulders.

"POP" GEERS

Within horse racing circles there will be profound regret over the death of "Pop" Geers. Wherever there are horsemen no more prominent figure was known. He had devoted his life to the training and driving of horses and he had brought out some wonderful results.

At his age few drivers, especially in the fastest of company, are to be found. He was in good health and he was making his last swing around the tracks preparatory to retiring when the fatal accident occurred. And yet it is probable that his death in the harness, aside from the violent features of it, is what he would have preferred. He had been through many racing campaigns and he has had his share of accidents, but there was none who stood higher in the estimation of drivers and owners, judges and race track followers than "Pop" Geers. He was the type of horseman that the race track needs. He was a clever driver, but his was a career of over a half century on the race track in which no crooked work was displayed. It is an unusual record, but it reflects the character of the man, and more than that it tells what a loss has been suffered in his passing.

Though more than three score and ten, age had not lessened his skill. He was not always up back of the winner but he managed to get all that was possible out of a horse. His generalship was wonderful and many a horse has received signal honors because of the fact that Geers was in the sulky and knew just how to handle the reins to meet the particular situation. There are many clever drivers but they are not all in that class with Edward F. Geers so long headed.

THE CHINESE SITUATION

Can China be brought to recognize the desirability of refraining from a serious clash among its own people? If left to its own efforts it seems improbable. Just how much can be accomplished by the advice and suggestions from other nations remains to be seen.

The tense situation at the present time is due to the aspiration of rival leaders. Supremacy is the aim and there is a determination to have it at all costs. It means the devastation of a large territory if the forces which have been assembled are permitted to clash, and a tremendous waste of life and property. It has been the custom where such conditions prevail to test the strength by means of the sword. Other countries than China have resorted to such a method, even though long after it had been acknowledged that war was the wrong way of adjusting such differences. China is thus doing only what it and others have done before. It is a time, however, when other countries are certain to be interested in preventing the havoc that would be wrought and in upsetting that trade development which has taken place there. They are now endeavoring to use their influence to prevent the clash, to obtain a settlement otherwise and to avoid the dertimental effects for which China seems to be headed.

China has sought and received the benefit of international assistance at other times. It is now facing a situation where it should weigh carefully the unsought advice which it is receiving. There have been times when it was necessary to save China from others. At the present time the need is to save China from itself.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Only a matter of ten days to the closing of the straw hat season.

There is no danger that there will be too many signatures to the Dawes plan.

Isn't it about time for someone to offer a prize for a peace plan for Herrin, Ill.

Herrin is very much like Vesuvius—there's no telling when there'll be an outbreak.

Defense day doesn't mean a fighting day any more than Labor day means a working day.

The man on the corner says: It's a bit too early to get your winter clothing out of storage.

School days appeal more strongly to those out of school than they do to those at the desks today.

Every day is labor day for some of the candidates, and the longer they work the harder becomes their task.

From the reports preparations are being made to break things up over in China; or in other words before there can be peace there must be pieces.

Travel through the country and there are camps to the right and camps to the left. Those in the neighborhood little realized what attractive localities they have.

Nebraska farmers have had one of the best years in the state's history. And yet they were told they would never get away from their troubles till the railroads were made to carry goods for nothing.

TIM HANGS ON

"Belinda, do you realize that you are liable to lose your voice if you keep shouting at old Tim the way you have been doing all this season? He appears to be growing deafer and deafer. I'm really alarmed about your voice." Miss Belinda's brother Ben was speaking.

"There's more cause for alarm about my disposition," Miss Belinda laughed. "I'm in great danger of losing it, Ben. It does seem to me that Tim is the most persistent misunderstander I ever knew. He has a fatal faculty for doing the wrong thing nine times out of ten."

"I told you long ago that you ought to dispense with your poor old man Friday, my dear. Well, what are his latest crimes and misdemeanors? They must be flagrant!"

"Oh, he isn't so bad, Ben," Miss Belinda was on the defensive at once under the amused glance of her brother. "He truly is tying at times, but I know I should always remember how faithful he is, and also that he is getting pretty old. I ought to be more patient."

"Patient! Great Caesar, Belinda, your patience with that blunderer has been monumental. I think it's come to a point where any more patience would be weakness. Out with it, what has he just done to endanger your disposition?"

"You know how the weeds have been thriving in the driveway, Ben? Well, a few days ago I told him to put rock salt on the roads. He asked me twice what I wanted with the salt, and I shouted my orders as loudly and distinctly as I could, and I've been quite annoyed because the weeds haven't appeared to be the least bit discouraged.

"This morning I discovered the reason, and that was because Tim hadn't put any salt on them. He had put it around the roses! Just think, Ben, all my lovely roses have been killed down to the roots with a bath of brine, for rain fell the very night after he put it on, and that was why I didn't see it. When I indignantly asked why he did it he said blandly that I told him twice to put it on the rose, and, of course, he thought I meant all the roses.

"They ain't hurt, only tempry,' he remarked cheerfully. 'You'll see them roses finer 'n ever, sproutin' up fresh from the roots.' It didn't seem worth while to tell him that my roses are all budded plants, and that only the common stock will survive the saline treatment he gave them."

"Belinda, I could weep with you," said Ben, and his sister turned her face away from his sympathetic gaze. "Cheer up, old girl. You shall have an acre of roses if you wish. You mark the names of the ones you want in the grower's catalogue, and I'll do the rest. Were there any other blunders?"

"Yes, he dug up those pitcher plants you brought me from the northern part of the state. He said they was jest weeds. He's seen lots of 'em growing wild up in Door county, where he lived wunst for a spell after his first wife died. He lived with her folks, but they was awful near, so he come back here."

"Worse luck for you," laughed Ben. "I'll get you some more pitcher plants. That will be a good excuse for a little fishing trip in the northern country, sis, but in the meantime we'll part with Tim. I'll tell him, Belinda, that we won't require his services any more."

"Oh, Ben, you know how he will feel. You tried it once before."

"Yes, but I've been acquiring more character along with my gray hairs, Belinda. Leave it to me."

The next day after this conversation Miss Belinda was rather surprised to see Tim running the lawn mower early in the morning.

"When is Tim leaving?" she asked her brother at breakfast.

"Belinda, you know darn well that he isn't leaving. I'll wager that he'll never leave. When I began to speak in a preliminary way about his long service he beamed and pointed to the height of the Lombardy poplars he planted the first year he was here. He said it was mother's idea to have them at the entrance to the drive, and he humored her. He says women always have to be humored, and that's the only way he can get along with you."

"Really?" said Miss Belinda, and then she laughed. "You aren't made of any sterner stuff than I am, Ben and I'm glad of it. Honestly Hilltop wouldn't be the same at all without our man Friday. We just have to take him as is."—Exchange.

Lindenthal, College-bred Bricklayer

After acquiring a thorough education in the leading institutions of his country and making an auspicious start in his chosen profession, Gustav Lindenthal found himself almost penniless in a strange country, where he had difficulty in making himself understood.

Born in Brunn, Austria, of rich parents, he decided before he was 15 to be a civil engineer, and his father gave him every advantage, including courses in the universities of Brunn and Vienna, but saw that he worked as mason or carpenter during vacations.

Completing his college course at 20, Lindenthal was assistant surveyor and constructor of bridges and railroads in Austria and Switzerland. Then he came to America, to learn our methods of engineering.

Arriving in New York during the financial troubles of 1874, with only a few dollars, the youth, who spoke English brokenly, could find nothing to do. Going to Philadelphia, he bought a second hand set of mason's took and laid brick on the Memorial hall of the Centennial exposition. Then he engaged as a teacher and learned English at night.

Soon came an onening in the drafting department. Lindenthal completed a three-months' task in three weeks, and was directed to draft the dome of Memorial hall and other buildings. Then he was placed in charge of iron construction at the exposition.

Next he was given charge of changing the gauge of 340 miles of track of the Atlantic & Great Western railroad, which included the strengthening of more than 100 and the building of 50 bridges. Success came. He built bridges over the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers at Pittsburgh, and contructed many in that part of the country.

In 1890 Lindenthal went to New York, where he contructed the Manhattan, the Williamsburg and Queensboro bridges. Later he built the Hel Gate bridge, three and one half miles long and capable of carrying the heaviest load of any bridge in the world. The North Hudson river bridge at a cost of $211,000,000, was his next achievement.

Linderthal is 74. He is rich and has been honored by engineers throughout the world. And he still is building bridges.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Hugh Richard Arthur Grosvenor, second Duke of Westminster, whose latest matrimonial troubles are being aired in the London courts, is known as Britain's richest poet. His possessions include about 6,000 acres in London besides enormous estates elsewhere in England. Although the Grosvenors are a very rich family, running back to an unbroken and unquestioned line to Hugh Lupus, who furnished six ships to his uncle William the Conqueror, the fortunes of the house date only from the reign of Charles II, at which time Sir Thomas Grosvenor "feathered his nest" by marrying the only daughter and sole heiress of a famous money lender in London. The present Duke was born in 1879. He has followed a military career, beginning with the South African war, when he served as aide-de-camp to Lord Roberts. The present Duchess is his second wife. His first was a daughter of Col. William Cornwallis-West. The couple were divorced in 1919 and a few months later the Duke married Mrs. Violet Mary Geraldine Rowley.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

CORDOVA

Since the United States Army airmen flew to Asia along the Aleutian Island chain and emphasized what navigators have known all along—that the shortest way across the Pacific is by the "Great Circle route" near Alaska—there has been a growing recognition of the need of a naval base in Alaskan waters. Cordova, most recently mentioned as a possible selection, is described in a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, as "a sort of American Kirkwall, since it has Alaska's Scapa Flow at its door."

"Cordova is on Cordova Bay, a deep, commodious, well protected harbor itself," says the bulletin. "But that is only the beginning of harbor facilities. Just around an island corner is Orca Bay, also an excellent haven; and Orca is a vestibule to Prince William Sound, Alaska's Scapa Flow.

"Here is a huge anchorage, bulwarked from the Pacific by islands, dotted with others, and with its margins opening up into great fjords which spread out in every direction like the tentacles of an octopus. Many navies could float in the open waters of Prince William sound; or, if unusual weather conditions brought rough water even beyond its island bulwark, could find snug, peaceful havens in its fjords or behind its high islands.

"Prince William Sound can be oriented by the fact that its waters form the extreme northeastern corner of the Pacific Ocean. The oceanward line of Alaska's 'dan-handle' extends roughly in a straight line to the northwest, and this line is continued in the innermost part of Prince William sound. There the corner is formed, and the general direction of the coastline veers off at right angles to extend into the Alaska Peninsula and sweep off along the Aleutians toward Asia. A group of islands has fenced this corner off and made a huge deep-water sound out of it.

"The town of Cordova has not yet reached its majority, but it has become the modest metropolis of the Prince William Sound region though several of its competitors are well over a score of years old. Unlike most Alaskan towns, Cordova was made by copper, not gold. It is the port for the rich copper mines of the Copper river and the coast terminus of the Copper river and Northwestern Railway, the first railroad of considerable length to be built in Alaska. The town is not at the mouth of the Copper river, being situated some twenty miles farther west along the coast. The river develops a broad marshy delta, whose coast is without harbor sites.

"The need of Alaska for railroads was dramatically illustrated by the situation in the Copper river valley. Vastly rich copper mines existed 200 miles up the valley, but even pure copper nuggets (one weighing three tons was discovered) could not be brought out save at a cost greater than their value. The first train from the mines in 1911 carried 250,000 tons of ore to Cordova; and in one week in 1916 the port shipped ore worth more than seven million dollars—about the price paid to Russia by the United States in 1867 for the entire territory.

"Cordova and Valdez, its neighboring competing port, are two of the very few survivals of the Spanish names given to Alaskan places by early Spanish navigators. For, though it is not generally known, the Spaniards considered Alaska their own, possibly following out the somewhat inclusive claims of Balboa, who, when he waded into the Pacific off the Isthmus of Panama, asserted that he was taking possession of all lands washed by the ocean, from Pole to Pole. In common with numerous places given Russian designations by the Muscovite owners of the region, the features named by the Spanish discoverers were blithely renamed by Cook who came later on the scene, and by Vancouver. Prince William Sound was originally Chugach gulf, the Copper river was Rio de les Peridos (River of the Lost or Damned,) and Resurrection Bay, to the west was Voskressevski harbor.

"The Prince William Sound region, in the same latitude as that of southern Norway, has a fairly mild climate. The harbors of Cordova and Valdez are open all winter; the average winter weather, in fact, is no more severe than that of Washington, D. C. The shores of the sound are heavily wooded. Although this great sound covers an extent of more than twenty-five hundred square miles."

A Little Talk on Thrift

Saving the Forests

With the development of goods roads and the increasing popularity of the automobile, people are spending more time in woodland retreats, and it is a matter of public education that lessons in forest preservation should be given more wide-spread attention.

Last year 11,500,000 acres of forest lands in America were burned with a financial loss in excess of $16,500,000, according to data compiled by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. The area of our destroyed forests during last year alone was eight times the acreage of the French forests destroyed or damaged throughout the World war. The total number of fires was in excess of 50,000.

It is said that between 80 and 90 per cent of forest fires are caused by human carelessness. About 20 per cent result from carelessness in handling cigarette butts. The general negligence of campers in using precautionary measures while cooking also constitutes one of the great causes of woodland conflagrations.

The forests of America originally totaling 822,000,000 acres have today dwindled to 138,000,000 acres of virgin timber. Not only do forest fires, as reflected in these statistics, involve a great loss of human life and property, but this wanton destruction deprives our wild life of food and shelter, despoils public playgrounds, relinquishes control of the distribution of moisture and curtails the supply of chemicals and other by products of our woods.

The destruction of American forests affects each of us, and each of us should assume educational responsibility in seeking to prevent the progress of these despoiling forces.—American Society for Thrift.

Stories That Recall Others

Test of Strength.

A certain young man in seeking health had quit all his bad habits except smoking. He called smoking a "bad habit" because to him it had proved injurious. Time and again he had tried to quit it, but with no success. He found that the habit had a stronger grip upon him than he calculated.

"Give me your pipe," said a friend. "That will help you to cut the habit."

"Not on your life," said the other. "I wouldn't part with that pipe for anything. I'm going to hang it on the wall of my room so I can quit with it in full sight. The temptation to smoke, I know, will be harder to overcome, but by so doing I will be accomplishing a greater victory. It will prove that my will is stronger than my pipe."

If is said the people of Tirna Switzerland, are the most honest people in the world. If this is true they probably have to import their office holders.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

The Little Porcupines

Now let me see and let me ponder,
Where did I leave off, I wonder,
Maybe Mrs. Porcupine
Will tell me on the telephone line.

Well, that's just what she did, the kind, obliging lady. Now we shall have the story, you and I, little reader.

"Your such a nice bunny boy," said Mrs. Porcupine, "that I'll give you a peep at my babies."

Goodness me, they were such homely youngsters that the little rabbit

"Hello, are you looking for Mrs. Porcupine?"

hardly knew what to say. Lady Love, his pretty bunny mother had taught him to be truthful, so finding that he couldn't honestly say that they were beautiful, he kept silent. Pretty soon, however, he managed to say, "Aren't they big strapping fellows."

"Indeed they are," agreed the fond mother. "They were as large the day they were born as the Big Brown Bear's two cubs. I'm mighty proud of them. Look at them. They were born with little spears hidden in their fur. Isn't that wonderful?"

"I should say so," answered the bunny boy. "You should be a proud mother to have such large babies."

"Now I must get something to eat. I don't have far to go. Tender twigs make a good lunch," and off shuffled the lady porcupine, leaving the little rabbit to do what he wished.

"Dear me," though the bunny boy. I certainly learn a lot every day. Maybe when I grow up I'll know as much as Professor Jim Crow," and off he hopped. The next moment he almost bumped into Mr. Porcupine.

"Hello, are you looking for Mrs. Porcupine," asked the bunny boy, just about to mention the little porcupines, when he suddenly remembered his promise to their mother. Perhaps it was the unconcerned manner of Mr. Porcupine that caused him to keep quiet. "Can it be possible that Mr. Porcupine doesn't know that he has two little babies?" thought the bunny boy.

"I don't know where Mrs. Porcupine keeps herself so much of the time," said Mr. Porcupine, all of a sudden, turning his dull eyes on the little rabbit. "Have you seen her?"

"Just a moment ago," answered the truthful bunny, and the next moment away he hopped, fearing to be questioned further.

"Dear me, I wonder where she can be," murmured Mr. Porcupine, shuffling along. Pretty soon, not so very far, he met her just in front of the Big Brush Heap. At that very moment out came the two little porcupines. Goodnes me, you can well imagine his surprise at seeing them. But even when he learned that they were his babies, he seemed to care even less. And no sooner had their mother shuffled under the Big Brush Heap than he began to look about for a meal of tender leaves and twigs. His only thought seemed to be to look out for himself. With Mrs. Porcupine it was just the other way. All her thoughts were bent on bringing up her two small babies.

Then You Have Something to Learn.

Thousands who have piles have not do the same for you.
learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.
Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy. His prescription is HEM-ROID, a tablet medicine, taken internally, that is now sold by druggists generally. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 1,000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent., and then decided it should be sold under a rigid money-back guarantee.

LIQUOR VIOLATION CASES BEFORE SUPERIOR COURT

Liquor violation cases made up most of the business to come before the superior court in this city Thursday with Judge C. L. Avery presiding.

Francisco Crispino, of Stonington, against whom there were four counts, had three of the counts nolled, but was fined $200 and costs and given a 60 day jail sentence on one count of actual sale. Thomas F. Dorsey made a moving appeal for Crispino, bringing tears to the eyes of members of the family who were in court as he pictured the stigma that would attach to them through his appearance before the court.

Max Gershon who had conducted a restaurant at the corner of Market and Water streets in this city was fined $200 and costs and given a 60 day jail sentence on a second offense of liquor law violation, in May, 1924.

Louigi Tremontozzi of this city, accused of carnally knowing and abusing a female under the age of 16, pleaded guilty and upon the recommendation of the state attorney was given a fine of $100 and 30 days in jail. The state attorney said that the parents of the girl, who lives on Lake street, had already been paid $2,000 by Tremontozzi in settlement of a civil suit over the affair and there were circumstances about the case that made it one where leniency could fairly be expected.

Lucien Karpenia, 24, of Lebanon, who peppered two calves of a neighbor with a shot gun last Saturday, pleaded guilty to injuring neat cattle of another and was fined $50 upon the recommendation of the state attorney. John H. Barnes appeared for Karpenia.

During the court session Thursday no bonds were called. The first was given by Louis Elfenbein of New London for $1,000 in the case of Morris Gooderman, who was arrested while riding upon the truck of George Talbot in New London when the truck was found to be loaded with alcohol. The other was a $1,000 bond given by the National Surety Co. in the case of Charles Becker, who was arrested when riding on a liquor laden truck that was driven in New London by Patrick J. Murphy.

The court adjourned about 3 o'clock in the afternoon until 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Judge Brown at Rockville

A short calendar session of the Tolland County superior court is to be held today (Friday) at Rockville. This session was to have been held last Friday but as Judge Allyn L. Brown of Norwich was unable to preside, it was put over. Judge Brown has been spending his vacation in Europe and returned Wednesday. Judge William M. Maltbie of Hartford has been acting in his absence.

Miss Bertha Weinberger has returned to New York city after spending her vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Loewy of 70 Washington street.

Miss Louise Porter of South Windham entertained Miss Edna Gunderson of Stafford Springs and Miss Agnes Gaesky of Fitchville over Labor Day.

Misses Lucretia and Lorena Evans of Bridgeport, are spending a week at the home of their grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Howard Evans, of Court street.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyckoff Wilson and daughter, Miss Harriett, have returned to their home in West Hartford after spending some time in Gilead with Mrs. Maria Ellis.

Misses Pearl E. Longley, and Ruth McKenzie, of Boston, and Beatrice Longley of New York, have returned to their homes, after spending the holiday at the home of their cousin, Miss Mildred Cass of Norwich.

OBITUARY.

(Contributed.)

Mrs. Silas A. Waite.

Mrs. Ellen Elizabeth Vaugh Waite, widow of Silas A. Waite, who passed away after a short illness last week, was a native of Oneco, where she was born in October, 1840.

Sept. 27, 1858, she was married to the late Silas A. Waite, also a native of Sterling, and both lived their entire lives in this town, where they entered with zeal into the town's interests in every way.

Three children were born to the Waites, all dying young, so that her only survivors are nephews and nieces, and one sister, Mrs. Sarah Kenyon, also a lifelong resident of this town. Mrs. Waite like her late husband was always ready to extend a helping hand. She was a quiet, unassuming home body, and while she was not a member of any clubs or societies, her heart was always near the soldier and his dependents and she was intensely patriotic.

The funeral over the remains of late Mrs. Waite was solemnized from her late residence last Friday, interment being beside her husband in the Oneco cemetery. Mrs. Waite was owner of much real estate that she divided among her surviving relatives before her death. She will be greatly missed by the entire town and its people.

Stephen F. Wenzel

Following a short illness, Stephen F. Wenzel died Wednesday afternoon at his home, 90 Geer avenue. He was born in Hungary, August 20, 1888 and for the last eleven years made his home in this city. He was an expert paper maker and was employed by the C. M. Robertson mill in Montville.

In Montville February 16, 1913, he was united in marriage with Ida Judge by Rev. Mr. Aldrich. Besides his wife he is survived by his father in Hungary, three sons, Paul, Harry and Frederick, and two daughters, Marion and Olive Wenzel. There are also two brothers, Martin Wenzel of this city, and Joseph Wenzel of Philadelphia, and a sister, Miss Gertrude Wenzel of this city.

EAST KILLINGLY ANCESTRY OF COSTELLO LIPPITT

Judge J. N. Tucker of East Killingly, in the Windham County Transcript, pays the following tribute to the late Costello Lippitt, treasurer of Norwich Savings society:

He was born in East Killingly Dec. 12, 1842. His birthplace was in the Truesdell and Lippitt village, afterwards known as the Whitestone, in the second house below the F. B. church.

His earliest school days were spent here, where he was contemporary with Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, also a pupil here. He was a bright boy and early showed those traits of character which afterwards led to an honorable and successful life. He was agreeable in manner and was much beloved by his young associates.

His father was Norris G. Lippitt, a man of excellent talents, intellectual culture and refined literary taste. With John B. Truesdell he was engaged in manufacturing and in mercantile business, Mr. Truesdell being the industrial head of the firm and Mr. Lippitt conducting a large and well equipped store belonging to the firm. The latter afterwards entered the ministry and became an able and successful clergyman of the Methodist denomination.

His mother was Eliza Leffingwell Lippitt, daughter of Major Calvin Leffingwell, who for a number of years, with Jedediah Leavens, was engaged in manufacturing here, and whose last years were spent in Danielson, where he died Sept. 27, 1873.

Costello Lippitt has been faithful to every duty and responsibility, whether in church or state, or fraternal organization, and has come to the end of life: "Like as a shock of grain cometh in its season."

Hurt in Motor Car Accident.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. MaGuire of Mystic received minor injuries in a motor car accident near Mystic Friday night. Mr. MaGuire has a cut on his hand and Mrs. MaGuire was badly shaken and bruised. The latter's brother, Dr. F. E. Guild, was in the car following and dressed Mr. MaGuire's cut before the party proceeded home. The MaGuire car was run into by a rapidly driven machine coming out of a side street without any warning and just escaped being completely overturned. The MaGuire chauffeur was in no way to blame for the accident.

In time of peace the wise nation makes strenuous preparations for more peace.

BAKER IN PRISON FOR LIFE FOR MURDER OF TWO MEN IN STABLE

Malcolm Thomas Baker, 18, colored, whose home is in Asbury Park, N. J., will not pay by his own death for the murder of Frederick E. Pierce and George Wilkinson, Jr., of North Stonington on the 31st of May last in a livery stable in Pawcatuck, but he will be dead to the outside world for the rest of his natural life. In the superior court here Thursday morning, before Judge C. L. Avery, Baker pleaded guilty to second degree murder and was at once sentenced by Judge Avery to life imprisonment in the state prison.

Baker began serving his life sentence for about noon Sheriff Sidney A. Brown, deputy sheriffs, Manuel Martin and Winder Reed took the negro in the sheriff's car to Wethersfield.

Following the sentencing of Baker, state attorney Arthur M. Brown recommended to the court that the two men who have been in jail as Baker's accomplices, James Duffy, 23, of Westerly and Clarence Sebastian, 20, of Danielson, should be discharged. This was done. Baker's confession has exonerated them of the murder of the two North Stonington young men who were found beaten to death in Brown's livery stable, Coggswell St., Pawcatuck. The motive of the murder was robbery.

Disposition of the Baker case was made after a long conference with the judge by the state attorney and Attorney G. C. Morgan, counsel for Baker. Tuesday the grand jury had returned a true bill of first degree murder against Baker.

The plea of Baker to second degree murder was by agreement with the state attorney and permission of the court, it was stated.

Before Judge Avery passed sentence, Attorney Morgan made a plea for Baker, calling attention to the part liquor had played in the crime and said he felt convinced that trial of the case on a first degree murder charge would probably result in conviction and he felt that it was his duty as counsel and guardian of Baker to allow the plea of guilty to second degree murder.

State Attorney Brown addressed the court also, saying that he was satisfied from his investigation of all the circumstances in the case that it would be the proper course to pursue to allow the plea of guilty to second degree murder. So far as the rest of the world is concerned, Baker is dead to all intents and purposes if he is sent to prison for life.

SINGS WITH SUCCESS AT SPIRITUALIST CAMP MEETING

Miss Viola M. Grover of Broadway, who has been serving the New England Spiritualist Camp Meeting association as soloist for its six weeks' convocation, closed a most successful engagement Sunday and left Lake Pleasant, Mass., Monday, motoring home to this city. Her work was so well appreciated that she has been offered a return engagement for next year's convocation, which will be held during the month of August, opening Sunday, Aug. 2d, 1925.

At the annual camp meeting held last week at Harwichport, Cape Cod, the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting association, which is the oldest Spiritualist organization in the world, elected Rev. and Mrs. Albert P. Blinn of this city as honorary life members. Mr. Blinn has been president of the association for several years, and at the convocation last July Mrs. C. M. Eldridge and Mrs. Blinn were the vocalists.

LIBEL FOR $500 IS AGAINST STEAMER MYRA

Libel was filed in behalf of the Thames Towboat company of New London on the steamer Myra, operated under the management of Charles F. Willard of Thames street, Groton, Wednesday afternoon by U. S. Deputy Marshal Joseph M. Park. The attachment is for the sum of $500 for shipyard work done on the vessel at the Thames shipyard some weeks ago, including principally the replacement of a broken propeller shaft.

Captain S. A. Nonsuch, former pilot on board the Myra, is also said to have attached the Myra for wages exceeding $100.

The Myra is at present moored at her usual dock near the ferry slip in Groton. The vessel was used during the summer to carry passengers between New London and Norwich and for pleasure excursions at Ocean Beach.

Chicken Killing Match

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, Sept. 4—There is to be a chicken killing match in this city Friday evening between John Caves of New London and William Lewis of Norwich. The record is held by Caves who killed, picked and dressed a chicken and had it boiling in three minutes and ten seconds. That pace is expected to make Mr. Lewis step, but the latter says he is good at the game and does not scare at any record.

Killed Mayor's Dog

A Boston bull dog belonging to Mayor Milo R. Waters was run over and killed by an automobile early Tuesday evening on Laurel Hill avenue. The driver did not stop his car, which was said to have New York registration, and the police were looking for him all Thursday night.

Drivers Like Norwich Track

The drivers at the county fair were very much pleased with the condition of the track. They stated that it was in the best condition of any track on which they have raced this summer. The working of the track was in charge of Jack Connelly.

COMPTROLLER WILL PAY JURYMEN OFF NOW

The jurymen summoned for the September term of the criminal superior court here were in attendance Thursday but had nothing to do. All the cases which might have required their attention were settled without coming to trial so that Judge C. L. Avery had the jurymen called into the court room about 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon when he thanked them for their attendance and then excused them for the rest of the term. The pay for their services, he said, would be sent to them soon from the comptroller's office.

Previously jurors have been paid off by the clerk of the court, but it is understood that the practice in the state now will be for the superior court jurors to be paid through the comptroller's office.

The jurors summoned included the following:

Norwich—Adolphu D. Zabriskie, Patrick T. Connell, Dwight W. Avery, Amadee Pion, George L. Randall, Jabez W. Sterry.

Preston—Frank A. Krug, Frank R. Ayer, Charles H. Benjamin, Herman A. Davis, Charles C. Zabriski.

Colchester — Samuel MacDonald, Charles F. Brown.

Griswold—Irving O. Burdick, William C. Briggs, Walter C. Burdick, Charles Armstrong.

Lebanon—George H. Hoxie, Fred M. Abell, Edward W. Jones.

North Stonington; Ernest L. Crandall, Eugene C. Bromley.

Bozrah, Frank L. Lathrop, Jabez G. Lathrop.

Franklin, Joseph E. Ayer, Louis H. Smith.

Sprague, Frank Love, Walter J. Milner.

Lisbon, Clarence A. Mell, George F. Helmboldt.

Salem, Richard B. Tibbetts, Adelbert Winchester.

Voluntown, Benjamin S. Hall, Cyrus W. Fletcher.

THIEF OF BAGDAD AT PALACE THEATRE

The Thief of Bagdad, a fantasy of the Arabian Nights, with Douglas Fairbanks in the title role, opened a three days' run at the Palace theatre Thursday afternoon. There was a good sized audience at the matinee showing and an even larger audience at the evening performance. The Thief of Bagdad is one of the most fantastic pictures ever seen in Norwich. The numerous wonderful scenes and the faultless acting of the large cast drew forth universal favorable comment.

The picture was shown in two parts running two hours and a half with six minute intermission. The street scenes, palace scenes and the costumes worn by the cast give one the impression that they are bystanders of a most interesting string of events in far away Bagdad.

Douglas Fairbanks appears as the "prince of thieves" of Bagdad in the first part of the picture, and as the story develops in the second part he is transformed through love for a beautiful princess, and by braving unheard of dangers, into a real prince, with a huge army, arriving at the palace gates just in time to rescue his beloved from the grasp of a Mongolian prince, a persistant and villanous suitor.

The magic carpet, the magic crystal, the magic apple and the magic chest give the play a real touch of the Arabian Nights. Julanne Johnston appears in the role of the beautiful princess. So Jin is seen in the role of the Mongol prince, Noble Johnson as the Indian prince and C. Comont as the Persian prince, all suitors for the hand of the princess. They are well supported by a large cast.

Reports at Sub Base

Chief Machinist L. P. Early reported for duty Thursday at the Submarine Base from the U. S. S. Prometheus.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred N. H. Vaughn, who have been in Edinburgh, are expecting to spend a month in London.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry E. Higgins moved Thursday from Fairmount street to their recently acquired residence at Sachem terrace.

H. Reynolds Palmer, who is spending the season at Scituate, Mass., with his mother, Mrs. William H. Palmer, has been the guest of a school friend at Northampton, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Parker and daughters, and Miss Matilda B. Randall have returned to their home on McKinley avenue, having passed the season at their cottage at Pleasant View.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Potter, who have been touring in their car on the Cape, and have been guests for a week of Miss Annie E. Vaughn, of Broadway, have returned to their home in Waterbury.

S. S. America, of the United States line, on which Miss Frances R. Whitney is returning from Europe, and which left Bremen August 28th, is due at Hoboken Sunday morning. Miss Whitney sailed from New York June 21st.

Having spent the season at The Griswold, Eastern Point, Miss Augusta B. Greene, of New York, a former Norwich resident, is to spend the autumn at Whitefield, N. H., where her cousins, Judge and Mrs. Gardiner Greene, are guests at the Mountain View.

SEPTEMBER MEETING OF SIX CHURCH CONFERENCE

The September meeting of the conference of six churches was held at Pachaug Congregational church on Wednesday. The program was very evidently most carefully prepared and was unusually interesting. It was opened with an organ voluntary played by Mrs. J. P. Richardson, who was the accompanist for the musical numbers. Rev. J. W. Carter, pastor of the Jewett City Mehodist church, offered the invocation, closing with the Lord's prayer in unison. Rev. E. E. White, the afternoon speaker, led the responsive reading. Rev. William Muttart of Preston City read the scripture lesson from Job. 27. Prayer was offered by Rev. A. H. Clement of Jewett City. Rev. Albert B. Cristy of Bethel, Vt., was the speaker in the morning. His topic was A Preacher's Message. His text was Job 27: 18. "He builded his house as a moth." He told how Job studied God's ways in nature and learned lessons which applied to human beings. If we study the acts of insects we have a first hand view of the Creator's purpose curried out. We have a conception of the divine thought for humanity. He described very vividly and at length the ways of different wasps an ants, emphasizing how they die and then come to life. What we put into life is the same that we put into it. If we want a good character we must put in the material for it. Have we lost faith in a life to come when all the myriads of life to come are spread before us? The human will and intelligence must conform with the divine will.

Rev. J. P. Richardson announced the resolutions committee to be Mrs. E. A. Geer, representing the home church; Miss Lucy Baldwin, the sister churches, and Miss Ida Edmond, the visitors. After singing the benediction hymn, dinner was served in the chapel and on the church lawn.

At the afternoon session Mr. Richardson requested the scribe, Mrs. E. H. Hiscox, and the resolutions committee to come to the platform. The report of the last meeting was read and accepted. The roll call was responded to by 28 from Preston City, 1 from Plainfield, 9 from Jewett City, 6 from Hanover, 13 from Newent, 30 from Pachaug and 48 visitors. Others coming in later made a much larger number.

The resolutions spoke of the church being honored for the 62d time in entertaining the confernece and declared her delight in these homecomings at the birthplace of the conference and joy in netertaining so noble a company fo people interested in the work of the Lord. Appreciation for the hospitality of the church, the kowers, the preachers, messages and music was expressed. Also the conference expressed itself as deeply grateful for the stay of Rev. and Mrs. H. S. Stephenson for a brief time, having now returned to their old Kentucky home. It recognized the Christian courtesy that ever marked this southern gentleman and lady, and their marked ability in preaching and singing. They will be assured that the Congregationalists of the north find no dividing line between these friends of the south, and that they will always be borne upon the conference friends' hearts in the work to which they have gone.

The conference offering was received. Rev. Allan S. Bush of Groton, former superintendent of missions in Colorado and Utah, offered the prayer. An inspiring service came next and was conducted by the pastor's son, James H. Richardson, one of the deasons in a Dorchester, Mass., church. Those who were to participate in this part of the service were invited to the platform and introduced to the congregation by the pastor. After a responsive reading and missionary hymn, Byron P. Kinnie sang The Homeland. The Kingdom of Christ was recited by Mrs. Harold F. Geer. Miss Viva F. Richardson played with the finish and technique which always marks her accomplishment the Etude in D Flat by Liszt. Miss Mabel E. Kanahan sang the solo My Task, all a most delightful part of the p rogram.

The pastor then invited to the platform Rev. Truman D. Childs of Ekonk, Rev. Mr. Bush, Rev. Mr. Cristy with Rev. Emmons E. White, the afternoon speaker. Rev. Mr. White was for one year a student pastor at Ekonk and has lived all but seven years in Connecticut. For seven years he has been working under the American Board of Missions in the Madura mission at Aruppu Kattai in South India. His talk was about the Tamil people that are twenty million strong in India. He tlod of their customs, the country, especially dwelling on the castes, which he said was the biggest obstacle in India to change. He considered the greatest work there to be the beginning of the South India unite church. He is connected with the local church council which conducts this work.

He said mission work was helping a nation to grow into the likeness of Jesus Christ, mentally, morally, physically and spiritually. It is cooperation with other people to bring out the best they have and the best we have and the best we have to give. His musical sermon, a sample of Indian music and language, with an accompaniment of three notes held on the organ was very effective.

A missionary chart, prayer by Rev. Mr. Child and benediction by Rev. Mr. Bush closed the services. The floral display was unusually lovely as arranged by Mrs. Will Edmonds with gladioli of beautiful colors from the gardens of W. R. Palmer and dahlias, petunias, zinnias, spirea, phlox, and geraniums from her own garden.

WEDDINGS

Taylor—Rosenberg.

At the Elks home, Main street, Tuesday evening, Rubin Taylor of Hartford and Miss Cipa Rosenberg, daughter of Rabbi and Mrs. Joseph N. Miss Kellas was formerly a telephone operator in the Norwich exchange.

Rogers—Hunter

Miss Marion Elizabeth Hunter of 124 Ottrobando avenue, and John Henry Rogers of Yantic were united in marriage Thursday evening at 7 o'clock at the First Congregational parsonage on Elm venue, Norwich Town. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey pastor of the church, the double ring service being used. The attendants were Miss Fanny Edminston and John Hunter, the latter the brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a supper served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hunter, was attended by relatives and friends.

The bride received a number of beautiful gifts including a quantity of silver, cut glass and linen. Previous to her marriage she was given two miscellaneous showers, one by Miss Clara Karkut at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Edward Slattery, and the other at the home of Mrs. Richard Carter.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rogers of Yantic, where the is employed. The bride is a member of the First Congregational church and has always resided in Norwich Town. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers are to reside on Sturtevant avenue.

MYSTERIES OF THE ANCIENTS.

The Department of Agriculture of Egypt has seeds which were found in age-proof containers in the tomb of King Tutankhamen which they will endeavor to propagate at their agricultural research laboratories. These seeds may represent herbs containing medicinal properties that this age and generation knows not of. It was the simple roots and herbs of the field that half a century ago produced Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a remedy that has never been equalled in overcoming ailments peculiar to women.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically, from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or two tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and without the slightest pain or discomfort. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get pure Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

Had to Shoot Injured Dog

A puppy of the police dog breed was struck by an automobile at Norwich Town early Wednesday evening and was so badly injured about its chest and front legs that it had to be shot by Officer Patrick Murphy who was sent from police headquarters to see what could be done for the injured animal.

BERGER GOLDBERG RETURNS TO PITCH AGAINST MARRIED MEN THIS EVENING

The single men's camp was the scene of great rejoicing last night when Berger Goldberg, hero of last years' series and the pride of all baseball fans in Norwich, finally returned yesterday to the fold after a big season in Fisher's Island. Well tanned and clear-eyed as a result of clean living in the open, the sturdy little veteran of last year is in even better condition than he ever was, although still a little upset after his trip across the sound. Although he arrived early in the day he spent a busy day shaking hands with his many admirers until he received orders from the manager to keep under cover for fear of an injury to his mighty right arm that might result from too much handshaking.

Although Goldberg has been going like a house afire down on the Island with a no-hit no-run game to his credit Manager Pedace is taking no chances and gave him a hard workout last night and is satisfied that Berger has more puzzling hooks and curves this year than a sand flea has enemies and will be as troublesome tonight to the Married Men as the hives are to a one-armed man. With two games already to their credit the Single Men will start the game tonight confident of winning and clinching the series. In a statement last night Manager Pedace said that after tonight's game the old pennant will fly over the Single Men's camp the Married Men will again return to their happy homes with only the bitter taste of defeat.

Although the Single Men are favored to win easily tonight the Benedicts are equally confident that the old storm is about to turn and that things are about to break in their favor pretty soon, and that even with the mighty Berger in the box tonight the Single Men are due for a hard bump. Although he may have made a record in Fisher's Island by pitching a no-hit game, he will make another record tonight and it won't be from lack of hits either.

Although Coleman was driven from the box in the last game and has been the target for much abuse since then, it must be admitted that he is a heady little pitcher and with any kind of support should prove a worthy opponent for Goldberg and it is hoped that Manager Cook will give him another chance to prove that he really has the goods.

There have been several changes in the Married Men's lineup and tonight will see "Cy" Perkins and Windy Gross two well known old timers in the lineup and if they can perform as they did in the days of old their presence alone should irritate Pedace's pets.

Another new face that will be seen tonight will be that of "Bozo" direct from the wilds of Africa, a monkey mascot who is said to be the only monkey in captivity that understands the rules of the old national pastime.

As the twilight season is getting short tonight's game will be started at 6:15 sharp so that the necessary five innings can be played.

YANKEES RECEIVE ANOTHER SETBACK FROM ATHLETICS

New York, Sept. 4.—The Philadelphia Athletics gave the New York American another setback in their pennant campaign here today, opening the first game of the series by a score of 8 to 2. Philadelphia piled up seventeen hits for a total of twenty eight bases on Hoyt, Gaston and Shawkey.

Hale and Miller each hit safely four times. Gray held the Yankees safe in every inning except the seventh, when a double play stopped a New York rally. Ruth was obliged to retire in the third inning because of his lame throwing arm. Score:

DODGERS' STRING OF STRAIGHT WINS TOTAL THIRTEEN

Boston, Sept. 4.—Brooklyn ran its string of straight victories to 13 by taking two games from Boston today, the Dodgers won the first, 5 to 1 and the second by 9 to 1. Vance held the Braves to three hits in the opener, struck out 11 men, won his 24th games of the year, incidentally his 12th consecutive victory.

Reuther pitched and won the second. He made four straight hits. Mulch, a rookie pitcher from the Dover club finished the first game for Boston, acquitting himself well. Catches by Wheat were features. The scores:

With Vance holding the Braves helpless in the opening contest, the Dodgers pushed across one run in the first, another in the third and then knocked Benton from the box in the fifth inning. Vance struck out two men in the second inning and, in the third, struck out three.

Ruether's victory over the Braves today was the first he had won since he defeated the Boston club on July 6. The battery of Ruether and Taylor joined the rest of the Brooklyn club in its savage hitting in the second game, between them collecting eight straight hits out of the club's total of 18. Score:

PIRATES LOSE TO CARDS; DROP INTO THIRD PLACE

Pittsburgh, Sept. 4.—Pittsburgh dropped into third place in the National league race by losing today's game 9 to 5 to St. Louis, while Brooklyn was taking two from the Boston Braves. Presenting a changed lineup, St. Louis took the lead in the second inning and held it despite the efforts of three Pittsburgh pitchers. Blades knocked the ball to the scoreboard for a home run. WILLIAMS' HOMER IN TENTH SPELLS DEFEAT FOR GIANTS

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—Cy Williams' home run smash over the right field wall with the bases filled in the tenth inning of today's game with New York sent the Giants down to defeat by the score of 10 to 6. The visitors got away to a three run lead on Mitchell in the first inning, but Betts pitched masterfully in the relief role. Scores:

Roser Gets 36 Homer

Worcester, Sept. 4. — Hartford bunched hits on Batchelder in two innings today and scored enough to win 9 to 5. Besse and Carrol made home runs. Roser also hit one, making his 36th for the season.

New Haven Wins Easily

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Home runs by Smith, Goff and Kirshstein enabled New Haven to win easily from Albany today. The score was 10 to 1.

How It's Done In the Majors

By Frank Frisch, Captain New York Giants

Runner on first. Batter hits to the third baseman in close toward the pitcher's box. Runner on first turns second and continues toward third, as the third baseman throws out the batter at first.

Who should take the throw from the first baseman at third?

On such a play, it is always advisable for the shortstop to back up, the third baseman. So as soon as he sees the runner from first turning second, he should run over and cover third. It is almost impossible for a third baseman to get back in time to take the throw from first when fielding such a ball. He has to go in fast to handle the hit and he is moving away from his base and is off balance. At best, he would have to take such a throw on the run, whereas the shortstop can get there in time to take it while in proper position.

CHASE TO TAKE EVIDENCE TO PRESIDENT IF NECESSARY

New York, Sept. 4.—Canon William Sheafe Chase, who is seeking the deportation of Luis Firpo, Argentine fighter, today stated he would take his evidence before President Coolidge, if necessary.

Mr. Chase, after numerous charges in published statements that Henry H. Curran, commissioner of immigration at Ellis Island, had blocked the investigation, and that attorneys for Tex Rickard, boxing promoter, had intimated witnesses today received a hearing before Commissioner Curran.

Mr. Curran said that Canon Chase had appeared to answer a subpoena, in countering previous statement by Dr. Chase that he appeared voluntarily to demand a hearing. Mr. Curran said he would subpoena several more witnesses to appear tomorrow.

Canon Chase had made several trips to Washington and conducted a voluntary investigation here in an effort to prove his charges that Firpo a year ago brought into this country Blanche Lourdes, who was sent back to Cuba a month ago after it was alleged she had accompanied Firpo on his present visit. Her passport had been improperly vised, according to immigration authorities.

Commissioner Curran said that Canon Chase was not acting in good faith in the Firpo case.

Canon Chase said that the authorities at Key West had corroborated cablegrams and other evidence of Miss Lourdes visit to this country last year.

He declared he was not trying to stop the bout between Firpo and Harry Wills, negro heavyweight, a week distant, but stated that "unless the prize fight is stopped, the administration of law in the immigration department will be discredited and public officials fall in the public esteem."

50,000 PAY TRIBUTE TO GEERS AT WHEELING FAIR

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 4.—At the scene of his last race, a crowd of 50,000 today paid elogent tribute to the memory of Edward F. ("Pop") Geers, noted harness driver and "grand old man of the trotting turf" who drove to his death yesterday at the West Virginia state fair.

Just at the hour of 2 o'clock, when Geers had been scheduled to drive Peter Manning, in an atempt to lower the half mile track record, the horse was led onto the track in front of the grand stand. It was draped in black, in memory of the man who had driven it to victory many times.

A hush fell over the great throng as the horse was led slowly down the track while a funeral dirge was being played in the grand stand. As the draped horse stood before the thousands of spectators, Howard M. Gore, assistant secretary of agriculture, mounted the judge's stand and paid glowing tribute to the late reinsman, eulogizing his character, his common honesty, and intregrity, which he said had gained for Geers lasting fame in the sport of Kings.

All other activities at the fair were suspended during the memorial services.

Geers' body, accompanied by relatives and friends, was taken to his home at Memphis, Tenn., today. Scores of persons stood in silent tribute as the train carrying the body of the famous driver passed out of sight.

TAFTVILLE-VELVETMEN SERIES TO FEATURE WEEK-END

Taftville A. A. and the J. B. Martin team will continue their battle for local supremacy playing at the Providence street grounds, Taftville, Saturday afternoon and again Sunday on the J. B. Martin grounds.

The fact that they lost the first game doesn't mean a thing to the Taftville boys and they are going after these two games with grim determination to win them both.

Local fans have argued the merits of these two teams pro and con and now the opportunity is presented for them to come and see for their own satisfaction. The lineups will be given in tomorrow's paper. Manager Erlbeck and Manager Clark each have their heart and soul set on winning this series so fans may rest assured that both teams will present a formidable array of baseball talent.

FIRPO RESUMES HIS TRAINING FOR WILLS

New York, Sept 4.—Luis Angel Firpo resumed training today for his bout with Harry Wills on September 11 after a day's interruption caused by the transfer of his quarters from Saratoga Springs to Madison Square Garden.

Curious crowds blocked the entrance to the garden and swarmed into the gymnasium but newspaper men and friends were permitted to witness the workout which was held in a specially constructed ring in a private room of the building.

WILLS' SARRING PARTNERS POSITIVE HE WILL WIN

Southampton, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Harry Wills' sparring partners are sure that the Brown Panther of New Orleans will defeat Luis Angel Firpo when the two ring gladiators meet in the ring at Boyle's Thirty Acres, September 11.

Wills is slowing up some in his training activities. He has about reached his prime and he fears he may go stale from too much work before the fight.

"I could step into the ring tomorrow against Firpo," said Wills.

PATTERSON IS DEFEATED BY RENE LA COTE OF FRANCE

Brooklyn, Mass., Sept. 4.—Gerald L. Patterson of Australia went down to defeat before René La Coste of France in the opening match of the final inter-zone competition of the Davis Cup series at the Longwood Cricket club's turf courts here this afternoon but Pat O'Hara Wood furnished a second surprise by out-lasting Jean Borotra, champion of England, and France, in a five-set contest. As a result the score stands one match a piece for the rivals who aspire to challenge America for the International trophy in the year's concluding matches at Philadelphia next week. La Coste defeated Patterson 6-3, 6-2, 10-8 and Wood defeated Borotra 1-6, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Tomorrow afternoon the twenty year old La Coste will team with Jacques Brugnon in the doubles encounter against Patterson and O'Hara Wood to break the deadlock. Regardless of the outcome of the Friday match the issue will remain in doubt until Saturday, for one of the nations must win three matches before becoming the 1924 challenger.

On Saturday, Patterson will play Borotra in the first of the remaining matches, as a result of a draw made late this afternoon, which means that O'Hara Wood and La Coste, today's victors, will meet in the concluding contest of the inter-zone play.

NATIONAL LEAGUE RACE CLOSEST IN YEARS

New York, Sept. 4.—Wilbert Robinson's Brooklyn Dodgers stretched their consecutive winning streak into 13 games by defeating the Boston Braves in both sections of a double-header and pulled up to within three point of the leading New York Giants, who lost a decision to Fletcher's Phillies.

McKechnie's Pirates also slumped a bit and gave ground to the Dodgers, Brooklyn easing into second place ahead of the Pirates.

The race in the national league is one of the most interesting in years. The three teams are all within a single game of each other, but the Dodgers, due to their sensational spurt, appear to have the call on their opponents unless the Giants and Pirates recover from their slump.

Stanley Harris' Washington Senators gained a full game on the Yankees today by defeating Boston, while the Yankees lost to Connie Mack's Athletics.

The Senators are now two full games ahead of the Yanks and playing better baseball than their metropolitan rivals.

A. A. U. MEET OPENS AT WEST ORANGE TODAY

Newark, N. J., Sept. 4.—The country's greatest athletes tonight were ready for the opening gun which tomorrow at Colgate Feild, West Orange, will start the 26th annual national A. A. U. track and field games on their way.

The junior events will be run off tomorrow with Saturday set aside for the senior events in which forty seven American track and field performers who competed with those from foreign field in the international Olympic games will taken part as well a sixteen A. A. U. title-holders. On Sunday, the decathlon and relay races will be held.

Never before in the history of the A. A. U. has such an array of athletes entered in the National track and field classics, Charles Johnson, director of games, said tonight.

SPIRITED RACING MARKS CLOSING DAY AT HARTFORD

Hartford, Sept. 4.—Spirited racing, the best of the week, was produced by the half mile track events arranged for the closing day of the Grand Circuit meeting here this afternoon.

Doctor White, driven by Dickerson, won the 2:18 trot from Coleman, Crozier up, in good heats. Phil O'Neil, Crozier driving, topped the summary in the 2:10 pace after two stirring stretch drives with Kazoff, handled by Harry Brusie.

Lon McDonald won the other two events on the card, taking the 2:10 trot after Sakura, in winning the first heat had equalled the trotting record for the twice around. Alma Worth, McDonald's entry in the 2:13 won the first and third heats and the race was declared finished.

The Grand Circuit ships from Charter Oak park tomorrow for Syracuse where the next meeting gets underway Monday.

IMPROBABLE THAT LEONARD WILL MEET MIKE WALKER

New York, Sept. 4.—Billy Gibson, manager of Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, announced tonight that it was improbable that Leonard would be able to meet Mickey Walker for the world's welterweight title on the night of Sptember 22 at the Yankee stadium because his injured thumb had not responded to treatment.

HARRINGTON BESTED FULLER IN PITCHER'S BATTLE

Waterbury, Sept. 4.—A home run by Harry Purcell in the eleventh inning, gave Bridgeport a 2 to 1 victory over Waterbury. It was a pitchers' battle between Harrington and Fuller. Waterbury scored its first run in the opening inning and thereafter Harrington was invincible.

MERRIMAN WON ONE DAY TOURNAMENT AT SHUTTLE

New Britain, Sept. 4.—B. P. Merriman, of Waterbury, with a 74 and 75 for a 149, captured the one-day golf tournament held on the Shuttle Meadow links today under the auspices of the Connecticut Golf associations. Other high scores in the 36-hole gross division were T. Haviland, Brooklawn, 78-75—153 and W. D. McDonald, Brooklawn, 79-82—161.

BALTIC TEAM TO CLASH WITH SOUTH WINDHAM

On Sunday the Baltic A. A. baseball team will play the fast South Windham team, which claims to have one of the best suburban teams around. The Windham manager promised to give the Baltic team a return game to be played on Recreation Park in Willimantic. With this understanding and to show the fans of Willimantic what kind of ball the Baltic team can play the Baltic team will challenge the Willimantic team after this series. After taking the Taftville team into camp the Baltic team is out to clean up anyone and all teams around.

The South Windham team are trying to land Cannonball Jones to pitch this game. Jones or Sullivan will toe the rubber with Donohue or Scribner behind the plate. Blackmar, 1st; Porter, 2nd; Adams, short; Meickle 3d; Kegler, left field; Nichols center field; Mosley right field; S. Porter, sub.

For Baltic Papineau, who held Taftville to 3 hits, will toe the rubber with Laffey behind the plate; Charron, 1st; Ridgeway 2nd; Peloquin, ss; Andrews, 1st; A. Charron, cf; Allard, rf; Detremb and Provencher, subs.

Bike Race Starts Today

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Bicycle riders from 39 states including four members of the United States Olympic team will compete tomorrow and Saturday in the National Amateur bicycle championship in Humboldt Park. Olympic teams entered are Iggy Gronkowski, Buffalo; Victor Hopkins, Davenport, Iowa; Rene Braet, Paterson, N. J., and Gus Hensche.

Villa-Genaro Bout Postponed Again

New York, Sept. 4.—The 15 round bout between Pancho Villa and Frankie Genaro, scheduled for tonight but called off when Genaro, the challenger, suffered an attack of laryngitis, will probably be held at the Queensboro A. C., in Long Island City, September 16, if Genaro recovers in time, it was announced tonight.

Springfield Loses Two

Springfield, Mass. Sept. 4.—Pittsfield won both games of a double header from Sprinfield today, winning the first 5 to 3 the second 7 to 4.

Rookie Shortstop Plays Well

Pittsburgh Sept. 4.—Thomas Thevenow, obtained by the St. Louis Cardinals from the Syracuse club, of the International league, reported to Manager Rickey today and played his first game at shortstop against the Pirates. He relieved Toporcer who was sent to third. Thevenow got six chance without an error and obtained one hit.

Miss Harrison Postpones Swim

Calais, France, Sept. 4.—Miss Lillian G. Harrison, the young American Argentine swimmer, who intends to make an attempt to swim across the English Channel and who was scheduled to start at 11 o'clock tonight from Cape Gris-nez, has postponed the beginning of her efforts until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

THREE FORMER NATIONAL CHAMPIONS REMAIN IN WOMAN'S GOLF TOURNEY

Nayatt, R. I., Sept. 4.—(By The A. P.)—Three former national golf champions and a former national tennis champion were left in the tournament for selection of the year's queen of American links as the result of the third round today.

In the semi-finals Miss Glenna Collet of Providence will meet Miss Mary K. Browne of Santa Monica, Cal., and Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia will play Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia. The results today were:

Miss Collett defeated Mrs. Quentin F. Fentier, New York, 3 and 1.

Miss Browne defeated Miss Bernice Wall, Oshkosh, Wisc., 5 and 4.

Mrs. Hurd defeated Miss Miriam Burns, Kansas City, 3 and 2.

Mrs. Vanderbeck defeated Miss Audrey Faust, St. Louis, 3 and 2.

The elimination of Miss Burns, who yesterday dethroned Miss Edith Cummings of Chicago as champion, and the steady golf of Miss Browne, former tennis champion, were the high spots of the day's play.

Miss Burns lost to Mrs. Hurd, twice holder of the title, in the same way that she nearly was defeated by Miss Cummings — poor work around the greens, with the match secure as she stood on the fourteenth tee despite the loss of two holes through missing putts. Miss Burns proceeded to lose the next three holes and the match, when chip shot from the edge of the green ran far past the hole. The clinching shot was a successful putt by Mrs. Hurd on the sixteenth from a half stymie after her brassie second had hit the top of a bunker and bounced onto the green. Mrs. Hurd played the first nine in 45, several strokes higher than she had done in any match of the tournament hitherto, and Miss Burns failed to take advantage of the opportunity, going into the turn in 47, largely as the result of a hook into woods at one hole, and being two down.

Miss Browne is the only woman to have reach the semi-finals in both the golf and tennis national tournaments for women, and these distinctions came to her in the same year. If she progresses no farther in the present tournament her debut as a contender for national golf honors will be envied by many other players.

Watching another match after she had triumphed today with less difficulty than any one else, Miss Browne was congratulated by friends on having the best medal of the day for the first nine holes, a 41.

"I am surprised; it's a great shock to me, really," she said.

Miss Browne was three up on Miss Wall at the turn, having lost one hole at that point as the result of the only time in this tournament she had taken as many three putts to a green. She made two drives of 250 yards and one of 275 with the wind behind and showed improved ability to get to the green from bad lies. In one mashie niblick shot of 75 yards out of bushes to the pin she exhibited the strength of wrist that helped win the tennis honors.

FOUR NEW LONDON HOOCH DENS RAIDED HAVE FURNISHED BOOZE TO SAILORS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 4.—Because of the frequency with which sailors stationed at the United States Coast Guard Academy return from leave in an intoxicated condition and upon information furnished Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin as to the source of the bluejackets, three places located near the Fort Trumbull reservation were raided this afternoon. At each of the houses evidence was found of violation of the liquor law and the occupants were placed under arrest.

The accused are Domenica Orazio, 10 Chelsea street, employed by the Connecticut Power company; Antone Menghi, 87 Smith street, a well known contractor, and Mrs. Victoria Armezani, 93 Smith street. All three furnished a surety on their respective bonds of $1,000, for appearance in the police court tomorrow morning.

For some time the commandants of the academy and ships in the harbor have been annoyed because of sailors returning to their quarters at the academy or aboard the craft in an intoxicated condition. The military authorities decided to ascertain where the sailors obtained their liquor. Three chief petty officers were assigned to obtain evidence and did so. The evidence was laid before Prosecuting Attorney Cronin and he issued search warrants for the homes of Menghi, Orazio and the Armezani woman. The warrants were given to Sergeant Nelson Smith and with a raiding squad consisting of Motorcycle Officer William Babcock, Traffic Officer William Corcoran and Patrolmen Carlos Selesnitsky, David Nagle and Patrick Sheehan and with the Chief Petty Officers accompanying the raiders, the three houses were raided. At each house a large quantity of home-brew, wine and hops was found in the cellar, the quantity being seized and being such as to indicate that a thriving business was conducted at the places. At the Menghi house a sub-cellar exists and this was filled with many cases of home-brew and hundreds of bottles of wine.

The accused declare that the liquor was for their own consumption and that of friends.

All of the liquor showed an alcoholic percentage in excess of one-half of one per cent., in fact most of the beer and wine showed a percentage of alcohol varying from two to seven per cent.

The military authorities have rounded up witnesses who will testify that they made purchases of liquor at the places, while Walter Moran, a New London youth, who was found in the Armezani house admitted having purchased beer there and was held as a witness against the woman.

Another arrest was made late this afternoon when Sergeant Smith and Motorcycle Officer Babcock apprehended Amelia Del Pra, rear 93 Smith street. It is alleged that the Del Pra woman has been supplying sailors and civilians with home-brew and wine. She was released upon furnishing a bond of $1,000 for her court appearance tomorrow.

Mrs. Mary F. Hand, 81 West street, is seriously ill at her home, her condition having become weaker the past day or two.

Margaret Taylor, a young woman of 18, was accused in the police court this morning of having stolen $20 in cash and a quantity of apparel in a dress suit case from Sophie Cohen, a Hartford girl who is passing the summer at Ocean Beach. The girl knew she was guilty, though she was not forced to say so, so she was not put to plea. The prosecutor was more considerate of her and explained to the court that he had been informed that Miss Taylor had made restitution and had returned the plunder to the owner. He was disposed to continue the case against the Taylor girl and to place her in the custody of the probation officer, that he might lay down some rules for the guidance of the girl and that he would see that all the plunder was returned to Miss Cohen. The Taylor girl went to Mystic after she had committed the theft and there she was apprehended. Miss Cohen and Rose Levinson, her companion were in court to appear against the Taylor girl. They did not want her pushed, as the stolen property had been recovered. While their attitude was commendable, the matter was out of their hands when the arrest was made.

Sebastian Araresa and Tony Sueda, freight handlers at East New London were fined $10 each today, for intoxication. They were drunk last night, when Policeman Michael Dorsey found them in the street creating more or less disturbance. He endeavored to have them get off the street but they would neither be persuaded nor coaxed. In an instant both men were attacking the policeman. But he was in the possession of a billet which he used on the heads of the aggressive drunks. That stopped them, instantly. They said they had no excuse to offer, when given a hearing. Their heads, in bandages, showed that they had encountered trouble.

Harry Selikowitch was in court for parking his car all night on State street. He went from the parking place to the hospital and there remained till the next day, although he arranged for a friend to take his automobile to a garage. The friend did not do as he agreed to, so the Selikowitch car was tagged. Judgment was suspended as the circumstances seemed to warrant such action.

The automobile owned and operated by Dr. Edmund T. Douglass, 198 Thames street, Groton, and a commercial car, owned by Burr Brothers and driven by Thomas Kiley, 28 Connecticut avenue, collided this noon on Pequot avenue, opposite Green's harbor. The physician's car was badly damaged.

Mrs. Arthur Lanto and infant son of Howard street; Beckey Shortell, Hartford; Mrs. Lillian Collins, Westerly; Mrs. Edward Kearney, Groton; Mrs. Anthony DeCosta and infant daughter, Alger street; Walter O'Denny, Gales Ferry, and Rosie Caroni, Montauk avenue, patients at Lawrence hospital, were discharged today.

George Sturgis, of Huntington street, employed as night clerk at the Crocker house, is spending a fortnight's vacation at Cape Cod.

Mrs. Clovis M. Gates, of Everett, Mass., has returned to her home, having spent several days as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James A. McClellen.

Mrs. Charles Kaufman and little daughter have returned to their home on Montauk avenue, having spent a fortnight with Philadelphia relatives.

Miss Agnes Fenton, employed at the exchange of the Southern New England Telephone Company, Hartford, is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Ella Fenton, 57 Connecticut avenue.

The funeral of Catherine, widow of John Hennessey, was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church. A mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Alexander Woolschlaeger. The bearers were Edward Riordan, Dennis Cavanaugh, Clarence Martin and Braxton Hill. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

The funeral of Harriet Tate, widow of Horace Colt, was held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at her residence, 30 Broad street. The services were conducted by Rev. Romeyn Danforth. The bearers were Sidney H. Miner, Dr. Edward Prentice, Nelson J. Keeney, Alfred Colt, E. Frank Morgan and Carlos Barry. Burial was in the family plot in Cedar Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Libby, 332 Crystal avenue, complained to the police this morning that a rowboat that belonged to her and which had been moored in the Thames river was stolen.

George A. Williams, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Williams, 394 Broad street, left yesterday for Bermuda, where he will remain a fortnight.

Joseph and Orsolina DiMella have sold a house and lot on West Colt street to Greyoria and Louisa Scarpa.

The police office is annoyed at the number of complaints made daily because of the failure of lights throughout the city to illumine. On the outskirts particularly, complaints are made daily. The police during the past fortnight have reported 150 lights out. One morning 62 were reported as defective; another morning there were complaints of 54 and still another day brought 38 complaints to the power company that lights failed to shine. Maple avenue, Crouch street and the lower section of the city showered the office with fault-finding because of the absence of lights and streets on the west side of the city brought similar kicks. The police are powerless to remedy matters any further than to report to the power company. This they do, but the complaints tumble in over the telephone as regularly now as they did a couple of weeks ago.

An automobile owned by Thomas Samuel, 11 Richards street, an insurance agent, crashed through the fence of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, on Main street, this evening and dropped a distance of 15 feet to the tracks below. The automobile was considerably damaged. Samuel drove the machine to a point in front of his house on Richard street where the grade is steepest. He had absented himself but a short time when the brakes, which were defective, failed to hold and the car started in motion. The machine gained speed rapidly and continued to Main street, across the rails of the Connecticut company and against the big board fence. The crash was great and the machine plunged to the roadbed. The crashing through the fence is one of several like accidents that have occurred at this point within a year.

The proprietor of the Winthrop Hotel restaurant, is missing and as a result a number of creditors mourn his disappearance. This morning, when the owner failed to appear, it was found that nothing was known of his whereabouts by relatives or friends. As a result the proprietors of the hotel, DiMaggio Brothers, who leased the restaurant to the missing proprietor, have taken over the business.

Wilbur Cooper, 159 Connecticut avenue, was arrested this afternoon by Traffic Officer William Corcoran charged with obstructing traffic on Bank street, near the corner of State street. Cooper's automobile was in the middle of the street and prevented other cars from passing. He will be given a hearing in the police court tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Josephine Charland, 19 Walnut street, Westerly, reported to the police this afternoon that she believed that her daughter, Nellie, 14 who ran away from home two weeks ago, is residing in this city and requested that an effort be made to locate the girl. Mrs. Charland made it known to the police at the time of the disappearance of the girl that she believed her daughter to be residing on Shaw street with a girl friend.

The body of Mrs. Adelaide Huntley, wife of Cassius Huntley, of Bank street, whose death occurred in New York Labor day, was brought to New London this afternoon for burial in Cedar Grove cemetery. The committal service was conducted by Rev. Joseph A. Elder, pastor of Huntington Street Baptist church.

JEWETT CITY

At a largely attended meeting of Very Reverend Michael McCabe Council, Knights of Columbus, held in Foresters Hall, Wednesday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Grand knight, Richard Dudkowski; deputy grand knight, John LeClaire; chancellor, William Duggan; warden, Joseph Barry; recording secretary, Edmond Dudkowski; financial secretary, James Morey; treasurer, Thomas L. Burnett; advocate, Timothy Shea; inside guard, Dennis Griffin; outside guard, John Farrell; trustees, Charles Downing.

The retiring officers were given a rising vote of thanks in appreciation of their efforts for the betterment of the council. It was decided to hold a celebration honor of Columbus Day October 12th. A delegation from St. John's Council of Plainfield attended the meeting.

Between the residence of Mrs. A. A. Young and the R. R. station a black suit case, initials E. B. B. was lost. Reward if returned to Mrs. A. A. Young, Telephone 121.—adv.

A Hartford paper had among othe photographs in its gravure section recently one of Richmond Gardner son of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Gardner of this place, who has been studying music at the Conversatoire l'Americaine in Paris, France, for the past two years and who has been elected president of the Conservatoire student club and Ecole des Beaux Arts, at Fontainebleau.

Attorney and Mrs. Frank Keeshan and three children have returned to their home in Albany, N. Y., after a visit at Mrs. Timothy Driscoll's home on Matheuson street extension.

Three women had a very unpleasant experience Monday night while walking on South Main street about 8.30. One had a pocketbook in her hand. They heard some one behind them and as a man started to pass them he pinched the arm of the outside woman and poked her side. She thought it was some one she knew and turned to speak but discovered a strange man. He did not speak, but when they crossed the street, crossed over, too. After going through the same performance back and forth several times, one of the women asked him what he wanted and said she would call the police. Whereupon he grabbed both of her hands and held them up above her head shaking her back and forth. Frightened by the screams of the women, he ran into the bushes on A. R. Young's lawn. The women think he was trying to shake the pocket book out of their companion's hand. They have a fairly good description of the man.

Those who attended the conference of churches at Pachaug from the Jewett City churches Wednesday were A. R. Young, T. E. Lee, Mrs. E. L. French, Mrs. F. L. Kanahan, Miss Mabel Kanahan, Mrs. R. H. Howard, Miss M. A. Burdick, Mrs. E. H. Hiscox, Mrs. G. A. Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Ray, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Gray, Mrs. Ella Geer, Mrs. Althea Comager, Miss Beatrice Read, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kennedy, Rev. A. H. Clement, Rev. J. W. Carter, Mrs. Sarah Tracy, Mrs. Elmer Tarbox, Mrs. Solomon Paquette and two children, and Mrs. C. T. Armstrong.

John O. Shea returned from Backus hospital Monday and is at his new home in the Beauregard block, on Main street.

James McCluggage and Miss Bessie McCluggage have returned, after two weeks spent in Willimantic, Springfield and Bondsville.

Edward A. Gallup has purchased a house on St. Regis avenue, in Greeneville and the family is to move there this week.

The following scores were shot on the Voluntown range in a 50-shot match, Jim Hopkins put up the highest score, 466, in his 50 shots. Hy De Rusha was a close second. Geo Lillibridge put up the best 10-shot score for the Edmond Medal, 50 shots at 50 yards on the one inch target. Jim Hopkins 466, Hy De Rush 457, Louis Stinad, 454, George Lillibridge 445, Charles Stinad 430, Euclide Russi 424, Norman McFall 415, Floyd Magrey 406.

It has just become known that a meeting of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan was held the night of September 2nd. In spite of threatening weather there was a good sized attendance, parties coming by automobile from Rhode Island and Massachusetts. It is estimated that there was well over 100 machines on the ground. Dr. Parmalee of Akron, Ohio was the speaker, putting forth the issues that the Klan is fighting for in a good, clear-cut speech, touching on several points that brought applause from his audience. A large number of local people were present by invitation, and whatever doubt was in their minds, regarding the Klan and its purposes, was entirely dispelled, and only the highest praise was heard on all sides for the Klan. The grounds were efficiently guarded by several police dogs, there was no outside disturbance, and the meet broke up upon the initiation of 42 candidates into the Realm of the Invisible Empire. Knights of the Ku Kluv Klan underneath a huge fiery cross that lighted the countryside for miles around.

LEONARD BRIDGE

Mrs Hulda M. Peck, 71, died Friday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles M. Geer, after being in failing health for several months. Mrs. Peck was born in Canterbury September 29th, 1852, a daughter of Joseph and Caroline Preston. At an early age she was united in marriage with Clifton Peck of Canterbury and for a few years they resided in that town. Forty-three years ago they moved to Franklin where they successfully operated a large farm for many years. For the past few years Mrs. Peck has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Geer and has been most tenderly cared for during her long illness. Mrs. Peck was a devoted mother and a woman who made many friends. She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Edward A. Hoxie of Lebanon, Mrs. M. D. Whittaker of South Killingly, Mrs. C. M. Geer of this place and Mrs. C. G. McAron of New York state and by eleven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. The funeral services were held Monday at 1 p. m. from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Geer and were largely attended. Rev. Stanley Sellick of Lebanon Center Congregational church officiated. Mrs. Fred N. Taylor sang Face to Face. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Fred Burgess. Burial was in the family plot in the new cemetery at Lebanon. Rev. Sellick conducting the committal service. The bearers were Myron, Albert and Earl Hoxie and Leroy Geer, four grandsons. There were beautiful flowers including a large pillow from the four daughters, spray of purple asters from the grandchildren, spray of yellow gladioli from Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Burnett, spray from Mrs. Charles Waldo and Nelson Lyon, pink asters from the Get-Together Sewing Club of which she was a member, gladioli from Frank L. Moss, of Westfield, Mass., flowers from The Bulletin Social Corner Club No. 3, spray from Mr. and Mrs. A. Benjamin Hollister, and another spray from Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Goodwin. Relatives and friends were present from Ebenezer, N. Y., Westfield, Mass., Bozrah, Norwich, Fitchville, Hartford, Canterbury, South Killingly, Franklin and other places.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nadel and family went to Jersey City, N. J., Friday to take up their residence in their newly acquired property. Mr. Nadel recently exchanged his farm property here for a two-family house in Jersey City. The new owner of the Nadel farm, Mr. Lubin of Jersey City has taken possession of his property here. Max Nadel is remaining here with Mr. Lubin for a week and then will join his parents in Jersey City.

Hugh Stevenson of Ebenezer, N. Y. is spending a few days at C. M. Geer's.

Frank L. Moss of Westfield, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Whittaker of South Killingly, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. McAron were in attendance at the funeral of Mrs. Hulda M. Peck, Monday. Mr. and Mrs. McAron are staying for a few days with Mrs. McAron's sister, Mrs. Charles M. Geer.

Carlton Cummings was in Jersey City, N. J., Friday taking a load of household goods there for Mr. Nadel. He returned Saturday bringing a load here for Mr. Lubin.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Curry and family and Archie R. Curry of Springfield, Mass., were recent visitors at W. T. Curry's.

Sam Klotle has sold his farm to Leibman Brothers and Salant. It is reported that they have also purchased the Silverstein farm which joins the hotel property.

Mr. and Mrs. David Walsh and John G. Kneeland spent Sunday with Hartford relatives. They also called at the St. Francis Hospital to see Mrs. Kneeland and infant daughter.

Leo G. Cummings has gone to Springfield, Mass., to take up his duties as teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Rheuland and child started Sunday by automobile for their home in Philadelphia after a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Schroeder.

Mrs. Charles L. Hinkley and two sons have returned from a visit with relatives in Montowese and New Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barber of South Coventry and Mr. and Mrs. David Potter and daughter Bernice of Branford spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Kenyon.

Miss Mary A. Jones is visiting Mrs. Lloyd Abell in Bozrah.

George L. Thomas who has been in the Norwich sanatorium for treatment is spending a week at his home here. Although much improved Mr. Thomas will return to the sanatorium for further treatment.

Miss Emily Watrous entertained Labor day Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of Rockville and Mrs. Roy Wheaton and two children from Willimantic.

Alfred Springis has gone to New York on business.

Miss Fannie Vinograd, a teacher in New York city, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Vinograd.

MORTGAGES ARE UNPROFITABLE FARM CROPS

(Written Specially for The Bulletin.)

At least one of those Kansas wheat farmers from whom and about whom we've heard so many wails of anguish the last few years,—at least one of 'em has finally seen the light. The Outlook reports him as saying:

"The first thing I do will be to pay off my mortgage. I have sat up nights wondering how I could save my farm. Hereafter no mortgages for me, and the first agent who tries to sell me more land will be ostracized."

Whereupon and amen.

Good boy!

It's pleasant to know one can see a light when it is kindled in plain sight. It's commendable in any one to turn toward it when he sees it.

Of course, this is only one Kansan. And it is well understood that one swallow doesn't make a summer. At the same time, one is a general conclusion that the first swallow is likely to be followed by others. It is reasonable to assume that there are more than one Kansan, even in Kansas, who, if not converted or opened to conviction, regardless, there will be a number of them who can tell a farm paper or periodical from a bank pamphlet.

"The Curse of Easy Credit" is the heading under which one such paper discusses the western farm problem. One of the most amazing, certainly one of the most discouraging elements in the whole farm situation is the fatuity with which whole states full of farmers have swallowed, open-mouthed, the quackery of self-seeking demagogues in reference to this matter of farm credits. Not only swallowed it, but sent the quacks to congress as their deliberately chosen spokesmen and representatives.

For, when you're inclined to denounce the inefficiency and slow-wittedness and wrong-headedness and cowardice of congress, don't forget that three-quarters of those qualities have been furnished by the demagogues sent from western farm constituencies. There are scalawags enough from the east in congress, Lord knows, but they generally represent slum districts from big cities. They take orders from their bosses and rake in whatever graft comes handy. For the rest, they usually know enough to keep their mouths shut, and make no pretense of virtue. It was left for western farm communities to vent, one after another, a dozen or more wholly despicable demagogues to both the senate and the house of representatives, men whose names will come into the minds of any man accustomed to read the Washington news.

Fully three-quarters of the bad legislation passed during the last decade and fully three-quarters of the desirable legislation blocked have been due to the erratic and irresponsible hypocrisies of these egg-suckers from states as Wisconsin and Iowa and Minnesota and the Dakotas and Kansas. They deserve all the denunciation that can be applied to them, and all the contumely under which the national good sense would bury them. But, as I have said, don't forget that they are where they are because the farmer-controlled communities of those and other states sent them there.

Wherefore it is with considerable cheer that we read of this Kansas farmer who has at last turned the corner on to Easy Street, and who openly announces his determination to have nothing more to do with mortgages or land agents. While not helpfully powerful by his own self, he rises as the harbinger of a growing host. May it's numbers increase, and that speedily!

If, in addition to hostility to buncoing mortgage seekers and pestering sales agents, this farmer and his followers would declare war on all forms of farm credits, they would be starting a movement full of hope for the farm future.

I am told by "men of business" that credit is essential to the carrying on of commercial undertakings. I know very little of such undertakings and must, perforce, accept the assertions of those who do. But granting, however reluctantly, that credit is necessary in what is understood as commercial business does not also mean that credit is necessary to successful farming. It may, occasionally, be a convenience as a sort of "stop-gap" for the time being. But, taking it as a rule, by and large, the less a working farmer has to do with credit the better.

One serious trouble with altogether too many western farmers has been that their credit has been too good,—so good that they've been tempted to overdraw on it. In one western state nine farms out of every ten were said to be mortgaged, last year. In another the very banks which are supposed to be not only the fountains but also the guardian angels of credit, lent farmers (on big interest, of course,) as much as $2 a bushel on prospective wheat crops. When the crop failed both farmers and banks went under.

And then they blamed the government or the railroads or the World war or the Versailles treaty or some other outsider for the results of their own fault or folly!

I once knew an old swimming instructor who declared that the quickest and surest way to teach a fairly intelligent boy how to swim was to toss him into deep water and bid him get out the best way he could. For weaklings and mollycoddled young millionaires he admitted that different treatment was necessary. "But then, that sort never learn how to swim, really," he went on.

The tendency of the age is away from individualism and towards herding. Instead of exercising our own leg muscles till they're capable of keeping us on our pins unaided, the spirit of the age prompts too many to lean up against somebody else. "In union is strength," they quote. Another favorite scripture is that which points out organization as the only sure means to accomplishment.

There is just enough truth in both these claims to deceive at times even the elect. No one of good sense will for a minute deny or seek to minimize the partial truth they set forth. The difficulty is with those who too quickly assume that they are the whole truth and that nothing outside and above them is true.

There is no doubt that a three-fold cord is less easily broken than a single strand. But that doesn't tell the whole story. The strength of the twisted cord depends, not on the incidental fact that it is threefold, but completely and finally upon the actual strength inherent in each one of the three combined strands. A three-fold cord, twisted from well-laid twine of long fibre and tough composition, is confessedly not easy to break. But a cord, whether threefold or ninefold, of loosely bunched cobwebs is neither difficult to break nor dependable as a support in time of stress.

It isn't the mere fact of combination which assures strength: it is the character of the things combined. A phalanx of sturdy warriors, each soldier drilled, disciplined, hardened and resolute, is something extremely difficult to break. The Persians found it so when Alexander first opposed it to them; the black Bedouins of the Soudan found it so when the British formed their famous "squares," against whose bullet-spitting sides the Arab hordes broke in defeat.

But mere amorphous huddles of weaklings are not to be compared with Macedonian phalanxes or British squares. The latter are practically impregnable solidifications of individual strength; the former is but an aggregate of massed weaknesses.

A man must first be able to stand alone and hold himself up before he is capable of keeping or helping to keep others on their feet.

Said a local store-keeper, once, of a neighbor: "That man's credit is just as good as his money." Said the neighbor, to whom I repeated the compliment: "Huh, perhaps the reason is that I've never used it!" I.e. the credit.

In the course of my own brief and inglorious career I remember once finding, after reckoning up some small purchases at the store, that I'd forgotten my pocketbook. "That's all right," said the accomodating store keeper; "pay next time; your credit is good." "Glad to know it," said I, "guess I'll keep it good," and went back home and got the money and paid cash, as usual.

This will strike some people as somewhat pernickety, not to say absurd. "He tries so hard to stand up straight that he leans over backward," is a criticism I've occasionally heard. Well, if you're teetering on the edge of a particularly deep and nasty mud puddle, it's usually more satisfactory to stand in such a way that, if you do fall, it will be backwards on the dry ground and not forwards into the slime. Eh?

A farmer's credit is a mighty good thing to have in such shape that he can fall back on it in case of extreme emergency. But the less he uses it the better off he will be, in the long run.

It takes some strength of muscle and some practice in balancing to stand up alone. It calls for little but dum laziness to lean up against a fence post.

It needs some grit and a decent amount of gumption to hoe your own row. It requires neither to call on some neighbor to do it for you. All that is essential in the latter case is a sufficient supply of gall and gas.

The fact is encouraging that even one Kansas farmer has at last discovered that mortgages are unprofitable farm crops and that buying land just for the sake of having more is not good investment policy.

Let us hope that his neighbors, not only in Kansas, but in other states, will follow his lead in constantly increasing numbers.

And let us also devoutly hope that they'll outgrow their present bad habit of sending the cheapest demagogues they have to congress.

THE FARMER.

Necessarily the man who leaps before he looks doesn't take much stock in the theory that procrastination is the thief of time.

French Prescription
A Sensation Among FAT PEOPLE

A RELIABLE AND WELL-KNOWN French Physician prescribes a formula which works wonders for reducing. He used it for years in Europe in private practice, and of late was persuaded to give it up to the general public. Physicians, Druggists, Nurses now recommend it for the most obstinate cases of obesity. It is a combination of harmless anti-fat ingredients which are put up in a small tablet called SAN-GRI-NA — "SAN-GRI-NA," while being absorbed by the system, destroys all fat-forming elements and safely does away with rolls of fat. EVEN OF LONG STANDING—the reducing is gradual—does not leave one flabby or wrinkled and is absolutely guaranteed not to have any ill-effects; such reliable physicians as Dr. J. J. Rudolph, former Health Commissioner, exclusively uses "SAN-GRI-NA" in his private practice. Although "SAN-GRI-NA" is mostly recommended by Doctors and Specialists for reducing, it has also been found a great help for high blood pressure, dizziness, puffing, tired feeling, and tones up the entire system.

NOTE—Since "SAN-GRI-NA" has been introduced in America, it has met with such success that imitations cannot be avoided. Save yourself from disappointment. Ask for, and be sure to get, "SAN-GRI-NA." Do not accept a substitute claimed "just as good." On sale at SAN-GRI-NA is now sold at Lee & Osgood, McLaughlin's, or Bray's drug stores.

Life's Bitterest Lesson

Being a simple country girl, Myra was flattered by the attentions of rich young Mr. Leland—especially so since all the other girls had set their caps for him. In her innocence and ignorance, she did not dream that his gallantry was insincere—she could not foresee the startling train of events to which her admiration for this man was to lead.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Mrs. Tindle—How do you always manage to have such delicious beef?

Mrs. Sands—I select a good, honest butcher, then I stand by him.

You mean that you give him all your trade?

No, I stand by him while he's cutting the meat.—Life.

So you want to marry my daughter? What is your financial standing?

Well, sir, I've figured out every exemption possible, I've had the best legal advice that money would secure, I've done everything I could do to dodge it—and I still find that I cannot escape paying an income tax.

Take her. She's yours.—Boston Transcript.

How do you find marriage?

During courtship I talked and she listened. After marriage she talked and I listened. Now we both talk and the neighbors listen.—Dorfbarber, Berlin.

"Do you understand what is meant by invisible government?"

"Personally speaking," said Mr. Meekton, "I do. My wife gives me a list of errands every day by telephone."—Washington Star.

"Wait," replied Mr. Groucher, "until the system is further commercialized. I have no doubt the bill collectors will have broadcasting stations known at 'IOU' and 'COD'."—Washington Star.

KALEIDOSCOPE

According to Lieutenant Russel L. Maughan, sun-chasing flier of the United States army, flying a moderate type airplane hour after hour in a transcontinental journey is no more trying than sitting at the wheel of an automobile for the same time.

Some of the crew of a Scottish fishing boat thought they had caught a sea serpent when they hauled aboard an eel which weighed 88 pounds and measured 7 feet in length and 24 inches in girth. It was caught in the North sea about twenty miles from land.

Springdale, Pa., claims the biggest of all policemen in George Klingensmith, who is six feet six inches tall and tips the scales at exactly one-eighth of a ton—not any of it fat. Klingensmith is too heavy for a lightweight motorcycle bought for him, and the borough council was forced to return the machine.

As a friendly return for the recent visit to England of the prince regent of Abyssinia, the British government as decided to present to the Empress Judith, of Abyssinia, the crown of the Emperor Theodore, which was captured at Magdala in 1868. For the historic relic has been among the exhibits in the Victoria and Albert Museum.

Attempts have recently been made to introduce jute culture into South Africa, and tests made on a farm located near Hekorspruit, Transvaal, on the railroad between Johannesburg and the Portuguese East Africa border, have shown that it is practicable to raise this crop. It is capable of cultivation in almost any soil, but is most profitable in loamy or rich clay soil mixed with sand.

O. M. Prewitt, city marshall of Taft, Cal., sallied forth one night to tag every motor car that had overstayed the parking limit. After performing his duties, Prewitt handed in the duplicates to Judge Beatty and said he would be on hand in the morning to help prosecute. "Sure," said the judge, "You be on time, or I'll fine you for contempt of court." And he handed Prewitt a slip showing that in his roundup he had put a tag on his own car.

Less Than the Dust (L. Hope-A. Woodlands-Finden) (No. 2 from "Four Indian Love Lyrics")	Royal Dadmun	45424	1.00
Till I Wake (L. Hope-A. Woodlands-Finden) (No. 4 from "Four Indian Love Lyrics")	Royal Dadmun

Two numbers by the poet and composer—both women—of the "Kashmiri Song." The first has a vigorous rhythm like a sad dance; the second is slow, stern, tragic.

Sallie Johnson and Billy in the Low Ground	A. C. (Eck) Robertson	19372	.75
Done Gone Violin with Piano	A. C. (Eck) Robertson

"Eck" Robertson and his country fiddle in two of Eck's famous country-dance numbers of "old-fashioned" American music. Swift melody and droning, sleepy double-stops.

Light Vocal Selections

Charley, My Boy	Billy Murray with International Novelty Orchestra	19411	.75
A New Kind of Man	Aileen Stanley with International Novelty Orchestra

Fox trot songs by these famous comedy singers, with the finest kind of orchestral accompaniments. Unusual records.

Old Familiar Faces	Shannon Quartet	19412	.75
In the Candle Light	Peerless Quartet

"Heart-songs" with simple "appealing" harmonies, sung by two quartets specializing in popular music. The best in popular as well as classic music is always found on Victor Records.

Dance Records

Mandalay—Fox Trot	Art Hickman's Orchestra	19379	.75
String Beans—Fox Trot	Vincent Rose and His Montmartre Orchestra

First Victor Record by two famous California organizations. "Mandalay" is a smooth, flexible number; the other is bubbly and rumbly, humorous in manner.

Come On Red—Fox Trot	Whitey Kaufman's Original	19384	.75
Unfortunate Blues—Fox Trot	Pennsylvania Serenaders

Two records with the rhythmic element strong in them. "Come On Red" has plenty of instrumental "tricks," but with the dance moving subtly underneath.

Moana Chimes—Waltz	Hilo Hawaiian Orchestra	19385	.75
Waikiki is Calling Me—Waltz	Hilo Hawaiian Orchestra

Waltzes for a full-sized orchestra with Hawaiian guitars leading. Far above the average of contemporary waltz numbers. Both in the popular manner and excellent records.

BUSINESS IS BUSINESS

"Business is business," the Old Man said,
"It's warfare where everything goes,
Where every act that pays is fair
And all whom you meet are foes.
It's a battle of wits, a heartless rush—
It's a tearing, wearing, fight;
It's a trick of the strong to win from the weak,
With never a thought of the right."
And he schemed, and he fought, and he pushed men aside,
While the world in contempt looked on;
It buried him deep 'neath the wealth that he claimed
And covered his name with scorn.

"Business is business," the Young Man said,
"A game in which all may play;
Where every move must accord with the rules
And no one his fellow betray.
It's wholesome and clean, and full of good-will,
It's an urging, surging game,
It's a mission to serve in your day and age,
And a guerdon to honor your name."
And he sought and he bought, and he brought fro afar,
And he served with conscience clear;
While his praise was sung by his fellowmen
And his service crowned with cheer.

MARKET WAS UNSETTLED

New York, Sept 4—Unexpected omission of the quarterly dividend on the common stock of the American Woolen Company, which broke nearly 14 points to 58 1-2, the lowest price since 1921, unsettled today's stock market after an early period of irregularity lower prices. The general list, however, met good support, net losses in most of the active issues ranging from fractions to 3 points.

Despite the generally heavy tone of the market, bullish operations were continued in a number of issues.

"Nickel Plate" common soared nearly six points to the record breaking price of 119 1-2, but later reacted 3 points from the high. The preferred touched a new top at 93 1-4 and then sagged to 91 1-2, up 1-2. Strength of Lackawanna, which advanced 3 points to 139 and then eased to 137, was based on reports that the road was to become the next member of the Van Sweringen family.

The precipitous decline in American Woolen, which sold yesterday at 76 1-8, or 2 3-4 points below the year's high, was due in a large measure to the touching off of a number of "stop loss" orders in that stock, which has a large speculative following. Daniel Boone Woolen Mills, directors of which yesterday postponed dividend action for one week, dropped 1 1-2 points to 12 1-4, and then rallied feebly. Other textile stocks reacted in sympathy.

Steel and equipment issues lost ground in the face of announcements of large equipments by some of the principal railroads. United States Steel common dropped more than a point to 107 1-4, while Republic, Gulf States and Vanadium Steels, Baldwin and Lima Locomotive dropped 1 to 2 points.

Much of the early selling was reported to have come from floor traders who took advantage of the suspension of pool operations in a number of specialties and the apparent lack of market leadership on the long side. Duponf, General Electric, International Telephone, Endicott-Johnson, May Department Stores, Nash Motors National Lead and United Railways Investment Pfd. Sagged 2 to nearly 4 points.

Short covering operations accounted for the rallies in American Agricultural Chemical Pfd., Colorado Fuel and Jones Brothers Tea, which closed about 1 to 1 1-2 points higher.

Rails yielded with the industrials despite the publication of unusually high August car loadings by some of the wester nroads. Union Pacific, Norfolk and Western, Great Northern preferred, Canadian Pacific, Chicago and Great Western preferred, Delaware and Hudson and Louisville and Nashville showed recessions of 1 to 2 and a half points at the close.

Call money renewed at 2 per cent, but advanced to 2 1-2 towards the close. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchange rates continued to lose ground in reflection of the increase in grain and cotton bills. Demand sterling ruled about a cent lower at $4.46 1-8 and French francs were off about 4 points around 5.30 cents. Other recessions were largely nominal.

BOND MARKET

New York, Sept. 4—Reactionary tendencies continued of predominate in today's bond market, which was marked by extreme dull trading. Prices fluctuated within narrow limits, and except for a few high-grade rails which responded to reports of expanded August traffic, moved generally lower.

With traders showing a disposition to await further definite political developments abroad, there was a slackening of activity in the foreign list. The new Belgian 6 1-2s again occupied the center of trading interest, continging to command a slight premium on a larger turnover. French and Austrian issues moved lower.

Profit taking reduced recent gains made by Wilson & Company obligations and various other industrial issues, including Chile Copper 6s, Punta Alegre Sugar 7s, American Agricultural Chemical 7 1-2s.

Establishment of another new high record by International-Great Northern Adjustment 6s at 56 1-2 featured trading in railroad liens. Union Pacific First 4s and Louisville & Nashville 4s also improved moderately but their gains were offset by the heaviness of Frisco Income 6s, Rio Grande Western 4s and Seaboard Adjustment 5s.

Public offering will be made tomorrow of $26,000,000 Canadian National Railways 30 year 4 1-2 per cent. bonds, simultaneously in New York and Canada. The issue, which bears the dominion government's guarantee, will be priced at 96 and interest to yield 4.75 per cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 4—Trading in all the grain was light today and with lack of buying power the markets were easily influenced. At the finish wheat showed a net loss of 3-8 to 7-8c, with September 123 7-8 to 124 and December 128 7-8 to 129; corn was off 1-8 to 3-8 cents, oats 1-8c lower to 5-8c higher and provisions unchanged to 20 cents down.

Disappointing cables and hedging pressure in wheat at the start caused uneasiness, it being evident that the market was a little overbrought as a result of elimination of much of the short interest on yesterday's closing bulge. On the downturn some buying developed and carried values above the previous closing level. These gains, however, were quickly wiped away, when free selling by houses said to be acting for elevator interests and believed to be hedging, was brought out. Foreign demand has subsided somewhat as a result of yesterday's advance here.

Corn was unsettled with numerous small bulges and breaks, the trade being largely of an individual character. Speculative interest has fallen off and the general disposition seems ot be to wait for some new influence before taking any decided stand on either side. Generally favorable weather prevails over the belt.

Confirmation of frost damage in parts of the Canadian northwest gave firmness to oats.

Provisions were dull and without feature.

CURB MARKET

New York, Sept. 4—Recently listed securities provided chief activity in today's rather quiet curb market. The new nickel plate shares, "when issued," continued their gradual advance, the common closing at 76 1-8 and the preferred at 84 1-8, both for fractional gains. Stock of the Prophylatic Brush Company, which was admitted to trading today, also on a "when issued" basis, was dealt in briskly, advancing more than five points from the opening quotation. It closed at 46. Another stock, Franklin Simon preferred, was less active.

The oils showed no particular strength, many of the Standard Oil group recording fractional recessions. Exceptions were Solar Refining which advanced two ponts and South Pacific Oil, 1 1-2. Buckeye Pipe Line lost 3 1-2.

Public utilities were featured by a five point gain by Appalachian Power and an advance of three points by National Power and Light. Ford Motors of Canada jumped 10 1-4 points on a small turnover, other motors and the radios recording slight changes.

NORWICH TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ward of Springfield, Mass., had as guests over Saturday night, Mrs. Ward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Tague, also her brother George Tague of McClellan avenue, who motored from Norwich Town. Sunday morning motored to Westfield, where they were met by Mr. and Mrs. Tague's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Tague and Mr. and Mrs. Buckley. From here the tourists proceeded to Albany, N. Y., by way of Jacobs' Ladder to Pittsfield, stopping en route at Great Barrington, then taking the trip up the Hudson and on to Albany. The return trip was by way of the Catskills.

The Tague family reached Norwich Town the early part of this week after a most enjoyable outing through beautiful scenery all along the route.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Horne and Mrs. Elizabeth R. Kinney of Town street, had as guests on a recent motor trip to North Madison the former home of Mrs. Kinney, her eldest son, Allen Kinney of Providence, formerly of Norwich Town and his brother-in-law, David M. Dean.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper is to be observed at the First Methodist Episcopal church, Sunday morning, the pastor, Rev. James B. Aldrich, officiating.

At the First Congregational church the September communion service scheduled for Sunday next has been postponed two weeks to September 21st.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lamb have received word from Dr. Lamb's sister, Mrs. Harriet E. Brainerd, of Mystic, that with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Gremley, she expects to leave by automobile Saturday morning for Montreal to visit for a number of days at the home of her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Norton Brainerd. It is expected they will reach there, some time Monday, as they are to travel only during the day, returning to Mystic about a week later.

The first fall meeting of Home Chapter of the King's Daughters, is to be held Monday afternoon at the Johnson Home. By request of the leader, Mrs. William C. Manning, members are to be prepared for a scriptual roll call.

Mrs. Lell Phelps of Groton, who is Norwich to attend the New London County fair, was the guest over Sunday night and Labor Day at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pigetti of Town St.

At Rockville superior court adjourned at 6.30 o'clock Wednesday until this (Friday) morning at 10 o'clock when a short calendar session will be held.

John Sullivan has returned home after spending a few days in Philadelphia.

The Misses Loraine Gladue, Yvonne and Beatrice Bouley have left for Canada, where they will be students in the Convent of the Presentation of Mary at St. Cesaire, Province of Quebec. Mrs. Julien Breault went with them as far as Worcester, Mass.

A quiet wedding took place Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Miss Katherine Leupold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Leupold of South R street, became the bride of Ernest E. Larkin, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Larkin of Jewett City, at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. Hunzinger, pastor of the German Lutheran church, Norwich.

Mr. and Mrs. Larkin were attended by Miss Louise Troeger of North A street as maid of honor and Adolph Leupold, brother of the bride, as best man. The bride was attired in brown [illegible] canton crepe and carried a bouquet of white asters. Her going away suit was tobacco brown with [illegible] match. The bridesmaid wore a [illegible] canton crepe. She carried a [illegible] pink asters. The bride's [illegible] bridesmaid was a string of [illegible] pearls, while the gift of the [illegible] the best man was a pair of [illegible] links.

A reception was held at the home [illegible] parents, a few friends [illegible] attending, after which Mr. and Mrs. Larkin left for New York, where they will spend their [illegible]. Upon their return they will reside in Jewett City, where the groom is employed by the Ashland company.

LIONS MAKING PLAN FOR LADIES' NIGHT

The Norwich Lions club held its regular monthly business meeting at noon Thursday at the Wauregan hotel with President George A. Finn presiding. Lion Frank Sisk was the song leader and the meeting opened with the singing of America. There were the usual club and group songs, a feature number being a yodling solo by Kogmie Markoff.

Next Thursday evening the club will hold its first ladies' night, this taking the place of the regular weekday luncheon meeting. John Barry, Fred Watson and Kopeland Markoff are the committee in charge of the ladies' night programme. The following were appointed members of the entertainment committee for September: Louis Fontaine, Herman Gibbs and Edward Rich. The various committees submitted reports of progress and they were accepted by the meeting. The club is planning to hold a minstrel show early in October. The singing of the Star Spangled Banner and the salute to the flag brought the meeting to a close.

NORWICH ROTARIANS ARE WIINNERS IN GOLF MATCHES AND BASEBALL

Thursday morning dawned bright and clear at Eastern Point where the 30th district of Rotary International is holding the Fall Acquaintance Conclave. The several hundred Rotarians staying at the hotel were astir bright and early, enjoying the exhilarating breeze that swept across the blue and sparkling harbor. Some played an early round of golf, others enjoyed the walks along the shore but all were having a real enjoyable time. The club presidents breakfasted together and discussed club policies and informally discussed plans that would be of benefit to Rotary during the coming year. Al Smith, of Turners Falls, Mass., was chairman at this meeting.

At the same time as the president's breakfast a similar conference for club secretaries was being held with Tom Clark of New Haven acting as chairman. This meeting was largely devoted to the discussion of attendance, club correspondence and other things that are so essential to the working of a well ordered club.

Rotary Forum

Following the breakfast meeting the Rotary Forum was called to order in the ballroom of the hotel where the six objects of Rotary were freely discussed. Governor Al Lavery in opening the meeting spoke of the programme of Rotary education which International President Everett Hill is trying to put across this year. Many clubs are taking in members all the time. These members are enthusiastic, filled with pride at being members of Rotary, but do they really understand what Rotary means, its principles and ideals. Have they been educated in the basic fundamentals that have made Rotary what it is? In the west there are schools which teach Rotary, real schools where the new Rotarian is educated, graduated and receives his diploma and so becomes a better Rotarian, a Rotarian who understands what Rotary stands for.

We as Rotary clubs must do something other than merely expand our membership, we must develop the individual. Thus the strength of Rotary lies in the strength of the individual. The community looks to men in Rotary for example and in the lives of these men lies the future strength of Rotary.

Gov. Al reviewed his personal experiences at the Rotary International Council at Chicago recently. He said that the 30th district was looked upon as an important factor in the international body. He also paid tribute to Don Adams, first vice president of Rotary International, saying that the 30th district was proud of Don and that nothing stood between Don and the presidency of Rotary International but Don himself. Let us try and make the 30th district a brilliant star in the Rotary firmament, let us make this year a banner year.

Governor Al then introduced Howard W. Selby of Springfield who spoke on the subject "High Ideal of Service as the Basis of all Worthy Enterprise." "There is something behind Rotary that gets us, said Mr. Selby, and I think it is contained in the topic which was assigned to me. Service should be the basis on which business methods are founded. We must be convinced that we are rendering a service to the community, to the people which we do business with and in this way we can find great peace and satisfaction. I know a man who has millions but he is not happy simply because the manner in which he attained his wealth was not a service to mankind. Many of us men have had the younger men come to us regarding their future business careers. They ask us how must they train so as to get a livelihood where they can reap the greatest monetary reward. That monetary reward is not everything for "He profits most, who serves best." Serve others and the reward takes care of itself.

Ethical Standards

The next speaker was Albert Smith, president of Turners Falls club who spoke on High Ethical Standards in Business and Professions. In part he said:

Just what do we mean by Ethical Standards? I think the intent is to play fair, to give a square deal, to give full value in any transaction in which we may be involved, in other words to so conduct our business that all with whom we come in contact will have faith in us, and when I speak of "Faith" I have in mind that we should have faith in those from whom we buy, those to whom we sell, faith in our employees and faith in ourselves.

I think there is no question but that more and more business relations are built on confidence and this can only be secured by the adoption and continued practice of "high ethical standards." A short time ago it was my privilege to become interested in a proposed code of ethics for an important industry and while the material is not mine but the work of an able committee, I am taking the liberty of quoting various suggestions submitted.

Section one deals with "The relations of employer and employes."

Section two, "Relation of manufacturer with those from whom they buy."

Section three, "Relations with fellow manufacturers."

Section four, "Relation of manufacturers with their customers," and section five a recapitulation of all.

From these various sections I select a few of the most important suggestions.

The manufacturers, realizing that his employees and himself form a partnership for service, that employees cast in their lot, many of them for a life time, for the good of the industry, should take an active and sympathetic interest in their affairs, their health and happiness.

Working conditions should be made agreeable and healthful.

The safety of all employees should be guarded as much as possible and at all reasonable cost, even against carelessness.

False or colored statements or statements not based on known facts should not be exchanged to influence prices or terms.

Unreasonable demands, or demands contrary to good practice should not be made.

Manufacturers should maintain cordial and friendly relations with their fellow manufacturers.

Manufacturers should practice fair and honorable competition with their fellow manufacturers.

The manufacturer should never take advantage of the customers's ignorance.

Quality and service should be the basis of selling arguments.

And in conclusion, to recognize and appreciate the value of fair dealings with our employes, competitors, suppliers and customers.

Holyoke President Speaks

Rev. John Allison, president of the Holyoke club, was the next speaker and selected his talk The Application of the Ideal of Service by Every Rotarian to his Personal Business and Community Life. In part he spoke as follows:

Every Rotarian ought to be the most useful man in his little circle and in his community and there are two reasons why he should be the most useful man. First, because he is a member of the most exalted civilization and society ever known to man. Do you know that one half of all the world's gold is in the United States, the wealth per capital is $650 in America to $150 in any other foreign land; that there are seventy-two million insurance policies in America involving fifty-five billions of dollars; that there are eleven million homes and a like number of owners; that 64 per cent. of the telephones in the world are in this country and that 85 of every 100 automobiles in the world are owned by Americans. Because of this you should be useful for we learn that from him to whom much is given, much is required. You should do this because you are an American citizen, because you are an American, because our motto stands for service.

Yet, we find many who find it easy to receive and to hold and withhold. It is not what a man talks, it is how he walks. Creed is nothing and conduct is not following the rules.

There are three factors in business, first, product; second, personnel; third, public. To a Rotarian product means serving and quality; personnel means conditions and public means serving, dealing with a competitor and consumer.

Four things stand out in the community life of each Rotarian. First, there is the church. You cannot serve your community if you desert your church. To serve best you must stand for that which is foremost and best in your community, your church. In the second place, there is the child, and, because of the child, a Rotarian must be interested in the school. No Rotarian should vote for any man who is against the enactment of the Child Labor Amendment to the constitution. He should not stand for any man who puts a dividend above a child. Third, there is the chest, the community chest. This means that there is a needy man in your community, a man worthy of your support. Fourth, there is the challenge. Every time you see the school house there is a challenge; the court house chalenges you for it stands for law and obedience to law; every real Rotarian must stand for law and its enforcement. Then there is the armory which challenges you. We have been summoned by the nation to observe a particular day. I hate war and I want peace, but I am not pacifist. You have been asked to play the part of a man and a Rotarian. Let us hope that the time may soon be at hand when America shall take a part in making the program that will mean universal and lasting peace.

George H. Woods, president of the Bridgeport club, was scheduled to speak on The Development of Acquaintance as an Opportunity for Service but was unable to be present. Governor "Al" read in brief the substance of this talk, mentioning three fundamentals, the unique basis of membership; careful selection of membership; compulsory attendance at meetings and what it means to a Rotarian, and the development of friendship, the triple alliance that means love, sympathy and health.

Governor "Al" also outlined briefly the subject which was to have been handled by Bert L. Stafford, president of the Rutland club, concerning the Recognition of the Worthiness of All Useful Occupations and the Dignifying by each Rotarian of his Occupation as an Opportunity to Serve Society. Rotary teaches that all men are on the same level, said Governor "Al", and that all occupations should be considered as service. By this teaching it is evident that world peace will never be assured until business is put on the highest ethical standards.

Speaks on World Fellowship

The final speaker was Past District Governor, George H. Cooper, president of the Pittsfield club who spoke on The Advancement of Understanding, Good Will and International Peace through a World Fellowship of Business and Professional Men United in the Rotary Ideal of Service.

In opening his remarks "George", paid respects to First International Vice President "Don" A. Adams of New Haven and to his wife, who, he said, would make great sacrifices for Rotary during the coming year. He also prophesied that "Don" would not stand in the way of President of International Rotary when he was requested to take that great office.

If Rotary had been established throughout the world, said President Cooper, there would never have been any world war. Rotary is now established in practically every country in the world and International Headquarters is worried for fear that it cannot give Rotary to the world as fast as requests come in for new clubs.

Rotary is now the greatest service club working outside of America and at the Toronto convention Canada was brought closer than ever to this country, and Japan learned more about the feeling this country holds for her, than would have learned in a half century of political exchanges. Right now we hear of the Dawes plan, yet Mr. Dawes gives much credit to Owen D. Young and Young is a democrat. This shows that it isn't a political problem. War can be abolished, if you take the profits out of war you have gone a long way towards doing away with war. We are all sick of that selfishness, greed and hatred that is back of war.

The biggest problem we have is that of self, we must forget the personal pronoun I. People abuse confidences simply because they want to let people know that they know things. Self denial should be practiced for Rotary is based on this. We should learn what the Golden Rule really means, what man is, what God is; our relationship to our fellow men.

When service before self is practiced all hatred must vanish, international differences will be swept aside and we will learn to love. You cannot stop the progress of truth and the day is coming when nations in the world will be as friendly one to the other, as the states of this country are to each other.

Hartford Luncheon

The noonday luncheon was in charge of the Hartford club with Leo Korper, president of the Hartford club, presiding. The meeting was exceptionally snappy, the Hartford boys providing many entertaining features. Music was furnished by the Hartford club orchestra with Walter Soby as leader. Mr. Soby also played several violin selections.

One attractive feature of the luncheon programme was the song and dance numbers of little Miss Lois Cary of Hartford who sang "Down on the Farm" and "So This is Paris," interpreting the songs with clever dances. Miss Cary was an accomplished toe dancer and in this number was encored several times.

Benjamin M. Knox, baritone soloist, of Hartford, sang three delightful selections in a clear strong voice that agreeably filled the large dining hall. Mr. Knox was accompanied at the piano by his wife.

C. S. Krissinger of Hartford, a member of the Hartford Club orchestra rendered several trumpet selections, during the luncheon.

The general singing was conducted by Watson House who led the Hartford club in a few chorus numbers and that old time favorite, Sweet Adeline.

The following was the luncheon programme:

Announcement by President Lee; overture, Hartford Rotarian Orchestra; baritone solo, Ben Knox; violin solo, Walter Soby; song and dance, Lois Cary of Hartford; orchestra selection; general singing led by Watson House; orchestra selection; baritone solo, Ben Knox; trumpet solo, Krissinger; toe dance by Lois Cary; general singing led by Watson House; orchestra selections.

Dinner Meeting

Over four hundred Rotarians, wives and guests gathered in the spacious dining hall of the Griswold had the pleasure of greeting and listening to two splendid Rotary talks, one given by Lynn W. Wilson of Bridgeport on the Economics of Rotary, the other by Governor "Al" Lavery of Bridgeport, splendid leader of Rotary in the Thirtieth district.

Rotarian Wilson told of the value of Rotary to humanity and how its principles are readily put into practical operation. "I am here, said Rotarian Wilson, simply to express my affection for Rotary, to our good governor and all the high articles of Rotary. In certain way, we as Rotarians are set off from all other organizations. You remember that Rotary is made up of good fellows, but there is something more, we must stand for something in the community for we are chosen as leaders. Rotarians are all able men, brought together because we are able, and because of this something more is expected of us than from other men. We are expected to serve the community more than other men, because life has given us the chance to serve more than others. There are two things Rotary means, first, what Rotary must do, the greater work that Rotary International is doing in bringing to realization by the massing of business men by their industry or their profession; adopting a common code, having a common civic duty, a common patriotic duty, for a common service to their fellow men. Rotary is bringing brotherhood into business for we have learned that no man alone, no business or enterprise by itself serves best; that unity means success. The institution most under fire today is not nobility, kings or empires, but business and industry. There are charges against some of these that they promote strike, cause war. Rotary believes in massing the best for common service for society and the best welfare of mankind.

Secondly, the program adopted by International Rotary; that henceforth it be an organization of industry, of God-fearing men, doing what men and women should properly do to bring about the ending of war forever; that rules be made to get rid of the bad ones in business that war may be forever ended. This is why business men are cooperating in all nations and the end in view is as certain to be reached as any other end set out for by any organization of God-fearing men. The day is not far distant and I can even now see that grand army marching down the road of future time in celebration of everlasting peace in celebration of the freeing of men for wider and better things. In the leadership of that army International Rotary will have an honorable leadership and Rotary will receive honorable mention in the orders of that day.

Governor Lavery Speaks

At the conclusion of Rotarian Wilson's address all Rotarians and guests sang "Who Is the Governor of the Thirtieth District?" and President George H. Woods of the Bridgeport club, who was in charge of the meeting, called upon Governor "Al" Lavery for a few words on A Club's Responsibility to Rotary International.

Governor Lavery in part said, I love to tell you what Rotary has done for me and what it has done for many others, but I have not time to do this and will wait until I pay my official visits to each club in the district before doing this.

Rotary was founded by a Vermonter, Paul Harris, twenty years ago. Paul came from Wallingford, a small town where everyone called each other by their first names, and, when he got to Chicago he was lonesome. He called a few friends together and they met at various places. For this rotating of meeting we received the name of Rotary. Rotary now numbers over 100,000 member, there are over 1800 clubs in 28 countries of the world and never in the twenty years of Rotary has the circle been broken. Therefore, on each member of the club rests the responsibility to see to it that Rotary is never broken. Rotary has gone far beyond the dreams of Paul Harris. I wish you could have been at the International council meeting at Chicago. I wish you could have got the inspiration I did when I listened to those men from 28 countries, tell what Rotary means to their country and how they feel it will make for international peace. For a time I feared that Rotary would grow so fast the thread that binds us together would be broken, but we cannot hold back from other communities the benefits of Rotary. They have the right to know what Rotary is, what it means, what binds us together; we have no right to deprive them of this privilege.

Rotary is growing fast in Vermont. New clubs are being formed and within the year I prophecy that Vermont will be a leader in Rotary in this country.

I am proud to be the governor of the 30th district for I have learned that this district is highly thought of by International Rotary; that this is a wonderful district and that we have had most wonderful leadership by such men as "Don" Adams of New Haven and George Cooper.

The Thirtieth district is to come into even more prominence in International Rotary for they have learned to love "Don" Adams as we love him. They made him a director, they made him first vice president of International Rotary and let me tell you all that stands between "Don" Adams and president international, is "Don" Adams himself. I am proud to follow the leadership of such a man and my only hope is that when I leave you as governor I will have your love and respect the same as those who went before me.

President Woods then explained that Bridgeport had simply loaned Governor "Al" to the 30th district and that he was on his way in Rotary because he lived, loves and preaches Rotary. In closing he called upon Rev. John Alison of Holyoke for the benediction and requested all Rotarians to pray for the guidance of God, over "Don" Adams and Governor "Al" throughout their lives, that they may go on straight in the great work of Rotary.

The entire dinner program was in charge of President Woods and his club with the singing in charge of "Bill" Hammell, musical director of the club and a bang-up rousing meeting it was. Two treats were in store during the evening aside from the inspiring addresses, these coming when "Bruce" Young and "Bo" Bodine, soloists of Bridgeport, favored with several most pleasing numbers. Both were heartily applauded after which adjournment took place to the ballroom for dancing.

At the evening meeting special announcement was made concerning prizes for golf, tennis, horseshoe pitching, bridge, man jong and other games and sports. Attention was called to all that the awarding of prizes would be made at 12.30 in the hotel lobby previous to the noon meeting which was scheduled to be one of the biggest and best of the conclave. Rotarians were also warned to be on the lookout for special features beginning at 7.30 o'clock this Friday morning.

Turners Falls Rotary club had charge of the last of the informal evening dances in the beautiful ball room and to say that this club proved themselves royal entertainers would only be telling the story straight. From the time the strains of the fox trot played by the Griswold orchestra, floated dreamily out over the floor, luring the lovers of the dance, until the final notes of the good night selection were played, Turners Falls club provided amusement of the highest order.

Interspersing the dance numbers were solos, interpretive and fancy dancing and monologues, all of which were received with constant applause by a delighted audience. The first number was a soprano solo by Miss Irene Farren who was accompanied by Mrs. Elizabeth Benkwitz and this was followed by a most pleasing interpretive dance by little Miss Marguerite Drew who was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Arnold Drew. The dancing of this little maid of seven years was extremely clever and it was with reluctance that she was allowed to make her final bow. Mrs. Ernestine Brown, soprano soloist, followed with a most pleasing selection and then the feature of the program was reached. Rotary Ann giving a Spanish dance in costume. Rotarians and guests insistently demanded an encore and the dancer complied. Later this dancer appeared and lo and behold, no longer was there the beautiful girl dancer, but there appeared Carl Pettis of the White Entertainment Bureau, famous for his impersonations of the fair sex. At this time the Rotarians came in for a little jesting. Ollie Hoff and Phil Sayles with comedy songs and Herb Moody, Canadian dialect story teller were the entertainers and provided royal laugh getters.

Extra attractions and pleasure was provided during the afternoon and early evening when Rotarians and their guests had an opportunity to ride out over the sound and over New London harbor in a seaplane from Rogers Air Line Co., of Rye, N. Y. Pilot Edward Keddie of Rye, N. Y., continually sent his flying boat into the air and many a Rotarian knew for the first time what it really meant to be "all up in the air" about anything.

Norwich Blanks New London

The Norwich Rotary club added another victory to its long string of winnings Thursday afternoon when Big Ed Harris pitched the hose of New England team to a 4 to 0 victory over the New London club, Harris pitching a no-hit and no-run game.

With this victory added to the medal for lowest gross score in the elimination games of Wednesday afternoon at golf at the Shenecosset Country club, taken by Willis Austin and Frank Welch with 89 each, and the Club Four silver loving cup presented by the Rutland club, Norwich came out of the annual conclave a big winner.

The game started about 4.30 o'clock after the men had returned from the golf course New London taking first bat. Harris was wild in this inning and it looked like a score for the Whaling City team, but when Ed Regan hit to Welch and Curran was forced at second things brightened and the inning was soon over. New London failed to threaten in any of the remaining innings.

For Norwich Standish started off in the first inning with a single, but failure of his team mates to hit back of him left Norwich without a score. The first score came in the second inning when Ferguson singled to center and scored when Curran threw wild to first to get Clapp who had hit out an easy roller.

Norwich made another in the third when Standish walked, took second when Welch was hit by a pitched ball and scored on Bliven's hit to right. Two more came in in the fourth. Ferguson singled, took second when Clapp singled and both scored when Jim Madden hit to short and the throw was wild at the plate, the ball hitting "Bert" and bounding back of the plate. Clapp scored when a poor throw was made to third to catch him.

Governor "Al" Lavery pitched the first ball of the game, and, ball it was, by a wide margin. He then made the teams a present of his summer straw hat to be used as second base, and refused to take it back after the game because of its somewhat dilapidated condition. The score:

Mere Point is between Harpswell and Brunswick. It is a long narrow neck of sand, with only a few cottages scattered about. It is about 20 miles from Portland, jutting out into the bay dotted with islands. The cottagers welcomed the aviators and quickly offered them shelter for the night. Lieutenant Smith accepted the hospitality of M. C. Chase and his companions went to other cottages.

LOCATELLI GIVES UP IDEA OF FLIGHT TO NORTH POLE

New York, Sept. 5.—Lieut. Antonio Locatelli today announced he had called off his proposed flight to the North Pole with Capt. Roald Amundsen the Scandinavian explorer. His reason for making this decision, he said, was that he had learned from his disastrous airplane trip ending in the Arctic waters near Greenland that there is a better chance of reaching the pole by dirigible than by airplane.

Visitors today found Lieutenant Locatelli an extremely modest hero despite the fact that he had flown to Greenland, twice crossed the South American continent at the highest point of the Andes in the air, made the three longest flights into enemy territory during the war, been decorated fourteen times by various governments and received the medal of valor from his own country.

RAIN MAY INTERFERE WITH FLIGHT TODAY

Portland, Me., Sept. 5.—Rain began to fall here late tonight, causing doubt in some quarters whether the world fliers would be able to resume their flight tomorrow as planned. The weather bureau in Washington today issued storm warnings from Sandy Hook to Eastport, advising that a disturbance reported over eastern Quebec was moving northeastward and increasing in intensity.

PRINCE OF WALES PLAYED FIFTH POLO GAME YESTERDAY

[illegible], N. Y., Sept. 5.—Under [illegible] skies and in a chilly wind, the [illegible] of Wales today played his fifth [illegible] game in six days, giving six of [illegible] ponies a thorough workout on the [illegible] Grace field.

[illegible] were no crowds this time to [illegible] the royal visitor and as he [illegible] down from a pony only his at- [illegible]endants and Major Ed Metcalfe, his [illegible]equerry, stood near him.

[illegible] the prince walked to his motor- [illegible]car one of the ubiquitous photogra- [illegible]phers stepped from behind a hedge and [illegible] to work. Inspector Burt of Scot- [illegible]land Yard started toward the camera- [illegible]man. "I don't mind, Burt," said the [illegible].

The inspector glanced reprovingly [illegible] the photographer and contented [illegible] with the remark: "You're im- [illegible]posing on his generosity.'

[illegible] heir to the throne does not [illegible] to object seriously to being [illegible]photographed so long as the camera- [illegible]men are not the forefront of a press- [illegible]ing and curious crowd.

DENIES DISCOVERY OF LOST MANUSCRIPT

Naples, Sept. 5.—(By The A. P.)—Professor Mario De Martino-Fusco, paleographer and archivist of the state archives of Naples, denied today in a letter left with his mother to be shown to all enquirers, that he had discovered the lost manuscripts of the Latin Historian Livy.

It is a mistake," he said in the letter. "As the results of the work I have been carrying out on the neapolitan calligraphic schools, I am reconstructing codices of Titus Livy in Naples of the sixth century. It is not true that I have discovered the original text."

Professor De Martino-Fusco was said to have disappeared after the news of his reported discovery had leaked out.

NEW BRITAIN BOY WAS INJURED BY TAXICAB

New Britain, Sept. 5.—William [illegible], 11, is in the New Britain [illegible] with a fractured skull, broken [illegible] and arms and internal hurts as a result of having been struck this afternoon by a taxi cab driven by Joseph Staniosis.

The police say that eye witnesses claim that the driver was not to blame, that the lad and a companion ran into the street and that the machine driver despite application of brakes could not avoid the collision, because Staringe, after reaching the curb dodged back into the street.

HERRIN QUIET; FIGHTING MEN HAVE LEFT COUNTY

Herrin, Ill., Sept. 5.—(By The A. P.)—Williamson county became the temporary abode of the dove of peace today when three of the principal men figuring in the shooting affray here last Saturday, in which six men were killed, left the county.

The men who left were Sheriff George Galligan, Ora Thomas, his deputy, and John H. Smith, the only man the coroner's jury recommended be held for murder in connection with the shooting between Ku Klux Klan and anti-klan sympathizers.

Sheriff Gallican and his deputy went to Pontiac, Ills., while Smith went to Hopkinsville, Ky., to visit his mother and assure [illegible] of his innocence, he said. Illinois [illegible] national guard officers were reported to have suggested the departure of the three men in order to give the situation an opportunity to quiet down.

Sheriff Galligan, a klan opponent, left his office in charge of Deputy Sheriff Randall Parks, an acknowledged klansman. Delos Duty, state's attorney, asserted that "no militia captain will chase me out of town," and declared that he expected to stay at Marion to present matters surrounding the shooting to the grand jury and to prosecute in case indictments are returned.

The automobile which was the indirect cause of the shooting affray was seized by a deputy sheriff today. Sheriff Galligan had gone to Smith's garage to take the car which was reported stolen and which was the machine in which Jack Skelcher was killed last May, a day after S. Glenn Young and his wife were wounded at Okawville, Ills. While at the garage the trouble which led to the shooting affray started.

DEATH CAUSED BY NAIL SWALLOWED LAST APRIL

Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 5.—A tiny window contractor's nail which Francis A. Miller, 18, swallowed last April, caused his death yesterday, according to an opinion today by a physician who attended him.

Miller accidentally swallowed the nail while decorating a store window five months ago, but had declared that it had given him no trouble. He was taken violently ill Monday night.

ARRESTED IN PROVIDENCE ON CHARGE OF BLACKMAIL

Providence, R. I., Sept. 5.—Arrested this afternoon by the Providence police in connection with an alleged blackmailing scheme, after threatening death, Hairof Dargorian, 29, of Providence, admitted to the police inspectors that he "thought the woman to be wealth."

M. Alice Sprague, who resides here, received a threatening letter at 11 o'clock last night demanding that she pay over to a "messenger who would call at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning," $10,000. Dargorian paid a youth twenty-five cents to get the money from the woman, but the youth received a package prepared by the police inspectors which led to Dargorian's arrest.

SATURDAY HALF-HOLIDAY FOR POSTOFFICE EMPLOYES

Washington, Sept. 5.—Saturday half holidays for employes of the post offices of the country as far as practicable, was ordered today by Postmaster General New to continue beyond September 13, the usual date of termination for the summer.

All postmasters were ordered last May to dismiss on Saturday afternoon such employes as had accomplished their work either by their own extra efforts or by slackness of Saturday afternoon business. It was the first time such employes had been given the Saturday holidays which for some years have prevailed in the government departments here.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING WHILE PLAYING GOLF

New York, Sept. 5.—Raymond Crane, a young actor, who had appeared in numerous Broadway productions, was killed this afternoon by lightning while playing golf on the links of the Jackson Heights Golf club. Two others playing with him were knocked unconscious by the bolt.

Among the productions in which he had appeared were "Going Up" and "Irene," both musical comedies. He had recently returned from St. Louis, where he was a member of the municipal opera company.

ARRESTED WHILE UNDER A SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Slight Injuries When Hit by Auto

(Special to the Bulletin)

Westerly, Sept. 5—Ellen Gilchrist, daughter of John Gilchrist of Solomonville, received bumps and bruises on her head Friday morning about 8.30 o'clock near her home when she was struck by a Ford automobile operated by James McMahon, Charlestown, R. I. In company with school companions she jumped from an automobile in the opposite direction from her associates and directly in front of the automobile approaching from Westerly. Dr. Charles Crandall of Westerly gave the girl medical treatment for her injuries which proved not serious. It is near this place that a number of people have been struck by automobiles recently.

French Want Britain for Arbitration

Premier Herriot Removes Doubts of Those Who Feared France Would Hesitate.

Geneva, Sept. 5.—(By The A. P.)—Great events, which in League of Nations circles it is firmly believed are destined to affect the future of the whole world, including the people of the United States, occurred at today's session of the assembly of the league.

France joined Great Britain in pledging support for the principle of compulsory arbitration, and through Premier Herriot, in removing the doubts of those who feared that France would hesitate to weaken her force as a great continental military power.

M. Herriot announced unequivocally that France favors an international conference on disarmament.

The premier told the world through the assembly that henceforth that nation which refused to submit disputes to arbitration would be stigmatized as an aggressor.

Tonight the one supreme topic for speculation among the delegates generally was what the reaction in the last two days in the assembly would have on the United States. Next to definite commitments to the policy of arbitration, one thing stands out clearly—that is that all Europe, led by Great Britain and France, now has proclaimed that it is through the League of Nations and no other body, that the peace of the world must be solidified. France, like Great Britain, has made it clear that the next disarmament conference must be convoked by the League of Nations, because it is considered the only body fitted and properly equipped to carry through such a conference.

"If you were to succeed outside the league," declared M. Herriot today in his speech, "in creating any body to carry on this conference, would you not have conflicted between two bodies, each fighting the other in the name of peace?"

Apparently in the opinion of many of the delegates the United States must come to Europe, and probably Geneva, and co-operate with the League of Nations, if that country desires to take any part in the next international effort to reduce armaments on land and sea. Tonight the general impression exists that the United States will participate in such a conference.

M. Herriot, speaking of the necessity of universality in the league membership, voice dthe hope that now that arbitration was to be the keystone of the future the United States would not refuse her collaboration.

Arbitration alone is not sufficient, M. Herriot argued, "for it does not meet the requirements of the covenant of the league, which declares that armaments should be reduced to apoint compatible with national security."

To the French premier arbitration must be inseparably joined with the security of disarmament.

Concretely the situation stands tonight as follows: Compulsory arbitration is agreed upon by the leading powers of Europe in principle, realizing that arbitration cannot stand alone, the powers probably will agree to work out a system of economic and financial sanctions.

Schooner Wrecked in Newfoundland Coast

Fear Ten of Crew Who Put Off in Dory Have Perished in Hurricane.

St. Pierre, Sept. 5.—Ten men of the crew of the three masted fishing schooner Raymond, wrecked on the Newfoundland coast near Fortune in a hurricane last night, were unaccounted for tonight.

When the vessel broke from her moorings all but six of the 35 members of the crew took to dories. The six who remained aboard were reported safe tonight and two dory loads had been accounted for, one boat reaching here and the other being picked up by a Canadian steamer. Another dory with ten men is still missing. Search is being made for them but because of the weather little hope is expressed that they are still alive.

NEW HAVENERS SHOULD BE ABLE TO WADE IN WINE

New Haven, Sept. 5.—New Haven will have at least half a million gallons of home made wine this winter if all who have declared their intention to put up fruit juices, as required by law, fulfill their expectations. The internal revenue offices has received 2,500 calls from private wine makers and each has declared his intention to making 200 gallons of wine for personal use.

The Court of Last Appeal

You are the judge and the jury. Your verdict is final. There can be no appeal—for this is the high court of public opinion.

If the merchant who puts his wares on trial were not sure of them he would not dare to advertise. For advertising would put him to a test he could not meet, and thus hasten the end of his business career. It would be business suicide.

You can depend on the man who advertises. He knows his product is good.

That's one reason why it pays to read the advertisements in The Bulletin. It is through advertising that you are able to keep in touch with the good things that progressive business men are spending their money to introduce and to keep before you.

Base your judgment on The Bulletin's advertisements.

GLAD THAT RADICALS HAVE THROWN OFF THEIR DISGUISE

Portland, Me., Sept. 5.—Frederick H. Gillett, speaker of the national house of representatives expressed satisfaction tonight "that the radical faction" which he said had held the balance of power in congress during the past two years had "thrown off their disguise and proclaimed themselves a new party." He was speaking before the business and professional men's Coolidge and Dawes club of this city.

"They opposed us from within and prevented a republican program he said. "They never had any sympathy with republicans, used the name only to get elected, and were as ready to unite with democrats as with us. They have made all legislation of the past two years a compromise."

Calvin Coolidge, he asserted, was the real platform on which the republican party expected to triumph. President Coolidge, he said, "has the coolness, the self control, the conscience and the iron resolution of New England."

The democrats had put their best man forward, Mr. Gillett said, but declared that John W. Davis had the confidence of only a fraction of his party. The great achievement of President Coolidge's year in office he believed was the rigid system of economy and reduced taxation.

The problem of life cannot be solved by touching the button.

CHEKIANG TROOPS MAINTAIN THEIR DEFENSE OF SHANGHAI

Prevented Any Further Advance by the Kiangso Forces—Battle Promises to Continue Throughout the Night—Chinese Foreign Offices Denied Report That the Manchurian War Lord Has Threatened to Interfere Unless the Attack on Shanghai Ceased.

(By the Associated Press)

Continued fighting around Shanghai and denials by northern China military leaders that they were taking active part in the hostilities featured the third day of civil warfare in China.

At nightfall, the defending Chekiang troops apparently had prevented any further advance on Shanghai by the Kiangsu troops though the fighters seemed prepared to continue the battle through the night.

A representative of Wu Pei-Fu, military dictator at Peking, asserted that none of Wu's troops were taking part in the hostilities that would be contrary to Wu's role as peace-maker.

The Chinese foreign office at Peking denied reports that Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian war lord, had threatened to interfere unless the attack on the Chekiang troops ceased.

Foreign observers recently in Mukden, Manchuria, answered reports that Chang was preparing to march on Peking with statements that they had seen no warlike preparations in the northern province.

SYNDICATE HAS PURCHASED THE SULTANA DIAMOND

New York, Sept. 5.—The Sultana diamond, weighing 183,004 carats and said to be the fourth largest in the world, has been purchased for an American syndicate, Joseph C Stahlin of Brooklyn announced today on his arrival on the new French steamship De Grasse, which made port on her maiden trip.

The stone was purchased from Mulai Hafid, former sultan of Morocco, after a trans-oceanic, across-the-desert race with representative of another American sndicate seeking it, Stahlin said. He added that after the purchase, completed at the former sultan's home far in the interior of Morocco, gem experts of Tangiers had appraised the stone at twice the sum he had paid for it.

Little is known of the diamond's history, apparently, although Mulai Hafid put it on the market about four years ago, offering it for sale in various old world capitals. He was said to have dickered with the Spanish royal family for a time, but the negotiations fell through. A London despatch affirmed that the gem was once part of the much-advertised Russian crown jewels collection.

LAFOLLETTE COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY C. F. OF L.

Hartford, Sept. 5.—In accordance with the request of the nonpartisan political committee of the American Federation of Labor, the convention of the Connecticut Federation of Labor today appointed a committee to assist the LaFollette campaign in this state.

Creation of the committee was one of the last things the convention accomplished before adjourning. The LaFollette endorsement question overshadowed everything else during the four days of the convention.

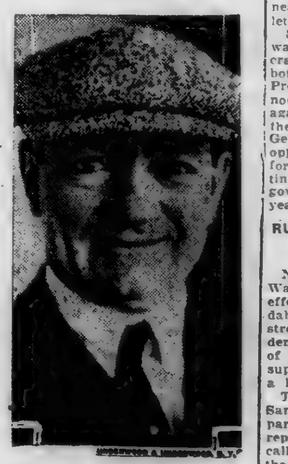
Supporters of LaFollette admitted after the convention was over that the convention had not done much to further Senator LaFollette's candidacy. The convention gave the Wisconsin senator its moral support in the form of the resolution endorsing his candidacy but the material support rendered was limited to the appointment of the campaign committee which must function without funds.

Even the moral support which the convention vouchsafed was little more than half-hearted, inasmuch as the endorsement resolution passed by a majority of sixteen. Few if any delegates, were won over to the LaFollette banner. Thus the only encouragement that the LaFollette forces received was an expression of endorsement that had to be forced through.

The members of the LaFollette campaign committee seemed to be at sea as to how to proceed after their appointment was announced. President Patrick F. O'Mera, of New Haven, who had opposed the endorsement resolution suggested that the members of the committee work with the LaFollette clubs in their respective communities.

The members of the committee are: Alex Dreissens, of New Haven; George Moffatt, of Stamford; Karl Lang, of Bridgeport; Gus Buetter, of Waterbury; Anna Claughsey, of Bridgeport; Thomas Crosby, of Hartford, and James Kennedy, also of Hartford.

Held On Murder Charge



Norman Selby, better known by his old ring title of Kid McCoy, famous for his nine marriages and equal number of divorces, who is now held for Grand Jury at Los Angeles, charged with murder of Mrs. Theresa Mors, a divorcee, with whom he lived and to whom, it is said, he had planned to be married soon.

COOLIDGE TO DELIVER ADDRESS IN BALTIMORE

Washington, Sept. 5.—Additional reports on the political situation were today placed before President Coolidge who also gave attention to domestic and foreign problems of government. Tomorrow he will motor to Baltimore to deliver an address at the unveiling of the Lafayette statue.

Ambassador Houghton of Germany home on vacation, called to pay his respects to Mr. Coolidge and gave a glowing account of the success of the Dawes reparations plan insofar as it already has been tried.

"We must get more capital into Germany," he said, "and the loan which is wonderfully secured, will accomplish that."

The president went over the details of his plan for investigating agriculture with members of the cabinet this morning and it was indicated he would name the commission to make the investigation within a few days.

Mr. Coolidge has dfinite y accepted an invitation to speak at the unveiling here Oct. 15 of a statue of Francis Asbury, prominent in the early history of the Methodist church in this country. The invitation was extended recently by Bishop William McDowell of the Methodist Episcopal church. The president also will speak before the Holy Name society convention here Sept. 21 and at the unveiling of the First division monument here Oct. 4.

Representative Tilson of Connecticut, manager of the speakers' bureau of the eastern division of the republican national committee, and Representative Reed of West Virginia conferred with the president and pictured a bright outlook for the election in their states.

$10,000,000, CREDIT TO THE GERMAN COAL SYDICATE

New York, Sept. 5.—Negotiations virtually have been completed for the extension of a $10,000,000 credit to the German coal syndicate by a group of eight or ten American banks headed by the Equitable Trust company.

Funds which will be made available to the industry will be used to finance the revival of coal production in the Ruhr valley. While terms of the loan have not been finally arranged, it is probable that the credit will run for six months and be renewable at the expiration of that period. The interest rate has not been fixed.

Security for the loan will be provided by coal mines in the Ruhr and stored coal, by the guarantees of the German syndicate itself, which is a joint distributing agency, and a number of German banks.

While pending negotiations for upwards of $100,000,000 of other industrial credits may not be completed until after dotation of the international loan to Germany, applications for commercial loans from German business interests continue to accumulate bankers reported today. Estimates of the total amount sought have ranged from $100,000,000 to as high as $1,000,000,000.

LAFOLLETTE RALLY WAS HELD IN WATERBURY

Waterbury, Sept. 5.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, candidate for vice president on the LaFollette ticket Roger S. Baldwin, of Woodbury, Rabbi Lewis Browne, formerly of this city and Mrs. Helen Thurlay Weed of Norwalk, former member of the republican state committee, addressed nearly 2,000 persons at the La Follette rally here this afternoon.

Senator Wheeler declared there was no difference between the democratic and republican parties, that both were controlled by Wall street. President Coolidge was attacked for not raising his voice in protest against the office holders involved in the veterans bureau and oil scandals. General Dawes was attacked for his opposition to trade unions. A vote for the republican ticket means putting the stamp of approval on all the government scandal of the past four years, he said.

RUMOR THAT PRINCE TOOK A FLING AT THE MARKET

New York, Sept. 5—Speculative Wall street, ever alert for cause and effect when stocks move up or down, dabbled in the theory that early strength and activity in shares of Cosden Oil in contrast to the weakness of the general list, might have had support from the Prince of Wales in a holiday fling at the market.

The prince's recent visit to the Sands Point home of Mr. Cosden apparently was the sole basis for the report. Old timers in Wall street recalled that the prince's grandfather, the late King Edward VII, had taken several plunges on information furnished by his wealthy American friends.

An association pledged to carry to the highest court the fight against certain decisions of Comptroller General McCarl was organized in Washington among a group of navy officers who have invited members of other government departments to join in pushing test cases.

WILLIMANTIC

Senator Burton K. Wheeler, vice presidential nominee on the progressive ticket headed by LaFollette, assailed the republican party with vigor in an address delivered on Lincoln square Friday morning before some three hundred people. The orator from Montana was given an ovation as he concluded his speech. He opened his remarks with a flaying review of the administration of the G. O. P. in national affairs and charged that President Calvin Coolidge lacked the power to cleanse his party of corruption. The address was delivered in connection with the national campaign being conducted by the progressives and was Willimantic's first barnstorming experience, as regards the coming national elections. With the senator were Mrs. Wheeler, S. W. Tator, state chairman of the LaFollette-Wheeler movement; M. F. Plunkett of Wallingford, vice chairman, Assistant Treasurer Edward Kilkerman of New Haven and representatives of The Associated Press and International News. The party motored on to Hartford, where an address was delivered at noon. Previous to the talk, Vice Chairman Plunkett reviewed the records of the two candidates and announced that he would return later to organize a LaFollette-Wheeler club. Senator Wheeler said that he came to New England to put courage in the laborers and farmers, who are alleged to fear to talk and vote according to their own convictions on account of the "big interests." The oil scandal and the names of Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior, and Messrs. Doheny and Sinclair were not overlooked by the speaker. Charging that Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney-general, was a lobbyist for the packers of the country, he referred to his transactions which netted himself and his partner, Jesse Smith, a fortune. Ex-secretary Denby and his doings and the questionable transactions in the treasury department and other departments were mentioned. Nothing, however, was said regarding the Ku Klux Klan. The speech continued with a turgid flow of instances alleging the corruption of the party now in power, which also included the alleged acceptance of bribes by the democratic as well as republican political bosses at conventions. Stating he came as being one in behalf of the laborer and the farmer, Senator Wheeler brought his address to an abrupt close. While the applause continued he was whisked off in the automobile from which he had spoken.

Judge George E. Hinman opened the Friday session of the Windham county superior court here in the forenoon with a word of advice to defendants and witnesses that they impress on hand in the courtroom when called upon, and that attorneys should insist that their clients testify the truth and only the truth when on the witness stand. Several liquor cases were heard during the forenoon session. There were a number of defendants from Willimantic who had pleaded not guilty earlier in the week who elected to have the court hear their cases. The hearings on these cases had been started when a half dozen or so had pleaded and the pleas were changed to guilty.

Willie Kosek, who violated the liquor law on three occasions, according to [illegible] by the state, had [illegible] Lieut. Gilbert of Hartford. [illegible] Evidence warranting [illegible] was seized in a raid on [illegible] home 17 Main street, July 4, [illegible] Chief of Police Allen [illegible] Captain Grady, Lieutenant [illegible] and other local police officers and troopers. Detective William L. [illegible] The third instance of violation was made known through Eddie [illegible] who alleged that he bought liquor from Kosek during the latter part of July. Levi Upton and Glenn Shattuck of this city were called as witnesses for the state, but they were not present. After a talk with County Detective Torrey, Kosek and his wife, Pauline Kosek, changed their pleas to that of guilty to violation of the liquor law. Leniency for the woman was asked. The couple have six children and little or no money. A sentence of 30 days in jail and a fine of $200 and costs was imposed on Mike Kosek and his spouse drew a sentence of 10 days in jail without any fine.

William P. Burke, 37, charged with statutory burglary, pleaded guilty. Burke's mentality had been doubted, but was pronounced sound by Dr. Lewis I. Mason of this city. Deputy Sheriff Charles N. Ayer stated that the defendant suffered from nervousness which was very noticeable during his stay in jail. Burke left school after attending the sixth grade of a school in Winchendon, Mass., and spent his life working in factories, being 20 years in one of the Montville mills. He lost his right arm by accident some years ago. He got into trouble in this city while walking along one of the streets. He saw an open door and walked in, climbed two flights of stairs and knocked at a door. Thinking he heard someone call to come in, he walked into an apartment. He found a diamond ring on a bureau, took it, and sold it for $25, but could not tell to whom. Making allowances for the time Burke has already spent in jail, and for his condition, Judge Hinman imposed a jail sentence of six months and placed the man on probation for that period.

William Edgar Brown changed his plea to guilty of breaking and entering on the fifth and tenth of ten counts held against him. The tenth count was for theft and for this a sentence of 30 days in jail was imposed. On the fifth count of breaking and entering a sentence of one year in jail was imposed and suspended, the court putting the accused on probation after the close of the 30-day sentence in jail. Brown will pay the probation fees.

Frank Aramos of this city, charged with violation of the liquor law, had prepared to fight his case but after the testimony of Frank W. Beesaw of Hartford, connected with a detective agency, and of Victor Fontaine had been heard, the accused changed his plea to guilty. Fontaine, slated as a witness for the state, badly twisted his testimony. This led the attorneys into conference, after which the plea was changed. The plea of guilty applied to the first and fourth counts, charging actual sale and having in his possession liquor with intent to sell. A jail sentence of 30 days and a fine of $100 and costs was imposed.

Only two cases were disposed of during the afternoon session. Judge Hinman then made his assignments for next week. Arthur Boufford changed his previous plea of not guilty to guilty on the first of three counts of reputation, included in a charge of violation of the liquor law. State's Attorney Searls stated that the state could not prove that Boufford had actually sold liquor. Judge Hinman imposed a fine of $100 and costs for reputation.

The case of Cyrus H. Green, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, closed the hearings for the day. Green did not respond when called and his bond was called.

The court and jury assignments for next week were then announced as follows: Tuesday, Sept. 9, Joseph Trychan, violation of the liquor law, and Peter McMahon, violation of the automobile law, both to court; Wednesday, Sept. 10, Louis Brettschneider, violation of the liquor law, and Willis Bennett, violation of the liquor law, both to court; Thursday, Sept. 11, Fred Luzuvick, manslaughter, and Philip Pagano, violation of the liquor law, both to jury; Friday, Sept. 12 (at Putnam), Frank M. Russell, perjury; Zephrine Bergeron, violation of the liquor law, all to jury. Court adjourned until next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. At the close of Thursday's session of court John T. Ryan, member of the Putnam police force, under suspension, who had no counsel, pleaded not guilty to the charge of violation of the liquor law. Ryan informed the court some time ago that his financial condition was such that he could not afford to hire a lawyer. Attorneys Charles L. Torrey and William A. King have agreed to look after his interests.

Harland F. Thompson, 59, died at 7 o'clock Friday morning at his home in Eagleville. He was a painter by occupation and was born in South Coventry Jan. 1, 1865, son of Harland D. and Emmeline King Thompson. He leaves his wife, a daughter, Mrs. B. M. Loomis, of Hartford, one son, Angus Thompson, of Hartford, a brother, Charles Thompson, of Eagleville, and three grandchildren.

During a seven-minute session of police court Friday morning Joseph Butler of 382 Albany avenue, Hartford, who was arrested by local officers Thursday noon on a charge of transportation of liquor, pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs, amounting to $111.15, along with a suspended 10-day jail sentence. The fine was paid. It was Butler's first appearance in court. Mike Renkowski pleaded guilty to intoxication and was fined $10 and costs. The arrest was made by Constable William Kelley in the lower village.

The organ music was by Miss E. R. Porteliance. Miss L. Monica McKeon was soloist. Burial was in the family plot at St. Joseph's cemetery where the committal service was read by Father Clark. The bearers were John J. Sullivan, James D. Donahue, James F. Twomey and Daniel J. Killourey. Arrangements were by Killourey Brothers.

The funeral of Mrs. Ella J. Collins was held at two o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home in Columbia. Rev. Stanley M. Selleck conducted the services. Burial was in the Columbia cemetery. The bearers were Curtis Holmes, J. M. Clark, E. P. Lyman and Charles Frederick.

Miss Lillian Jennings, daughter of Mrs. John Jennings, was tendered a shower recently at her home in honor of her approaching marriage with James A. Kisker of Norwich on September 10. Beautiful gifts were presented the future bride. Those present were Misses May Healey, Julia Sullivan, Catherine and Helena Novias, Minnie Alties and Esther Peterson, Mary Hevrin, Mildred Fitzgerald, May Connor, Camilla Roy, Mary Day, Agnes DeBois, Sue Chesbro and Katherine Connell and Mrs. Walter Woodill, Mrs. Eugene Burdick, Mrs. Eldred Manemann, Mrs. Michael F. Grady, Mrs. John Connor, Mrs. Thomas J. Donovan, Mrs. John Jennings and Mrs. John Farrell.

The steel frame work of the new Capitol Theatre building on Main St., is completed with the exception of the fourteen ton girder which will be the foundation of the gallery of the theatre. The work of riveting the skeleton will begin soon.

Willimantics eyes will be turned heavenward between 10 and 10:20 o'clock, next Sunday morning in the hope that the round the world flyers will pass over this city enroute from Boston to New York.

Charles A. Gates chairman of the town committee issued the call Thursday for the republican town caucus. Candidates for the following town offices will be placed in nomination: selectmen, constables, collector of taxes, assessor, board of relief, registrar of voters, auditor, agent of town deposit fund and school committee.

Pimples On Face Itched Terribly Cuticura Healed

"My trouble began by red pimples coming out all over my face and neck. They itched terribly, especially at night and after scratching them they would burn and feel very sore. They disfigured my face so that I was ashamed to go out in public, and the irritation caused me to lose most of my sleep at night. I used many remedies without the least sign of improvement. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using it I purchased three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment which completely healed me." (Signed) Miss Catherine Merrill, 61 Fairfield St., Worcester, Mass., March 24, 1924

These fragrant emollients are all you need for all toilet purposes. Soap to cleanse and purify, Ointment to soothe and heal, Talcum to powder and sweeten.

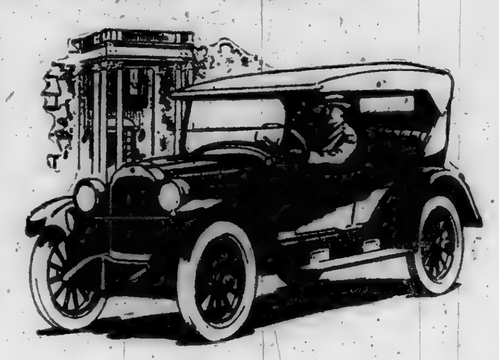
WILLYS-KNIGHT

Conquers the Vibration So Common in Motor Cars

From across seas, Willys-Knight imports a motor device that solves a problem as old as the automobile industry. It does away entirely with the engine vibration that manufacturers have sought for years to cure.

Willys-Knight announces the installation of this epochal invention as standard equipment and invites the public to test its amazing efficiency.



The Lanchester Balancer

This British invention, as simply amazing as it was long sought, gives Willys-Knight a new smoothness, a riding ease that brings the car to the peak of perfection.

It gives Willys-Knight an improvement that is considered a mark of supremacy in one of the highest priced foreign cars.

Appearance — Performance — Power! And the famous sleeve-valve engine that improves with use! Now, the very last word in smoothness—velvety action at all speeds—elimination of the vibration that is the cause of so much nerve fag among so many automobile owners.

You will know, with a Willys-Knight, a new pleasure in driving, a greater pride of possession. Willys-Knight increases both its efficiency and its appeal. It brings a bigger, better value than ever to its public.

The Willys-Knight with Lanchester Balancer is here. One trial will reveal its excellence to you.

AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS

SAVE OLD CORN FOR EMERGENCY SEED

Late spring and continous cool weather, together with the higher prices now being paid for corn, may be the combination of circumstances which will cheat the farmer out of his usual supply of seed corn, says the United States department of agriculture. Corn is very late as the result of abnormal conditions at planting time and much of it is apt to be caught by frost before it has matured to the stage usually regarded as right for selecting seed. Then too, many farmers had to replant a large acreage last spring, drawing more heavily than expected on their seed supply. Finally, higher prices for corn this fall have tended to reduce this old corn source of emergency seed. The department says there is a shortage of old seed and little old corn from which to select it, and suggests further the probability of immature corn this fall from which seed selection will have to be made.

Where immature corn is to be expected it is suggested that seed be selected from the 1923 crop. Throw aside a few bushels of the likely looking ears when feeding the corn or otherwise disposing of it in order that seed may be selected from it later, if necessary. The ear test for germination will make available much seed from this old corn which can be used in an emergency.

As a further precaution it is suggested that even though corn is immature, it is possible to obtain seed if it is gathered before a frost and properly handled. Most communities are in touch with the weather reports to such extent that coming frosts may be known somewhat accurately. At the first suggestion of frost, make a selection of new corn for seed. Corn gathered in the milk stage, while not as good as ripe corn for seed, if carefully dried and protected from the frost will germinate under favorable conditions. Satisfactory seed can be selected any time after the corn is in the hard dough stage. Even if not entirely mature, the use of early selected seed of a strain known to be good will be safer than to buy seed later of unknown adaption and productiveness.

Where it is necessary to gather seed before it has matured in order to save it from destruction by frost, the same features of selection should be observed. Select seed only from normal, vigorous plants, avoid smutted stalks and those that are prematurely dead. The seed should be put in a dry place the same day it is gathered and placed in such a manner that the ears do not touch each other and where there is a free circulation of air but not cold enough to freeze.

The best seed, of course, is that which has matured on the stalk. If frost holds off after immature seed has been selected, a second selection can be made and the immature seed can be used for feed. In this case the only loss will be the labor of gathering and drying it. The precaution of making an early selection is well worth the extra effort. It is a guarantee of some seed at least.

Sycamore Blight Severe This Year

Sycamore trees this spring and early summer were especially hard hit by a blight, commonly known as sycamore blight, in many states east of the Mississippi river, notably Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Illinois, and Virginia. The disease affects not only the common sycamore, or buttonwood, but also the Oriental Plane tree.

Although the blight occurs to a slight extent every year in the eastern and central United States, the severity of the attack this year, according to the United States department of agriculture, appears to be largely due to the unusually wet spring, when the leaves were developing.

The blight injures the newly developed leaves and the young shoots. The new leaves, just unfolding from the bud suddenly wither, become discolored, and finally blacken, giving the appearance of injury by frost. On the older leaves the disease appears as brown blotches or spots of irregular shape, usually along the veins. In severe cases the leaves fall, but a new crop usually is produced later in the summer. Continued defoliation in successive years and the secere dying back of the twigs eventually cause the death of the tree.

As in the case of most tree diseases, methods of controlling the blight are rather expensive and usually somewhat difficult to carry out. The value of the tree, however, for shade or ornamental purposes may possibly warrant the expense and trouble. As a first step in controlling the disease, the infected twigs should be carefully removed, by pruning well back of the infected portion. All of these twigs, together with any fallen leaves and twigs, should be carefully collected and burned. They should not be thrown onto the rubbish heap, since that is often one of the most favorable places for the fungus to fruit. Its spores may then be carried to healthy trees which may thus become infected. After all the infected twigs are cut away the remainder of the tree should be sprayed with Bordeaux mixture in the proportions 4-4-50. A second or third application of a weaker solution of Bordeaux mixture may be necessary before midsummer to protect the new foliage. Again, in the autumn, it is advisable to rake up and burn all fallen leaves and twigs, since this tends to prevent the spread of any disease which may be present upon them.

The Chilling of Tomatoes

Among dealers and handlers of produce the opinion is rather generally held that tomatoes which are fully developed but still green in color when once cooled to low temperature, even though not frozen, will not ripen normally when held in the ripening rooms. They consider that the chilling of tomatoes, that is cooling them to temperatures which, while below their freezing point, may result in the stock becoming soft, flabby, or wrinkled and shriveled and prevent their taking on the attractive red color. Inasmuch as definite information as to the effect on tomatoes of temperatures slightly higher than their freezing point is lacking, investigations were conducted by the United States Department of agriculture.

The results of the investigations on the chilling of tomatoes are reported in department circular 315 just issued. From these studies it is concluded that within certain limits an exposure to low temperatures is not injurious to fully developed tomatoes provided they are not frozen. It has been shown that exposure to low temperatures just above the freezing point is not harmful to Globe tomatoes which were practically fully developed but still green in color or which were just beginning to change color, if this exposure is not extended beyond five days, and it has also been shown that tomatoes may be cooled below their freezing points for a short time without apparent injury if they do not freeze.

Silage Gases Dangerous

That poisonous gases formed in silos overnight while in process of being filled are deadly, is the seasonable warning of the United States department of agriculture.

Freshly cut silage in a partially filled silo produces a poisonous gas. If there is no circulation of air this gas remains in considerable volume. Death may result from entering a silo containing this gas.

A precaution recommended by government specialists will avert the danger of entering a gas-filled silo. They advise running the blower of the ensilage cutter for a few minutes before anyone enters the silo.

Air currents stirred up by the blower will dilute the gases sufficiently or drive them from the silo. It is then safe to enter.

Tuberculosis in Calves Studied

The prevalence of tuberculosis among calves has received study by the Bureau of Animal Industry in connection with its activities in the eradication of bovine tuberculosis from the country. Contrary to prevalent belief, young calves are frequently infected with the disease, especially in herds where tuberculosis has long been present. Of 50,039 such calves under six months old tested, 1,564 reacted to the test. This proportion shows 3.1 per cent of tuberculosis in calves under six months old in infected herds. Among calves from six months to a year old the per cent of reactors was found to be 4.9 per cent.

The most practical means, department veterinarians state, of preventing tuberculosis among calves is to eradicate the disease from the older cattle and maintain the herd on a tuberculosis-free basis.

The 50th Anniversary of Kingston Fair

The big forces behind this most historic and famous fair in New England are gathering together the finest attractions and exhibits ever before seen anywhere, in an endeavor to make the 50th anniversary of Kingston Fair a momentous occasion.

Opening Tuesday, September 9, and for four days Rhode Island's greatest attraction will set the swiftest pace for entertainment and instruction ever dreamed of.

More horses than ever before, magnificent beauties will be entered from Newport Narragansett Pier and in fact all New England.

The most thrilling of all sports, horse racing, every day, always attracts the greatest numbers of people. This year there will be entered an unusually fast bunch. Several record holder included, horses, horsee, all kinds and plenty of them.

Several prominent automobile manufacturers are to exhibit their Winter models in the auto show, and all the makes will be represented in the huge area of the fairgrounds that is to be alloted the machines.

The Agricultural displays now being petted and pampered in prize sections of the various farms always interest growers from not only neighboring cities but states as well. The last weeks of summer always witness unusual activity in certain most fertile parts of every garden. The youngsters as well as the grown-ups down south county way expand with pride at the prospects of exhibiting their own fruit and vegetables.

The management is hot on the trail of amusements. The ordinary troupe is not to be considered. The unusual entertainers that shall finally be selected will indeed be worthy of Kingston Fair.

The most recent stranger in town will find no difficulty getting to the grounds; all one need do is follow his neighbor. Everybody goes Kingston Fair week because it is all Rhode Island week the brightest 4 days of the year.

Breed Theater

It was inevitable that Colleen Moore, who created such a sensation in Flaming Youth and Painted People, both First National pictures, should once again give the screen another portrayal of the modern flapper.

And judging by her remarkable characterisation in these pictures it was also inevitable that her next picture be called The Perfect Flapper; this is the opus scheduled to open at the Breed theatre on Sunday.

Exceptional attention was given Colleen Moore's forthcoming production because of the astonishing records of this winsome star's precious efforts, and it is said that she rises to still greater heights in The Perfect Flapper.

A cast of unusual quality was engaged to surround the star.

Sydney Chaplin has a role which fits him like a glove and gives him opportunity to inject many laughs into the picture. He will be remembered for his side-splitting characterisations in her Temporary Husband and The Galloping Fish.

Phyllis Haver scintillates in the role of Gertrude Trayle.

Frank Mayo, for years a star in his own right, has a role in Read Andrews.

The part of Aunt Sarah, a kindly soul who stands by the star in her irest needs, is handled by Lydia Knott.

Topics of the Day and a Sunshine comedy complete the bill. Today's bill consists of Charles Jones in Not a Drum Was Heard. William Duncan in The Fast Express—the Pathe news and a Sunshine comedy.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theater

Perhaps the most lavish and spectacular scene of the gigantic seven-reel J. L. Frothingham special production, Shattered Idols, formerly entitled, A Bride of the Gods, Sunday night only Palace theater, is the gorgeous set of an East Indian temple ruin.

Today, in all India, there are but two great ruined Brahman temples—one near Delhi and the Temple of Siva at Secunderbad, which is in the southern part of the Recan, and now one of the strongholds of native discontent against British domination.

During the Mohammedan invasion in the seventeenth century the invaders converted the great temple into a mosque, but when it was recaptured by the Hindus it was reconverted to a Brahman temple. It is this famous ruin that has been reproduced as a motion picture set for taking of the magnificent temple scenes in Shattered Idols.

Strength is the keynote of The Range Patrol, the Independent pictures release now playing at the Palace. The story, one of the most powerful melodramas ever written, is from the pen of L. V. Jefferson, assisted by Rosemary Rode. It is said to be ably directed by T. G. Moody, the well known director, who never fails to get the most out of a story, and make it into a worthwhile picture.

Short subjects, new Sing 'Em Again Series, Aesop Fables, Latest Pathe news shown on release date and Palace supreme orchestra.

Broadway Theater

Three cheers and a couple of tigers! Gloria Swanson is coming to town. No, dear reader, not in person, but in her latest Paramount picture, Manhandled. It's due at the Broadway theater on Sunday.

Listen, folks, we have some inside information on this production and being of a generous disposition, we are going to let you in on it. Some of you have a look of intense concentration on your faces as if you are trying to recall where in the name of common sense you heard the name Manhandled before. Stop worrying about it and we'll tell you. Its dollars to doughnuts you saw it in the Saturday Evening Post, because that's where this Arthur Stringer story first saw the light of day. Frank Tuttle adapted it to the screen and Allan Dwan produced it.

Those of you read the story know that it's about a girl, who starts life in a New York department store—a regular girl, the kind everybody likes—with the average girl's dreams and longings. Just like the rest of us she wants money, beautiful clothes, good times and of course a Prince Charming. She has youth, beauty,—is clever and attractive, and it doesn't take her long to get everything her heart desires. But—there's always a "but," you know—in the end she comes to the bitter realization that she has lost more than she has gained. And then she wins for herself a great and wonderful victory in a very startling manner. Her Prince Charming turns out to be a poor, hard-working mechanic, whose honest love helps her in finding out what the worth-while things in life really are.

Tom Moore, Ian Keith, Arthur Housman, Lilyan Tashman and the famous Ziegfeld stars, Ann Pennington and Brooke Johns, appear in the supporting cast.

Larry Semon in Lightning Love and a new Kinograms are on the same program.

Those who will be unable to gain admission to the Broadway tomorrow due to the crowds anticipated will be able to see this show at the Strand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Palace Theater

A vaudeville and burlesque revue starring Joe Wilton in Broadway By Night will be the next attraction at the Palace theater, Monday Sept. 8th matinee 2:15, evening 8:15.

Seldom, if ever, had Broadway—its bright lights and its alluring night life—been pictured so realistically as it has in this splendid attraction. The scenes, the costumes and the music are typical of New York's great main street.

Broadway By Night is something new to Burlesque. The entire production is so different than any other stage show that it holds the attention of the audience form the rise of the curtain.

There are girls galore in the chorus, pretty, shapely girls. The cast, which is made up from principals of musical comedy and burlesque attractions of last season includes Joe Wilton, the star, and Bob Capron, comedian; Mildred Cecil, prima donna; Lillian Shepard soubrette; Miss Billie Farreau, classical dancer and Helena Roda, ingenue.

Waterman Piano School

This (Saturday) morning in far away Virginia more than three score Danielson soldiers are packing up their kit-bags, rolling their blankets and making ready for their homeward bound trip from Camp Eustis to Danielson. The main body of the regiment left for their various home stations on Friday, but the Service battery, being what its name designates, had to stay on until this morning, as it had to be in camp a few days ahead of the other commands of the regiment to make things ready for them. Coming out the duty of returning equipment and stores to proper authorities also falls upon the Service battery; hence the delay in its getting started for home. There is balm for the boys, however, in the fact that they will get more money from the government than do the members of other commands—so much for each day of duty according to their rank and gatings.

Some time today the Service battery will arrive in Washington and there will be a stop-over there for a sight-seeing trip. It is likely that the Service battery will arrive here Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, as word as come through that the command's cars will be attached to a regular train.

PUTNAM

Mrs. Janet C. Sheppard, of Senexet road, Woodstock, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Ruth Douglas Sheppard, to Royce Delano McAlister, superintendent of rural schools of Woodstock, Union, Pomfret and Eastford. Mr. McAllister's home is in Bucksport, Me. He is a graduate of Maine University class of 1917 and makes his home in Putnam while engaged in his work for the state board of education. Miss Sheppard's summer home has been in Woodstock all her life. She spent her winters in Brooklyn, N. Y., until 1919 when she entered Woodstock Academy, graduating in the class of 1920. In Brooklyn she attended Packer Collegiate Institute. Mr. McAlister served in the U. S. Navy during the war.

In response to a notice sent out by Miss Katherine Byrne of Putnam, vice chairman of the state central committee, there was a conference republican women at the Allyn House, Hartford, Friday at which speakers of note were heard morning and afternoon. Luncheon was served. Those attending from Putnam were: Miss Clara C. Larned, vice chairman of the republican town committee, Mrs. Walter Rich, Mrs. S. Nikoloff, Mrs. H. G. Thayer, Mrs. Joseph J. Dupre and Mrs. David Flagg, all members of the Putnam Coolidge club.

Soloman E. Kimball, 94, is dead at the home of his son, Elwell L. Kimball, superintendent of schools of the town of Thompson. Death came suddenly Thursday, Mr. Kimball appearing in his usual health earlier in the day.

Mr. Kimball was born in Wenham, Mass., February 13, 1830. He had made his home with his son for the past five years. During his life he had been a teacher, also a retail grocer. He leaves his son and two grandchildren. Two brothers, who lived past 90 died within a few years.

Following an accident in the Sawyer District, Friday, in which automobiles owned and driven by Sam Antokel of Putnam and Otis Wilbur of Webster figured, Antokel was ordered to appear in the city court next Monday to answer to charges of reckless driving and to trying to evade responsibility. Wilbur claimed that it was due to the way the Putnam man operated his machine that caused him, Wilbur, to run his car into a telephone pole. Wilbur stated that Antokel refused to give his name when requested to settle for the damage. A Putnam policeman was called and got the facts in the case.

A parade and field day will be the main features marking the observance of National Defence Day, next Friday. The parade will form at the corner of South Main and Grove street. The line of march will be South Main street to Front street, Main street to Providence street and Providence street to School street and to the high school athletic field. Here the athletic events, being arranged will be staged. Dr. E. F. Perry will act as marshal of the parade and all patriotic and fraternal societies willing to participate in the parade are to notify the marshal. The headquarters company of the 43rd division, Connecticut National Guard, under command of Captain J. J. McGarry, will be in line and Webster and Putnam Red Men have notified the marshall that they will be in line. Stores will close Friday afternoon instead of Thursday afternoon.

A number of criminal cases coming up at the present term of the Windham County Superior court, will be tried in Putnam. Among them will be that of Patrolman John T. Ryan of the Putnam police department on a charge of illegal transportation of liquor. Ryan, when presented at Willimantic, pleaded not guilty and elected a jury trial.

Philip Troup, editor of the New Haven Union, was the principal speaker at a meeting of the Woodstock John W. Davis club, Friday evening. A good sized audience greeted the speaker in Grange Hall.

It has been learned in Putnam that Mrs. Agnes M. Herindeen of this city was married, Tuesday, to her former divorced husband, Henry E. Herindeen. The marriage ceremony was performed in Sturbridge, Mass., where the former husband has been living, by Rev. Dr. Vincent E. Tomlinson, pastor of the First Universalist church of Sturbridge.

The couple were first married 22 years ago. For years they lived happily together but troubles came and two years ago ended in the divorce court. A second courtship has resulted in forgiveness and a second marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Herindeen will again make their home in Putnam where both are well known.

Leroy Thompson, Leroy Ames, Miss Thara Ames and Miss Esther Rouse, have entered Aurora College, Aurora, Ill. Miss Rouse and Leroy Ames return for their second year while the other two will be freshmen.

Miss Gertrude Jones has returned from New Brunswick where she was guest of her nieces, Miss Ruth and Dorcas Bartlett, who are on winter Chautauqua circuit, touring Canada.

Mrs. Mary Bishop and Mrs. Genevieve Letters are at Plymouth, Mass., attending the Mayflower convention.

Mrs. Peter E. Belair is entertaining her mother, Mrs. A. Gagnon of Worcester and her aunt, Mrs. L. Plouffe of Boston.

For the first time in its history, Putnam is to be represented in an automobile race. A Mercer car owned at Delisle's garage is being tuned up preparatory to entering the automobile classic on the mile track at Readville, Mass., today. A number of Putnam people will be on hand to see the race. Leslie Whittemore, mechanic at the Delisle garage, will pilot the Putnam car in the race. Whittemore has had no experience as a racing driver, but has been in some motorcycle contests. For the past month he has been working over the car and, according to those who have been watching developments, the machine is purring like a kitten and can burn up the dust, they think, fast enough to get inside the money.

Every well regulated family has a skeleton in its closet. Since Wednesday night there has been one in the closet at the Putnam police station not far from where is incarcerated the collection of contraband spirits of frementi. While the skeleton is human in form, there was never any flesh on its bones. In the first place, there are no bones. The skeleton is a cleverly manufactured product made of papier mache.

Capt. William Jarvis returned from a trip in his automobile Wednesday evening and drove up to Joe Miller's wagon, which is an annex of John Jarvis' station. When the captain stepped out of his car he saw the skeleton dangling from the side of the lunch wagon. The last skeleton the captain saw was on the battlefields of France. He had seen enough there to know what they were and that they were harmless even if belonging to a Hun. The captain did not draw either gun or billy but walked right up to the skeleton and pulled it down.

It is believed that the skeleton was hung on the cart as a practical joke, possibly by someone who did not get the 3532 beans that 15 cents calls for or when he called for a hot dog was given bull instead of Pekinese, and was getting back at Joe, the proprietor. Anyhow, the captain, knowing well that his headquarters was not equipped with a skeleton, removed it and placed it in a closet at the police station. If the owner calls for it maybe he will get it, and maybe not.

WESTMINSTER

Romans 12:1 was the text at morning worship Sunday. Several guests were present. Among these, Mrs. Fred Bennett and daughters, Misses Stella and Miss Emma Patten, all of Plainfield and the first three formerly of this place. Others were Mrs. William J. Tate and Rev. B. Beckwith of Franklin, Conn., the former wife of the pastor of the Congregational church there. At the close of the hour, Mrs. H. E. Blake, son and daughter of Danielson came. They are related to the Kingsleys of Revolutionary fame and of Mrs. Susie Kingsley Thomas, of Hartford, whose family used to own the John Soderberg place.

Mrs. Abraham Fromer recently joined her husband and four boys at their new home, formerly the Ladd and then the Hicks farm. They came here from New Britain.

STAFFORDVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Medberry and three children of Old Mystic were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Belcher recently.

Mrs. A. S. West and family, who have been in town for two months, returned to their home in Springfield, Mass., the first of this week.

George Bosworth of Springfield and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bosworth of Willington were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bosworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Brown and daughter, Bessie, and Allison Sanger went over the Mohawk Trail the first of the week.

Dorothy White Klecak age 17 months, die at the Hartford hospital with spinal meningitis last week Friday night. She was the daughter of Mrs. Florence White Klecak and the late Charles Klecak who died last December. The funeral was held at the home Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. Burial was at the Staffordville cemetery. Rev. Robert Humphrey conducted the services.

The following letter was read by the pastor of the Federated church last Sunday morning, to the officers and members of the Federated church.

Dear Friends: It is probably known to many of you that I have for some time been thinking of retiring from the active work of the ministry. Our plans to this end were almost completed more than a year ago, but the execution of them was postponed, in order to accept your call to the pastorate of this church. But now it seems to us, the time has come for these plans to be carried out. We expect to do what we can for the upbuilding of the church and the kingdom of God as long as we are able to serve, but we feel the need of being relieved of the care and responsibility of a church.

When away on a vacation we purchased a house, of which we expect to take possession soon, so as to spend the winter there. This makes it necessary for me to place in your hands herewith my resignation as pastor of this church, to take effect, if mutually agreeable, at the end of October. This will give you ample time to secure a successor to take my place. We appreciate the hearty co-operation and the kindness which we have received from both churches, and we would like for many reasons to continue associated with you in the work of this church, but we think the time has come for us to be relieved of official cares.

Wishing you much success and prosperity in years to come, I am yours in Christian fellowship.

ROBERT HUMPHREY.

It is with regret that the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey have learned that they are to leave this place so soon and to move to their new home, near Marlboro, Mass.

GOSHEN

Peter Shilda, who recently sold his home farm, Breezy Hill farm, is to have an artesian well driven on the place where he now resides, Elm Lawn farm. The well will be guaranteed to give a supply of three gallons per minute.

A number from this place attended the minstrel show given by the Patchaug grange Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Randall with Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hyde, Walter Hyde, and Miss Clara Hyde visited Narragansett Pier, Point Judith and Matunuck beach, R. I., Thursday.

A company of friends who have been visiting the White Mountains were callers at Maple Hill farm while returning to their home in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Four airplanes passed over this place Wednesday, three passing eastward and one west.

Mrs. Nathaniel Manning and sister Miss Augusta Pamber of Lebanon were guests of friends here over the week end.

There was a good attendance at the Community club Wednesday evening.

There is to be no church service for two Sundays, Sept. 7th and 14th.

Old fashioned morning glories, hollyhocks and gladioli are now much admired.

Mrs. E. K. Jones and family left Wednesday for their home in Buffalo, stopping en route at Athol, Mass., to visit relatives.

Miss Dorothy McCall returned Wednesday to her studies at Sargent's School, near Boston.

Mrs. J. A. Randall entertained with a Sunday school class reunion Saturday afternoon. Among the original members present were Mrs. E. K. Jones of Buffalo, N. Y., Mrs. F. I. Date of Franklin, Mrs. C. S. Goodwin and Miss Addie Hallen, of Lebanon Center, Mrs. F. E. Hyde, of Jewett City, Miss Annie Gillette, of Goshen, and the hostess also Mrs. E. W. Jones and Miss Clara Gillette who joined the class later.

Members of the different families were present also. Some of those present had not met for over twenty years.

LEBANON

Friends of Mrs. Hulda Peck were saddened to learn of her death last week Friday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles M. Geer. Mrs. Peck had been in poor health for some time and for several weeks had not been able to walk a step, yet retained her cherefulness. For about two weeks she had been confined to her bed.

Rev. A. G. Littlefield and family returned home Tuesday after spending a month's vacation at Sherman, Me., and Manchester, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. K. F. Bishop were recent visitors with Mrs. Bishop's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Sweet, of Hartford. Dr. Sweet and their son Richard Bishop returned home with them for one night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. King are visiting Brs. King's niece, Mrs. Frank Walker, in Groton.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Hoxie spent the week end with their uncle, Clarence Hoxie, at East Greenwich. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hoxie and son George returned home with them for a visit among relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Chappell entertained from Tuesday until Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Scypher sons Earle and Gilbert and daughter Esther from Milo, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. George Swanson and two children of Burnside spent Sunday with B. F. Carpenter.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beebe of New London spent the week end at Mrs. Elizabeth Troland's.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. King and Mrs. C. S. Goodwin were in North Windham Friday to attend the funeral of Mrs. King's sister, Mrs. Lydia Bowen.

Mrs. Olive Baldwin of New Haven has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Anna Mills.

Miss Flora Bruce has returned home after spending ten days at Ocean Park, Me., also visiting her aunt at Winchester, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hewitt and Harold Bruce spent Sunday at Gardner Point.

Miss Leora Carpenter of Hartford and Albert Carpenter of Burnside spent the week end and Labor day with Miss Carpenter's father, B. F. Carpenter.

Mrs. Shippee and daughter, Mrs. Rock, have returned to New York after spending the summer at their home in Lebanon. Mrs. Everett Hewitt accompanied them home for a week's visit.

Miss Elizabeth Tuttle of Hartford is visiting her aunt, Mrs. K. F. Bishop.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Pultz spent the week end in Pittsfield, Mass guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Church.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hewitt have returned home after spending the summer at Matunuck Beach, R. I.

Mrs. Pitcher and daughter have closed their summer home and have returned to New York.

James Holdridge of Ledyard was a visitor Monday and Tuesday at G. F. Chappell's.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stark are at Matunuck Beach, where Mr. Stark is to build a cottage for a Willimantic man.

Lebanon ball nine played the Willimantic nine Saturday on Lebanon ground; score, Lebanon 12, Willimantic 4.

Many from this place attended Hartford fair.

WILSONVILLE

Mrs. Frank Wilson entertained her brother Fred from Putnam Monday.

Mr. Pelliguin, in trying to drive a cow that was in his garden was thrown down, stepped on and badly bruised.

Mr. and Mrs. Murdock and Mr. and Mrs. Adams of Boston called on local friends Monday.

School began Tuesday with the same teacher as last year.

THOUSANDS of users have wondered at the quickness of the action of Resinol Ointment and Soap. The answer is that it is not a surface treatment, but one that reaches the depths of the pores and attacks the source of the disorder, starting the healing right.

The first touch relieves the itching, burning and soreness and a few days' persistent use rarely fails to clear away the trouble.

When the skin is once restored to its normal condition, the daily use of Resinol Soap is generally sufficient to keep it healthy. Ideal for the complexion—unsurpassed for the bath and shampoo. Ask your druggist what he knows about the Resinol products.

The Real Test Of An 8

After all, it is rather difficult just to casually look at any one car and properly judge its merits.

What you must do is to examine and try all the leading 8's before you can judiciously discover the best one.

For there are other good 8's—some mighty excellent ones too. And it's because the others are so fine that we are rather proud to invite a test comparison.

If the Rickenbacker 8 were not a miraculous performer, we could not make such a courageous suggestion.

So put the several leading 8's to the following simple tests:

See which has the swiftest acceleration—from 5 to 50 miles an hour.

See which has the surest and fastest 4-wheel brake deceleration—from 25 miles an hour to a dead stop.

See which travels the easiest in sand or mud at low speeds in high gear.

See which rides the smoothest on the roughest roads you can find.

See which has the greatest riding comfort in both the front and rear seats.

See which is the easiest to "park" in a small, confined space.

Compare the motor. See the simplicity and compactness of the Rickenbacker 8.

Then finally note the great difference in price!

Why pay more—and get less?

Come in today and let us demonstrate the difference.

Should you have a "6" in mind, you surely want to have a demonstration of the famous Rickenbacker 6 cylinder design. This model is replete with numerous engineering refinements—moderately priced—and comes in a variety of attractive body styles.

Telephone us at once. We will be glad to give you a demonstration by appointment.

BACK HOME

Though they were unable to reach Boston where a big reception awaited them the American aviators are once more back in American territorial limits. Their flight from Nova Scotia to Boston will be made in two rather than one hop due to weather conditions.

Playing safe instead of taking unwarranted chances is what the fliers are doing. It makes no great difference when they get to Boston, so long as they get there safely. It is far better that there be a delay than to take a chance and invite disaster, especially since there existed no reason for chance taking. This has been characteristic of the entire flight and has no doubt played an important part in the success of it. Being near the goal with the worst stretches of the world flight completed whatever new contribution to safety advances the plane for the establishment of the much sought for world record.

Once more there are three air ships in the American group, Lieutenant Wade and H. H. Ogden, whose plane was wrecked in the flight from the Orkneys to Iceland, having again joined them in a new machine, which might well have been provided for them in Iceland had it been known that they would be delayed there so long. It is unfortunate that they were obliged to lose the honor of making that part of the flight, but it is only fair that they should be given the chance with another machine to finish the remainder of the trip with their comrades. Having covered so great a part of the distance around the world they were in a much different position than Major Martin whose machine crashed in Alaska not long after the flight was begun.

Back in the good old U. S. A. after an absence of more than five months they will be so eagerly welcomed as they will be glad to get back. Their return, with the difficult jumps in back of them, presages the successful completion of a memorable flight. They have made new history in aviation.

THE MEETING PLACE

In connection with the expression of European premiers relative to the improvement of conditions on that continent and the taking of steps for discouraging war through the limitation of armaments, it was Premier MacDonald of Great Britain who stated it as his opinion that any conference with such an end in view should be held in Europe.

It wasn't so long ago but what it will be recalled that when the question of limitation of naval armament was being considered, this country issued the invitations and the conference of representatives took place in our national capital. It was unquestionably due in a large measure to the leadership displayed by this country in that cause that resulted in the existing naval agreement. We were conscious of the need of demonstrating our sincerity of purpose. We disclosed what we were willing to do and our plan made such a favorable impression that others were not long in falling in with it. Could the same result have been obtained from a European conference?

As to the need of Europe coming to some agreement regarding limitation of armament there can be little question. It is a matter in which other leading nations should join. In respect to the army this country has so greatly reduced its forces that it does not stand among the leaders. When the allies disarmed Germany they left it with 1.44 soldiers for every 1,000 population. With that it was considered to have been demilitarized. With this country having but 1.65 soldiers per 1,000 population our standing army cannot be considered an international menace. It is therefore an ideal place for the representatives of other countries to assemble for the purpose of discussing restrictions since we are less concerned than some of the others.

There are matters concerning the further restriction of naval armaments about which this and other nations may well come to an understanding, but the good results which have been obtained through the Washington conference make this country and Washington the logical place for further deliberations along this line when the time comes.

VIRGIN ISLANDS RELIEF

When a hurrican strikes, or disaster of any kind occurs, there is provided the opportunity for giving assistance to mankind which this country never disregards. Appeals for such relief have been frequent. Time and again relief has been sent to the same region, and yet there is that about the cry of distress which always goes so answer.

The latest opportunity for rendering assistance has arisen in the Virgin Islands, that group of rocky islands in the West Indies which was purchased by the United States from Denmark and on which there are about 26,000 inhabitants. Being American territory there is sure to be greater interest in the speeding of pleasure relief if in fact it can be said that humanity in distress at one point awakens greater interest than suffering humanity at another.

That aid has already been forwarded and more is to be sent is only what was to be expected. Naturally under such circumstances this country would be looked to for assistance. To have the islands devastated, crops damaged and property destroyed means a serious blow to those who are dependent upon such limited industry as the islands permit. It is the first time since this country obtained possession of what used to be the Danish West Indies that such a situation has arisen. It is therefore an occasion when we should show our interest, promptly and effectively.

If there is a feeling in the islands that no particular advantage has accrued to them through their change from the Danish to the American flag, this is a time to impress upon them the protection they are not only entitled to but are getting. It is time to show that the island government, even though it is of a military character, is alert to the needs and ready to provide needed aid in time of distress. But whether they are under the American flag or some other there could be no thought of tolerating any lack of relief.

VISIBLE WARNINGS

As the result of the investigation which has been made by the public utility commission of New Jersey, it has been ordered that the railroad company establish a flagman at the grade crossing at Cranford, where a train was recently wrecked when it struck a truckload of stone and also erect a visible danger signal.

This indicates that the investigation showed that the bell at the crossing is not considered sufficient warning to those using the highway at that point and it can be appreciated that it would make little or no impression upon the driver of a truck or a noisy machine, if in fact it could be heard above the noise of the auto. The situation with a machine is much different than with a team. The noise of the former can easily drown a warning bell, or so muffle it that it would attract little attention, and this is especially true in the case of the trucks.

Visible warnings and flagmen furnish that degree of protection which should prevent collisions provided there is proper respect displayed for them. If they are disregarded or if the disposition is to run down the flagman, it cannot be expected that crossing fatalities will be prevented. And under such circumstances it is clear where the responsibility rests. When such a disposition prevails there cannot be much insistence upon the elimination of crossings. In every instances there should be due warning and the result of the investigation at Cranford would indicate that the bell warning in these days does not always meet the requirements. Meeting the new conditions involves heavy expense but it does not impose the burden that would be caused if all crossings should be removed.

THE PRINCE'S VISIT

Since the arrival of Prince Edward in this country, and long before, it has been evident that he was bound to be the center of attraction. This is not due to any arrangement on his part, but rather to the fact that he is the heir to the throne of Great Britain and royalty excites more or less attention. There is no doubt but what he has been a big drawing card at the races or the games he has attended, as the events themselves, and it is not surprising that he has sought to avoid such publicity.

When it was rumored that he was about to visit this country there was criticism over the fact that he planned to come as Lord Renfrew, that he might come and go as any ordinary individual instead of having it regarded as the visitation of an official character. In view of the fuss that has been made over him, and his desire to avoid it, it is easy to understand why he prefers to travel incognito, and yet he should realize that anyone occupying the place he does in public life cannot expect to escape attention or fail to arouse curiosity.

The attention that is being shown him is only that which men in high places are bound to experience especially when their visits here, there and elsewhere are heralded in advance. It isn't necessary that they should be of royal blood for crowds to congregate and stare. Some may appeal to certain classes that would not to others. The prince isn't what would be termed a frequent visitor to this country. If he were he might not be bothered by such a gaping crowd, but being an interesting chap, a good sport and a good looker it is inevitable that he should attract attention. That he dodges it when possible shows that he has a liking for other than the limelight and that he came here for other than publicity purposes.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

In these days we have silent policemen galore, and for the work they have to do, they are quite well off without the power of speech. This silent fellow who never loses his head has primed on him fore and aft, this inscription: "Slow, Keep Right." This warning, of course, is for the drivers of all sorts of motor vehicles. In these days in which the streets of our cities are simply crowded to go helter-skelter, dodging in and out as best they could, collisions would be doubtless increased 90 per cent. It is also of the greatest importance to go slow at the right time and place. Now all this has a lesson to teach. Whether we drive a machine or ourselves or other people, we must always "Keep right." If we do the presumption is that we will come out right. If we keep wrong we will be sure to get into a mixup. Is it not also true that these drivers through life should learn how to go slow?

Is there not too much radicalism over Defense day, or Mobilization day, as it is sometimes called? If its design is simply to arouse interest in giving America protection, then it is worthy of the espousal of every American citizen. If, on the other hand, it is an idea sponsored by profiteers to wave a red flag in the eyes of other nations for the purpose of creating a warlike spirit then it ought to be universally frowned upon. It seems to the writer that the proper attitude that this nation should take is one midway between out and out pacifism and rank militarism. We ought to know how to fight in case of attack, which is unlikely unless the powers that be utterly lie down on their job. As to militarism the word "Germany" ought to be enough to warn all nations both for time and eternity.

Well, lads and lassies, the school bell has broken its long silence and what are you going to do about it? Don't scowl and say naughty things when its music sends forth on the morning air! Remember it's a good long while since you heard it last, way back in the middle of June! You have had your playgrounds and games and have generally enjoyed yourselves during the vacation period. Remember also that it would be rather stupid to keep up the summer vacation life when the colder weather comes. Take, for instance, bathing which is such a luxury when the mercury stands at ninety in the shade would be quite another proposition when it is down to forty. Long division seems to fit into the cooler weather much better than long swipes of the baseball over into the right field. It is only fair to let long division have its inning. Be a good sport as you hang up the bathing suit and take down the school books!

A few weeks ago an item appeared in this column reciting the instances in which extremes meet. Since writing that paragraph the writer has had another striking illustration of the fact. Among the comparatively newcomers is a family of foreign extraction. It is immaterial to the point in hand as to his nationality, his name or the part of the city in which he resides. The family seemed to be very poor which was not to their discredit. They were to be praised in having a large family of strong, healthy children. The father, a mill operative, was the sole support of the family. During the last six months a great number of new houses have been built in the city. One of them has been built by this man, a large three tenement house, and as the writer has been informed by those who know, cash has been paid as the work has gone on. Is it not fair to ask, where did he get the money?

It has been said in these writings (and it cannot be said too often) that Henry D. Thoreau has the keenest insight into nature and is the finest expositor of its teachings of any American writer. Thoreau in his Excursions has this passage: "The walking of which I speak has nothing in it akin to taking exercise, as it is called, as the sick take medicine at stated hours—as the swinging of dumb-bells or chairs; but is itself the enterprise and adventure of the day. If you would get exercise, go in search of the springs of life. Think of a man's swinging dumb-bells for his health, when those springs are springing up in far-off pastures unsought by him." In these words Thoreau hits the nail on the head. The real object of taking a walk into nature's fields is not for the object or at least, ought not to be for the mere purpose of getting exercise. It ought to be for the purpose of getting what nature is disposed to give us.

In this same wonderful little series of essays he has this further word to say about walking for exercise only: "In my walks I would fain return to my senses. What business have I in the woods, if I am thinking of something out of the woods? I suspect myself, and cannot help a shudder, when I find myself so implicated even in what are called good works!—for this may sometimes happen." It is not possible for us, grown-ups, to be wood-gathering in the forests and beside the streams, as it is for children in the schoolroom? We say that pupils in the schoolroom are throwing away their time if they are planning ball games when they ought to be studying their lessons. Why should men roam about the fields if their minds are on stocks and bonds, or if they load down their fish-baskets with their business cares and perplexities?

Another Labor day has passed as silently as it came. Surely there is not much in the observance of the day that would connect it with labor. The prince of Wales, marking the day, would be likely to say, "Now all this is fine but what has it to do with labor?" The dead chimney stack and the noiseless loom seem to point in the other direction. Closed business shops and deserted streets do not remind us of labor. Were an old Puritan to visit any of our smaller cities on Labor day he would be likely to exclaim: "This must be a day of humiliation and prayer." A stranger on our highway would think it was Automobile day. Let another stranger visit a popular resort about dinner time, and this would be his comment: "I know that this is Clam Chowder day." But if he should chance see these diners forty minutes later he would thus correct his impression: "No, I am sure that this is Lobster day!" The only labor manifest would be the over-eating and drinking.

Beginning with Labor day as it has been the custom for some years, the annual agricultural fair has been held three days. From the nature of the case it could not differ much from the fairs of other days. One is more and more impressed that it is the thrills that lie at the basis of a successful county fair. To see a man swinging on a trapeze by the back of his neck thrills us; but to pass by a plate of nice scibio beans in the exhibit hall doesn't increase our heart action. But what thrills one man dulls another. Some people of artistic temperament love to dwell with gladioli and dahlias, while others hasten by to revel in the beauties of bull-calves. There are some who get their thrills in the midway and at the same time lose their money. Some like to see fine horses trot, while others like to sample every kind of drink that is going. It is lucky for the association that we are not all built just the same way.

CONDITION OF AMERICAN FISHERIES

Atlantic City, Sept. 5.—In an address before the sixty annual convention of the United States Fisheries Association at Atlantic City, Friday night, Secretary Hoover reviewed the serious situation confronting many parts of the American fisheries.

"Blindly, without regard to the stability of the industry in our generation, without sense of responsibility to future generations, we are recklessly destroying our littoral fisheries—that is, the species of sea food in our bays and adjacent to the coast," Mr. Hoover declared. "A constantly depleted species will ultimately reach a point of exhaustion from which there is no recovery. It is true that as a result of a conference on fisheries which I called in Washington three years ago, in which you participated, we have stopped some of the destruction. We have secured some start in a positive national policy of conversation of our fish supply. We have a long distance further to go. We must not only halt other forms of destruction but we must start rehabilitation.

"I do not intend tonight to discuss at any length the deep sea fisheries, from which come such a large part of our fish supply, the halibut, cod, herring, and mackerel. Their large and increasing production has obscured the depletion of our coastal varieties. Sea fisheries have been protected to a large extent by their situation and to some extent by international agreement. Their supplies are capable of still further expansion. But if our littoral fisheries are permitted to go further toward extinction an additional burden to make up this lost supply will fall upon the deep sea species, with consequent additional danger. Nor shall we have that wonderful variety in sea food which has been our national heritage. Indeed this situation already confronts us. Our deep sea fisheries are not in the long view unlimited.

"The fisheries are the most precious of our primary food supplies. They will become more precious in the future. Our agricultural expansion is rapidly approaching its limits and our population will double. To protect the industry is an obligation to our own generation; to maintain it is a primary duty we owe to future generations.

"Our littoral and inland fish are far less than they were 75 years ago; they are less today than even twenty years ago. In the meantime, the number of fishermen has vastly increased. Our Atlantic and Pacific littoral waters once teemed with huge runs of salmon, shad, sturgeon, and mullet; they contained great stocks of lobster, crab and oysters and clams. But littoral fish were easy of capture because they run right up to the fishermen's hands once a year. Shellfish may be had by the first comer.

"I can perhaps lend emphasis to this situation if I remind you that our great supplies of salmon on the Atlantic Coast have totally disappeared as a food supply. They have been diminished over one-half on the Pacific coast, and only recently have measures been taken there to halt their destruction; and it is only within a few months that we have sought to save the last great salmon fishery of the world—Alaska—where reckless exploitation threatened their complete destruction within half a generation.

"The sturgeon fisheries of the Great Lakes have declined 98 per cent. in forty years. They are almost gone on our Coast. Our shad fisheries have decreased in their yield by over 70 per cent. Seventy-five years ago 22,000,000 shad a year were taken in the Potomac River alone. Today 500 fisher men operating 500 nets take with difficulty 600,000 fish per annum in this river, the best of the remaining rivers, for shad. We now supply 'Potomac shad' to the market by hauling them 3000 miles from California on ice.

"Other littoral fishes—river herring, striped bass, sea run trout—are decreasing with great rapidity. Crabs, lobsters, oysters, and clams are on the same road to destruction. As late as 1915 our crab fisheries in the Chesapeake and Delaware waters yielded over 50,000,000 lbs. They yield less than one-half of that today. The oyster fisheries of the Chesapeake have decreased by 50 per cent. in as short a period as 20 years. Our lobster catch is less than one-third that of 30 years ago. Even some deep sea fisheries, such as the great halibut fisheries, in the North Pacific have been over-fished."

At this point Mr. Hoover digressed to discuss the parallel depletion of game fish. He estimated that this summer would find two million anglers upon our streams and coasts.

"We are literally destroying our littoral and inland fisheries at a rate that promises the end in a generation unless we accomplish further reform," he continued.

Turning to the accomplishments of recent years, Mr. Hoover said: "More has been done in these last three years in actual accomplishments than in the two generations before." These accomplishments he summarized as follows:

First: Congress enacted last winter federal legislation controlling oil pollution of coastal waters by oil burning and oil carrying ships. This measure was vital to the existence of our fisheries and the protection of our shellfish. It is only a beginning at solution of the pollution problem.

Second: We secured by negotiation with Canada, the Pacific coast halibut treaty and the enactment of legislation under which the two nations are now able to halt the depletion and destruction of that great fishery and to start its recuperation.

Third: Congress, after three years of controversy, enacted the Alaskan salmon fisheries conservation bill, and we have today vigorously stopped destruction and started the rejuvenation of these fisheries.

Fourth: Congress enacted the Upper Mississippi fish and game refuge bill through which the streams of the Upper Mississippi will be preserved for the breeding of fish and game.

Fifth: We have had some success in bringing about co-operation between different states for the protection of fisheries.

Under the heading "The Next Steps in Conservation" Mr. Hoover discussed the following fourfold program:

1. To cultivate a sense of national responsibility toward the fisheries and their maintenance; to make conservation of those priceless resources a part of the national instinct; to let the whole country understand that we can no more overfish and expect to have seafood than we can outcut the growth of our forests and expect to have timber.

2. To make a vigorous attempt to restore the sturgeon, salmon, shad, lobster, crab, oyster, and clam and other littoral fisheries on the Atlantic coast.

3. To secure the prevention of pollution from sources other than ships both in coastal and inland waters.

4. To undertake the reinforcement of stocks of game fish throughout the United States.

"I wish to make a definite proposal in respect to the decreasing species in our coastal fisheries," Mr. Hoover continued. We must have centralization of control. I am not one of those who wish for encroachment of federal authority on state responsibility. I do not suggest another amendment to the Constitution transferring state authority to the federal government. I am not urging the extension of federal power.

"The Constitution itself furnished the method I would adopt. It is the permitted power of the states to enter into agreements and compacts with congressional consent.

We should proceed upon that basis, the thought being the joint control of the protection and conservation of each species by the states of its habitat. Interstate commissions could be set up consisting of representatives from each of the states interested in a given problem with power to act in its determination. An agreement for instance could be made between the states from Maine to New York vesting the entire subject of the rehabilitation of the Atlantic salmon and taking of the necessary measures to bring it about in a joint commission composed perhaps of their own fishery officials, and whose regulation could be carried out through their own officers. The shad could be restored by the states from New York to Georgia if they would."

Mr. Hoover explained that the federal government could play a large part in such a program through the furnishing of technical and scientific information, advice as to methods, and financial assistance in the restocking of the streams. He announced that some time during the coming winter he proposed to call a series of conferences of state authorities to consider this proposal.

SUNDAY MORNING TALK

All Day.

But to Israel He saith, "All day long I have stretched forth my hands unto a disobedient and gainsaying people." Rom. 10: 21.

St. Paul is quoting the prophet Isiah and Israel in the name of God, to stretch out the hands is to make an appeal or entreaty with silent earnestness; and this appeal God made to His disobedient people "all day long." It is an expression which may well enlarge its scope with the lapse of time, which opens one vista to the Jewish prophet and another to the Christian apostle, and another to us today. For St. Paul the expression means epoch, which, when he writes, has already opened upon the world—the day of the Messiah.

One day there was unlike any other, which probably St. Paul had in his mind when quoting these words—the day of Calvary. From the first moment of our Lord's mental agony in the garden begins this supreme appeal to the heart and conscience of Israel and of the world, and it lasts until He bows His head in death on the cross. It is eloquent for all who have ears to hear. Israel at the foot of the cross is still what Israel has been throughout the ages; and over this unhappy race the Divine Sufferer must cry, "All day long I have stretched forth my hands to a disobedient and gainsaying people." We, too, have each of us his place somewhere on Mount Calvary. Christ crucified belongs to no one age or place.

Jesus Christ, with His hands stretched out upon the cross, makes an appeal to the hearts of Christians on behalf of God's standard of holiness, and against the sin of man, and He makes this appeal by the force of His own example.

He makes an appeal to our sense of what He has done for us. He is there, because otherwise we are lost. When we review our lives seriously, that which must strike us most is the persevering, overshadowing, "ever-pleading" mercy of God. Through all the past years of life, as we look back, we see the perpetual stretching out over us of the hands of the crucified.

Jesus stretching out hands of compassion on the cross is a model for all Christians who love their Saviour. Mere law, mere right, is all very well for a man of the world, but the children of the crucified ought to have caught sight of a higher ideal—Love.

Louisa M. Alcott's Meager Girlhood

Self-denial was a rule in the home of Louisa M. Alcott from the time of her birth in Germantown, Pa. Her father was a teacher, but his advanced ideas drove pupils away, and the family moved to Boston, where his methods were assailed.

Moving to Concord, he taught his daughters, but an unsuccessful experiment in community living brought the family to the threshold of poverty and they were in straightened circumstances for several years.

At 15 Louisa was tall, thin brown active and she often got into troubles by her frankness and restlessness, but won friends. Eager to help the family, she began to teach at 16 in Ralph Waldo Emerson's barn, but had to abandon the work when her mother obtained a position in Boston, to which the family returned. There the girl toiled as nurse, governess and seamstress. She had written poems and short stories and tried writing at night to raise funds. At 19 she received $5 from a magazine for a sensational story. The next story, which was of a like kind, brought $10. She dramatized it and seriously considered becoming an actress, but the actors quarreled and the play died.

Many other sensational stories were accepted. She wrote the novel, Moods, but it received little attention. She offered a story to the Atlantic Monthly and was advised to "stick to teaching."

At 29 she became a nurse in the Civil war broke down in health from overwork, and wrote Hospital Sketches. Soon afterwards she went to Europe as companion to an invalid woman.

When her father tried to interest a publisher in a collection of her stories, he was unsuccessful, but his daughter was requested to write a single story for girls. Miss Alcott wrote one just to convince the publisher that she could not, and at 36 completed the first part of Little Women. The second part appeared a year later and she became famous.

Success and financial ease followed, but the cheery Little Men, Old-Fashioned Girl, Under the Lilacs and many other books were written when she was suffering from ill health. Her works were translated into many languages and she became one of the most beloved of writers in the world.

Monday—DeForest's Years of Struggle.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Andrew O'Connor, of Worcester, Mass., whose statue of Lafayette is to be dedicated in Baltimore today by President Coolidge, is an Irish-American, whose education was eclectic and largely parental. His early childhood disclosed an ingrest in modeling and in sculpture, and won for him a chance to experiment and learn by doing. Much of his early work was done for churches and public buildings. The central porch of St. Bartholomew's church, in New York City, was designed by him, as were the 11 great marble statues that ornament the Essex county court house in Newark, N. J. Notable among Mr. O'Connor's portrait statues are those of Generals Liscum, Thomas Lawton and Lew Wallace, of Commodore Barry, which has found location in the Luxembourg Museum, and of civilians as eminent as Governor John A. Johnson of Minnesota, and Edward Tuck. Another of his works which has attracted much favorable comment is his statue of Abraham Lincoln in Springfield, Ill.

Col. William B. Greeley, chief of the U. S. Forest Service, born at Oswego, N. Y., 45 years ago today.

Archibald Marshall, the English novelist from whose pen have come more than 100 "best sellers," born 58 years ago today.

Clara Kimball Young, a popular favorite of the films, born in Chicago, 34 years ago today.

Today's Anniversaries

1825—General Lafayette passed his sixty-eighth birthday as a guest at the White House in Washington.

1886—An ice-cave was discovered in the Ashley Valley in Utah, one of its chambers being over 1,200 feet long.

1889—Gold was discovered at Princess Ledge, near Halifax, N. S.

1890—California began a celebration of the fortieth anniversary of her admission to the Union.

1895—Thirty-five persons perished in a fire in a copper mine near Houghton, Mich.

1898—A tower was erected at Brandon Hill, England, to commemorate the discovery of America by Cabot.

1901—Shooting of President McKinley at the Buffalo exposition.

1909—Commander Peary announced the discovery of the North Pole from Indian Harbor, Labrador.

1923—Five men killed and many injured by the explosion of tons of smokless powder at the dock in Perth Amboy, N. J.

Stories That Recall Others

Needed a Swimming Suit.

Bill had occasion recently to get out and get under when his auto needed some minor adjustments. Not wishing to get his suit dirty, he removed his coat and spread several sheets of newspaper on the ground.

As he was tinkering with the mechanism from beneath, the youngster next door began playing the hose, and soon a stream of water, almost enough to carry him along, came down the drive between the houses, and Bill realized that he made a mistake that he didn't don his bathing suit.

City Wise.

Betty Jane, age four and a half, had moved from the city to a country village. One day she was asked by a strange boy if she had any money in her pocketbook.

"Yes, I have four pennies," she replied.

"If you give me one, I'll give you a dime tomorrow," he said.

"You are out of luck, little boy," she said as she walked away.

Frederick E. Clark of Boston was shot and seriously wounded when a patrolman found him breaking into the Winslow station of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, in Norwood, Mass.

Never Before
So much for the Price

It is not only in engineering design—in performance—that the good Maxwell now revolutionizes four-cylinder standards.

Never was there a car which gave the owner so much in fine materials and workmanship for anywhere near the price.

We will gladly go over the chassis and body construction with you, as intensively as you may desire, and you can satisfy yourself on that point.

We will particularly emphasize this fact. In every part which wears, or has to do with reliability, the good Maxwell is now actually stronger, pound for pound, than many a car costing four to five times its price.

You can depend upon the good Maxwell to stand up in toughest, day-after-day going—you can drive it with the same assurance you would feel with a costly car.

Indeed, if road conditions are at all possible, you'll never see a Maxwell stopped. Its brute pulling power seems always able to carry it through.

Perhaps the greatest boon to the good Maxwell owner, however, is the consistently care-free service it gives him, day after day and month after month.

There are a host of mechanical reasons why the good Maxwell saves its owners both trouble and expense.

The fact that the good Maxwell motor is practically vibrationless—that vibration in any event is not transmitted to the body—is another long-life feature.

You should ride in the good Maxwell, now that Chrysler engineers are directing its development, and talk with owners and learn their disinterested opinion of good Maxwell performance and economy.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

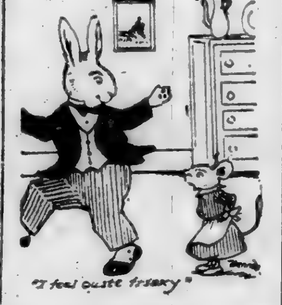
By DAVID CORY

GETTING RIBBONS

Dear Uncle Lucky Lefthindfoot sat
In his cosy little house,
Waiting for breakfast to be served
By his tiny housekeeper mouse.

I suppose, dear little readers, you have been wondering what had become of this nice old gentleman bunny. Perhaps you have been wishing that your Uncle Dave would write something about him. Well, then, just listen to me.

"Little Miss Mousie," suddenly exclaimed to dear old gentleman rabbit, "I think I'll go down to rabbitville. The rheumatism in my little left toe is better this morning. Indeed, I feel quite frisky," and dear Uncle Lucky took a hop-ti-idy over the floor to the sitting room. Then, picking up his old wedding stovepipe hat, he fastened his diamond horse-shoe pin in his purple cravat and hopped out to the little garage.



"I feel quite frisky."

"Hey, there, Old Red Rooster," he shouted, "Have you washed the Luckymobile?"

"Yes, indeedy," answered that old fowl, strutting out of the barn in his rubber boots.

"It's as clean as a whistle,
Shines like a new pin.
All you have to do
Is just to hop in."

"Well, that's what I'm going to do," replied the old gentleman rabbit, and seating himself on the front seat, he gave the horn a honk or two and then away like a comet he flew. Beg pardon, I mean, away he drove, for automobiles don't fly, not even in Rabbit Country!"

By and by, after a while, and nearly a mile, he stopped before the Three-in-One-Cent Store. Quickly hopping inside, he asked the lady saleswoman, a nice little duck, to show him some blue ribbons.

"What are you going to do with them?" she asked. "These narrow ones are for babies; these big wide ones for ladies."

"Can you tie up bobbed hair with them?" asked the dear, perplexed old gentleman bunny.

"No, indeeds," answered the lady duck, with a smile.

"Dear, dear," sighed Uncle Lucky. "I was just reading Mother Goose about a little girl whose Johnny had gone to the fair to buy some ribbons to tie up her brown hair."

"Ha, ha! quack, quack," laughed the lady duck. "I guess she had corn curls."

"Dear, dear, dearest me!" sighed poor Uncle Lucky. "Maybe I'd better buy Miss Mouse a lollypop," and he took out a [illegible] on the counter.

Then, hopping out with the day paper [illegible] into the Luckymobile and started off toward home, [illegible] Miss Mouse had long curl-[illegible] would have bought a [illegible] ribbons to tie up her [illegible] in the next story [illegible] what happened after that.

There were six bearers, Joseph Falman, Joseph and John Scheffhauser, Stephen Woech, John Gross and Louis Greffe.

Undertakers Shea and Burke had charge of the funeral arrangements.

TWO MEN HURT IN CRASH NEAR LANTERN HILL

(Special to The Bulletin)

Westerly, Sept. 5.—In a head-on collision George Brenn of Warren street, Norwich, operating a Ford coupe and Dr. A. C. Heublein of 111 Fern street, Hartford, in a Packard coupe, 21-852, Conn., sustained injuries on the Norwich-Westerly road, near Lantern Hill, about 6.30 o'clock Friday evening. Leaving his Hartford office at 4.30 the doctor was enroute to his summer home seven Gables, Weekapaug, when he observed a Ford coupe approaching on the right hand side of the road and when about 30 feet away the Ford swerved over to the left side of the road and the two automobiles coming together were badly wrecked, the force of the collision throwing Brenn through the left door unconscious to the highway.

In their Hupmobile Harry and James Stewart of Fitchville, who stated that they had followed the Ford for five miles and did not dare to pass because of its erratic operation from one side of the highway to the other, picked up the two men and started for Westerly in search of a hospital. On Liberty street they met Police Officer Charles W. Connors of the Pawcatuck department who accompanied them to the office of Dr. Michael H. Scanlon in Westerly. Examination showed that Brenn, who recovered consciousness just before reaching Westerly, had sustained two bad lacerations from the flying glass under his right eye, a laceration over his left eye, and several bad lacerations on his right hand as well as a possible skull or brain injury. Dr. Heublein received a laceration on his right lex from the cowl of his Packard.

State Police Officer Shubert was called from the Groton barracks and investigating learned, it is stated, that Brenn was under the influence of liquor and the officer will probably issue a summons for the man to appear in court next Tuesday to answer to a charge of reckless driving or operating under the influence of liquor. Mrs. Heubiein, who was called from Weekapaug, returned to the beach with her husband. Mrs. Brenn, having been summoned from Norwich, returned home with her husband in the ambulance of the Westerly sanitary corps in charge of Dr. Harold Kenyon and Dr. R. R. Agnew, the family physician of Norwich.

MOTORCYCLE RIDER IN CRASH WITH AUTOMOBILE

A motorcycle and an automobile were in collision Friday night about 6.30 o'clock just north of the Chelsea parade and the rider of the motorcycle, Peter Wildowski, 21, of Scotland road, went flying over the handle bars of his machine but escaped with bruises of the left hip and lower left leg which were treated at the Backus hospital, after which he went home.

Freeman Rogers, 54, of Noank, driver of the automobile, was summoned to the city court on the charge of violation of the motor vehicle law.

According to the reports made at police headquarters, Wildowski was driving up Washington street and when near the Soldiers' monument saw the automobile which was coming down Washington street and seemed to about to turn into Broadway. Wildowski claimed that for that reason he steered off to his left, but the Rogers machine then came into Washington street and the two vehicles came together. The right forward wheel of the automobile was wedged between the sidecar and the frame of the motorcycle.

CRIMINAL SUPERIOR COURT ENDS BUSINESS, TAKES RECESS

After a morning session Friday, in which all the present business on its docket was concluded, the criminal superior court's September term took an indefinite recess at the direction of Judge C. L. Avery, who has been presiding. If any accused persons are yet to be presented before the court they will be brought in on bench warrants.

Albert Brown of Lakeville, R. I., caught in a seizure in New London last May of three truck loads of alcohol, was sentenced to 60 days in jail. He pleaded not guilty and was represented by Attorney Morris B. Lubchansky, who made a strong plea in his behalf. Brown claimed that he was merely a passenger on the truck, and in no way connected with the liquor cargo. Policeman Graham of the New London police force, testified to finding Brown on the truck.

John Lyons, another arrested on a truck in New London failed to appear in court, and bonds of $1,000 were ordered forfeited.

Manuel Estoff, caught by a squad of New London police officers with a truck load of beer some time ago had the charges of transportation of liquor nolled upon payment of costs of $150.

The case of William Schmauk, former treasurer of the Paty Schwartz Co., of New London, who is charged with embezzlement, was continued. State Attorney Arthur M. Brown called attention of the court to the fact that the Schwartz company has instituted civil action against Schmauk and expressed the opinion that the outcome of the civil suits should be determined before criminal action was instituted.

Paolo Santillo, of this city, was sentenced to not less than one nor more than two years in states prison for statutory rape.

The court heard a motion to set aside the verdict, returned at a previous last session against Salvatore Sabilio, of Waterford, who was convicted of attempting to influence a juror. Decision was withheld.

Charges of statutory manslaughter against Harold R. Webster and Gilbert J. Murray of Colchester were nolled upon recommendation of the state attorney, who stated the evidence was insufficient to warrant conviction.

Charges of theft against Samuel Palitz of New London, charged with theft of a large sum of money from Robert Rogers, former New London waiter, were also nolled. The case had been continued from the May, 1922, term.

The case of Ernest Schleifer, charged with sabotage in urging railroad strikers in New London to violence was continued, to await the outcome of an appeal taken by Schleifer from a conviction in New Haven on similar charges.

Cases against John C. Wilbur of Salem, charged with murder; Stephen Hunter, Norwich, indecent assault; and Charles Loomis, Bozrah, theft of poultry, were also continued. All three defendants are at present confined to the insane asylum.

RAIN PREVENTS CLIMB BY THE "HUMAN FLY"

Rain that began just as George Polley, the human fly, was scheduled to climb the court house at 6.45 Friday evening obliged him to postpone the event until 5 o'clock this (Saturday) afternoon. The throng of spectators, on foot and in automobiles, that filled Union square and every point from which a sight of the court house tower could be secured, was naturally disappointed, but commended the good judgment of the daredevil climber.

Polley arrived in an automobile just before the time for the climb and the rain drops started to patter down at the same time. The "human fly" was nattily dressed in a blue coat, white trousers and white sneaks. From the steps of the court house he addressed the crowd, calling attention to the rain and saying that he wanted a few minutes to confer with his manager. A moment or two later he spoke again, stating that he was the originator of the "human fly" idea 17 years ago and the reason he had never received a scratch in that time was because he used his head and not merely his hands and feet. "I am a daredevil, but not a fool," he said. "It is too dangerous to climb now but I will be here and will climb at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Be here and see me, folks. Come again tomorrow."

Applause greeted the announcement and the crowd dispersed.

BRAVE AVIATOR DROWNED IN THE POTOMAC RIVER

Relatives in Norwich have received word of the tragic death of Lieut. Albert Cleare, 27, of Washington, who was drowned in the Potomac river. The young man was a grand-nephew of John Troland, of Norwich, and a cousin of Mrs. Leila Troland Gardner, the New York singer. His grandfather was Robert Troland, who married Miss Julia Calhoun, of Fredericksburg, Va.

He was lieutenant of the Royal Flying Corps and was in 79 air battles, bringing down four Hun ships since he was 12 years old and was the first boy from this county to attend the Camp Vail at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield.

County Agent Walter F. Clark accompanied the New London county team to Hartford and returned with them Friday evening. The standing of the three leaders in the county contest at the local fair was as follows: Charles Dimock, first; Sylvester Wade, second and Austin Lathrop, third.

SENATOR ROGERS WILL ENTERTAIN S. A. R.

Senator Ernest E. Rogers will be host Saturday to Nathan Hale branch of New London and Israel Putnam branch of Norwich, Sons of American Revolution, at a luncheon at his new home in Pequot avenue, New London.

Fifty members from the two branches are being planned for and the luncheon, which takes place at 1.30, will be followed by a meeting of the officers and board of managers of the Connecticut Society of the S. A. R.

Mr. Rogers, who is now on his second term as president of the state society, selected Saturday, which falls on Sept. 6, because it is the anniversary of the burning of New London. While the luncheon will be attended by members of the S. A. R., of both cities, the business session which follows is the regular meeting of the board of managers.

ARRESTS FOR INTOXICATION FOLLOW AUTOMOBILE SMASH

Daniel Boisclair, 45, who lives at the Falls, while driving a new Ford roadster in Franklin square late Friday afternoon ran with much force into a car ahead of him and pushed this into another. Daniel Callahan, 58, who was in the Boisclair car, was thrown out by the shock, landing on his head and having his face severely cut.

Both men were arrested and locked up, Boisclair on the charge of operating an automobile while intoxicated and Callahan charged with intoxication. The arrest was made by Officers Delaney, Smith and Keenan. Dr. N. B. Lewis attended Callahan for his injuries. The Boisclair machine had its radiator jammed in, wishbone bent and a right rear wheel damaged.

SUMMONED TO COURT AFTER AUTOMOBILE COLLISION

Automobiles drive nby Onofrio Armedio, 94 Chestnut street, and Levi Wilcox, Waterbury, collided early Friday evening, when Armedio was driving out of Williams street, to turn into Broadway and the Waterbury man was coming down Broadway. The Waterbury machine struck the other in the side. The bumper of the Wilcox machine was torn off and the mudguard bent. The other machine had its mudguard and running board bent. Wilcox was summoned into the city court to answer to the charge of reckless driving.

Skidded Down Broadway Hill

The automobile driven by Nelson C. Disco of 210 Broadway skidded down Broadway hill Friday night in the rain and backed down into Willow street where it came to a stop against another machine but without any damage to either car. Mr. Disco received a summons to appear in the city court as he did not have his operator's license with him.

AUSTIN LATHROP WILL GO TO NATIONAL DAIRY SHOW

Austin Lathrop, 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lathrop of Uncasville, is one of three Connecticut boys picked at Charter Oak fair this week to represent the state at the National Dairy Show, Milwaukee, Wis., September 27th to October 4th. He was one of six boys selected at the judging contests at the New London County fair to represent New London county at the state judging contest at Charter Oak fair. The six boys who made up the New London county team were Austin Lathrop, Uncasville; Charles Dimock, Waterford; Everett Wade, Baltic; Sylvester Wade, Baltic; George Wood, Waterford and Albert Wyman, Lebanon.

At Charter Oak, they entered into competition with like teams from other counties of the state. Three of the New London County boys were among the first twelve at the Hartford fair. They were George Wood, score, 997 1-2; Austin Lathrop, 1087 1-2; and Everett Wade, 892 1-2 out of a possible 1400 points. The classes judged were two classes of Jerseys, Guernseys, Holsteins and one of Ayrshires. The team picked to represent the state at the National Dairy show comprises, Russell Anderson, Cromwell, score, 1220; James McDonald, Northford, score 1107 and Austin Lathrop, Uncasville, score, 1089.

These boys will be at the national show the entire week. The Connecticut State Fair association pays all expenses to and from the national dairy show. There will be a camp made up of boys from about 40 states in the union. Last year the show was held at Syracuse and at that time the Connecticut team finished second, being beaten by only a small margin by the Illinois team. Later the Illinois team went to the royal show in England.

The Uncasville boy chosen for the state team is well known. He has competed in several contests in judging cattle and in also showing cattle. He has been in junior club work since he was 12 years old and was the first boy from this county to attend the Camp Vail at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield.

County Agent Walter F. Clark accompanied the New London county team to Hartford and returned with them Friday evening. The standing of the three leaders in the county contest at the local fair was as follows: Charles Dimock, first; Sylvester Wade, second and Austin Lathrop, third.

JOHN IRISH, 84 FRIDAY, HAS GIFTS FROM FRIENDS

Friday was the 84th birthday of former Patrolman John Irish, of Laurel Hill avenue and although no formal celebration of the anniversary had been intended, his friends did not let the day go unmarked. Two neighbors surprised him with a mammoth birthday cake, gaily decorated in red, with a proper number of candles, he received cards, gifts and greetings from home friends, also from relatives in California and other places. A beautiful bouquet of gladioli came with the congratulations of the Daughters of Veterans.

Friday evening Mrs. Irish and her niece, Miss Lola Belle Roath prepared a special birthday feast for Mr. Irish, ending up with ice cream and cake. In spite of accidents and setbacks in one way and another Mr. Irish continues able to be out and about and is in fairly good health. As in former years, his delight is in raising choice flowers in his well kept garden.

Comrade Irish is one of the oldest members of Sedgwick post, No. 1, G. A. R., of Norwich.

MISSIONARY SPEAKERS FOR BAPTIST WOMEN

Speakers before the Woman's Missionary society meeting from 2 to 3 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon at the annual meeting of the New London afternoon at the annual meeting of the New London Baptist association will be Miss Mary L. Howard, president of the Woman's Baptist Mission society of Connecticut, and Miss E. Dorothy Humes, who will speak upon work among the North American Indians.

The association meeting will be held at the Huntington street Baptist church.

City Court Cases

In the city court Friday morning, Judge Arthur F. Libby on the bench, the case against Frnk Durr, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was continued until Saturday morning. Durr was accused of running his car at Taftville into a machine driven by Carlyle Botham.

Alex Agziewicz of Yantic street, driver of a public service car, was arrested by Constable Lucius Fenton on the complaint of Miss Doris F. Clark of 83 Walnut Street, Willimantic, that Agziewicz ran into her machine near the Backus hospital, knocking off the spare tires and the rear number plate. Agziewicz was located after the accident and he agreed to settle for the damages.

Most people find it easier to describe charity than to demonstrate it.

THIRD BAPTIST CHURCH RE-DEDICATION SERVICE

On Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock the Third Baptist church in Greeneville will hold a re-dedication service. For the past six weeks the services have been held in the chapel, as the main auditorium has been redecorated throughout. The necessary money was raised by pledges from the church members and congregation, the entire amount being raised in two weeks.

George A. Howard was chairman of the committee and was ably assisted by the men as well as the women of the church.

The re-dedication sermon will be preached by the Rev. R. W. Ferguson, pastor of the First Baptist church, Rockville, who is an uncle of the present pastor, George R. Ferguson. There will be special music at this service.

It is with much regret that the church has to part with Mr. Ferguson, as he preaches his farewell sermon on Sunday evening, September 14th, and leaves on the following Tuesday for Louisville, Kentucky, where he is a student at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

On Friday evening, September 12, the church will hold a supper and farewell social for Mr. Ferguson to which all the members and friends will be cordially welcome.

As yet no definite plans have been made for Mr. Ferguson's successor.

JOHN HOLLAND WILL ATTEND BIG CONVENTION

John A. Holland of this city, president of the local association and also president of the State Association of Power Plant Engineers, leaves town today to attend the convention of the National Association of Engineers which will be held in Grand Rapids, Michigan, September 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12th. Mr. Holland intends to combine business with pleasure and after the convention will go to Detroit and see the Washington and Detroit clubs which play on the 13th and 14th. On the 15 and 16th, he will go to Cleveland to meet his old friend Danny Murphy, as the Athletics play in Cleveland on those dates. Leaving Cleveland on the 16th he will visit friends in Rochester, Utica, Schenectady, Albany, Saratoga and Glens Falls. While in Schenectady he will call on J. W. Emmitt, consulting engineer for the General Electric company, and will be shown the finer points of the operation of the new Mercury boiler. Mr. Emmitt is the inventor of this equipment and a personal friend of Mr. Holland.

After the convention Mr. Holland will call a meeting of all the state officers in New Haven and will formulate a splendid educational program for the coming winter. He intends to be gone for fifteen days.

POQUETANUCK WHIST BY WOMAN'S GUILD

The Woman's Guild of St. James Church, Poquetanuck, gave a whist at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nicolai, Thursday evening. Five tables were played, the first prizes being won by Mrs. Charles Harkness and Mrs. John O. Peckham, consolation prizes, Miss Josephine Nicolai and Lawrence Bogue. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Nicolai, assisted by Mrs. Alanson Fuller, Mrs. Charles Weeks, Mrs. Lawrence Bogue and Mrs. Charles Harkness. The annual meeting of the Guild for the election of officers will be held next week.

WEDDINGS.

Fletcher—Baker.

At a very pretty wedding held in St. Andrew's Episcopal church, Greeneville, Miss Frances Elizabeth Baker became the bride of Joseph E. Fletcher at three o'clock, Thursday afternoon in the presence of many relatives and friends. Both bride and groom are members of St. Andrew's church.

The bride entered the church to the music of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, with her grandfather, Frank Q. Smith, who gave her away. The bride was preceded by the ushers, Lawrence R. Bogue and Arthur Fitch, personal friends of bride and groom, followed by little Miss Gwendolyn Ducharme, as flower girl and Robert Donahue as ring bearer. Miss Amelia Erwin was the bridesmaid.

The bride was met at the altar by the groom and best man, Hubert Reanard. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Lionel E. W. Mitchell, rector of St. Andrew's church.

The bride was attired in white canton crepe with pearl and rose-bud trimming with veil and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid wore pink georgette crepe over pink with hat to match and carried pink roses. The flower girl, little Miss Gwendolyn Ducharme was attired in pink canton crepe and carried a basket of white asters. Master Robert Donahue as ring bearer was dressed in a black satin suit and carried a basket of white asters with the ring resting on a white satin cushion. The church was prettily decorated with cut flowers.

After the ceremony a reception was held from 4 to 5 at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Q. Smith, 214 Laurel Hill avenue and was attended by many relatives and friends. A buffet lunch was served.

The bride received many beautiful gifts of silver, cut glass, linen and many other articles of value. The bride's gift to the groom was a fountain pen, to the bridesmaid a white sapphire bracelet and to the flower girl a locket and chain. The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls, to the best man cuff links, and to the ring bearer a ring. There was a large wedding cake made and decorated by the bride's uncle, John A. Schwartau, of Occum.

The bride's traveling suit was grey with a picture hat of blue. They left by automobile about 5 o'clock amid a shower of confetti for a wedding trip which will take them to Providence and other places of interest.

The bride has always resided at 214 Laurel Hill avenue with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Q. Smith.

Mr. Fletcher is the son of Mrs. Thomas Fletcher of Taftville. Upon their return the happy couple will reside in Taftville. They have the best wishes of their many friends for a happy married life.

Carter-Burns

Albert E. Carter of Scotland and Miss Bertha Burns of Providence, R. I., were united in marriage by Rev. H. H. Deck at the parsonage in Scotland, at ten o'clock Monday morning. The bride wore a blue traveling suit. Mr. and Mrs. Carter will tour the New England states on their honeymoon trip.

THE PICTURE WHICH LAFAYETTE LIKED BEST

In connection with the Lafayette-Marne day observance today there has been placed in the window of Madden's cigar store a picture of General Lafayette in a silt frame, which is said to be a picture of himself which Lafayette liked best.

The picture is the property of Alvin D. Briggs of the east side. On the

MANY FAST BASEBALL ATTRACTIONS SCHEDULED FOR OVER THE WEEK END

Several important games are scheduled in the eastern part of the state for over the week end At the Taftville grounds the second game of the Taftville-J. B. Martin series will be played and at the State Hospital the final game of the Riverview-Herrups series will take place. On Sunday at Moosup the first game of the Moosup-Herrups series will be staged.

Sundays Game at Moosup

Fans of Eastern Connecticut will have a chance to see the powerful Moosup team in action. This team is considered Eastern-Connecticut's leading semi-pro club. Moosup has played 12 games won six, lost five and tie one. The Natick-Moosup series which went three games was called off by Natick two weeks ago and left Moosup without games. Willimantic challenged but Manager Loughran was in Canada at the time and no game was played last week. As the Herrups beat Willimantic Manager Loughran promptly signed the Herrups for a series which will start on Sunday at Moosup. A band concert will precede the game at 2:30, by the Wauregan Band. The Herraps who are Hartford's leading semi-pro organization, need no introduction to fans in this section. The Moosup club will put the following men in the field:

Davis p; Allard of Couillard 1b; Frechette 2b; Kendricks ss; Burns 3b; Harrell, Mills or Mangold in the outfield. The game is being played on a win and lose basis.

Local fans will have an opportunity to treat themselves to a real time this afternoon at the Providence street grounds, Taftville, where Taftville and J. B. Martin clash in the second game of their annual series.

Stung by their defeat in the first game last Sunday the Taftville boys, far from being beaten into submission, are going after this game with a spirit of determination that bodes ill for the Velvetmen.

Manager Erlbeck is much elated over drawing first blood, nevertheless he is taking no long chances on the outcome of the series—he has secured the services of Jack Murphy to replace Decelles at short stop, while both Sayres and Fisher will be on hand to do the hurling.

Taftville will be much better fortified in their pitching department than has been the case in their recent games—"Chick" Davis and "Lefty" Harrel will both be on hand ready to work, and either one is capable of handling the assignment.

Complete lineup follows:

J. B. Martin.—E. Joubert, rf; E. Murphy, cf; W. Gley, lf; J. Murphy, ss; F. Gley, 3b; Cardie, 2b; J. Joubert, 1b; J. Murphy, c; Fisher Sayres, p.

Taftville A. A.—Donais, rf; Lucier, cf; Gaudette, lf; Nap Liberte, ss; Chip Dugas, 2b; Bus Murphy, 2b; A. Dugas, 1b; Bill Liberte, c; Davis, Harrell, p.

Sunday's Game

Two of the best games to be in town will be on Saturday and Sunday when J. B. Martin and Taftville A. A. clashes for the second and third games of their series. The Velvetmen have great confidence in themselves after taking the first game and are out to take the two remaining games which will put the series on ice. But the boys from uptown are rather peeved after last Sunday's defeat and are out for blood and are saying that nothing will stop them from winning both week end games. The J. B. Martin lineup is somewhat changed for this week-end due to a sprained thumb that De Celles received in last Sunday's game and Jarvis, who played a wonderful game last Sunday, sprained his ankle after pulling down a line drive in left field, and liable to be out of baseball for the rest of the season.

The J. B. Martin lineup will be as follows: Jim Murphy, will do the backstop work with either Lefty Sayers, or Rus Fisher on the mound; J. Joubert will cover first; Cardie, second; F. Gley, third Jack Murphy, ss; Bill Gley, E. Murphy, and E. Joubert will take care of the garden. The Taftville A. A. will lineup BillLleibryt 1M ville A. A. will lineup Bill Liberty, c; Harrell or Pepin, will be on the mound; Dugas, first; F. Murphy, second; Chip Dugas, third Nap Liberty, ss; the outfield will be taken care of by Mills, Dona, Gaudette, and Lucier. Game to be called 3:15 p. m. (d. s. t.)

HERRUPS TO PLAY AT RIVERVIEW THIS AFTERNOON

The third and deciding game of the series between the Riverview clubs and the "Herrups" of Hartford will be played this afternoon on the hospital ground. The Herrups are battling for honors in the Hartford Industrial league and are within a game of the leadership. Last Sunday they proved their strength by turning back the American Thread of Willimantic 4-1. They are out to win this game and have engaged "Bucky" Sturm of Springfield College to do the hurling. Sturm has been twirling excellent ball in the Middlesex league and is out to add the scalp of the Riverview club to his list. Opposed to him will be Posick or Harrell. The remainder of the Riverview lineup will be—Couillard 1b; Noell, cf; Mills, 3b; Moore, ss; Burns, 2, b; Harrell, lf; Laffey, rf; and Belair, c. Zemke the old reliable who twirled Riverview to victory over Taftville last Saturday will be on hand. The game will start at 2:45 P. M. Hank Moran will officiate.

How It's Done In the Majors

By Frank Frisch

Captain New York Giants

Runners on first and third. Ball hit sharply to second baseman. Score tied.

Should second baseman play at home or try for a double?

The second baseman should judge the speed of the man at bat—that decides this play for him, as a rule. But if the ball is hit quite hard, he should make a quick toss to the shortstop at second and try for a double play. It's a good rule for infielders to follow to always try for a double when the ball is hit hard. Another point to bear in mind is that if the shortstop has a strong throwing arm, the other infielders can usually rely on him to make a short relay to first base.

GIANTS WIN BOTH ENDS OF DOUBLE BILL FROM PHILS

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—New York won both ends of the double header with Philadelphia today, taking the first game 6 to 5 and the second 15 to 3. After the Giants assumed a six run lead early in the first game the Phillies fought hard behind Weinert's excellent relief pitching and drew within one run of tying the score in the ninth inning when the last man was retired with two on bases.

Rain fell throughout the second contest. Kelly hit a home run with the bases full in this game as did Travis Jackson in the third inning when the visiting club slammed the offerings of three pitchers for nine runs. Circuit drives, three of them in one inning off Baldwin, the New York pitcher, featured the opening contest. Scores:

HOLLOCKER TO UNDERGO TREATMENT FOR MALADY

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 5.—Charles Hollocher, veteran shortstop of the Chicago Nationals, returned to his home here today to undergo treatment for a malady which has handicapped his playing the past two seasons. The nature of the illness, it has been reported, has been a puzzle to physicians. It was with the consent of the team's management that Hollocher quit for the season.

Hollocher said he expected to remain here about a week. Then he expected to leave with his brother on a long camping and fishing trip which he believes will aid in restoring his health.

COLEMAN HAS BETTER OF PITCHING BATTLE WITH MIGHTY BERGER GOLDBERG

As usual old St. Peter had to open the gates of heaven at the wrong time and send down his blessing in the form of rain last night and bust up a perfectly good ball game between the Married Men and Single Men at the Duwell field. With Berger Goldberg in the box for the Single Men, and Todd Coleman twirling for the benedicts the fans were all set for a real battle when Jupiter Pluvious started to do his dirty work. For three innings the rival pitchers had the batters doing all kinds of flips and twists trying to hit the ball which looked more like a pea as it approached the plate with the speed of a bullet.

Coleman, fighting desperately to stage a comeback and wipe out the stain that mars his record since the last game, had the better of the argument. He struck out six men and allowed only one hit during the three innings, proving to those that are inclined to be skeptical in regards to his work in the box that he really has the goods even though in his last appearance he was a little wabbly. He must be given all credit due him by his worthy return to stardom in the face of all the abuse and wise cracks that were cast his way since that last fateful game.

Although Coleman pitched the better game it was Goldberg that the crowd were with all during the game and from the time he sent the first ball on its speedy journey to the plate until the last one was dug out of the fast forming mud, it was Berger's name that rang through the hills and vales surrounding the Duwell field. He well deserved it even though the Single Men lost behind him through their many costly errors. He struck out seven men and allowed only two scattered hits which aided by the 8 costly errors that his team-mates made behind him resulted in the three runs scored by the Henpecks. The one outstanding feat of his masterful twirling came in the second inning when he walked the first and only man of the game and the next two men got on by errors packing the bases to full capacity. Did he weaken as even the best of slab artists do in the critical moment that usually makes or breaks the best of them? Never, the sturdy little veteran just pitched his way closer to the hearts of his many admirers by sending the next three men that faced him back from whence they came on nine pitched balls pulling himself out of the deepest of holes. Although defeat was bound to be his, he went down in honor and the fans are all waiting patiently to see the little southpaw make another appearance which will be a week from Sunday when the two teams will play a full nine inning game and give everyone a chance to see a real battle.

"Kirk" Wilcox the boy from the country made the only hit off Coleman, while "Red" Smith and "Cy" Perkins were the only ones to nick Berger's delivery. Score:

TIGERS WIN TWIN BILL FROM INDIANS

Detroit, Sept. 5.—Detroit took both games of a double-header with Cleveland here today, winning the first 7 to 3, and the second 20 to 1. Two left-handers, Smith and Wells, battled in the first game. The former was hit consistently, while Wells had but one bad inning, the fourth, when a double play halted the visitors after two runs were scored. Detroit turned the second game into a field meet, Manush and Rigney circling the bases four times, while Cobb and Heilmann went around three times. Score:

DODGERS BEAT BRAVES FOR 14TH STRAIGHT WIN

Boston, Sept. 5.—Brooklyn ran its straight victories to 14 beating Boston 4 to 0 behind the pitching of Wilton Ehrardt, recruit from Lakeland, Fla., who now has won 4 straight. Jesse Barnes pitched for Boston and was effective except in the fifth, when, with two out and none on high dropped a Texas leaguer double to left. Mitchell beat out a bunt on a close play. Wheat walked. Fournier doubled to left on the first pitch, scoring High and Mitchell; Brown doubled and scored two more runs. Boston made only five hits and two were by McInnis, who played well on defense. Stops by Padgett at third base prevented Brooklyn from making more trouble by Barnes. Wheat made several sensational running back catches in deep left field. Score:

MISS BROWN TO PLAY MRS. HURD IN FINALS

Nayatt, R. I., Sept. 5.—(By the A. P.)—Two remarkable shots by Miss Mary K. Browne, when the need for them was urgent, enabled her to triumph over Miss Glenna Collett at an extra hole in the semi-finals of the women's national golf tournament today. The shots were a 175 yard brassie through trees at the 18th and a 15 foot carom putt at the 19th.

Never has the game of golf known a more sensational end to a match. The woman from the Los Angeles Country club, former tennis champion, almost a novice at golf, playing in a national golf tourney for the first time and barely qualifying with 96 just after she had been a semi-finalist in the national tennis tournament, defeated the wonderful girl of the Rhode Island Country club, ex-champion, who has been rated by experts as the best of her sex and who won the qualifying match with 79 thereby being the first woman ever to break 80 in the history of the tournament. In the galaxy of Pacific coast athletes who have triumphed in the east in tennis, rowing, track and other sports there will be no brighter star than Mary Browne, whether she wins the 36 hole final tomorrow or not. Her opponent will be Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, of Philadelphia, former champion, who in the other semi-final matches defeated Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia, also a former champion, by two and one.

One down and one hole left to play, Miss Browne displayed the remarkable competitive spirit that had enabled her to eliminate one former national champion, one state champion and another golfer of note prior to the semi-finals.

Playing the 328 yard eighteenth hole with a heavy wind sweeping across the fairway from Narragansett Bay, Miss Browne sliced her drive into the rough. Miss Collett had a shorter drive, but it left her in the fairway, and she was well short of the green after her second shot.

Whenever an opponent has slipped in this tournament Miss Browne has taken advantage of opportunities and she did so today. Her brassie has not worked well, but it was the only club for her now. Out of grass six inches high and through the trees with a loud swish as the leaves parted went her ball 175 yards. The gallery, very partial to the home town girl, who had been a favorite for winning the title again, could not but cheer. Miss Browne's ball laid within five of the cup. Miss Collett's third shot was still short of the green, and her fourth left her eleven feet from the cup. A four was easy by Miss Browne with the consequent squaring of the match.

On the extra, after drives of 225 yards each, the players each hooped into a trap at the left of the green, and each pitched her third out of the sand on the green. Miss Collett was away and just missed sinking a seventeen footer. The ball curved to one side as it neared the cup and lay three inches from the rim. Came then a remarkable putt by Miss Browne for victory. Owing to a slight incline she putted toward the side of the cup where Miss Collett's ball lay. Never was putt in a pinch more perfect. Miss Browne's ball caromed off Miss Collett's into the hole and the wonderful technician offered her hand to the remarkable match player.

Miss Browne's battle was up-hill all the way. Never was she in the lead till she took the match. Miss Collett was one up at the turn, having gone out in 40 to 42 for Miss Browne, the latter having one approximated seven as the result of rolling around a plateau green and being still away from it after taking four shots. Miss Collett won this hole and also one other on the out-going nine when Miss Browne was bunkered on her drive. Miss Browne won one hole going out as the result of two fine woods that carried her ball 456 yards from the tee to within 15 feet of the pin.

Miss Browne secured the match at the 12th when Miss Collett took three putts. The only time Miss Browne took three putts was at the 14th where she went one down again. The match was immediately squared at the 15th as the result of Miss Collett having a hard time with traps while Miss Browne had a bit of luck. She sliced out of bounds, but her ball hit one of the gallery and came back on the fairway. The 16th was halved and at the 17th, a short hole, Miss Collett played a fine mashie dead to the pin, while Miss Browne overshot with a mashie iron into a trap. Each medal score for the round, approximating two holes where Miss Browne picked up and one hole where Miss Collett did the same, was 88.

Mrs. Hurd in elliminating Mrs. Vanderbeck continued the steady golf in high wind that she has displayed throughout the tournament. Mrs. Hurd went to the turn in 42, being one up there and never having been down. Mrs. Vanderbeck squared the match at the 12th but yielded at the short 17th, when she had not reached the green in three shots.

Mrs. Hurd overshot into a trap. "I give it to you, Dorothy," said Mrs. Vanderbeck when, after a shot in hand, she found herself stymied by a telegraph pole.

NEW LONDON WOMAN GETS $200 FINE AND JAIL SENTENCE FOR BEER SELLING

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Sept. 5.—

In the police court this morning conviction was secured in but one of four cases of alleged violation of the prohibition laws in which the sale of beer was charged. The police raided four places on Smith street, West New London, Thursday and made the arrests. That section has been supposed to be supplying the coast guard members with much of the booze consumed there. The officers were thorough in their search and found beer and wine in considerable quantity. They brought to the police station quantities of home-brew beer and some wine and charged the possessors of it with violation of the law Mr. Volstead had had enacted by congress and which later became a part of the constitution. Vittoria Amanzani was the woman convicted today. She was fined $200 and sentenced to spend thirty days in jail, but that part of the penalty was suspended. She was represented by counsel so she appealed and her bond was fixed at $300. Sara Mengbi, a neighbor, whose husband was also accused, became the surety on the bond. Unfortunately for Mrs. Amanzani, Walter Moran, a young fellow about town, was a patron of the beer section of her home, the witness. He had just called for "a cold one" when the police entered and interfered. Moran was taken into custody and the rest was easy. The prosecutant to take any penalty on the information that he bought the beer there, that he paid for it and that he had bought beer there before. This statement, came after he had told a different story to the effect that he did not purchase the beer, but he stuck to the story he related today and could not be shaken. The police took away fourteen cases of beer from the place, a quantity that in itself was evidence that the family did not consume all that was made. Mrs. Amanzani declared that Moran was lying when he said he got beer from her. She said he came to the door pretending distress and wanted water. She was generous enough to give him a bottle of beer to drink and did not pay for it. She was positive about the identity of accepted the bottle of beer. Moran and Mrs. Amanzani.

Tony Menghi, Domenicia Orazio and Pro were the others arrested, there was no positive evidence to convict them. A couple of the coast guard vessels brought beer and booze in from the street section, but they were so mixed as to facts that they could not say they purchased from the accused persons. As there was a possibility of convicting the defendants the prosecutor asked to have the charges nolled and his request was granted by the court.

Morris Pouzner, formerly in the picture business here, was fined $50 for operating an automobile without being possessed of an operator's license.

Mrs. Pauline Lues and infant son of Mrs. Jason Lazarow and increased Blackhall street, Miss Rose Kaiser, Starr street; Mrs. Thomas Willetts avenue and Mrs. Lucius Westerly, patients at the hospital, were discharged.

Oscar Edgecomb, about 70, died at his residence, 6 Willow street, late evening an illness of several days. Mr. Edgecomb, who was a son of the late Henry Edgecomb, is survived by these sons, Linus, William and Henry Edgecomb and by a daughter, Mrs. Jeremy Robbins. Mr. Edgecomb was a painter by occupation and was a member of the Jibboom club.

Effie Tillman, colored, 25 Chappell street, stated that she started for her home yesterday morning to go to her work. When she reached a point on Bank street opposite the Methodist church she was accosted by two men, who requested of her lodging accommodations. The woman replied that she did not conduct a lodging house, and pretended to pick up a pocketbook from the sidewalk which contained a good sum of money. The fellow then made inquiry of the Tillman woman as to whether she had any money on her person and so persistent was he that the woman revealed her pocketbook, which contained $160 and handed it to the stranger, who ran away, followed by his companion. Although the alleged robbery occurred at 9:30 o'clock, it was not reported to the police until 12 hours later.

Robert Smith of New York, asummer resident at The Strand, Pleasure Beach, was before Justice of the Peace Thomas F. Morton last evening charged with reckless driving and evasion of responsibility. He was fined $5 on each count. Smith was operating his car in Jordan village a fortnight ago and as the car emerged from an intersecting highway it side-swiped a machine owned and operated by E. Frank Morgan, 255 Williams street. The Morgan car was forced off the highway and came to a stop when it collided with a telephone pole. Mrs. Morgan sustained lacerations and bruises and the car was damaged. Smith drove away without investigating the extent of the damage to Mr. Morgan's car or the nature of Mrs. Morgan's injuries. Complaint was made to the state police barracks, Groton, and Officer Henry Albright arrested Smith at the latter's home at The Strand.

WESTERLY

State Senator John J. McGrane, of Providence, for several summers a frequent visitor in Westerly, when he passes the summer months at Pleasant View, has been mentioned as a democratic mayoralty candidate for the city of Providence. A Providence paper says:

Senator McGrane's name has been freely mentioned of late in various wards throughout the city as a strong candidate for the post that has been held by Mayor Joseph A. Gainer for so many years, though the youthful Providence senator stated to an Evening Bulletin reporter that he has not sought the nomination and has had no one working in his interest in that direction. He added that any support his name has received has been spontaneous.

A crowded court room marked the regular Friday session of the Third District court before Judge Michael J. Turano. Clerk M. Walter Flynn, Jr., read the following:

New Writ-McClellan Refrigerating Co. vs Vars Bros. If not answered, continued one week.

Civil docket—Oscar H. Main vs William Miner. Continued two weeks.

Philip Goldberg vs Antonio Antoch. Contipued two weeks.

Granite Street Garage vs Concetta Liotta. Continued one week. Joe Stedmon vs Earl Wills. Continued one week.

Judge Turano then took up the criminal docket and called Andrew Washington. His case was one in which a Buick sedan driven by him on the Watch Hill road Wednesday evening last, was in collision with the Haynes automobile driven by Pasquale Salemano, who was following Elmer T. Pierson and Vincent Brophy of Norwich to Westerly, after their Oldsmobile had also been in collision with the Salimeno car, near the ice plant on the Watch Hill road.

There were three complaints against Washington, on Sept. 3rd the operation of an automobile on the Watch Hill road without first having obtained a license from the R. I. state board of public roads; on Sept. 3rd the operation of an automobile on the Watch Hill road without first having the automobile registered with the R. I. state board of public roads; and the displaying of auto plates belonging to another person. The last complaint was discontinued by Judge Turano when so requested by Solicitor Ferguson, after it developed that Washington had transferred these plates from his own Ford auto. Pleas of guilty were entered by Washington to the first two complaints and he was fined by the judge $10 and costs on the first and $25 and costs on the second.

Delancy Roode of Stonington was next called by the judge, but he was not in the court room and Solicitor Ferguson asked for one week's continuance of the case.

Pasquale Salimeno was then called. The complaint charged Salimeno on Sept. 3rd operated a motor vehicle on the Watch Hill road when intoxicated.

He pleaded not guilty and Attorney John J. Dunn was granted his motion for five days in which to file a motion. The hearing was set down for next Friday morning the surety being $500.

The cases of state vs Etta Abramovitz, Benjamin Abramovitz, Bennie L. Abramovitz, Joseph Tamillo and Antonio Deorio, held on kidnapping charges, were called and by agreement of counsel, Town Solicitor John Ferguson, Jr., and Attorney H. W. Rathbun for the complainant and Attorney A. T. L. Ledwidge for the defendants, the cases were taken up jointly. The defendants were charged with attempting to take and detain on the 18th day of August one Bessie Abramovitz, aged 13 years from Mr. and Mrs. Tony Russo of Watch Hill, who claim the custody of the girl. Several witnesses were called on both sides and it was noon when Judge Turano declared a recess until 1.15 o'clock to continue hearing testimony for the defense.

Mrs. Ida Russo testified that she was given custody of Bessie Abramovitz on July 6, 1922, by the municipal court of Philadelphia, and papers from the court were introduced as evidence. Mrs. Russo told of three men and a woman coming into her husband's barber shop on Bay street, Watch Hill in the afternoon of Aug. 18, and of the attempt to seize Bessie. The witness said Benjamin Abramovitz slapped her and that Mrs. Etta Abramovitz commenced to fight her. She said that Bennie L. Abramovitz and Joseph Tamillo were in the place. The witness said her face and arms were bruised in the fight.

The kidnapping charges against the five defendants were discontinued upon payment of costs. Etta, Benjamin and Benjamin L. Abramovitz were fined $50 and costs each for simple assault and Deorio and Tamillo were each fined $25 and costs for simple assault. Judge Turano severely reprimanded the defendants and instructed them to keep away from Bessie Abramovitz and Mrs. Russo.

Louisa Simpkin, widow of George C. Foster, for many years a clerk in the Westerly Savings bank and Washington Trust company, died Sept. 2, at Polar Ridge, N. Y.

Mrs. Foster was born in England in 1839 and married Mr. Foster in 1868, after which she and her husband lived in Westerly until Mr. Foster's death in 1905. Since that time Mrs. Foster has made her home in Poplar Ridge, with her three sisters.

STONINGTON

Several more piles of trap rock was distributed on Water street Friday so that they now extend from High street to Union street. This constitutes nearly all of Stonington's business section. These piles have become a nuisance and greatly interfere with traffic. Each pile extends nearly half way across the road and they occur about every twenty feet. In many places it is impossible for two cars to pass. Auto tires suffer severely where the rock has been spread out in the middle of the road because it is of a very large variety and some of the pieces are quite sharp.

The rock should never have been distributed until the time came for it to be used.

The authorities announced at the outset that the construction of the Water street road would take about three weeks, which would have been the normal time or its completion. The work has gone well into the second month with the finish nowhere in sight.

An official from the State Fish and Game department was in the borough Friday. He visited the local fishermen to see that their lobsters were of the proper length and that they were conforming with the law.

Advance Showing of the Lovely Coats and Frocks for Autumn

Wraps and Coats still cling to the slender silhouette, but this does not mean that they are not entirely new and smart. There's a clever sleeve treatment which is decidedly new—there's the slightly loose upper section—there are new methods of applying the touches of ornamentation, which distinguish them as the smartest of many seasons. Frocks, too, slenderizing in effect break their long lines with a bit of a cape, a new sleeve, or a suspicion of a flare concealed somewhere in the skirt. The new fabrics, too, are lovely—rich satin finished effects, ribbed weaves and soft wools and flannels.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

The principal topic of conversation in Norwich fifty years ago this week was the proposed annexation of Greeneville and Laurel Hill. Action on the annexation o fthese two districts was set for the following week. The proposal was causing considerable excitement in Greeneville. That week the selectmen had completed a number of improvements to the river road from Trading Cove to the city line. Another matter that was being discussed by the people of the city was the moving to Norwich of a pistol manufacturing plant from Boston. Quarters were being prepared for the pistol works on Chestnut street and it was announced at that time that the new concern would employ about 60 men.

Interesting extracts taken from the files of The Bulletin of the first week in September, 1874, are as follows:

Monday, Aug. 31, 1874—We acknowledge from Prof. A. DeProsse, the receipt of a very fine and commodious arm chair, that has the capacity of a New York tenement house and the ease of a man of the world. When overpowered by the denomination grind and the song of the midnight mosquito we will sit in that armchair of the giver.

The boat house of George A. Martin on the cove, containing a couple of shells belonging to himself and friends, was broken into one night recently and a trunk burst open and robbed of a complete suit. One of the shells was somewhat damaged by the thieves in making an entrance. They entered by digging under one side of the building.

The water in the city reservoir now stands only eight inches below high water mark. This is the highest point ever recorded at this season of the year, marking an exceptionally wet season.

The moonlight excursion made the other night, under the auspices of Lewis' City band was one of the most successful ever given, the profits amounting to about $150.

Tuesday, Sept. 1, 1874—The Rev. Mr. Merriam of the Broadway church is to be married today, at Kew, a suburb of the city of London, and is expected to sail for home the 18th inst.

The street drill of Co. C., Norwich Guards, this evening will be a very fine exhibition. Lewis' City band, which will head the line, will be augumented by several additional musicians and the music will be an unusually attractive feature of the march.

The rowing match on the Thames last evening between Connell and Ryan and Sheridan and Murphy, was witnessed by a large crowd, and was won by the latter crew by twenty lengths. The race was over a mile course and was made in eight minutes and a half. Murphy acted as a substitute for Holdrowd in the winning boat.

Some extensive and very desirable improvements have been made recently by the selectmen to the river road from the new Trading Cove bridge up to the city limits. The hills have been leveled in many places and the depressions filled up. The roadbed has been rounded and is now smooth and solid, making one of the best drives in the town.

Officer Doty yesterday resigned his position as day policeman in this city. He has been on the force since February, 1870, a year and a half of the time being on day duty and has proved himself an efficient and gentlemanly officer. He has made many friends during his official career who will regret his leaving the force.

We learn that the proposed new morning daily in this city has been given up for the present.

The Junior Clippers played the Junior Athletics yesterday and won by a score of 30 to 17.

Next week Wednesday and Thursday, Breed Hall will be occupied by Edmund Cole's English theatric company who will appear in the spectacle play, The Black Fiend.

Thursday, Sept. 3, 1874—The steamer Rhode Island made her last trip as a day boat last Monday and will resume her place in the line as a night boat.

A large delegation of one of the Catholic temperance societies of this city headed by Lewis' City band left on the 6.10 a. m. train yesterday to participate in the grand temperance demonstration at New Haven. They presented a fine appearance as they marched through the streets, in full regalia, and expressed their hearty satisfaction of the success of the parade and the good treatment they received at the hands of their friends in the Elm City. They returned on the 8 p. m. train last evening.

Yesterday Dr. Carleton put 31 grafts of skin upon Cushing, the baggage master of the Norwich & Worcester road, who was so badly burned two or three months ago. Mr. Cushing has so far recovered as to be able to walk. Up to the present time he has had 140 grafts applied.

"The best looking girl in the universe" lives in Norwich, according to a correspondent of the Bulletin. We "see" that girl and "play alone." Miss Polly Smithers of Banes street, please step forward!—Danbury News. No "jokers" in.

Friday, Sept. 4, 1874—The 12th Regiment holds its reunion next Wednesday in Bridgeport, and the [illegible] Hartford, the same day. The [illegible] Connecticut Volunteers hold their reunion September 17th at West Haven. The 2nd. Heavy Artillery holds [illegible] in Winsted the 11th inst., and the 17th at Branford Point, near Thursday.

Chief Justice Waite arrived here yesterday and is the guest of Senator Buckingham at whose house he will remained until Saturday. Yesterday afternoon a number of gentlemen met Judge Waite in an informal way and had a pleasant chat.

In a few days the new piano [illegible] will be removed from Boston to city. An addition has been [illegible] the building formerly used by [illegible] mill on Chestnut street and the [illegible] fine is now in running order. [illegible] machinery is being moved from Boston and it is expected the entire [illegible] will employ some sixty men.

The question whether Greeneville and Laurel Hill will annex [illegible] not will be decided next Monday. The matter is exciting Greeneville very much.

Saturday, Sept. 5, 1874—The Merchants National Bank declared [illegible] annual dividend of four per cent. yesterday.

The City of Norwich [illegible] will resume her place in the New York line of steamers next week.

A first class screw steamer was launched from Marvin's yard on Main [illegible] on the 1st. It measured 250 feet in length 30 feet beam [illegible] feet deep.

The Laurel Hill engine house is being taken down and the bell [illegible] night will probably be removed. During the term of school that begins on Monday the primary department will have a room in the School street building. The [illegible] partment will meet in a room in Mr. Gallup's close by the old [illegible]

Mr. Kies [illegible] the thanks of the community for the very pleasant entertainment he [illegible] last evening at the Broadway [illegible] His programme was rendered in a manner which showed that he is certainly a most thorough organist. Mr. Kies was greeted by a large audience. We trust that he may be induced to repeat his entertainment.

GALES FERRY

The Grammar school opened September 3 with Miss Evelyn E. Whipple teacher. The primary department of this school is being taught by Mrs. Rufus W. Hurlbutt at her home this year the same as two years ago and opened the same day. Miss Whipple has been the teacher of the Long Cove school for several years past. Miss Bella Rispan of New London has succeeded Miss Whipple as teacher of that school, which also opened on the same date with the schools in the town of Ledyard.

Mrs. Chester D. Bonestelle and son, Chester, Jr., who have been spending about six weeks with Mrs. Bonestelle's mother, Mrs. Frank A. Aplin, and brother, Frank A. Aplin, Jr., at their Preston farm and at the family residence here, left last week to sail by the way of Panama Canal for their home in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Arthur Meade and daughter Miss Edith Meade, of Moravia, N. Y., motored here last week and are guests at the home of Mrs. Meade's father, Amos Hurlbutt.

Mrs. Roger DeBussey of Stamford, who has been a guest of Miss Caroline B. Freeman, returned Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Baxter, Mrs. Baxter's sister, Miss Laura McGuire, and Miss Dorothy Birch motored to East Greenwich and Providence the first of the week.

D. S. Marsh and daughter, Miss Cora Marsh of New London, were recent callers on Mrs. Delphine Fish and her sister, Mrs. Horace H. Starr, at the cottage of the latter on Alba road.

James Martin and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fredericks, Jr., who motored here from Meriden Sunday are spending two weeks' vacation at Mr. Martin's cottage.

Rev. Allen S. Rush is to conduct the Sunday morning service in the M. E. church.

A sacred cantata, Esther (by William B. Bradbury) is to be given Sunday evening in the church by an augmented choir.

EKONK

The community meeting which regularly is held the second Thursday in the month has been postponed. The date for the meeting is the third Thursday of the month or September 18th. The change of date is to give the right of way to the Packing fair, and to give the children of the schools participating in the programme a little more opportunity for preparation after the opening of the schools.

ATTAWAUGAN

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reeves, Miss Blanche Reeves, Ernest Lavigne and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lavigne, of Putnam attended the fair in Hartford Labor Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rollinson, Misses Clara Lagineesa and Miss Mac Dora Lagineesa, attended the Norwich fair on Labor Day.

WEAK, RUN DOWN AFTER SICKNESS

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Mrs. Dube Well and Strong

E. Hartford, Conn.—"After a severe sickness I was so weak that I could not do my housework, so my mother told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The first bottle helped me so much that I took six more bottles and felt fine. I have just given birth to a nice baby girl and am feeling strong and well. So different from the way I felt before. I am taking the Vegetable Compound right along while nursing. The baby seems to be in good health, and my friends say they see a big change for the better in me."—Mrs. EUGENE DUBE, 59 Woodbridge St., E. Hartford, Connecticut.

The Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine to bring back health and strength. Many mothers have found this true, as did Mrs. Dube. There are women everywhere who know by experience the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

SOCIAL CORNER POETRY
Real and Artificial

Some trudge along the highway
With soiled and wearied feet,
While others ride their motor cars,
In comfort, all complete!

Some sail the blue above us,
And from the lofty height
Look down in wondrous pityness
On pilgrims of the night!

But after all, most surely,
The pilgrims fare the best
Tho' fewer beds yield him sweet perfume
And weariness brings rest.

While motors flash and hurry,
And swerve and upset,
'Tis sweet to walk the fair green earth
With neither fear nor fret!

The world is greatly hurried
And mostly upside down:
So people leave the country fair,
And crowd the noisy town!

But after all is written,
Or said that you can say,
Give me the life where nature smiles
With every closing day!

THE POWER OF WILL

[If] you think you are beaten, you are!
[If] you think you dare not, you don't!
[If] you like to win but think you

ENJOYS THE CORNER LETTERS

Dear Corner: To the editor who so kindly gave us the space in the Social Corner, and all the dear sisters who write for the same, I send greetings. Also would say present at the roll call in answer to my name printed a number of weeks ago. I do enjoy all the short stories printed in the Social Corner for that is what they seem to me and after getting acquainted with quite a number of the members it seems so we have been friends for a long time.

I sincerely hope I can meet with the club in Central Village Sept. 10th the day before my birthday. It will be a good way to celebrate I think, and I hope some one will bring a good big birthday cake as there may be others that have a birthday near or on that date.

Cactus Blossom: What did you think of the cactus we saw up to Yance Twenty's? Wasn't it a beauty! Never such luck for me with that kind of a plant.

The poetry sent in Aug. 30th by Rural Delivery and Anne D was especially good and I have read it over many times.

The uncooked salad dressing sent in by Merry Widow I shall surely try as it will be much easier than cooking. My daughter and I are very fond of salad.

Frankie Lynch: I feel very sorry for you having to suffer so much from painful injuries received. Am glad you are better. I was thinking what a host of sisters there would be if all the writers could meet together but that could never be as they are scattered all over the country.

I think it would be very nice to put the place where they live with the pen name and I will be the one to start it by stating I am from Daniel-son.

KENTUCKY WONDER. (Sept. 11.)

ARE AUTOS A HELP TO THE HOME?

Dear Sisters of the Corner: My name must have appeared early in the roll call for it's in the C's, but I have been in the sea of activity since school closed. We went to the city, sea-shore and country during the summer. I love the bathing at the beach and the theaters of the city but take it all in all, home is the best. Before I write another line, I want to thank True Blue, Black Eyed Susan and Lo for the birthday cards. I was very much pleased with them all. I keep everything connected with the Social Corner very choice and apart from other things.

I see in this morning's paper, where Lo mentions coming over to call on True Blue. I hope you will find time to call a few minutes on me, too, for we live in the same section of the town.

Papa's Boy: Your invitation brightened up the day for my little girl as she was all alone and did want your little girls to come over.

Triplets: I'm going to call you up pretty soon on your new phone. Did see you on the street a week ago Saturday. I wonder why?

Wasn't Kitty Lou's letter in this morning's paper a "hummer" As we can, isn't it better to accept new ideas and improvements gladly. I wonder how many of you saw that article in Colliers about the autos are a help, in the long run, to the home. We might take the subject up and discuss it at any rate, despite all. The changes, human nature doesn't change, does it? Since man is God's greatest work, I think perhaps, all is well.

Blue Bell: You made a little girl I know, very happy by helping her get a doll last week. She would call the next day although I told her everything would be o. k.

Nellie Bly: I hope you do have your picnic. That is a lovely section.

I mustn't forget to thank you, Foxglove's Mother for card also. I wanted so badly to go to Elizabeth park, but we couldn't quite make proper plans. Remember me to Guess.

Hoping to see you all at the Buckingham in October, I am, sincerely
CHELSEA.

TOO MANY SISTERS ARE SILENT

Dear Social Corner Editor and Friends: I will answer the roll call. Am glad to say I am still here in this wonderful world, in a wonderful age.

I am also pleased to be a member of the Social Corner. Being one of the first members, I realize the chances which has come to many of our dear ones, who, were with us and now have gone to the life beyond. And each year finds some vacant chair and new ones to take their places. We certainly have one big family. Too many sisters are silent, but we know not why.

I wrote a letter to the Social Corner when Wildwood passed away but guess it found the waste basket.

It was her wish that I write the Corner folks when she went to sleep never to awaken again in the physical life. She was a great sufferer at the last, and passed out June 14th, at the hospital where she was confined for eight weeks.

She had not been able to read or write for some years as she was nearly blind. But she always enjoyed having some one read the letters to her.

She wished me to give her best wishes to those who had remembered her with postals. So as she will now be able to answer to her name when it is called I am sending this message for her as she requested me to do.

She just passed her 80th birthday. So was ready to go to her spirit home where so many loved ones were waiting for her.

Aunty No. 1: Am so sorry for you and the good man. You will hear from me later.

R. D.: I owe you a letter but the summer has brought me many cares, yet I have not forgotten any of the dear friends who have written me, and some time you will hear from me—one and all who have remembered me in the past.

With loving thoughts for each one of you, I am as ever,
TILLICUM POTLATCH.

(The letter referred to was published in the Corner June 28.—Social Corner Editor.

A PERFECT DAY

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: I would like to request of any one having a copy of the words of the song entitled, The End of a Perfect Day to send it into the Corner page. I have heard it sung several times, though not recently and the sentiment appeals to me. There are "perfect days," which come to us all, once in a while, if we but pause briefly to consider them. Such was my experience a short time ago. I had planned to make a trip, which would be my third annual visit to a dear elderly friend. The day previous to the date I had fixed for going, was very stormy, and I felt that my hopes would be disappointed. But as every cloud has its silver lining, the raindrops ceased, and in the morning, the sun shone out in beautiful splendor, the air was cool and refreshing.

I started early as I had a journey by trolley for two and half hours, which was successfully made. Here I called at the home of a friend who was waiting, and expecting me. In less than an hour, we started on our way, for our destination. This time our conveyance was by the old-fashioned method of travel, the faithful horse attached to the single, covered-top carriage. The beautiful country road, over which we passed, was delightful, the woods and shrubs provided avenues of shade and now and then the hurrying brook followed the wayside and occasionally crossed the road, beneath the rustic bridge. The farmhuses were few and far between, as we proceeded into the northern section of Windham county. We arrived at our friend's home about noon and who, we were pleased to find, was well and happy, and received us with welcome greetings. Her home is of the old New England type located at the cross roads, and beneath the shade and shelter of grand old trees. There were but three of us who sat together to enjoy our lunch at the hospitable table of our hostess.

It is not always that numbers count in greatest pleasure but with the few who are near and dear to us. How interesting to recall the days of girlhood, memories which reflect on the association with our elders! These are the issues which help to make the "perfect day." Only across the street from the home of my friend, there stands the white painted church, and it was our opportunity and pleasure to enter within its doors. History repeat itself sometimes and through many years had passed since teacher and pupil had been together in a church in a distant city it was our privilege once again to stand within the walls of this little country edifice. On the pulpit, I opened the large Bible, which had been presented as a gift by a former pastor to this Congregational society in 1845. At the little organ, in the corner, I opened a hymn book and over the keyboard, I played the notes. Faith is our victory, accompanying the words by voice. Then we three sang the Doxology together, and our little service was over. After leaving the church, we took a short walk to a sacred plot known as the Silent City. On the marble slabs and ancient stones, we read the names of those who once lived and were beloved in this vicinity. The old fashioned flowers and those of the common field were blooming at the door and about the yard of my friends home. She kindly gave me some bulbs of the tiger lily, which I greatly appreciate. The trumpet vine, hollyheck and the morning glory were in evidence with the creeping myrtle. As the sun began to lower toward the western horizon, we realized it was time to start toward home. The journey in the declining day, was equally enjoyed as it was in the morning hours.

After a safe arrival and deposing of Dick to his own domain, and soon thereafter, bidding my friend a fond good bye, I was alone, amid the darkness of night. Another space of many miles by trolley, and I was home safely but very tired. When the midnight sleep, closed my eyes in peaceful rest my last happy thoughts had been, "This is the end of a perfect day."

PICNIC AT CENTRAL POSTPONED

Dear Members of the Corner: I very much regret to say that it will be impossible for us to have our picnic that was planned Sept. 10 at Central Village at the Girls Club owing to sickness. As I am still under the doctor's care will not be able to carry out the plans. Hope some other member will go ahead and have a gathering at an early date. As September is a month of fairs perhaps we could have a meeting in October sometime. I hope the sisters will notify others all they can that the picnic has been postponed.

Diana: I agree with you in regard to country life. I wouldn't change my home in the country for the best mansion in the city. I like the freedom of the farm. I think people years ago took just as much comfort visiting one another even if they didn't have autos as they have now. I have heard them tell what nice times they had when they went out to the neighbors of an evening and have pop corn and molassed candy, but times have changed since then.

There is one thing that I want to speak about and that is how some young people speak of older ones. I have been disgusted several times at hearing them make remarks. Have heard them say there was no one there but a few old people. I want to say I have great respect for older people. I think we all should have. We will all be old if we live and how will we like it if they make remarks about us. Let us stop and think as the canning season is here.

I will tell you how I can corn. Some people take a jar and press it down as hard as they can but just take a jar and put in a teaspoon of salt and fill it with corn, shaking a few times, and then fill with water and put on to boil. Boil three hours and seal. It is much easier and keeps just as well. Hope some sister will try it. As my name was on the roll call I think I will stop writing as I think I can hear some one say enough.

With success for the Corner, as ever,
RURAL AUNTY.

A GOOD FACE BLEACH

Dear Sisters of the Corner: So many after their trip to the seashore wish to know of a good face bleach.

One of the most efficacious bleaches—exacts a little more time and trouble on the part of the user—than lemon juice, water and glycerine. If you have a good face cream take one teaspoon of face cream and stir in as much almond meal as it will hold then thin with water (hot) until you make a paste of spreadable consistency. From cheese cloth, cut two masks for your face—each with a hole for the nose, eyes are very perniciety indeed, you can cut holes for eyes and mouth, but it is just as well not to do so. Dip these masks in tepid water and squeeze as nearly dry as possible. On the inside of one spread the almond paste, and clap the other mask over it, the faces of course must have been thoroughly scrubbed with hot soapy water and a complexion brush. Rinse and massage face with cold cream before using the bleach. Now, lying on the lounge, lay the two masks with the face paste between them—the face pack it is called—over the face, and mat it down to fit the contour of the cheeks, eyes, and nose. By your side should be a bowl of very hot water containing three or four large Turkish wash cloths. Squeeze out one and lay it to cover the forehead and the eyes down to the tip of the nose; squeeze out another, and lay it over the lower part of face leaving just the nostrils uncovered. Let them stay until the heat begins to leave them. Then drop in the pitcher and replace with the hot ones. Keep this up for about fifteen minutes. Then take off pack, wash face with warm water, cool water, and then very cold.

Repeat this bleaching treatment every day for six times, when the result should be all you desire.

CITY AND COUNTRY FOLKS

Dear Social Corner Friends: Some city folks are prone to look upon their brothers and sisters hailing from country places as "green."

Many of the city folks who spend their summers in the country do not realize how many laughs they themselves afford the native born, by ignorance of nature and its courses.

Just at present some of the country folks are chuckling over "a big city feller" who was bound to grow his own blueberries.

He obtained a half dozen bushes at a cost of $3 each. Two of the bushes survived, one proved to be a gooseberry bush, the other developed with a young maple tree.

Any old farmer could have told him that you cannot raise New England blueberries on transplanted bushes.

ANSWERING THE ROLL CALL

Dear Editor Social Corner: At a rather late hour I am acknowledging the receipt of the prize slip, also saying present, in answer to the roll call. Illness prevented my earlier acknowledgment.

HOW WE WENT CAMPING

Dear Editor and Social Corner Friends: "A dog can say more with his tail in a minute than the average man can express with his mouth in a week."

"The silent man is often worth listening to." But as I do not belong in that class am going to write another letter for the Corner page. The storm of Aug. 28 upset me so I have been running on one cylinder ever since and that skips quite often, hence this jumpy letter. When I read about the picnics it makes me lonesome for I have never been able to attend only two and believe me I had a good time and lots of eats. Now I am going to tell you about a picnic in the woods on the bank of a pond which a party of six enjoyed at one time. We had a team to take us, a tent, the sun an old stove, fish poles, 22 calibre rifle, blankets, pans, kettles, and of course lots of good things to eat. We reached the camping place about 5 p. m., pitched the tent and hired a boat of the man who owned the land. Then while two went fishing the others prepared the camp for our outing. Along with the things we took was a large cake of ice which we preserved by digging a hole in the ground deep enough so that the ice was about six inches below the surface, then we wrapped the ice in thick papers, put it in the hole, put our milk, butter, pies, (by the way we had three kinds of pie, apple pie, mince pie and cheese) etc., on the ice, covered it with a box and "there you are" (Roxy.) The next thing we set three flat stones up edgwise, put the stove top on them and used this to fry the fish and cook the coffe on. By the time we had everything in good shape the fishermen get in with a good mess of horned pouts, which were soon cleaned and put on the ice. After supper we sat under the large pines and told stories, sung old songs, listened to the owls hoot, whippoor-wills call, crickets chirp and frogs croak, until sleepy, then went to bed, some sleeping inside the tent and others outside. In the morning we were up early. I getting the breakfast (by the way, I did all the cooking) which consisted mostly of fried pouts, Rhode Island johnny cakes, baked and griddled and coffee. After breakfast the fishermen went out again and got more pouts and one caught a pickerel which weighed two pounds. One of the party went out with the rifle and shot a number of large frogs, cut off the legs skinned them and left them on the ice. He also shot some large water snakes. Did we eat them? Oh, no! We dug a hole in the ground about 2 feet deep by three feet long, placed flat stones on the bottom, filled it with wood, had a fire until about 10 o'clock when there was a nice bed of ashes into which I put a lot of potatoes, covered them with wet leaves and on these I put a clean smooth board and on this the pickerel was placed wrapped in a wet cloth after it had been dressed. Now everything was covered with wet leaves again, these covered with a tin then the hole filled with dirt and there you are.

About half past eleven I began frying pouts and frogs legs, making johnny cakes and coffee. Then we opened up the bake, took out the pickerel, removed the cloth and skin from it, and believe me it was good. Our food was put on a cloth on the ground and it was a jolly six who sat around it rolling potatoes, cutting them in halves, putting a piece of butter in each then scooping out the inside with a spoon, the next thing being a pour in one hand and a frog leg in the other. After dinner we all had a snooze. Then the fishermen got busy again, this time bringing in some white perch, and of these I made a fish chowder for supper with more johnny cake and coffee.

As many of you receive The Bulletin soon after breakfast this probably will not find you very hungry when you begin reading, but how many of you can say so now? When the team came for us in the evening we broke camp and started for home Good night. P. S. If there had been a prize for the one who ate the most there would have been six prizes. There you are.

Tack this over your mixing board. One teaspoon equals one dram.
Two tablespoonfuls equal one ounce.
One common sized wine glassful equals one half gill.
An ordinary size teacup holds four fluid ounces or one gill.
Ten common-sized eggs weigh one pound.
One tablespoon soft butter weighs one ounce.
One quart sifted flour, well heaped, weighs one pound.
One pint best grade brown sugar weighs thirteen ounces.
Two level teacups granulated sugar weighs one pound.
Two teacupsful soft butter well packed weigh one pound.
One and one-thirds pints pulverized sugar weigh one pound.
One generous pint of liquid, or one pint of chopped meat, packed solidly weighs one pound.
A common-sized tumbler holds about one half pint.

Now I want to join Club 4, and hope 1492 and Mary 'Gusta will have the goat well groomed and feeling live-ly.

CORNER PICNIC AT BUBBLEBEE'S SEPT. 10.

Dear Corner Sisters, One and All: You are cordially invitd to attend a picnic which will be held at the home of Sister Bumblebee, Sept. 10th at the Tibbetts place near Fitchville. The bus runs by the door from all directions. Nespa and U. C. E. will assist the hostess. As many as can come prepared to help.

Golden Glow: Thank you for offer. Come and bring Gypsy. Hope you both arrived home safely from Lebanon.

Gypsy: How about that trip to W? Watch out, ha, ha, Ask Golden Glow if she missed anything when she got home.

Queen Elizabeth: Be sure and come to the picnic and bring as many of your family as you can from the youngest to the oldest.

Will send recipe for frying summer squash. Select tender squashes, slice the round way of squash very thin, dredge in flour or beaten egg, fry in butter or any fat preferred.

Yours for success of the Corner,
U. C. E.

NAT ON THE FARM

Dear Social Corner Editor: How's all your folks? Me and Jane Ann's fairish. I lows I seen my name in roll call a spell back, but some how, didn't git to say I'm here. I ain't writ cus ther ain't puthin no more to writ about.

Ther ain't no more pigs to write about. Yaes, John Henry he's turded the pig pen into a hen house ain't a spot on farm cept the old waggin shed and that is a garage. Oh yes, like all the other fools— the's a orty-mobile there. Old Nat and dog is spending time a drivin them pesky varmints out of the garden and sech. Never did have no use for hens no how cept in a pie or eggs long side that thar pig for b[reak]fast. Now I've lugged so many eggs I don't want to look a hen in the face ler alone eatin of um, what with cracked eggs and small ones, to eat can't git a chance for a dish of beans scarcely, cansarn it!

Say you just ort to see how them ther chickens grow! We've got the smartest set I lows in town.

Si he's got hens, ten reds, nine white.

Say and he lows he's goin to beat me on eggs this winter, scat me! You just wait till I show him a thing or tew.

I've got my eyes peeled. Now and then when no buddy is a lookin I slide round to them ther birds and give em a extra handful. Si—consarn him! If he thinks he's goin' to beat Old Nat, waall, say! Like's not they'll be put in the waste basket if I don't stop. So Long.

DEATH OF SISTER FRITZIE

Dear Friends: Have been watching the Social Corner page to see if anyone had written of our sister Fritzie having passed on to her heavenly home. She left her loved ones, August 16th. Though she had not written many letters to the Corner page, she had read the page for many years and when she received her first card from a Social Corner sister she was delighted. Fritzie was in the sanatorium at the time and she valued the cards and letters she received. She was lonely and homesick at the "San" and wanted to go to her mother's home for a time which she did and though everything which could be done for her was done, those who loved could not keep her here when Our Father called to her. She is at rest after three years of suffering.

Frank Lynn: Have just learned Who is Who. Was so sorry to hear of your accident. Glad to know you are doing so nicely.

Years ago when you visited Uncle David (Norris) you and I were good friends. Do you remember the time you told my father you wished you could have seen him when he was a little boy for he must have been a "funny" looking little boy. Of course that amused him greatly and then when you asked him if he had the same face when he was a "little boy," he just had to roar with laughter. But you didn't even smile. Your cousin Bernice visited at the same house, also. I cant seem to remember your age at the time but B was four years old. I do not live in Yantic now but I often think of the happy hours I spent in the Norris home. The house and surroundings do not look now as they did when Uncle David lived there. But time changes all things and people but let us hope time will deal kindly with all Social Corner folk.

HAD A WELCOME FOR EVERYONE

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I am writing to let you know that one of our dear sisters, whose name appeared recently on the roll call, B. Lina, answered the great roll-call on Aug. 29, although she had not been able to attend the picnics in the past few weeks, she was always interested in them and in the Social Corner.

It is one of the bright spots in my memory to lookback on the many good times I have enjoyed in her home. She was never too busy or tired to give a warm welcome to all, and how the young people did enjoy the many parties held at her hospitable home! A trouble with her spine had kept her confined to a wheel chair for several weeks, yet she did not complain. We who knew her best will miss her so much yet we know that our loss is her gain She leaves four daughters to mourn her loss, two of them Social Corner sisters, M. M. L. and Malvina, where she made her home. Will send this verse of which I am very fond.

Passing Out

Passing out of the shadow
Into a purer light,
Stepping behind the curtain
Getting a clearer sight.
Laying aside the burden,
This weary mortal coil,
Done with the world's vexations,
Done with its tears and toil.
Tired of all earth's plaything,
Heartsick and ready to sleep,
Ready to bid ones friends farewell
Wondering why they weep:
Passing out of the shadow
Into eternal day
Why do we call it dying
This sweet going away?

DORINDA.

CORNER MEMBERS EVERYWHERE

Dear Social Corner Sisters: My name was on the roll call a while ago and I will answer present. I want to tell the sisters about my Social Corner rose. A few years ago Chefs Sister came in and gave me a bouquet of Dorothy Perkins roses. A little later I read in the Social Corner how to root a rose by sticking the cutting in the ground and putting a fruit jar over it. I tried it and now have a large bush that covers one end of the wagon shed. I wonder if any of the sisters are troubled with blight on their chrysanthemums and know what to do for it. Mine were looking fine when all of a sudden the leaves began to turn black and now they are dead. It has spread to some of the other plants. This morning I noticed a fern turning black on the edges of the leaves.

I canned my string beans in the oven this year and shall try corn that way as it saves so much water. I put six strawberry baskets in my baking pan,—they just filled it—and put the filled cans in those.

Last Saturday afternoon California Poppy, with the help of Jim, had a party for the girls of long ago who were in Miss Stark's Sunday school class. There were nine of us present and we soon got to talking of the Social Corner and found it well represented by Dorcas, Dorinda, Polly, Peppermint, Triple E. S. Y. Z., California and Poppy and

GREETINGS FROM MARY 'GUSTA

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Will write a few lines to answer present to the roll call.

Peggy Alder: You surely have had us guessing. I think I know who is who. I thought of you at first but when you said there was a small bridge near your home, I gave it up. I guess I was dreaming but now I have woke up. I saw the bridge this morning. Isn't there a spring between your house and the bridge? Didn't you at one time since you were married live in another state? I will stop some day and say Hello Peggy. Maybe the joke will be on me but I don't think so.

Zany: Give us some hint as to where you live. Not very far from Esmarald[a] if is? I think you and Slurley are related. Am I right?

Twice Twenty: Are you still guessing? That small bridge is a catch I think and I don't believe Peggy Alder has been over it very many times either.

I don't think I have been over that bridge in nearly two years, but I go right by it as you might say almost every day.

1492: Let me know when you are going to have another Social Corner Saturday and I will be around visiting.

Best wishes to the Social Corner from MARY 'GUSTA.

MORE ABOUT CALIFORNIA

Dear Social Corner Friends: A little more about California which I hope will interest Ole, also Rose Lee as I have said before in my letter to the Corner page there are not many places in this world where the climate will be all one can expect for the whole year. It was not intended for us to find perfect happiness while we sojourn life's journey here below. In reply to a few lines from Rose Lee will say I agree with her on some points.

First the drinking water in California is poor, which was the cause of my returning to Connecticut. The only good water I found was in the city of Riverside from a driven well 125 feet. The water there was clear and good. Now in regard to the cold and dampness. I went many miles on auto trips and in the afternoon and evening the party with me who had always lived there did not seem to mind the cold while I was not too warm with a good overcoat.

As I have always been a cold body I thought it was me and not the climate when others did not complain. In the morning there is a fog and it looks much like rain. People from the east can be seen on the street with umbrellas which they will not need for six months or more. By 9:30 to 10 the fog will all be gone and the streets will be dry in 20 minutes when the sun is out. California is not a heaven on earth but it has almost all the comforts of life that money can buy and people live there from 10 to 15 years longer than they do in the east.

Rose Lee: I notice by your letter you do have some love for California and would like to live there if you had plenty of money.

Let us speak a few words of our home in New England and the state of Connecticut where I was born. As I am no spring chicken I have seen many changes in the east.

The inventor of the circular saw mill has ruined New England by cutting off all the heavy timber which has changed our climate and made it a poor place to spend the winter, as the most dreaded disease, pneumonia is with us every winter and many loved ones are taken from us. There are hundreds of people in our state who do dare not spend the winter here for fear of pneumonia.

I am taking up too much space and must close with best wishes to all whether you spend the coming winter in California or in the New England states.

RURAL DELIVERY

BOOKING THE CORNER MEMBERS

Social Corner Sisters: I have answered to the roll call but think to still keep my membership in the Social Corner I am expected to write to the Corner page if only to say hello. And today's Bee was so glad to see by Saturday's paper that Nellie Bly still remembers me. Was afraid she had forgotten Deliah Deal as I think the old saying, Out of sight is out of mind, is true in my case any way, and I can't blame the sisters if it is so. I have to be such a home body these days.

Have you tried the canned grape fruit? I enjoy it so much. I find that I can obtain it in two size cans one 25 cent and one 11 cent size, at the self service store at least. As no one but me in my family likes grape fruit I like the small size best so I can open one when I want it and it will supply enough for two servings.

What has become of Nannie Lou? I wrote her a letter asking for a little information about the first of August, but have never received a reply.

I have already pasted the roll call lists as they appear in The Bulletin and number each name in my blank book, giving one line to each number, and for those I know I write their name, address and birthday with it. I have so far 528 names and of those I know 149, their names, addresses and most of their birthday dates and find 17 or 18 of our number have left up for the home beyond the river. There are two who make me think of one I used to know in the days of my girlhood but can't decide which is the one. Sometimes I'll read a letter of Spry Bird's and will feel sure it is she, and that she used to sign the initials F. P. and now there is a C. added Then a letter signed Jack's Wife will make me doubt and think she is F. P. I would like very much to find out. Be good and tell me if you used to visit at Deliah Deal's home and who you are and I will answer any letter you write to 2 Soule St., Jewett City, Conn.

DELIAH DEAL.

LIKES THE GET TOGETHER IDEA

Dear Editor, Sisters and Friends: I am so glad I can say present to my name in the Social Corner roll call. I think it is a grand idea to have the roll call, for it gets this large family together. Such a large number have responded and the letters are so interesting coming from so many different ones and I say as others have said "Long live the Corner."

We had a nice visit this month with my daughter and husband also their two boys from Pennsylvania. My son came from New York and we all had a pleasant time together. I surely like these family gatherings but as some of mine live so many miles away, it is impossible to have them very often. I often think of the Thanksgivings my dear grandmother used to make and always wanted the family all together at that time. The brick oven was heated twice that day to get ready for the big dinner. Now the dear ones have all passed on and their deeds live only in memory

I was very much interested in what one of the sisters wrote about saying "please" when any thing is requested. I have been past shops and saw the notice on the door which read "Keep out, this means you." How much better it would make the public feel if the notice read "Please keep out," a pleasant word goes so much farther than a cross word.

Best wishes to all.
SILVER LOCKS. (Nov. 3.)

FIRST TRIP TO NORWICH AND FAIR

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I thought perhaps my name had been dropped from the list as I have written so seldom, but when I saw it printed in the roll call, I felt that I ought at least to respond and say present. I always enjoy reading the letters from the sisters, and wish I could write as interesting letters as many of the sisters do.

I have been an interested reader of the Bulletin for many years, but never visited Norwich until Monday, when I made my first trip there and attended the fair. I enjoyed the fair and the trip although it was very warm.

I would like to know the pen name of the sister in the booth where the Hecker products were on exhibit and sale.

R. I.

HOW TO GET RID OF ANTS

Editor Social Corner: I discovered a forgotten pen name in the Corner roll call just recently and herewith acknowledge that I am still present. I enjoy the Corner as usual, but press of other affairs has delayed or prevented my writing. I noted that a sister asked for information regarding getting rid of ants. For years I was near frantic each summer with the pests until I discovered the following remedy. Now I have no trouble, as soon as they appear I prepare my remedy and they are gone.

Purchase at the drug store a few cents worth tartar emetic, add a small portion of powder to a sugar syrup, or sugar and water and place in several shallow dishes around pantry. I always lay a strip of card board across dishes marked plainly Poison, so members of family will not disturb and of course out of reach of little fingers, and your trouble is soon over. I replenish as liquid dries away.

SWAMP APPLE.

FINE TIME AT LEBANON PICNIC

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I am glad to say that I was able to attend Club No. 2's Social at Lebanon and enjoyed every minute that I stayed, but was greatly surprised not to see more from Club No. 1. Why couldn't a few have tried. It was not as far as Ocean Beach or Elizabeth park.

I shall say as Whirlwind did about the Norwich Club, "They were no sports." So it seemed Club No. 1 was'nt that day. There is no prettier country around and the spot for lunch was just fine.

Foxglove: You surely did miss one good social.

Sayilla: You heard all right, but I can hear you say foolish. Did I forget a card?

Olga: How are the beads?

Necia: Sorry you haven't been to any social. Better luck before they are all over.

Twice Twenty: Was sorry not to have been there. That's pretty good. The Flower Wedding, and new to me.

Nema: I surely did add Norwich names to my book on looking it over.

RHODY LOUISE ANSWERS

Dear Sisters: I will answer present only I'll not make a bow when leaving the school room as I used to do.

I am wondering who Pontiac is. What a sale we had the other day. It did a great deal of damage. Hope everyone is all right.

Yours for good luck,
RHODY LOUISE

ENTERTAINING GUESTS AND VACATIONING

Dear Social Corner: I have for various reasons neglected to answer the roll call, although my name appeared sometime ago. One reason is I have had company. They came a long distance by auto saw many beautiful places and we had a lovely visit.

The next reason is I have been on my vacation to Fishers Island. We visited the beaches on both the Long Island sound and the Atlantic ocean. One sad but interesting thing is what they call the Lone Man's Grave. The man was drowned and washed ashore on the Atlantic beach, and as they could not locate relatives they buried him there. They erected four corner stones and placed a slab on these so it forms a table and inscribed his name, Rev. Mr. Pierpont, and the date he was found. It seems a sad fate to be buried away from all friends and relatives.

I think this is enough for now. So will say Good bye.

DOUBLE FUCHIA.

REMEMBERS OLD METHODS

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I am late in answering present to my name in the roll call, but am interested in the Corner letters.

I too remember the days of cheese making, candle dipping, and making of boiled cider apple sauce. Also piecing quilts and even sewing rags for carpets.

Am interested in rag making. Is to quilte a past time for winter evenings.

The sisters have spoken of their plants and flowers. I am a flower lover and have quite a variety of plants begonias, geraniums, petunias, pink cannas, the good old fashioned morning glory and four o'clocks.

Also coleus, which to me, with their brilliant colors are as beautiful as blooming plants.

Best wishes for the Corner.
R. L. J.

DEATH OF SISTER B. LINA

Dear Social Corner Ones: I am a little late in correcting an error made in my lasar letter in regard to the post card shower. I wrote the name Frank-lyn but it was printed Thank You. Hope she received many cards.

Frank Lyn: Hope you are improving fast. Your letter will come in due time even if a little late.

Malvina: You have my sympathy in the loss of your mother.

H. M. K.: My deepest sympathy to you at this time.

Jim: You looked natural mowing bushes the other day. How those roads have changed.

Narragansett: How are you? Glad to see you the other day.

Diamond: Didn't I enjoy that [illegible] My sympathy [illegible] your grandmother.

I wonder if many readers know that our sister, B. Lina has passed beyound. Her name, Mrs. Hubert M. Peck, probably was noticed in last Saturday's Bulletin.

PAPA'S BOY.

WANTS VIEWS ON CENTO

Dear Social Corner Sisters: It is sometime since my name was called and if not too late will answer present. I see so many nice letters from new members and there we are getting to be a large family. The summer seemed so short and this week vacation ended and schools began and must do as the young folks ready for it. I have made black-

BREAK IN STOCK PRICES

New York, Sept. 5—Stock prices broke sharply in today's markets, net losses running from one to 4 points in a number of popular industrial issues. Lack of effective buying support revived discussions among market observers as to whether the recent reaction represents the culmination of bull market which began early in June or a temporary setback to correct a weakened technical condition. Each theory found plenty of adherents.

American Woolen, whose sensational decline featured yesterday's session, was again under severe pressure today. The first sale was a block of 3500 shares of the "spread opening," price of 56-57. It rallied about a point higher on short covering, broke to 54 3-8, the lowest price since 1919, and closed at 56 1-8.

U. S. Steel common dropped one point to 106 1-4, Baldwin showed a loss of two points at 119 1-4 and American can was down 3 1-8 at 126 1-2. Studebaker duplicated its recent high of 40 and then slipped to 38 1-2, off 5-8.

A bear raid against Famous Players, predicted on the fact that the half-year's dividends were only earned by a small margin, forced that stock down to 74 1-2, but it rallied later to 76, where it was off 3 1-4 points on the day. Net losses of 2 to nearly 5 points were registered by more than a score of other issues including Anaconda, Du Pont, General Electric, Kresge Department stores, Maxwell motors "A", U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, U. S. Rubber common and first preferred, Allis-Chalmers, Davison Chemical, Gulf States Steel, Sloss Sheffield, Sears Roebuck, Yellow Cab, Nash Motors and Chandler Motors, the last named touching a new low at 36 1-8 on unfavorable dividend developments.

Oils showed splendid resistance to selling pressure in reflection of the further improvement in the crude oil situation. Pacific Oil closed a point higher at 47 5-8, and Standard Oil of New Jersey, Marland, California Petroleum and Phillips Petroleum improved fractionally.

Railroad shares developed several points of strength although a majority of issues in that group showed declines on the day. Further accumulation of Lackawanna sent that stock up pto 143 1-4, the highest price since the declaration of a 100 per cent. stock dividend on Aug. 20, 1921. Profit taking, however, carried it down to 140 1-8 at the close. "Nickel Plate" common sold at a new peak price of 121 and then sagged to 117 5-8. The preferred touched a new top at 93 7-8 but later dropped about two points. Strength of Lackawanna was attributed in some quarters to reports that it was to be taken into the new Nickel Plate system, and in others to a possible distribution of the $60,000,000 Glen Alden Coal company bonds in its treasury.

Call money opened at 2 1-2 per cent, and then dropped to 2. Time money was somewhat firmer with ninety at 3 bans apparently established on a 3 per cent. basis and the 4 to 6 months maturities at 3 1-2. Commercial paper rates were unchanged on a fairly large turnover.

Foreign exchange rates were again reactionary in reflection of the pressure of grain and cotton bills and the unfavorable construction placed upon some of the recent development at Geneva. Demand sterling ruled about a cent lower around $4.45 and French francs were quoted just above 5 1-4 cents.

CURB MARKET

New York, Sept. 5—Revival of buying support for the oil shares was the feature of today's irregular curb market. Prairie Oil and Gas closed 1 1-2 points higher at 211, after having touched 213 and gains of a point or more were scored by Imperial of Canada, Solar Refining and Standard Oil of Nebraska. Mountain Producers also developed increased activity on the declaration of an extra dividend of 25 cents.

Hazeltine Radio featured the industrial list, moving up nearly 3 points on the announcement of a favorable court decision regarding royalties. The new nickel plate issues lost ground. A 3 point jump in Commonwealth Power was the outstanding development among the public utilities, other strong spots in which were American Gas and Electric and Brooklyn City Railroad. Trading was started in the class A no par common stock of the New Duz Company, Inc., which ranged from 24 1-8 to 26, as against the recent offerings price of $30 a share.

Chief interest in the mining group centered in the sharp reaction in Jib Consolidated which reflected speculative disappointment over the August net earnings.

BOND MARKET

New York, Sept. 5—Renewed buying of railroad liens imparted a firmer tone to today's bond market. Trading, however, continued dull in most sections of the list, with a better undertone manifested in the United States and the foreign government groups.

Court action upholding the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad's reorganization plan promoted active buying of the company's bonds, which advanced one or more than two points. Other railroad issues which scored substantial gains included Rock Island 4 1-2s, Pennsylvania General 4 1-2s, Rio Grande Western 4s, Chicago and Eastern Illinois 6s, Union Pacific 4s. Buying of the Western rail bonds was influenced by reports of heavy grain loadings.

St. Paul Railroad obligations, however, were subjected to renewed selling pressure, active issues declining a point or more.

Price movements in industrials and public utility liens were extremely narrow and irregular. Wilson issues recovered further but Magma Copper 7s yielded to profit taking.

Ready subscription of the $26,000,000 Canadian National Railways, bond issues, offered today, was reported.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 5—All grain markets showed the effect of persistent selling by longs during the day and prices eased rather sharply and finished near the bottom. Wheat was 7-8c to 1 3-8c down, with September 1.22 7-8 to 1.27 7-8 to 1.28; corn was off 1. 1-4 to 2c, oats 1 1-8c higher to 5-8c lower and provisions declined 10 to 40 cents.

Rather light speculative interest gave wheat a lower average throughout the day, the market developing considerable weakness at the finish. Sentiment was very much mixed because of the light trade and persistent hedging pressure against spring wheat, which finally offset the effect of the removal of hedges against export sales. These were estimated at around 750,000 bushels in all positions. Strength in Liverpool and reports of continued drought in Argentine, gave wheat here an upward swing at the start, but the market failed to hold under selling pressure. Weather condition were reported generally favorable and movement of wheat from the northwest was reported extremely heavy.

The action of corn was rather disappointing to the bulls. The market was under pressure from the start with a lack of support as much aggressive selling responsible for the decline. Although attention has been paid to reports of frost last night in parts of North Dakota and Minnesota and a forecast for light frost tonight in lowlands in Wisconsin and Michigan.

Oats, while firmer early, later eased off with corn.

Provisions were lower on selling attributed to cotton oil interests and weakness in hog values.

JEWETT CITY

The cause for the light being off Friday evening and at intervals for the past few months, in the local electric lighting system, has been due wholly to ground conditions of the old Plainfield and Jewett City transmission line, which is now being used as a temporary feeder to the towns of Plainfield, Moosup and Central Village, while a new line is being constructed to furnish the towns from Danielson, according to a statement by the superintendent in Danielson. This line will be completed within a few weeks and that will remedy the interruption of the local service. In cases where there has not been a severe electrical storm the local plant has been in working order when the power was coming into the substation.

The town flag is again at half mast for an old soldier, Hugh McLaughlin, whose office for years until his health failed, was to raise the flag across Main street on Memorial day. Mr McLaughlin died Friday morning after a long period of ill health. He was born December 25, 1840 in St. Johns, New Brunswick. He enlisted at 18 in Co. B. 18th Regiment of Connecticut Volunteers, served three years, and was discharged at Harper's Ferry. In 1866 he reenlisted in Co. F. 3rd Regiment of the C. N. G., and was discharged from the service of the state in 1871 at Killingly. Last Memorial day, the local American Legion men paid him the respect of marching past his home, where he sat in his window and waved a flag, saluting and being saluted by the one Civil war veteran, Lewis A. Thornton, who rode in the procession.

Mr. McLaughlin's wife, Agnes Groves, died a year ago last May, both parents having received every care in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Velo Sharkey. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Sharkey of Jewett City, and Mrs. Joseph LaBonne of Cornwall, Ontario. There are twelve grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

There are now only two G. A. R. veterans left in Griswold—L. A. Thornton and George Lindell.

Services are to be resumed at the Congregational church Sunday morning, and the communion service will be observed. Rev. Albert Cristy of Bethel, Vt., is to preach. Harry Paul leads the Christian Endeavor meeting in the evening at 7.

Robert Johnstone of Hartford is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tracy.

L. A. Thornton and Miss Ruby Thornton have returned after three weeks' visit in Westerly.

Thomas E. Lee is spending several days at Quonochontaug.

Extra low prices on meat today at Finn Bros.—adv.

Misses Isabel Marshal, Verna Raill and Dora Goldberg left Wednesday for Willimantic Normal school.

The number present from Plainfield at the six church conference on Wednesday at Pachaug was seven not one, as the report read in Friday's paper.

Mrs. Gertrude Cook of Ballouville is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Babcock.

Mrs. Samuel Littlefield and daughters, Anna and Flora, are visiting Concord, N. H. relatives.

Miss Essie Popham returns today to Morristown, N. J., after spending several weeks at Peter Olson's and Henry Olson's homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ray have as guests Misses Lillian Franklin and Deacon Austin Turner of Manchester. Mrs. Andrew Meech of Danielson was a guest there Thursday.

Miss Frances Smith of New Haven, teacher at the Bend in Lisbon, will make her home with Mrs. G. A. Hassell.

The minstrel show given under the auspices of Pachaug grange added over $90 to the treasury.

ANDOVER

The dance Saturday evening in the town hall given by the Moonlight orchestra was well attended.

The sale and supper held by the Girls' League Friday evening was a success, as they realized nearly $90.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Whitcomb returned home Tuesday from nearly a week's automobile trip in New Hampshire.

Erskine B. Hyde and sister Miss Mary Hyde were Hartford and Rockville visitors Tuesday.

Mrs. C. A. Faulkner, Mrs. William Thompson and Miss Clara Thompson attended the fair in Hartford Tuesday.

Miss Marjory Whitcomb is visiting in Manchester.

The children who attend the high school in Willimantic started in Wednesday morning.

Miss Annie Merritt left Monday for Trumbel, Conn., to begin her school.

Miss Helen Jewett who is employed by the Connecticut Mutual Co., in Hartford is enjoying two weeks' vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. White and daughter Evelyn and Carolyn are visiting friends in Bridgeport.

Miss Esther Jewett went to Vernon Tuesday and began her school at the same place as last year.

Miss Ila Hamilton is having two weeks vacation also.

Everett Frink and family, of Massachusets, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Addison Frink.

The local school will not open until Sept. 15th as the new addition is not completed.

The Ladies' Society met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. M. Bartlett.

Where You Are.

Do not despise your situation; in it you must act, suffer and conquer. From every point of earth we are equally near to heaven and the infinite.—Frederic Amiel.

POPULAR-SYNCOPATED-STANDARD MUSIC SHORT COURSE
ADULT BEGINNERS, MEDIUM, ADVANCED PLAYERS
Results Positively Guaranteed
The Waterman Piano Method has been successfully taught in Norwich the past year. We accept Beginners 16 years old and over. Mr. W. D. C. writes: "No one will be discouraged with the Course because it gives such quick, interesting results and attainments." The original of this and other testimonials may be seen at our studio. If you already play why not learn to introduce "breaks," runs, spacers, endings, trills, tremolos, and many other "tricks of the trade," which strict note reading can never bring. Waterman Forms are UNKNOWN in printed music. Miss A. A. K. writes: "I have learned more in 20 lessons than in 2 years of previous lessons."

I want to thank Katy Did, Olga and Bonie for birthday cards. It was very kind of you to send them.

I have not attended any of the Social Corner picnics this season, but hope to go to Coventry this month. Don't forget the date Wandering Jew?

Mary France: I enjoyed call but it was a bad time to visit one Saturday morning. Will try and do better next time.

If I don't, write too long a letter perhaps I may come again.

Best wishes for all.

TAFTVILLE

Peter Gallan Post, American Legion, held its regular meeting Friday evening in the Army and Navy club with commander Thomas P. Sears [illegible]

[illegible] Boldue is spending a few days at Pleasure Beach with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ely and son, [illegible] were visitors at Atlantic Beach Friday.

[illegible] Glenn Yeagley, formerly of Taftville who has been visiting with friends here, left today (Saturday) for Panama.

[illegible] and Mr. and Mrs. John [illegible] of Pawtucket, Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Baker and Mrs. John [illegible] of Attleboro were in town yesterday attending the funeral of Victor [illegible].

[illegible] Bastien who sustained a fractured leg in an automobile accident on the Yantic-Norwichtown road Sunday is a patient at the Backus hospital and is improving nicely.

SHOWS AUTO FATALITIES MAKE HIGH RECORDS

[illegible] fatalities for 1923 equal [illegible] deaths during that year [illegible] and excessive cold, from [illegible] and other electric shocks, [illegible] gunshot shootings, cuts and [illegible] from poisoning, from burns, [illegible] asphyxiation, from railroad and [illegible] accidents, from mishaps in [illegible] quarries and machine shops, [illegible] injuries by animals and from [illegible]

These figures were compiled from the records of the fifteen million industrial policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and are contained in the statistical bulletin issued by this company. In 1923 there occurred 126,511 deaths from all causes among these policyholders. Of this number 9,259 died from accidental causes and of these 2,242 deaths are chargeable up to the operation of automobiles. In other words, sixteen out of every 1,000 persons in this cross section of the population, who died during 1923, were the victims of motor vehicles.

No reason is given in the bulletin why it is safer to live in a city in New York State—even New York City itself with its congested streets—than in some city in Florida or in California. The bulletin merely states the fact that the death rate from automobile accidents among its Florida policyholders was 32.5 per 100,000 and in California 25.8 while it was only 15.5 per 100,000 in New York, which is above the general average of 16.4 per 100,000 for the United States.

Iowa, with an automobile accident death rate of 8.9 per 100,000, Utah with a rate of 9.1, Maine with 9.5 and Oregon with 10.3 are the four states in the United States that approach the low Canadian record of 7.5 per 100,000, and West Virginia with a rate of seven is the only state that eclipses it.

That the cross section of the population made up of Metropolitan policyholders can be taken as an indication of the rate among town dwellers in the country at large is shown by a study of automobile fatalities by W. F. Stellwagen, of the committee on public accident statistics, National Safety Council, made of traffic accidents in 135 American cities. This study showed the rate in Miami, Fla., to be 57.5 per 100,000 in Tampa 28, and in Jacksonville 21. The same study placed the rates in certain California cities as follows: Los Angeles 25.6; Long Beach 31.8; Sacramento 42.9 and San Francisco 18.8.

A feature brought out in the Metropolitan bulletin is that every state in the Mountain and West South Central regions of the United States recorded automobile accident death rates well below the average for the industrial population of the country, and so did every state in the East South Central and West North Central sections with the exception of Tennessee and Minnesota.

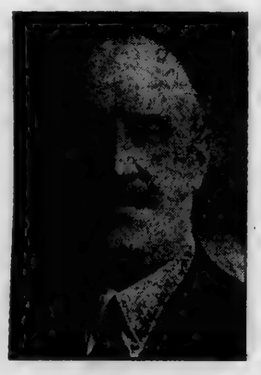
INSPIRING ADDRESS BY DON ADAMS IS FEATURE OF ROTARY CONCLAVE

The "Acquaintance Conclave" of the 30th district, Rotary International, held at the Hotel Griswold, Eastern Point, came to a close Friday noon after a three day session. The final session of the conclave was conducted by the New Haven club in honor of Donald A. Adams, first vice-president of the international body, who is a member of the New Haven club and also a past governor of the 30th district.

The meeting was without doubt the most enthusiastic juncheon meeting of the conclave and was also the largest. The feature of this meeting was the inspiring address by First International Vice President Donald A. Adams.

At the opening luncheon meeting James J. Hammond of New London was the unanimous choice for song leader and Jim fulfilled the trust placed in him to the satisfaction of all present. Jim with his hearty manner and genial smile brought out some real singing from the members present. Fred J. Dawless, president of the New Haven club and Bert Brewer of the Pittsfield club rendered two pleasing selections in a clear tenor voice.

Jim Hammond paid a pretty tribute to Mrs. Sarah Cook, mother of Tommy Cook of the Greenwich club. Mrs. Cook was the oldest guest at the conclave, being 80 years of age. Jim spoke of her as the mother of Rotary and asked the Rotarians to stand and sing "Silver Threads Among the Gold." Mrs. Cook responded by standing and throwing kisses about the room.



EDWARD E. REGAN
President of New London Club One of the Busiest Workers at the Conclave.

Several fine solos were rendered by Albert Coleman of New Haven, a member of the Yale Glee club. He was heartily applauded and the Rotarians were insistent in their demand for more to which he generously responded.

Howard W. Selby of Springfield, chairman of the executive committee thanked the members of his committee for their work in making the conclave a success, especially Edward E. Regan of the New London Club.

District Governor Alfred E. Lavery also extended his thanks to the committee and in his talk urged a large attendance at the International Convention in Cleveland next year when Don Adams will be elected International president.

"Luch" Stark of Texas, a former vice-president and director of Rotary International spoke and expressed his pleasure at being present at the conclave and also urged a large attendance at Cleveland saying that Texas had learned to love Don Adams and were boosting for him for president. Mr. Stark was accompanied to the conclave by his wife.

Address by Don Adams

President Dawless then introduced Don Adams, one who is dearly loved by Rotarians and a Prince of Men. Mr. Adams spoke as follows:

At the council meeting held in Chicago last month Harry Fish, who was chairman of the resolutions committee at Toronto and, who is chairman of the convention committee for Cleveland said: "the index of the zeal and enthusiasm of Rotary clubs can be determined by the attendance of said clubs at the international convention." I heartily agree with him and his statement is also applicable to attendance at these district conclaves and conferences. And it is a sure sign that Rotary in the 30th district is in a healthy condition when we get such attendances as we have been having at these meetings ever since the district was formed. Harry Fish also might have added that it is very difficult for a Rotarian to get a true understanding and appreciation of this Rotary movement until he has attended one international convention I have thought a good deal about what I ought to speak about this noon. I am sure that I would not be a good Rotarian if I did not try to say something that I think you ought to hear and also something you would like to hear. Considering the courtesy you are showing me this noon I would be ungracious if I did not try to accomplish the second part, something you would like to hear. Therefore I am going to try to give you the program for this year and the part which the clubs of the 30th district may play in it. This should not be encroaching on the prerogatives of Al Lavery and I hope it may help him to clinch the matter on his official visits to each of the clubs.

Last year as you all know the Business Methods program was made the major activity of the year. I am sorry to confess that many Rotarians have not yet grasped the full meaning and purpose of this program and some even question whether it is of great importance. May I repeat one statement I made at Toronto? In becoming a Rotarian a man accepts a dual responsibility; (1.) that of bringing to his club a knowledge of his vocation, and (2) that of carrying into his vocation Rotary's ideals of business morality and service. When he is actively discharging these responsibilities the Rotarian is doing business methods work. Surely no one who knows anything about Rotary will question the fact that the two responsibilities mentioned are required of all.

In support of this program as one which is fundamental we can quote nearly every past president of Rotary International.

Paul Harris says: "I do not believe that there is any other organization on the face of the earth in a position to do so much for business, and so much for the world through the realm of business, as Rotary. The opportunity is simple, transcendent and exists TODAY; it did not exist yesterday. The world was not then ripe for the appreciation of a movement, one of the chief ends of which would be to dignify and exalt hitherto ignored, or perhaps even despised, trade."

Guy Gundaker says: "Rotary's great opportunity is to serve in the world of business—to help create a more honorable business world."

At Toronto Ray Havens said: "Our mottoes apply directly to business. The Rotary platform is an outright statement of the principles of better business; it is concerned solely with the conduct of business and the professions. Ten of the eleven articles of the Rotary code of ethics pertain solely to business practice. And finally we have the six objects of Rotary. Here we see that Rotary primarily is an organization of business and professional men united in the Rotary ideal of service." The last paragraph leads directly to the program of this year as outlined by Everett Hill. The six objects of Rotary and under his outline Everett has the following to say, "First—the ideal of service as the basis of all worthy enterprise.

This is a very inclusive object. Outstanding and alone it represents all that the other objects individualize. It is a short and concise statement of the Golden Rule applied to business. All fundamentals and all activities are rooted in this first great object of Rotary.

Second—High Ethical Standards in Business and Professions. We must continue stressing our Business Methods program. Civilization is built on business! Nations live by reasons of business contact! Rotary is built upon the principle of classification and classification is business and professsion! The principles of Rotary must by necessity be carried to our classifications and from there to society. Rotary cannot thrive if held just as an ideal; it must be brought into practical use. We must continue emphasizing high standards of business practice."

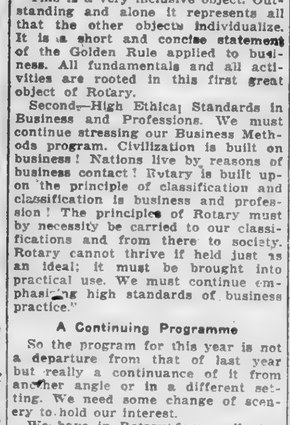
A Continuing Programme

So the program for this year is not a departure from that of last year but really a continuance of it from another angle or in a different setting. We need some change of scenery to hold our interest.

We have in Rotary four really active standing committees, education, business methods, extension, and boys' work. The line of work represented by each committee has support from various groups each maintaining that its interest is paramount but as Bill Manier said at Chicago last month, if you will tell me which came first, the hen or the egg, then I will tell you which committee work is most important. They are all interlocking and each is dependent for success on the others.

But in the final analysis that we are trying to do is to make Rotarians and thus to spread Rotary and that is what last year's program was designed to do and it is what we are trying to do this year. And what is the great stumbling block in the way of accomplishing this end? It is this—the indifference or unwillingness of the average Rotarian to think the matter through to a finish and apply it. Rotary will never come to its goal through any action of the board of directors or the district governors or the officers of the individual clubs, but it will succeed if every individual Rotarian takes the matter to heart and assumes his individual responsibility.

A few weeks ago at an outing of the New Haven club, Jim McGee made some heart searching comments about Rotary. One of his statements was to the effect that few Rotarians realized or appreciated what Rotary was. I take it that he meant that few or as realize how full of meaning it is with respect to the deeper things of life and that we are not thinking the matter through. When I got through with the meetings of the directors and governors in Chicago I was ready to say that Jim was endowed with a vision like the prophets of old. For every day of the two weeks I spent in Chicago some man gave expression to the same thought and some were much more caustic than Jim was. And it is with this in mind that the program of the year is to be centered on the Six Objects of Rotary. How many of you know them? Not verbatim but in substance? The six objects are stated in exactly 92 words and every Rotarian should know them and understand their meaning.



DONALD A. ADAMS
First Vice President Rotary International

A couple of years ago I addressed an evening meeting of one of the best clubs in eastern New England and in introducing me the president of the club said he had been asked many times by members of his club and by men who were not Rotarians what Rotary was and had been unable to tell them, that he had asked me to come and answer the question. Perhaps no one can accurately define Rotary but everyone should know its objects and understand what it is driving at.

Six Objects of Rotary

You are being asked by the International Board of Directors and by the International Committee on Rotary Education to see to it that four committee on education puts on at least four programs this year on the six objects of Rotary. Murray Sargent and his Education Committee recently put over one of the finest programs we have had in the New Haven club in years and I venture to say that a vote of the club would approve of four more such meetings by an overwhelming majority. It is true you will find some men who are frankly not interested in this sort of program but my answer to such is short and sweet. They ought to resign. They are knife and fork Rotarians. They are not filling their classifications and they ought to make room for someone who will. We have many clubs in which the programs have become merely Chautauqua courses of entertainment in which a word is rarely heard about Rotary. We hear about some new kind of a furnace or the rubber industry of South America or the iron mines of northern Wisconsin but nothing about Rotary and its work around the world.

Those of you who attended the Toronto Convention can understand the enthusiasm which some have for this movement which is having a marvelous growth. After the St. Louis Convention the following editorial appeared in the St. Louis Globe Democrat, "Honesty in Business". There is going on in America, almost unnoticed, one of the greatest movements that has ever been undertaken for the betterment of mankind. It is a movement for the promotion of honesty in business and its chief significance lies in the fact that it has been inaugurated and is being carried forward with astonishing results by business men who are leaders in business, men who are not visionary idealists, but who for the greater part have achieved unusual success in the practical conduct of business. * * *."

"When business, through its great organizations, establishes definite principles of right conduct in business, and makes it known that these principles are backed, and violations will be frowned upon by the dominating elements in business, a very powerful influence will be set up for their general observance. The great majority of men do not care to run contrary to the standards set up by their kind."

At the council meeting Bill Manier had the following to say about the international influence of Rotary:

World Understanding—And Peace

"After all, here is the real thing I am thinking about. The greatest object of Rotary of all, if we can accomplish it, is the sixth, and if we are going to accomplish it, the individual Rotary Clubs in the aggregate are the machinery for its accomplishment. A few clubs can't do it.

"Suppose there was an impending war between Great Britain and the United States, and Everett Hill called together two hundred American Rotarians and two hundred British Rotarians in an effort to stop that war. All of us fellows here would like to be there. On the other side we would know half the men, men we had met, men we knew at conventions, when we went to Edinburgh, at council meetings. They call us by our first names and we do the same. At least they credit us and we credit them with sincerity. Couldn't that group of four hundred Rotarians prevent a war between Great Britain and the United States? Meanwhile when that conference is called, Everett Hill would get in touch immediately with every district governor and say, "Begin a propaganda in your community to prevent chauvinism, to hold the community steady in the boat, to wire your congressman to take action in war, wire the members of parliament that Rotary could prevent a war."

"I believe Rotary could prevent a war if war between these countries were possible.

"It is true that that could be done with other countries, but think of this thought: the extension of Rotary in the countries of Europe where Rotary is now established is as far along and farther than it was in this country ten years ago. Multiply the existing clubs in any of those countries by ten and you will have clubs that could really control public sentiment, and Rotary extension is going to progress much faster in these new countries than in this country because they start really beyond the point we have reached, because a lot of our old clubs are still lagging behind in Rotary education, as you all know.

Bill also told a story about the president of the Toulouse Rotary club whose son was also the secretary of the club. This old Frenchman went to Paris and was taken seriously ill. Physicians held out no hope of recovery. His family was sent for and he spent several hours talking over with them his affairs when he was through he turned to a doctor and asked how long he had to live. He was told about a quarter of an hour. He turned to his son and said, "I want to spend that time talking to you about Rotary—I believe that Rotary is not only the hope of France but the hope of the world." That old man died with the words of Rotary on his lips and passed the torch to his son. As a matter of fact the clubs on the other side of the water know more about Rotary education than we do and take it more seriously and it is up to us who have carried Rotary to them to gird up our loins and keep pace.

Study and Live Rotary

And it is so simple—merely this—study and live Rotary. We have taken the Golden Rule as our standard—"The Golden Rule is the world's standard of fairness, of honesty, of impartiality, of honor, squareness and rectitude. Can it be applied in business? I answer that question by asking this: Can any other rule except the Golden Rule be applied in business? Is there any other rule by which anything worthy of the title of business be achieved?

"Is there any business in rascality? Is there business in meanness? Is there any business in low cunning? Is there any business in poor work? Is there any business in low quality. Is there any business in short measure? When a man throws his conscience overboard, is that a business transaction? Is a shyster a business man If a crook a business man? Is a faker a busines man? Is a grafter a business man? Is double dealing to be classed as business? What is business? If we are to apply the Golden Rule to business, what is business? I will give you a definition of business to which the Golden Rule is the only rule that can be applied. Business is all service rendered, the quality and worth of which equals the price charged and admits of a fair profit. That is business! And if we are to have anything worthy of the name, title and appellation of business, there is only one thing that will meet it and match it, there is only one thing for a foundation, and that is the Golden Rule."

Program for This Year

Now let us come back again to the program for the year. The task this year is to try to help every Rotarian in the world to know Rotary. Your club and my club were organized to spread Rotary. You and I were accepted as members for the express purpose of making us Rotarians and with confidence that we would be Rotarians. We were not asked to join for any other purpose. To accomplish this purpose we must know our book, we must know it accurately and thoroughly and we must be enthusiastic about it. We can get the required knowledge if we will only read the Rotarian systematically and thoughtfully. If you will look back through the issues of the past year you will be surprised at the number of fine articles which have appeared full of information and inspiration about Rotary. And then let us have a discussion at some of our meetings about some of these ten articles. Give up an entire meeting to a consideration of one or all of the articles which were written by Will Moffett of Leeds, England, this last year and which have caused more discussion and aroused more interest than any other articles which have appeared in the Rotarian in years.

To help you put over this year's program the education committee has sent some material and a pamphlet on Rotary education, a copy of which I hold in my hand. The education committee spent three days and three nights in Chicago sweating blood over this program. Who are the committee? Carl Faust, the chairman was a governor last year, John Andrew and Marvin Goodwin were governors last year. Marvin was the homeliest governor of the bunch. He is so homely his face is an asset but he put over the greatest piece of Rotary education in his district last year which we have ever seen. You will hear more of him. Charlie Newton was a president of the Chicago club last year and he was the fifth member of the Chicago club when Rotary was first started by Paul Harris. Tony Smith was a governor two years ago and last year a member of the board of directors. These men know Rotary and after they had spent three days and three nights sweating over this program presented it to the board of directors we spent two hours walking all over it and punching it full of holes. I was really sorry for them but we did it not because we were dissatisfied with their efforts but because we were so intensely in earnest about having the program just right. And then like good sports the committee went back into session and worked two more days and presented the report which you now have and which received our approval. And the chairmen of the education committees of some of our clubs will throw it in the waste basket. Can you beat it?

Rotarians of the 30th district—if I have stirred you in any degree to think more seriously about your duty as members of Rotary International and have given you even a glimmer of your individual responsibility to live and spread Rotary I will feel gratified.

Upon the conclusion of his talk Mr. Adams was given a fitting ovation and Vernon Hodges, a past president of the New Haven club in a very fitting talk presented a Rotary wheel pin set with a diamond to Don on behalf of the New Haven club.

Don gracefully accepted and Mrs. Don also expressed her feeling of appreciation for the gift and the courtesies shown her during the conclave.

With all joining hands and singing Auld Lang Syne the Acquaintance Conclave came to a close, the many Rotarians departing for their homes after three solid days of enjoyment.

Breakfast Meeting.

Rotarians had been warned Thursday evening to prepare for a series of surprises on Friday morning, the final morning of the three days' conclave, and the Torrington and Winsted clubs certainly handled the events of the morning in lively style.

As soon as the hands of the clock pointed to 7.30 o'clock the wild and weird strains of the Highland bagpipes were heard and the Cameron Kiltie band of Torrington paraded through the hotel corridors, playing with a vim, intending that every Rotarian should be awakened.

Followed by the Torrington and Winsted Rotarians and wives, the band then marched into the dining hall, where breakfast was being served, and throughout the meal gave a splendid program of Scottish music and popular American numbers.

In speaking of the program President Lester Ross of Torrington said that Rotary had come to mean much to his home town, and also to Winsted; that it had brought these two towns much closer together than they had ever been at any previous time. He then introduced "Sam" Clifton, song leader of the club, who led in the singing throughout the meal.

Special entertainment features included dance numbers by Shepard & Swanson's Danceland orchestra, selections by the Kiltie band, two exhibitions of Scottish dancing by little Miss Gene Thompson and a Highland song number, I'd Love to Be a Sailor, by Master Willie Thompson.

The Torrington and Winsted clubs also favored with R-O-T-A-R-Y, the Long, Long Trail and Round Her Neck She Wears a Yeller Ribbon, all of which were received with great applause.

As an additional feature, "Sam" Clifton, El Frazee, Leslie Woods and Dan Haested, under the title of the Prince of Wales Quartet, favored with songs about frogs that climb trees and foxes that sleep with the geese and an extremely sour rendition of Sweet Adeline.

Every Rotary Ann at the breakfast received as a favor "The Torrington Ice Breaker, the Pick of Them All," this favor being accepted with pleasure. Adjournment was then taken to the steamboat dock for the morning sail, every Rotarian and guest receiving copies of The Norwich Bulletin containing complete conclave reports Award of Prizes.

The awarding of the prizes offered for golf and various sports run off during the conclave took place in the hotel lobby at 12.30 o'clock at noon, following the boat ride, E. Lewis Olney of Rutland, Vt., who was in charge of the sports, presenting the prizes to the winners.

Norwich came through strong in the sport line and captured two of the largest prizes offered, one being the most valued of all, the best four club score in golf, a large silver cup trophy, to be held by the local club for one year. Frank Welch, a member of the winning team, accepted the trophy on behalf of the Norwich club, after Rotarian Olney had explained that Rutland club, honors of the trophy, intended to regain it in another year.

The winning four representing the local club and the scores made during the elimination trials Wednesday were: Willis Austin and Frank Welch, 89 each; William G. Park, 93, and "Al" Bliven, 101.

The prize for the lowest score made during the games Wednesday was a pair of high grade golf shoes. Rotarians Austin and Welch of the Norwich club tied for first with 89 and "Lew" suggested that they wear the shoes on alternate days.

F. G. Patience of Hartford won the Rotarian golf tournament, defeating A. Tredenick 2 up and 1 to play. As patience is a virtue of golf, the champion was presented a beautiful leather tray. Rotarian Lockwood, runner up in the first flight, received the silver cigarette container, and H. A. Cook of New London received a prize, linen stationery, for the second flight. Prizes were also awarded to the losing eight.

Before presenting the prizes for barnyard golf (horseshoe pitching), Lew Olney called upon "Al" Vining of Springfield to explain himself. "Al," who was in charge of this event on the sports program, copped first prize, a pair of woolen blankets, selected by himself, as first prize for this event. In explaining the results "Al" said that he needed the blankets, and that's why he picked them out. He also explained that "Ted" Norman of Palmer, Mass., gave him a run for the prize, the game being tied at 20-all for six throws before he finally landed the horseshoe inside the lines, caulks down! Second prize, a box of linen stationery, was awarded to "Ted" Norman of Palmer; third prize, linen handkerchiefs, to J. E. Barlow of New London, and fourth, a box of coffee, to G. H. Craig of Wallingford.

Miss A. M. Cook of Greenwich received the box of fancy chocolates, first prize for bridge, the men's prize, a small silver loving cup, going to Felix Lyon of Hartford. The prize for mah jongg, also a box of chocolates, was awarded to Marion Van Dyne.

Sail Was Enjoyed

Following the breakfast meeting about 250 Rotarians enjoyed a delightful sail around Fisher's Island on the Steamer Nelseco II. The morning was beautiful and clear and every minute was a moment of pleasure. There was dancing on the upper deck and George Cooper of Pittsfield and Al Lavery held forth with humorous stories on the lower deck. The Kiltie band of Torrington furnished a pleasing concert during the trip.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY

The meeting of Norwich Grange, No. 172, next Wednesday evening in Steiner hall is one which is being anticipated with much interest by the members as it is to be a public reception to the teachers and ministers of Norwich. A large attendance is expected and the programme will be one of value and will include an address by Principal H. A. Tirrell of the Academy.

In order to get the business meeting out of the way in time for the reception which is to begin at 8.30, the regular business meeting will be called by Worthy Master Arthur W. Avery fifteen minutes earlier than the usual hour. This will make the business meeting and regular grange session open at 7.45.

ODD FELLOWS, M. U.

Harold J. Wentzell, of Philadelphia, was elected grand master at the final session of the eighth biennial convention of the Grand Lodge of the United States, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Manchester Unity, in Providence this week.

Other officers elected were: Grand secretary, J. S. B. Clark, Fall River; grand treasurer, George Lord, Providence; past grand master, Alfred Goodwin, Southbridge, Mass. directors, Edward Crooks, Norwich, Conn.; James MacGowan, New York; Edward J. Thompson Beverly Mass.; John E. Aram Philadelphia; John Brown East Newark N. J., grand trustees Nicol Smith, Philadelphia; Thomas Mowhay, Fall River, Mass.; Isaac A. Kenworthy, Providence.

Philadelphia was selected as the 1926 convention city.

EAGLES

The regular meeting of Norwich Aerie No. 367, F. O. E., was held Tuesday evening with Worthy President Timothy Fields presiding. Routine business was transacted. The pinochle committee reported that the tournament will start next Thursday. The club team is now ready to receive a challenge from any other club team in the city.

ODD FELLOWS

Uncas Lodge, No. 11, and Shetucket Lodge No. 27, I. O. O. F., held their regular business meetings Monday and Tuesday evenings respectively. There was the usual attendance at the meetings and routine business was transacted.

ODD LADIES, M. U.

Loyal Victory lodge, M. U., met Thursday evening at Steiner's hall with Noble Grand Dorothea McNeely presiding. After the usual routine of business the lodge closed for a social session. A shipping party caused all kinds of fun, which was in the hands of the new social committee, who are as follows, Mrs. McNeely, Miss McNeely, Mrs. Hartley, Mrs. Armitage, Miss Helm, Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. Partridge.

REBEKAHS

Hope Rebekah lodge No. 21 held its regular meeting Wednesday evening in Odd Fellows' hall with Mrs. Mary Adams noble grand in the chair. The Rebekah degree was exemplified on two candidates. Two new applications were received which will mean work for October. At the next meeting Sept. 17, the 73rd anniversary of the Rebekah degree will be observed by an entertainment. Under good of the order there will be a rehearsal of the degree team. It is hoped all members are are in the team will make a special effort to be on hand.

MRS. RIENZI ROBINSON GIVES WINDOWS TO CHURCH

Two windows to be unveiled and dedicated in the Congregational Church of Hampton Sunday, are in memory of Dr. Rienzi Robinson, the gift of his wife, Mrs. Marinda C. Butler Robinson, of Hudson, N. Y. The windows, which are designed as companion pieces, represent two familiar scenes from the life of Christ. The first shows the Saviour as the Good Shepherd protecting and caring for his sheep. On a broad heath at the sunset hour, sheep follow their master, who carries a young lamb in his arms. An effective cluster of iris with foliage, sets off the foreground. The key note of the color scheme is blue and violet, these colors predominating in the robe. A canopy with classic fluted columns surrounds the whole.

The subject for the second window is Christ Blessing Little Children. About the seated figure of Christ are several children, one presenting flowers while the smallest is seated on His knee. The scene shows an arch way with landscape beyond, while overhead twines a vine with rich foliage.

English antique glasses are employed throughout these windows, all of which are painted in mineral colors permanently fired in. The windows were executed and designed in Boston.

Dr. Robinson was born in Hampton, May 30, 1843 and had a desire early in life for the work of the medical profession and although he taught school for a time he ultimately entered Long Island College, Brooklyn, N. Y., and was graduated in 1868. Soon after he began his practice of medicine in Danielson, and for nearly half a century he was a physician in Danielson and surrounding towns, including Hampton.

At the service next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, Moriah Lodge of Masons, of Danielson, of which Dr. Robinson was master, will sit in a body while the window is unveiled. The Medical Society of Windham County, of which Dr. Robinson was president for a number of years, will also sit in a body. Mrs. Marinda Robinson will be present to unveil the windows and make the address of presentation, which will be responded to by Rev. A. Avery Gates, minister of the church.

HONORS IN COLORADO FOR FORMER NORWICH MAN

Of a former resident of Norwich, J. Allen Davis, who took up his home in Colorado many years ago, the Boulder (Col.) News-Herald of Aug. 24 said:

J. A. Davis will be the honor guest at an attractively appointed birthday dinner to be given tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Mapleton avenue and Eighth street. The dinner will celebrate the sixty-ninth anniversary of the host. Seated at the table will be Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Davis, Edwin G. Davis of Des Moines, Ia., Dr. and Mrs. Philip A. Davis and Philip Jr., of Boulder, Mr. and Mrs. Griffin Brant Hardy, Little Miss Alliene and Master Brant Hardy of Boulder, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur William Fitzgerald of Boulder, Mrs. Donald Andrew and little daughter, Arian, of Davenport, Ia.

The Davis home will be decorated with gladioli, gaillardia, roses and nasturtiums.

Mr. Davis is one of Boulder's most prominent pioneers, having lived here more than 46 years, and during that time has been identified with the business and civic progress of the city. He established the business in which he is now interested years after coming here. He is at present president of the school board and has been a member for seventeen years.

Mr. Davis came to Colorado from Norwich, Conn., and lived for a time in Longmont before coming to Boulder.

The News-Herald joins a host of friends in extending birthday greetings to one of Boulder's most prominent business men.

SURPRISE SHOWER WAS GIVEN AT CAMP

Thursday afternoon at Camp Joe on the Shetucket river, Baltic, a surprise shower was given for Miss Eva Malcolm of Washington street by her numerous friends, in view of her approaching marriage to William J. Shugrue of Hartford. The thirty friends in attendance were transported from Norwich to Baltic by machines, and thence to the camp by motor boats.

When Miss Malcolm arrived at the camp which looked entirely deserted, she was suddenly greeted by the girls who shouted and bestowed upon her, their best wishes for her future and everlasting happiness.

The gift presented to the bride to be, a complete aluminum kitchen set, by Miss Muriel Goldblatt, hostess for the afternoon, was indeed a most appreciated and useful one. Bathing, boating and numerous games were enjoyed throughout the afternoon, and as the moon came up and cast its mellow reflection upon the water, coffee was served and a weenie and a marshmallow roast followed.

The increased use of leather as a trimming material for dresses is one of the reasons cited for the unusually good business in women's belts this fall, a fact pleasing to merchants.

POETRY

A SONG OF THE FOUR SEASONS.

When Spring comes laughing
By vale and hill,
By wind-flower walking
And daffodil,—
Sing stars of morning,
Sing morning skies,
Sing blue of speedwell,—
And my Love's eyes.

When comes the Summer,
Full-leaved and strong,
And gay birds gossip
The orchard long,—
Sing hid, sweet honey
That no bee sips;
Sing red, red roses,—
And my Love's lips.

When Autumn scatters
The leaves again,
And piled sheaves burn
The broad-wheeled wain,—
Sing flutes of harvest
Where men rejoice;
Sing rounds of reapers,—
And my Love's voice.

But when comes Winter,
With hail and storm,
And red fire roaring,
And ingle warm,—
Sing first sad going
Of friends that part;
Then sing glad meeting,—
And my Love's heart.

—Austin Dobson

Shackle and shaft lie pitted in the [illegible]
Here, on the junk-yard floor

Here the worn flukes, now red [illegible] flaking rust.
Take hold no longer on the harbor

No more the driving brine shall wreck the stock
That now are given to the goat's rains;
And long-forgotten are the ocean-shock
That tried the stubborn chains

When heedful of the hidden rocks and spits,
The ironmasters' faith was pinned
Till, to the groaning of the windlass-bolt
The tempest broke and died.

Peace—peace! They have outworn the ancient needs.
And wait new anvils of the time to be
Change is upon our ventures and our deeds!
No change is on the sea.

Second Ditto—Never again! Just think! He refused to crash his car when I told him how badly I needed the advertising.—Boston Transcript.

"Well, have you fired the servant the lady who moved in across the street?" asked Mr. Tenspot.

"Not yet," replied his wife. "She has no car."

No?

No pom, no poke, no talking machine. I can't imagine what she can have.

Maybe they have a baby.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

There was a time when people used to say I had more money than sense, but they can't say that now.

Why not?

Because I have come down to the last copper.

But you've still got a copper.—Don Tit-Bits

An opulent-looking man came up to the curb in a car the [illegible] opulent-looking chauffeur [illegible] accosted by a small boy.

HERRIOT PROCLAIMS HIS VIEWS ON DISARMAMENT

BRAZIL FAVORABLE TO COMPULSORY ARBITRATION

Geneva, Sept. 7.—(By The A. P.)—[illegible] has joined with the other na- [illegible] in dedicating herself to the de- [illegible] expressed before the [illegible] of Nations assembly hence- [illegible] ment into the [illegible] compulsory arbitration [illegible] codification of international law [illegible] the ideals of humane society. A review of the first week of the assembly shows that despite the divergence of views as how best to remould the structure of international society, good will, conciliation and fraternity between peoples dominated the entire discussion. No word of hate was pronounced.

Speakers from all lands led by Premiers MacDonald and Herriot expressed their conviction that a new spirit was abroad in a changing world. Mr. MacDonald said to the correspondents: "And we will never really get peace until men like Herriot and myself put ourselves in each other's shoes and understand each other's geographical, economic and general national problems. We will never attain that concordance of mind which is the essential condition of world peace until MacDonald can speak as Herriot and Herriot as MacDonald."

M. Herriot said that he and Premier MacDonald for France and Great Britain had decided to exert all the influence which their respective national civilizations stand for in a conscious effort to reach results by assuming some responsibility in the settlement of international problems.

M. Herriot's declaration that all the powers must help in the New work assuming some responsibility was one of the outstanding features of the week's debate. PUZZLED OVER DEATH OF MAN ON A TRAIN

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Mystery surrounds the death of a Denver, Col., man, whose body was taken off the Lake Shore Limited when it reached the New York Central station here this morning. The man was described by traveling companions as William Ryan, of 1322 Downing avenue, Denver, an official of the Bricklayers union.

County officials are puzzled over the case. Authorities tonight failed to determine whether the death of the Denver man was due to an accident, which is the version given by persons who accompanied him, or whether he was robbed and beaten into unconsciousness, resulting in death from a fracture of the skull. Only $1.50 was found in the pockets of the victim.

Ryan, described as about 55 years old, was traveling in a smoking compartment with several companions. He was on his way to a trade union convention at Saratoga Springs. The party was carried in four Pullmans which were attached to the Limited at Chicago. There were more than 100 delegates in the group, all bricklayers on their way to the labor meeting.

According to the story of members of the delegation, Ryan met with an accident after the train left Cleveland, Ohio, at 3:08 this morning. One version of the fatality is that a sudden jerk of the train knocked Ryan off his balance, causing him to crash through a window of the compartment into the hallway of the car. Ryan, it was said, was subject to locomotor-ataxia and was not firm on his fet.

None of the delegates would admit they had witnessed the accident. Some of them hinted Ryan might have been the victim of a fight or an attack by enemies of long standing. This, however, was purely conjecture. Ryan was supposed to have at least $600 on his person but the fact that only $1.50 was found in his pockets added to the puzzle confronting the authorities.

TWO POLICEMEN DISCHARGED FOR "GUILTY KNOWLEDGE"

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 7.—Two men have been discharged from the West Virginia state police because of their "guilty knowledge", concerning the whipping of Hershel Barker, a youth by a booded mob in Boone county, August 22 it became known today through a statement issued by Jackson Arnold, superintendent of the department. The names of the two men dropped from the force were not revealed.

Superintendent Arnold declared in his statement that while the investigation into the whipping has declosed no evidence that would justify prosecution in the courts, "it did reveal on the part of two members of the department enough indication of guilty knowledge, that they were ordered brought to Charleston and were discharged from the department September 1."

Superintendent Arnold's action was taken after Governor Morgan had given instructions for the discharge of any member of the department who knew of any outrage and took no step to stop it.

Barker complained to authorities that he was taken from the home of his brother and severely whipped, after having been tied to a tree.

TRIED TO GET GLIMPSE OF PRINCE OF WALES

New York, Sept. 7.—Extra patrolmen were called out tonight to hold in check more than 2,500 persons who crowded in front of a theatre to get a glimpse of the Prince of Wales, who it was reported, would be a guest at a performance given by English actors and actresses for the benefit of a committee to provide milk for poor children.

The performance was under way, with the scheduled participants on hand, but the Prince of Wales, who had been invited as guest of honor, did not appear.

DAWES IS ARRANGING EXTENDED SPEAKING TOUR

Evanston, Ills., Sept. 7.—An address Thursday night at Milwaukee and a series of conferences with republican campaign managers to draft an extended speaking itinerary appeared today as the principal political activities for the week of Charles G. Dawes, republican candidate for vice president.

The week will be spent more or less by the nominee in preparations for the more intensive campaign which William Butler, republican national chairman and his aides have decided to inaugurate the middle of September. Officials of the republican campaign organization say they have endeavored purposely to let the campaign get under way slowly so that the final weeks of the contest will see it steadily gathering momentum rather than being held at a high point reached several weeks in advance of election day.

Mr. Dawes in line with that policy has made to date only three addresses. He plans to speak on the La Follette independent movement on Thursday at Milwaukee, and then will make several addresses on specific topics, including one speech on establishment of a federal budget system, before launching into any general discussion of all of the more important issues.

The vice presidential nominee has indicated to republican campaign managers that he would prefer to make only one speech a week and that after careful preparation and under conditions whereby it could be broadcast by radio over a large section of the country. Requests for speeches by Mr. Dawes have been received in such numbers at the office in Chicago of Representative Sanders of Indiana, head of the national committee's speakers' bureau, that the conferences to follow the return to Chicago this week of Chairman Butler are expected, however, to result in abandonment by Mr. Dawes of his desire at the request of the campaign managers.

Mr. Butler indicated several days ago in New York that Mr. Dawes would be asked to undertake a speaking trip to the Pacific coast. It also has been intimated that the vice presidential nominee would make speches in Pennsylvania and New York. Party leaders in Minnesota and the Dakotas have asked that he appear in those states to explain the republican stand on the agricultural problem: an informal agreement was reached a month ago that he make three speeches in Indiana. Urgent requests have been made that he speak in Kentucky and Tennessee and leaders in the southwest recognizing that it will be impossible for President Coolidge to visit their states, have sent in calls for General Dawes.

WHEELER TO CAMPAIGN IN NORTHERN NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 17.—Senator Wheeler of Montana, vice presidential candidate of the La Follette ticket, left New York early tonight, intent on pushing forward his stumping tour through northern New York during the coming week. He was not willing to rest all day Sunday, and accepted an invitation from the New York leaders of his organization today to attend two afternoon gatherings in city suburbs.

A boat trip up the Hudson river tonight to Albany was the beginning of the tour continuation Senator Wheeler's itinerary for Monday scheduled an address at noon, in Troy; another in Schenectady, at 7.115 p. m., and a third in Albany at 8.45. Tuesday, he will meet an audience in Utica at noon, and a second at Watertown at night. Two day meetings have been planned for Wednesday at Syracuse, while the latter part of the week he will work westward.

A noval feature of political campaigning was introduced into Senator Wheeler's meetings towards the ends of his first week tour, when committee workers af his organization began soliciting and collceting funds befor or after his appearance. Money to support national, state and local efforts was regularly sought, and the practice will be continued

Conferences with party organizers have tended to elate Senator Wheeler, he has repeatedly declared over the prospects of support for hte ticket which he heads wlas La Follette.

DIED FROM INJURIES INFLICTED ON TRAIN

Syracuse, Sept. 7.—William Ryan, Denver, Colo., died on the Lakeshore Limited train east of Rochester, this morning, from a fracture of the skull, caused in a manner not definitely explained when the train arrived in Syracuse.

Ryan was on his way to Saratoga Springs to attend a national convention of bricklayers. He was said to have fallen in his compartment and to have been treated at West Cleveland, Ohio, for lacerations of the face.

Upon the arrival of the train here, the body was removed to the morgue and an examination disclosed the fracture of the skull. There was no evidence, it was said, that Ryan had used any alcoholic liquor. It was understood that one man, also on his way to the Saratoga gathering, occupied the compartment with Ryan. Officials did not learn his name.

Ryan lapsed into unconsciousness before the train reached Rochester.

KILLED BY EXPLOSION ON GASOLINE TANKER

Bayonne, N. J., Sept. 7.—An explosion of unknown origin in the engine room of the gasoline tanker, Texaco here today killed Martin F. Ballou of Bayonne, chief engineer of the vessel, and James Pigott of Gloucester, N. C., assistant engineer. Members of the fire department worked several hours to extinguish the burning oil. Damage to the ship is estimated at $5,000.

Hartford Fireman Overcome by Smoke

Assistant Fire Chief Dahill Died and Mary Dybeck Died Later in St. Francis Hospital.

Hartford, Sept. 7—Assistant Fire Chief J. Dahill, 53 years old, and Mary Dybeck, 21 years old, were overcome in a fire at 43 Forest street early this morning. Both died shortly later at St. Francis hospital. The fire broke out in one of the rooms of the home of A. G. Merrow at 3:39 in the morning and spread thrpugh a number of rooms in the building.

Today was to have been one of the happiest days in Mary Dybeck's life. She had become engaged to John Johnson, of 10 Chadwick avenue, her sweetheart of three years who had come over with her to this country about a year ago from their native Sweden, and they were to have picked an apartment in the city today in preparation for the day next month when they would be married.

But Mary and her fiance did not make the search which was to have meant so much to them. A fire broke out early this morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Merrow of 34 Forest street, where she was employed as a maid. As she lay asleep, smoke seeped into her attic room from the floor below and almost suffocated her. She was removed from the room but died on the way to the hospital.

On the floors below firemen were combatting a hard fire and had succeeded in keeping the flames within the confines of two rooms From outside came cries for help. Captain John E. Carey, who was directing his men upstairs rushed to the lawn. Assistant Fire Chief Daniel J. Dahill had been overcome for the second time in the fire. The firemen ministered such treatment as they could, but Deputy Chief Dahill died on the way to the hospital.

The fire, according to Second Deputy Chief Robert H. Ramsden, who made an investigation, did damage estimated at over $5,000 to the building. In addition the fire did great damage to household goods and paintings. Deputy Chief Ramsden could not determine the cause of the fire, which started in a room on the second floor. The loss was covered by insurance.

Everyone in the house was asleep when the fire started. Mr. Merrow was awakened by the smell of smoke which had entered his room and set about arousing the household. In the house at the time were also Mr. Merrow their daughter, Mrs. John F. Landon, of New York city, the latter's child, Elizabeth, and the maid, Miss Dybeck. The family left the house by a back stairway but in the confusion the maid was overlooked.

While the firemen were engaged in their work, a member of the Merrow family informed firemen that Miss Dybeck was in the attic room on the third floor. A ladder was raised to the girl's room and Lieutenant William J. Glynn and Fireman William Hayes went to the rescue. Lieutenant Glynn on reaching the window of the attic room found it locked and smashed it. The girl was asleep on her bed with a book and box of chocolates at her side. She was brought down to the lawn in front of the house and later taken ot St. Francis hospital.

Assistant Chief Dahill came to the fire to help the other firemen when he learned that it was a very serious one. He went into the building but was compelled in a short while to leave it. Recovering his breath on the stairs of the house, he went into the building again and once more he was forced out by the smoke and heat. He staggered down the stairs and collapsed on the lawn in front of the building. Firemen wrapped him up in blankets and tried to revive him, but he was too far gone and died in the ambulance which was taking him and Miss Dybeck to the hospital.

Assistant Chief Dahill had been in the fire department thirty two years and was eligible for retirement two years ago, but chose to continue his work. Several weeks ago he helped extinguish a dangerous fire in a warehouse in which several firemen were overcome. Assistant Chief Dahill himself was nearly overcome, but persisted in going into the building. He suffered ill effects later but did not stay away from the station.

KLAN THE PREDOMINATING ISSUE IN MAINE ELECTION

Portland, Me., Sept. 7.—The contest for governor, waged largely over the Ku Klux Klan issue, has overshadowed everything else in the campaign for the biennial state election in Maine tomorrow. William R. Pattangall, former state attorney general, the democratic nominee, has emphasized this issue in all his campaign speeches, pointing to the fact that State Senator Ralph O. Brewster, the republican candidate, was supported by the Klan in his primary campaign. Mr. Brewster, however, has made his election campaign on national issues.

Because of the interest aroused in this contest a heavy vote is expected. Two years ago when Mr. Pattangall also was the democratic nominee for governor he was defeated by Percival P. Baxter, republican, by a margin of 28,457 votes and the combined vote of the two candidates was 178,969 four years ago the republicans elected their candidate for governor by a plurality of 65,346 and in November of that year Harding carried the state for president by 67,049.

United States Senator Bert M. Fernald and all of the four congressmen from Maine have been renominated by the republicans. In the congressional contests two years ago the closest vote was in the Second district where Congressman Wallace H. White Jr., received a plurality of 3,569 over Bertrand G. McIntire, who is also the democratic nominee this year. Senator Fernald's democratic opponent is Fulton J. Redman, who at one time was elected to the state legislature as a republican.

Pleading guilty to two hundred and sixty charges of embezzling approximately $1,000,000 from his clients, William F. Wegley, a former attorney of Greensburg, Pa., was sentenced by Judge William Dom to serve from 25 to 50 years in the western penitentiary.

Fighting Continues Near Shanghai, China

Upwards of 500 Men Have Been Brought to the Hospitals in Shanghai—Fighting Day and Night.

Shanghai, Sept. 7 (By the A. P.)—Engagements were reported today in all sectors, including Changhaig, in Chekiang province, about 100 miles southwest of Shanghai, and Huchachen, in Kiangsu province, on the west shore of Taihu lake, 90 miles west of Shanghai, but the major struggle centered on the small town of Liuho, on the sea coast barely 30 miles to the northwest of Shanghai.

An eye-witness returning tonight from Liuho, reported that the Chekiang troops were withstanding all attacks, though the Kiangsu line has been advanced about a mile just south of Liuho. The deserted town was under heavy shell fire and continuous machine gun and rifle fire on both sides. General Ho Feng-Ling, defense commissioner of Shanghai under Lu Yung-Hsien, the governor of Chekiang, spent the day in this sector, personally directing the Chekiang army.

The Chekiang dead and wounded there today numbered about 200. The number of casualties continues out of proportion to the tremendous amount of firing. The eye witness related the haphazard methods of the front lines, saying that the soldiers were discharging rifles and even field pieces without aiming, often simply pointing them at the sky.

Lungwha headquarters of the Chekiang army claimed new gains along the railway. Desperate attacks were aimed at Anting.

Only the meagerest reports were received of the fighting west and southwest of Taihu lake, where the KiKangsu troops were said to be drifting for the Sungkiang-Hangshow railway.

The Chekiang Lungwha headquarters had not confirmed reports that two whole battalions of Kiangsu troops had deserted and joined the enemy, bringing with them their arms and equipment. Neither were the Shanghai settlement police able to confirm the rumor that Kiangsu supporters were secretly recruiting in Shanghai a regiment of "riff-raff" to strike at the rear of the Chekiang army as soon as the Kiangsu forces score gains against Woosung, a suburb.

PEACE PLAN PRIZE WON BY E. A. FILENE OF BOSTON

Boston, Sept. 7.—The peace plan which won the first prize of 1,000 pounds in the British peace award competition, inaugurated by Edward A. Filene, of Boston, was made public today. The keynote of the plan was the strengthening of the league of nations, and the necessity for settling post-war financial problems through acceptance of the Dawes plan and other measures. The British award, in which $10,000 in prizes was offered, for which 4,700 plans were submitted, was one of a group of competitions held in four countries, including France, Germany and Italy. The French winning plan was announced last week. The identity of the winners in the competitions will be announced later.

In addition to the league proposals which include partial reorganization of the league into local groups and the bringing in of non-members, the plan calls for a special conference to fixe reparations which could be paid in a suggested period of 116 years, Britain relinquishing its share of receipts and reduction of inter-allied debts to be arranged. A treaty of mutual assistance by the European group, armament reduction, fixxation of currencies on a new level and the removal of trade restrictions in Europe were also suggested.

The second prize plan, receiving an an award of 250 pounds sterling, huggests a disarmament conference: the redrafting of the treaty of mutual assistance in the light of comments by governments: entry of Germany to the league with a seat on the council and the entry of Turkey and Russia to the league. The second plan, agrees with the first in suggesting improved treatment of minorities. Acceptance and application of the Dawes report is suggested with a proposal for a conference on inter-allied debts. Great Britain to provisionally offer to remit sums owed her by allied nations. The plan proposes general de jure recognition of Russia.

RAILROADS SHOW DECREASE IN REVENUES AND EXPENSES

Washington, Sept. 7.—Operating revenues and expenses of class one railroads each fell off more than ten per cent. in July as compared with July last year, the bureau of railway economics declared today in a statement giving detailed statistics. Class one roads represent a total of 235,725 miles of line.

Operating revenues for July were $481,296,200, a decresae of $54,714,400,on 10.2 per cent. from July, 1323.

Expenses were cut by $45,037.000 to $369,711,000 a reduction of 10.9 per cent.

Twenty-seven of the lines operated at a loss in July, the bureau reported, as compared with 38 lines in June.

The decrease in operating revenues, the bureau announced was due principally to a falling off of coal and ore traffic and a general decrease in all freight traffic from the July, 1923 level.

ANDERSON IS TEACHING SING SING PRISON SCHOOL

Ossining, Sept. 7.—Because of the recent death of one of Sing Sing's teachers, William H. Anderson, former State Anti-Saloon league superintendent, and now a prisoner, is to take up teaching in the prison school and may become inmate head ow the faculty, it was announced at the prison today.

WORLD GIRDLERS ARE TO FLY BOSTON TO NEW YORK TODAY

Are to Take Off From the Hub at Noon—The World Fliers Are to Be Preceded by an Aerial Escort of Three Planes—They are to Stop in New York Overnight and Then Proceed to Washington—40,000 Persons Were Massed at the Airport Field in Boston Saturday to Welcome the Aviators.

Boston, Sept. 7—(By the A. P.)—The army airmen who have only to cross this continent to complete their flight arduond the world, by working from sun-up to sun-down today, had their planes on wheels again tonight for the short hop to New York tomorrow. "It should be plain sailing from now on" the flight commander, Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, remarked, adding that although no new itinerary had been worked out it was expected to make the series of flights to Seattle inside of 10 days.

Sunday was just another day of work for the flyers, and they showed in constant personal attention to details here the same spirit of sticking to the job until it was done that brought notice from airmen aboard. Major A Stuart MacLaren, the British flyer whose attempt to girdle the globe met with failure, spent much of the day with them, exchanging ideas as the American officers tested a wire, pumped oil into bearings, buckled on a new under-carriage, or swabbed off plane surfaces.

With everything ship-shape for tomorrow's flight, Lieut. Smith said the world cruisers would take off from the Boston airport at noon for New York to arrive at Mitchel Field at 3 p. m. They will fly first to Providence, R. I., thence along the shore over New London, New Haven and Bridgeport and along the shores of Long Island sound to New York. They will circle over the city at a height of about 2500 feet, then swing back to Mitchel Field, L. I.

The world fliers will be preceded by an aerial escort of three planes, headed by Major-General Mason M. Patrick, chief of air service and several other planes will accompany them also, bringing up the rear.

They will stop in New York only overnight, probably moving on to Washington Tuesday. The exact route to be followed to Seattle is still uncertain. The world cruisers will stop at Dayton, Ohio, Chicago, St. Joseph, Mo., and Omaha, Neb., thence they will fly either to North Platte, Neb., or Cheyenne, Wyo., and the route to Seattle will be worked out accordingly.

After concluding the world circumnavigation at Seattle, the planes will be flown by the world flyers or other pilots to Los Angeles or San Diego. The army air service is now considering proposals for disposition of the planes to the cities for which they were named, but it was said another request that the flag plans Chicago be presented to the Smithsonian Institute as an historical exhibit was under consideration also.

The airmen who had been up at 4 a. m., and at the airport at 5:30 to take advantage of high tide, went to work swabbing and rubbing, pulling pins and checking struts, painting undercarriages and oiling the engines. There was some discussion of the plans to pull out the present motors at Mitchel field tomorrow, and the airmen indicated that they felt such a change was unnecessary.

An impromptu officers' mess was arranged in a hangar when it was found the flyers were not going to take advantage of General Patrick's suggestion of a "day off," and they sat down to army chow with Major H. A. Dargue and officers of the airport. They were back on the job again in a few minutes, and it was close to 7 p. m., before they left their "ships" for their hotel.

The world flyers were so much impressed by the reception they received here yesterday, when 40,000 persons massed on the airport field to meet them, that they cried. Major Dargue said today that three of the men wept as he escorted them to a speaking stand.

PRINCE OF WALES TO WELCOME WORLD FLIERS

Syosset, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The Prince of Wales probably will accompany Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, to Mitchel field tomorrow afternoon to welcome the round-the-world flyers, it was said today at the James A. Burden home, the prince's vacation residence. Since Sir Esme will appear in an official capacity on behalf of the British government, he and not the prince will be the king's representative; thus the prince will be able to avoid any deviation from his resolve to appear only in his personal and private role on the present visit.

Captain A. F. Lascelles, the prince's secretary, said that it was virtually certain that the royal heir would not prolong his visit in order to see the third of the international polo matches, which will be played next week. Even should the American team lose one of the matches this week, making the third the decisive one, it is highly improbable that the prince would alter his schedule which calls for departure from Long Island next Sunday for New London, Conn., thence to Montreal and Calgary, Alta.

His royal highness did not retire until after 5 o'clock this morning. He arose before noon, however, and at mid-day went to the Meadow Brook Hunt club, near the Burden estate, to look at the hounds and the hunters.

After luncheon at the Burden home at which he was host to Sir Esme Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stoddard, their daughter, Betty, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark, the prince took a motor ride. C. A. Coffin, president of the General Electric Co., later paid a call on the prince.

Sir Esme entertained the royal party, the 14 British and American polo players and their wives, Secretary of War Weeks, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, J. Butler Wright, third assistant secretary of state, and General Pershing, at a dinner tonight at the Piping Rock club at Locust Valley.

The prince did only a moderate amount of dancing at the party at the Clarence H. Mackay home in Roslyn last night. Dancing did not start until nearly midnight and the prince left at 2:30 a. m. Beside Miss Ellen Mackay he danced with the Duchess of Westminster, Mrs. Augustus Belmont, Mrs. Kenneth Brigh and Mrs. Henry P. Russell.

GERMANY TO RETRACT ITS CONFESSION OF WAR GUILT

Berlin, Sept. 7—(By the A. P.)—Official quarter today would neither admit nor deny the receipt of protests from Premiers Mussolini and Herriot against the alleged pending proclamation by the German government of a confession of war guilt. At the foreign office it was stated that the matter could not be discussed at present, contrary to traditional practice, public reference to diplomatic negotiations which may be in progress or impending.

The Berlin press continues to print versions of the reported protests, despatches from Geneva voicing doubt in designating the source, and throughout Germany a movement to protest the alleged intention is present manifesting a highly indignant spirit in German political and business circles.

George Bernard Shaw sends the following message to the Vossische Zeitung: "The effect of the impending retrograde step in Germany before the European premiers is most painfully obvious and is going to cause the complete moral and political isolation of Germany in Europe and throughout the world."

Herr Bernhard from the Stresemann to desist from dispatching the proposed note to the signatories of the Versailles treaty.

According to Newspapers' Geneva correspondent the news that the German government intended to send a note repudiating war guilt caused general stupification and the Premiers Macdonald and Herriot, former Premier Branting of Sweden and Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, warned Germany against committing such an act of folly.

Apparently these warnings have not been without effect for up to the present it is understood the government has not sent the note and has made no final decision whether it will be sent, though omission to do so would cause wrath on the part of the nationalists.

An official denial is issued of the report that Chancellor Marx has sent a letter to Premier Herriot regarding Germanys admission to the league. Nothing is likely to be done in the matter before the reichstag has been consulted.

CONNECTICUT TO HAVE A KU KLUX KLAN NEWSPAPER

Hartford, Sept. 7—A Ku Klux Klan newspaper as a step toward thoroughly "kluxing" Connecticut is to be started soon in this state it was learned today. Following the initiation meeting at the Hi-Jinx farm in Glastonbury Saturday when the sizeable open air ceremonies of the order in Hartford county an organizer will open an office in Hartford tomorrow to receive applications for membership in the Klan. The next initiation or "naturalization" ceremony will be held near New Haven October 4 and at this time all the publicity work will be in charge of the women's branches of the order. This is said to be the first time in the history of the klan in Connecticut that the women have had complete charge of an initiation.

H. T. Ludderman, Kligrapp of Connecticut and Rhode Island, who has recently returned from a conference at national headquarters has announced that the Riders of the Red Robe an organization affiliated with the Klan membership in which is open to foreign-born citizens has no connection with the American [illegible] Membership in this [illegible] white Protestant Gentile [illegible] born in the United States or a native country. United States citizenship is not a prerequisite for membership.

There will be a meeting of the klan officers at state headquarters Monday morning at which time the results of the meeting Saturday night will be discussed and it is understood that Dr. Calvin A. Johnson grand speaker at the Haling farm meeting will be censured for some of his remarks which reflected upon the Roman Catholic religion.

NEW HAVEN MAN COMMITTED SUICIDE IN BATH ROOM

New Haven, Sept. 7—Jesse Long 50 years old, of 55 Whitney street was found dead in the bathroom of his home early this morning by his wife who traced the odor of escaping gas to that room. Medical Examiner Marvin M. Scarbrough who made an investigation stated that it was a suicide case and that Long died from inhaling poisonous gas.

According to Mrs. Long's story to the police, her husband came home about 4 o'clock this morning and walked into the bathroom, closing and locking the door. The body was found at 7 o'clock after the door had been broken down. Long had placed a blanket along the bottom of the door. He had been out of work for some time and is said to have worried over the conduct of two daughters.

WILLIMANTIC

A mild sensation, expressed with some applause and cheering, was caused along Main street here, Sunday afternoon at 1.30, when Motorcycle Officer Grant Bombria was seen driving a sadly dilapidated gray horse drawing a worn express buggy, in which were several empty milk cans. The officer changed mounts from his motorcycle to the buggy at the corner of Dunham and Ives streets, in the lower village, after receiving a complaint that the team was blocking traffic at the junction. The outfit was taken to Doubleday's to await the claim of its owner.

The civic committee with Acting Mayor George W. Hickey chairman, met here last week to draw up rentative plans for the local observance of National Defense Day, Friday, Sept. 12. Outstanding in the arrangements are a street parade and patriotic exercises at the state armory on Pleasant street in the evening. Dr. W. P. Keating will be marshal of the parade which is scheduled to start at 6:45 o'clock and which will include all local organizations, military, civic and fraternal. A special effort will be made to have the largest number possible of ex-service men appear in the ranks. Women societies and associations will also be invited to participate. The exercises at the armory will consist of patriotic singing and music and an address on Preparedness. The committee in charge of this program is headed by Chairman James J. Lee and comprises Captain Joseph H. Morrison, Russell A. Andrews, Frank P. Fenton and Thomas J. Kelley. No selection has as yet been made of the orator for the occasion. School children will be invited to attend the exercises and the Woman's Relief Corps has voted to donate small flags to them. There was some discussion on the appropriateness of the day for the presentation to the World War veterans of the bronze memorial tablet, but it was decided that this should be done by the town on a day especially designated for that purpose.

The board of directors of the United Music company, in session at Boston, Friday, unanimously confirmed the appointment of George D. Noel of this city to the managership of the local store of the company. Mr. Noel was recommended by David M. Feldman, retiring manager. Mr. Noel has been highly successful during four years of connection with the sales force at the store here and for several months past he has been assistant manager at the New London store. He will assume his new duties October 1 when Mr. Feldman leaves for Fall River, Mass.

Mrs. Leboria Woodworth Blondtine, 44, died Friday evening at the Hartford hospital, after being ill for one week. She leaves her husband, Leboria Blondtine, her mother, Mrs. Julia Woodworth, and three daughters, Mrs. William Heether, Miss Mildred Jacobs and Miss Sandey Blondtine, three sons, Raymond, Lawrence and Walter Jacobs, and one sister, Miss Nellie Woodworth and three brothers, Frank, Harry and Fred Woodworth, all of this city.

Ten veterans of last season's crack eleven and some twenty-six raw candidates made up the promising material with which Coach T. A. Callaghan was presented, at his call for the first out-door football practice of the year, at Recreation Park, last week. The season opens Sept. 27 and the mentor lost little time in sprucing up the squad and giving the last year men some drilling in the rudiments of forward pass plays. "Dud" Burr, one of the outstanding figures in the aerial attack of last season's championship team, is among the missing this year and his great field generalship will be a loss. Others who became familiar heads, but have now gone to other fields are: H. Heller, fullback; Harold Simonds, center and captain last year, and Sammy Israel, tackle. Watson A. Burton is captain this year and the veterans backing him are Tommy Meikle, Jackie Nichols, Arnold Storrs, Wilkinson, Johnson, Buck, Lawrence Haggerty and Parker Smith.

The funeral of Harland F. Thompson was held Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock from his home in Eagleville. Rev. Leonard Smith conducted the services. Burial was in the Gurley cemetery. Arrangements were by Avery & VanZandt.

Charles Barrett of this city, who was given the sport touring car at the Elks' Country Fair, held only one book (six tickets). During the engagement he lost the stubs but they were found and returned to him the concluding night of the fair. A few hours before the award was made on Monday night he threw his tickets in a stove in the store of Joseph Osso on Jackson street, remarking that he did not have any chance. There was a fire in the stove and Mr. Osso wisely recovered the tickets and held them for Barrett who was the most surprised man in seven states before the night ended.

Local people attending the Rotary fall conclave at the Hotel Griswold, Eastern Point, Friday, included: Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Dodge, Dr. and Mrs. M. D. Riordan, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Ahern, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Bath, Acting Mayor and Mrs. George W. Hickey, Dr. and Mrs. William E. Hendry, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Mustard, A. Linn Weatherhead, G. Everett Harrington and Albert B. Smith.

A luncheon was held at the summer home of Miss Anna Beardow, at Pine Grove, Niantic, recently by the auction club of which Mrs. John L. Leonard is leader and which is composed of Coventry and local women. The party went by automobiles owned by Mrs. R. C. White and Mrs. Fannie Tracy. Miss Beardow held high score at auction.

The annual visitation of state officers was made, at a special meeting of Willimantic Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Sunday afternoon at the quarters on Main street. The visitors were John Donnelly of Bristol, state president; Major Edward T. Lyons of Hartford, state treasurer, and Judge James F. Twomey, Windham county, president of the order.

A Ford truck driven by Armand Hurteau, was struck a glancing blow by one of the A. Sussman Coal company's trucks on Park street early Saturday morning as the first machine was making a turn into the yard of the driver's home on Park street. The Ford was slightly damaged and Mr. Sussman agreed to settle all claims. The matter was reported to the police.

A revival of the republican club of the town of Windham is projected by local G. O. P. party men, who are preparing to launch a vigorous political campaign here. Town committee members are distributing a paper for signatures to boost the membership of the club and report much success.

JEWETT CITY

Sunday morning at the Methodist church a new communion table was received by the trustees of the church. It was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Howe, in memory of Mr. Howe's parents, who were prominent in the early history of this church. The table is of walnut. In memoriam being inscribed on the front, and bearing a gold plate with the words: "In memory of Daniel and Mary Ann Howe." George H. Thornton received the gift for the trustees.

Mrs. Charles R. Carey, 38, died Saturday at her home on Soule street, after a long period of illness. Mrs. Carey was born in Wapping, Conn., June 25, 1886, the daughter of Arthur and Ada Frost Skinner. She was married in Hartford by Rev. Rodney Roundy to Charles R. Carey, July 14, 1910. Mr. and Mrs. Carey came in 1912 to Jewett City, where Mr. Carey has a drug store. Mrs. Carey before her marriage was a milliner, conducting an establishment in Hartford. She was a woman of most generous disposition, times without number helping in many ways, people who were in need or trouble, and always generous to her friends. Besides her husband she is survived by her father who is blind and lives in Hartford, a sister Mrs. Alice Caswell, in Alhambra, California, and a brother, Ernest Skinner, in Providence.

The Fashion Show to be given by Porteous and Mitchell here again will be welcomed with pleasure by the women of this vicinity. It is to be hoped that no children will be allowed, as last season's experience was enough to show the inadvisability of admitting them.

The Lyric Dance Orchestra of Willimantic, finished playing a successful season at Ashland Casino Labor Day. Their many patrons will miss them on their departure, as both good music and conduct has been appreciated, by those attending the dances this summer. In addition to the regular public dances, this orchestra has played for the Girls' Club, Eastern Connecticut Rotary, and the local K. of C. Welfare Superintendent Chase is commended by all for his efforts and assistance in promoting the various public activities at Ashland during the summer.

No summer of recent record has established such radical changes in temperature. During the latter part of Saturday night the mercury dropped to 42, only ten degrees above the frost line. One week ago, Aug. 31 was one of the hottest days of summer with this section sweltering at 100 in the shade.

Sunday Sept. 7, people went to church with winter wraps, and those who took automobile rides, were bundled in cloaks and overcoats.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Finn, Jr., of Jewett City had as their guests the past week Misses Elsie and Minnie Foster, of Providence, Mrs. Nellie Nichols of Norwich and her niece, Miss Hope Nichols, East Providence.

Not quite fifty years ago this month the late Albert Babcock ran his famous race against time. Clark W Reynolds, now of Meriden, laid out the track. From the railroad crossing at Lisbon, the measured mile ended at Mr. Tate's house, which stood at about the place now occupied by F. D. Ballou's driveway gate, in Sylvandale. Mr. Reynolds tied a handkerchief around the rim of his wagon wheel, which in a revolution covered 15 feet, and thus the 5,280 feet were correctly measured. There were two men in the wagon to carefully count each turn of the wheel.

When the day arrived, excitement had reached fever heat. Mr. Babcock, a fast sprinter of this times, had said he could run a mile in five minutes. More money was bet on the result, than on any other village occurrence possibly excepting the memorable political contest for town representative, between Mr. Reynolds, democrat and the late G. A. Haskell, republican.

Some stationed themselves at the start, but the great crowd was at the finish tape. All alogn the mile of the roadway track, men and boys were placed to cheer the runner on, as he rushed, straining, down the stretch. It was a great run, and will never pass out of the memory of those there to see. Mr. Babcock failed by a few seconds to complete the mile in five minutes.

PLAINFIELD

At the semi-final meet of the Plainfield Rifle and Gun club, Saturday afternoon, some of the best scores for the season were made. As this meet is near the end of the season a large crowdgathered at the club to try their are before the hunting season, which opens next month.

The following scores were made:

Gorman 24; Dr. Adams 24; "Pop" Williams 24; Dr. Chase 22; Babcock 22; C. D. Salisbury 21; Moffit 21; Bradford 19; Lester Salisbury 119; Dawley 17; Lem Salisbury 17; Cantwell 15; Crocker 115; Cook 12; Burke 10; Marcurelle 6; Metcalf 4; Winson 3; Holmes 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pelletier and family received word from Mrs. Peletier's home that her father, Mr. Barber, of Natick, R. I., died Sunday morning. The family will attend the funeral Tuesday.

The lights went out again Friday night and the D. & P Co. is doing its utmost to give this section service.

The slogan in Plainfield is They don't wait for the storm now, they turn off the light when they see the clouds.

Some citizens are threatening to install individual power stations.

It not only causes inconvenience in the residential district, but in the business section it causes a great loss.

The light company had their men trimming trees on Babcock avenue Saturday morning. That was their reason for poor service. All hope that this will be remedied.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kelly spent Sunday with friends in Ocean Beach.

Ovilas Charon and family have returned after spending a week with relatives in Taftville.

ALLING CO. STORE, NEW LONDON, ROBBED OF SPORTING GOODS SUNDAY

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, Sept. 7—This evening it was discovered that the store of the Alling Rubber Co., 162 State street, had been entered and a quantity of sporting goods stolen. The plunder taken includes nine sweaters, six referees whistles, 5 footballs, 12 baseballs and a baseball glove. The break was perpetrated between 10 o'clock this forenoon and 7 o'clock this evening the thieves going to the rear of the building through a yard on Golden street, adjoining the Crocker House. After entering the yard the thieves were forced to scale a fence to get to the rubber company's store A window was forced and it was then easy for the crooks to enter and gather the sporting equipment which is in the rear of the store. William Crawford, a clerk in the store, was in the building at 10 o'clock and at that time everything there was undisturbed.

Floyd Mitchell, colored, proprietor of a pool room and club at 15 Atlantic street, brought about his own arrest early this morning and as a result of his act he will be prosecuted in the police court tomorrow morning charged with conducting a gaming house. Mitchell furnished a surety on his bond for his court appearance. Shortly after 2 o'clock James Wigg, also colored of New York, who claims to sell "gamblers' insurance" visited the police station and for the purpose of determining whether a set of dice he displayed were loaded. He declared that he had visited the place of Mitchell and in rolling the dice he had been relieved of $290 and he had every reason to believe that the dice were not legitimate ivories, but had been loaded. Lieut. Beebe informed Wigg that the former was not an expert on gambling equipment, but that if Wigg desired Mitchell's arrest on a gaming charge the club room proprietor would be taken into custody. Wigg stated that he did not want Mitchell arrested, but he did want to know whether the dice were loaded. Wigg evidently left the police station to obtain the desired information for he went to the Joptha house, Bank street, a colored lodging house, where he was found by Mitchell after the police had gone to the colored club room on orders of Lieut. Beebe to look the place over Mitchell demanded of Wigg an explanation of the latter's insinuation and when a satisfactory explanation was not forthcoming, Mitchell communicated with the police and demanded Wigg's arrest, that the club room proprietor might be vindicated in court. Mitchell was accommodated for the latter was arrested charged with maintaining a gambling resort on Wigg's statement that he had gambled and had lost $200 in a crap game; Wigg was held on a charge of frequenting. Wigg was unable to secure a surety on his bond and was held pending the convening of court.

Frank Dawson, employed on a yacht, was taken into custody this evening by Sergeant Nelson Smith, charged with non-support by his wife, who resides in Newark, N. J. A warrant for Dawson's arrest was received in New London two weeks ago, but at that time the yacht upon which Dawson is employed was not in port. The craft returned here today and Dawson's arrest followed.

The police speed automobile in passing through Pequot avenue late this afternoon struck and killed a dog, the owner of which is not known.

At a special town meeting of the borough of Groton, Friday night, attended by a representative number of taxpayers, it was voted to purchase 400 acres of land of Charles A. Thompson for water shed purposes. The price involve dis $11,000. The meeting also voted to borrow a sufficient sum of money to take up loans of $150,000, which will become due Oct. 1.

Abraham Hirsch and Nathan Miller, of Boston, the latter in business as the Canton Manufacturing company, were associated in the manufacture of clothing for a considerable time in this city, their business place being the Burr building, corner of Montauk avenue and Bank street where trousers were turned out in thousands and sent over the world, the Marshall Field company of Chicago being one of the customers supplied. These parties are no longer associated and Miller is suing Hirsch for embezzlement alleging that he used cloth which was sent to him by Miller, not paying for it nor producing trousers that were forwarded to Miller as his property. The machines in the manufacturing establishment were owned in part by both Miller and Hirsch. The goods, khaki cloth, distinguished by the number 116, was sold to Miller and sent by the seller, the Columbia Textile mills at Lowell, Mass., to New London and delivered to Hirsch. This is admitted by Hirsch and Joseph Reilly came here from the Columbia mills to show the shipment by the New Haven railroad and the receipt by Hirsch, as shown by the way bills attached to the shipment. The cloth shipped would have made 660 odd dozen trousers, the allowance of cloth being 30 yards for each dozen of trousers produced. Hirsch made the cloth into garments, but the claim is that he did not send to Miller nor account for 74 dozen of the trousers and this is what he is sued for. Miller and Hirsch broke off their business relations in June last, when the shortage was claimed by Miller and denied by Hirsch. Miller claims that there was an agreement that every inch of the cloth should be accounted for, while Hirsch falls back on a custom in the trade by which he was allowed 30 yards of cloth for making of every dozen of the trousers. If he could cut the trousers so that he would not use all the 30 yards per dozen, what he saved of the cloth belonged to him, to be used as he saw fit. He says he did save thus and from the saved cloth he manufactured trousers which he sold to others. He says he might have sold them to Miller had he so desired and that Miller would be in duty bound to pay him for them. Hirsch did sell the trousers to others than Miller. He wrote to A. Cramer of Norwich that he had trousers for sale and told him that the goods could be bought for less than cost. Cramer bought them and paid Hirsch for them. Hirsch admitted in court that the statement that he was to sell the trousers at a price "less than cost" was a falsehood and that he resorted to that statement to get rid of the goods. He declared that such statements were usual to the trade, but that they really meant nothing. He intimated that no one was deceived by such statements, for everyone knew that goods were not being sold for less than they cost. There was letters introduced in evidence at the trial which Miller would not admit were genuine. They were typewritten on the authorized letter paper of the Miller house, but he denied that the signatures to them were genuine and denied that he signed them. He also declared that the initials of the typist who wrote the letters were those of his stenographer, or typist, and said he did not know who wrote the letter which claimed that he had checked up the Hirsch statement and that it was "O. K." Indeed he denied most of what Hirsch claimed.

The court could not see how Miller, a jobber, could allow Hirsch enough of the cloth to make some 75 dozen pairs of trousers and pay him the price he asked for the manufacture of the goods, so Hirsch was held for trial in the superior court at the term which begins next January. He was held in a bond of $1,000 which was furnished by his wife, Sadie.

The public schools of the city open tomorrow for the Fall term.

The New Haven police Saturday night requested the New London authorities be on the lookout for another stolen car from the streets of the former city. The machine was a Ford touring car and carried registration Y—2411.

The catch basin on Tilley street, near the corner of Bank street, has been in a dangerous condition several days, the basin cover evidently having been broken by a heavy vehicle passing over it. A wooden box has been inserted in the opening to give warning of the danger to other vehicle drivers.

Joseph Fine, 83 Blydenberg avenue, complained to the police Saturday night that while his automobile was parked on State street earlier in the evening a motor meter was stolen. Charles Borooks, 876 Williams street, also suffered by a similar theft, for while his machine was parked on Union street, a spare tire was stolen.

A sign in front of the store of the M. F. Johnson Candyl Co., 211 Bank street, became partially dislodged from its support early this morning and was in danger of falling to the highway. The dangerous condition was discovered about 9 o'clock and an employe of the company was notified, and made the sign secure.

Capt. Charles P. Everett, master of the U. S. S. General Timothy Pickering, who has been under treatment at Lawrence hospital several months as a result of a shock, was able to leave the institution Saturday and return to his home on Main street. Other patients discharged were Frederick Millard, Pequot avenue; Mrs. George Gridley, Groton; Miss Margaret Clark, Groton, Leon Haynes, Waterford; Louis and Mary Badet, Groton, and Mrs. Harry Lacey and infant son, Williams street.

A large number of the Italian population was in attendance at what will probably be the last picnic of the season today when about 300 men, women and children attended the out-of-door annual event of Sons of Italy, Christopher Columbus, 464, at Woodland Grove, Waterford.

Benjamin Rubin of Hartford, public service operator, complained to the police Saturday night that he had been victimized by a young woman, who had eluded the payment of the hire of his machine from Hartford to New London. Rubin stated that he received his passenger near the shopping district in Hartford and upon arrival in New London, he was instructed to stop at the corner of Bank and State street, while the woman telephone to an acquaintance. The passenger alighted from the car entered a drug store. When she did not return within a reasonable length of time Rubin investigated and learned that the woman had left the store by another entrance. Rubin found a small pur-

A. Victor Donahey, of Ohio, who has been nominated on the Democratic ticket for re-election. He opposes H. L. Davis, former Governor, on the Republican ticket.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theater

Broadway By Night is advertised by its producer, Charles H. Waldron, as a burlesque revue. This means just what the term implies. The show is different from most burlesque offerings in that it has interpolated in its two acts a dozen vaudeville offerings by members of the company. Joe Wilton, starring in Broadway By Night is the attraction at the Palace theater, Today matinee and evening 2:15 and 8:15.

Joe Wilton, who will be remembered for his work in Take It From Me and I'll Say She Is, is the comedian with the shows. He is assisted in the funmaking by Bob Capron, who appeared last season in I'll Say She Is and two seasons ago was with the Lady Butterfly Company.

Mildred Cecil, who last season was with the Bostonians, needs no introduction to patrons of burlesque. She has been entrusted with the prima donna role in Broadway By Night. Lillian Shepard is a lively soubrette and Helena Rods a sprightly ingenue. Miss Billie Farreau, who recently toured South America and is a newcomer in the burlesque field, is a classical dancer. The chorus is composed of twenty shapely girls, who were taught to dance by that master of the art, Dan Dody.

Palace Theater

The Cohan touch!

The Barry cleverness!

These, coined in a single offering, must of necessity be a winning attraction. The combination is offered by the Palace theater management in George Washington, Jr., which opens on Tuesday, Sept 9.

This picture is a screen adaptation of the George M. Cohan stage play — the same name, and Wesley Barry, of freckles and fun fame, plays in the same role to which Mr. Cohan lent such distinction and superb zipp.

It is about a lad who got into bales of difficulties, oodles of trouble because of a little weakness—his feeling that he must tell the truth, no matter how much it hurt other people. And hurt it does—his father especially suffering after trying to achieve social prestige by having his niece wed a borus count.

The picture is filled with comical episodes with Barry as hero.

For his supporting cast, Wesley Barry is surrounded by the following players: Gertrude Olmstead, Leon Barry, Charles Conklin, Otis Harlan, William Courtwright.

Short subjects, latest Pathe two reel comedy, news and orchestra.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Wallace Beery in Unseen Hands the screens famous villain in an exciting role of the man of Desires, Passions and Hate.

Also new Tel. Giri. Sport Light (something new) and latest cartoon.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Strand Theater

Gloria Swanson has done a great deal in her new Paramount picture Manhandled, now showing at the Strand theater, she has but another striking performance on top of her latest, Zaza, The Humming Bird and A Society Scandal.

Manhandled deals with the problems of life in New York as the shop girl finds them, and Miss Swanson, in the role of Tessie McLean, runs the whole gamut of emotions, trying the white lights of Broadway, taking a whirl at being a sculptor's model, spending some time posing in a modiste shop—all for the love of fine clothes and the so-called good time. But she learns in the end that the honest love of Johnny Hogan, a hard working auto mechanic, is far better than the temporary luxuries showered upon her by sculptors, department store owners, modistes and cigarette manufacturers.

PUTNAM

An orchestral concert, singing of campaign songs written by a member of the utnam Coolidge club and an address by W. O. Conway of New York in Odd Fellows' hall next Thursday evening, will open the republican national and state campaigns. The meeting is public.

Miss Clara Larned, president of the Putnam Coolidge club, will preside. Mr. Conway, a successful business man and a lifelong advocate of republicanism, is making a brief campaign tour for national republican headquarters. He is a seasoned campaigner, an interesting talker and familiar with the ideals of the party whose principles he espouses. The coming of Mr. Conway will afford an opportunity for new voters, especially women, to hear a clear, concise statement of republican party doctrine.

A meeting of the directors of the Putnam Rotary club was held Friday evening. Regular business was transacted.

Alphonse Leduc of Arctic, R. I., will appear in the Putnam city court this (Monday) morning to answer to a charge of driving his automobile while under the influence of liquor. Leduc drove into Putnam Friday afternoon. The front wheel on his car was wabbling all over the highway and he went to a local garage to have repairs made. According to the police he was unable to drive the car from the garage, but told the garage man that if he would drive the car out onto the highway he (Leduc) could get along all right. Patrolman William Durand arrested Leduc and he furnished a bond of $100 for his appearance.

Putnam Lodge of Elks will hold the last of its monthly meetings Tuesday evening. Next month the lodge will go back to bi-monthly meetings. Carpenters are now at work remodeling rooms on the second floor of Elks' block into club and billiard rooms. When completed the whole top floor of the building will be used for lodge room purposes thus giving extra space needed by the lodge on account of a growing membership list. Heretofore a large room south of the lodge room has been used as a billiard and club room, but to relieve congestion tenants on the second floor were requested to vacate, to make room for the improvements.

Martin Nelson has been appointed postmaster at South Woodstock in place of Miss Gertrude Phillips, who died some months ago. Mr. Nelson was formerly employed at a store in Woodstock, is master of Putnam lodge of Masons of Woodstock and owns a little store of his own south west of the common, where the post office will be located.

Prof. and Mrs. Malcolm Willey arrived Saturday from New York and are visiting Mr. Willey's grandmother, Mrs. A. W. Macdonald. They will leave here the middle of the week for Hanover, N. H., where Professor Willey is a member of the faculty of Dartmouth college, in the department of sociology.

Following the thunder storm of Friday evening the weather man handed out one of his best September days, Saturday, for the annual outing of the employes of the H. K. H. Silk company, held at Wildwood park. The facilities were clear and the air was crisp and cool and the several hundred gathered for the outing had an enjoyable time. The mills of the company in Putnam, Watertown and Haverstraw, N. Y., were represented, as was the New York office of the company.

The assembly was on the grounds at 10 a. m., and the athletic events were soon under way. These included a baseball game, 50- and 100-yard dashes, three-legged race, potato race, running high jump, running broad jump, shot put for men and 50-yard dash, potato race and throwing baseball for women.

At 12.30 there was a basket luncheon, following which the baseball game between the Putnam mill and the New York office made plenty of excitement. An innovation this year was the concert and dance in the evening. This was made possible through the company having bought a new mill which for the past year has been in process of overhauling, renovating and improvement. In the large room on the first floor of this mill, formerly the Powhattan mill of the Nightingale-Morse Manufacturing company, the concert and dance was held. Invitation was given by the free distribution of tickets and hundreds of these coveted pasteboards were presented at the door, Saturday evening.

The room, which probably contains more square feet of floor space than any single room in the city, was decorated with flags, bunting and flowers, making an attractive ball room. Champeau's orchestra of Putnam gave a concert from 8 to 8.30 o'clock after which there was dancing. During the evening refreshments were served.

The committees in charge of the outing and dance were: Reception committee, Louis E. Law, Charles F. Franklin, Edward S. Duffey, Ralph Strout and Kenneth C. Sharpe. Refreshment committee, all the overseers. Committee on events, George Harrington; James Shea, F. H. Murphy, C. F. Franklin, Joseph Light, Charles Carpenter, Carl Nelson. Judges, Jasper A. Holmes, A. Duhamel, Mark Lewis, Joseph Brodeur. Field committee, George Harrington, A. H. Cutler, C. F. Franklin, Transportation, L. E. Law, J. A. Holmes, F. H. Murphy, J. Baker, E. Lavigne, E. Lowry, J. Shea, A. Bernier, A. Labossiere

At a meeting of the merchants of Putnam, at which there was a representative gathering, held in the chamber of commerce rooms, Friday evening, it was voted almost unanimously not to continue the yearly half holiday for another year, but to close stores Thursday afternoons during July, August and September only.

A little over a year ago a petition of the clerks for a yearly half holiday all the year round was acted upon. It has been found during the year that the half holiday plan has been in effect that all lines of business, other than manufacturing business, in the city has received a set-back. That more or less trade and business has been diverted from Putnam to other nearby trading centers, where stores are not closed. It has had a tendency to cause confusion among shoppers from the outlying districts, also to possibly a lesser extent, among the shoppers living in the city. It has caused Putnam to have the unenviable reputation of being a "dead town" and of its being set down in the category of small country villages. Most every storekeeper in the business section has received complaints personally from disgruntled customers. It has engendered an atmosphere that is, it is believed, unfavorable to the best interests of Putnam.

John J. O'Brien, former principal of Israel Putnam school, now principal of a school in Allston, Mass., spent Sunday with friends in this city.

State Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald and family spent the week-end with Mr. Macdonald's parents, Postmaster and Mrs. Archibald Macdonald.

Editor George L. Padgett spent Saturday in Hartford.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Corbett have returned from their wedding trip and are making their home with Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Kent on Grove street.

Rev. F. B. Richards of St. Johnsbury, Vt., supplied the pulpit of the Congregational church, Sunday morning.

GILPATRIC LEAVES HOSPITAL FOR PARENTS' HOME

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, Sept. 7.—G. Harold Gilpatric, former state treasurer and cashier of the First National Bank of utnam, spent his first night, Saturday, outside the walls of the Day Kimball hospital where for over four weeks he has been a patient and a part of that time a prisoner in custody of the federal government, being removed to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Gilpatric, Fremont street.

Mr. Gilpatric was taken from the hospital in a closed automobile by his brother, F. Raymond Gilpatric, of New Britain. He was accompanied on the trip of three-quarters of a mile by his wife and a nurse and seemed to feel no ill effects from the short journey. At the home of his parents he will remain in seclusion. The family has had more than a sufficient amount of publicity and it is assumed will wish to be let alone. Since the tragedy of August 7th Gilpatric's relatives have been besieged by newspaper men and by friends seeking the details of the events that followed Gilpatric's attempt at suicide.

Mr. Gilpatric's wife, Mrs. Irene Gilpatric, will stay with her husband, but the two sons, George and Richard, will remain at the Wheelock home on Church street where the family moved Saturday, Aug. 3th. At the time of their removal to the Church street home of Mrs. Gilpatric's brother and sisters, it was not known what the outcome of Gilpatric's arrest by the federal government might be and whether or not a sufficient bond for his release from federal custody could be raised. When nearly double the amount fixed by federal officers was subscribed by 26 friends, last Wednesday evening, plans were immediately formulated for removing Gilpatric to the home of his parents where he would be surrounded only by relatives.

There is no appreciable change in the physical condition of the former bank cashier and he has not yet been told that his sight is gone.

While it is sensed by the public that conferences are being held and steps taken toward procuring for Putnam a National banking institution, it is not known along just what line the plans are proceeding, as all concerned are uncommunicative. It has come to be the belief of many that the affairs of the old bank are fully as bad as at first supposed, but the same silence regarding this is maintained as has been maintained from the beginning. However, the business interests of Putnam have formed new banking associations and aside from the inconvenience, are having no trouble with routine financing. Depositors are still anxious to know when they will be able to get their money and if they will get dollar for dollar of their deposits, as they have thus far been led to believe.

It was stated Saturday evening that there would be a meeting of the stockholders in Odd Fellows' hall, on Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock. Two members of the committee have been in Washington the past week and it is anticipated that considerable information will be given the stockholders at the meeting. This announcement portends that facts long sought by both the stockholders and the public may at last become known. The statement that such information will be given was somewhat guarded, but it was strongly intimated that much more regarding the bank's condition will be known, following the meeting, than is known at present.

WESTERLY

Capt. and Mrs. Elvin B. Byers of Pawcatuck were members of an automobile party to Hartford Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Kelsey arrived in Westerly Saturday from Saybrook to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac F. Smith and her mother, Mrs. S. Jennie Doty and other relatives in Westerly for several days before going back to their home in Amherst, Mass.

At the last town council meeting sewage apportionment assessments were voted as follows: July 31, Henry S. James, 73 Beach street, $151.80; August 10, Marie Malnatti Doherty, 23 Newton avenue, $103.00; August 11, Theodore D. Picard and wife, 64 Beach street, $373.53.

By deeds on file in the office of Westerly Town Clerk, the following transfers are recorded:

Sept. 4th, George Cappuccio to Stephen Farrago lot of land with building and other improvements on the south side of Railroad avenue.

Sept. 5th, Eleanor D. Baker of Buffalo, N. Y., to Charles A. Tabor and Edna L. Tabor of Cranston, R. I., lots or parcels of land Nos. 29, 30, 31 and 32, Shelter Harbor, R. I.

New England Land Company to James L. Clarke one half interest in lots No. 36 and 37, Fairview Park section.

Empire Realty Trust Company to James L. Clarke lots No. 36 and 37, Fairview Park section.

Antonio Bacca to Giovanni Fiatani and Angelina Fiatani lots Nos. 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248 and 249, Prospect Park annex.

Harry M. Maxson of Plainfield, N. J., was in Westerly Saturday to attend the funeral of his brother, J. Irving Maxson, whose death occurred on September 3rd.

Robert W. Brundrett is supplying the Westerly ticket office of the New Haven railroad on the trick of Reuben Austin, while the latter fills the berth of George A. Golden, who is on a month's vacation.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smith, 15 Lester street, Pawcatuck Saturday evening, Mrs. Evelyn N. Tuckerman of Pawcatuck was united in marriage with Arthur G. Hey of Lawrence, Mass. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arnt L. Schoning, pastor of the Broad street Christian church. Nearly 50 relatives and friends were present.

The wedding ceremony was followed by a reception and lunch. The bride received many handsome gifts, including pieces of cut glass, silverware and linen. The present of the groom to the bride was a purse of gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Hey are to leave town today (Monday) for Lawrence, Mass., where they will make their home.

Westerly Italian residents plan the observance of Columbus day, Sunday, October 12th. The various Italian societies and organizations in Westerly are engaged in preparation for a street parade and there is a possibility of a fireworks exhibition that evening. It was not so many years ago that the fireworks display was one of an elaborate nature, attracting many visitors to Westerly from surrounding towns. They were held in the rear of the Immaculate Conception church, also on other years at Riverside Park.

The funeral of J. Irving Maxson, was held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Miss Emma Crandal on Elm street. The services were conducted by Rev. Clayton A. Burdick, D. D., pastor of Pawcatuck Seventh Day Baptist church which Mr. Maxson served as clerk for many years. He read passages of scripture and spoke of the friendship which he had for Mr. Maxson, passing briefly over the more important events of his life. At the conclusion Mrs. Clayton A. Burdick sang a hymn.

Burial was in River Bend cemetery John S. Clark, George H. Lanphear, William Duke and Herbert M. Swinney, acting as bearers.

John Robinson, 18, of Fairview Park leaves Westerly today (Monday) for Lake Mont, N. J., to enter Starkey seminary, to begin his studies in preparation to enter the ministry. Mr. Robinson plans to enter Defiance college, following his work in the seminary.

Charles BuBarry, who has been a driver for the Westerly branch of the American Railway express company during the summer months, completed his services with the company Saturday night. Mr. DuBarry and his wife leave their home in Pawcatuck by automobile for a tour of the states, being entertainers on the vaudeville stage. Last winter Mr. and Mrs. DuBarry went as far west as British Columbia, spending a number of months on the Pacific coast.

A false alarm was rung in from Box 73, Canal street, near Power house, about 8.30 o'clock on Saturday evening by parties unknown. All three pieces of fire apparatus left the station house on Union street and raced through High street, at its most congested time, to arrive at the box and find it open. Fire Chief George H. Egger has expressed himself in no uncertain terms relative to the turning in of false alarms. Capt. of Westerly Fire Police Shelby Nicholas kept busy directing traffic on Canal street just below the railroad bridge, that there might be no crashing of automobiles with the fire apparatus or each other when cars turned about at that place.

Oliver Portience of the Barbour pharmacy has begun two weeks' vacation, which will take him to points both west and east.

Miss Sadye York was a visitor in Boston Sunday.

Miss Fanny Sutcliff, a student nurse at St. Luke's hospital, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sutcliffe, in Pawcatuck, for a vacation.

People of Westerly and vicinity may have an opportunity this (Monday) morning to see the famous globe circling aeroplanes "Chicago", "New Orleans" and "Boston II", although the last named passed over Westerly several weeks ago, when it flew north to replace the Boston which was smashed. It will probably be before noon and the aircraft will undoubtedly keep the Shore line rails of the New Haven road in sight, as do most of the government planes going north or south and as did Maj.-Gen. Mason M. Patrick, the chief of the air service and his escort when passing over Westerly on his way to meet the world flyers. The usual formation is a V one. At the spear head is Gen. Patrick and beside him Assistant Secretary of War Dwight Davis and Lt. R. C. Moffat while above is the radio plane. Behind this formation will be the three world flight cruisers close together, the Chicago, Lt. Lowell H. Smith; the New Orleans, Lt. Leslie P. Arnold and the Boston II, Lt. Wade. At the right of the formation will be two scout planes.

Mrs. Flora Mooney of Westerly during the past week made application to the Rhode Island State Board of Public Utilities in Providence, for the franchise to operate a bus line in the town of Westerly to Ashaway, to Watch Hill and to Pleasant View and Weekapaug.

In preparation for National defense day, Friday, Sept. 12, numerous lists are in circulation in Westerly that enlistments of men between the ages of 18 and 45 years may be obtained for that day. The men are notified to appear before the Westerly town hall at 6 p. m.

STONINGTON

The republicans of the town of Stonington will hold a caucus this week.

A dozen young people from the borough had a camping party at Lantern Hill over the week end. Swimming was indulged in at Long Pond was enjoyed and a general good time reported.

Dr. Henry M. Thompson preached at the First Baptist church Sunday morning. In the evening the Rev. Albany (Gypsy) Smith, noted evangelist, had charge of the service.

At the Second Congregational church Rev. Dwight C. Stone conducted the morning service at 10.30, followed by hold communion.

There was an automobile party at Lantern Hill Friday afternoon from the borough. Those present were: James LaGrua, Robert McCaffery, Charles Cowan, Jr., Frank LaGrua, William Squadrito and Charles Ide. A trip was made to the top of the hill where a weenie roast was held followed by games until darkness fell.

The residence of Mrs. John H. Thayer is being renovated and repainted.

MYSTIC

There were thirty-one exhibitors at the Second Annual Flower Show held at the Mystic Community House Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings, with a great variety of flowers, potted plants etc. The arrangement of the flowers was in the hands of the exhibitors, with Mrs. O. A. Wilcox, chairman. Dahlias and gladioli took the lead in quality and number of specimens while asters, cosmos marigolds, physostegia, roses, larkspur and many other fall flowers filled the recreation room of the Community House. George E. Tingley with 84 specimens of dahlias, Harry H. Anderson with 32 varieties of all flowers and many specially rare kinds Herman Pike, George Stott, Miss Annie Greenman, Miss Elizabeth Mallory Mrs. Charles H. Davis, Miss Elsie Richter, Dr. L. M. Allyn and Mrs. L. P. Allyn contributed much to the beauty of the exhibit by their artistic arrangement of basket, vase and bowl bouquets. The opal plant, cacti and snake plant, and an odd variety of spider plant greatly interested the visitors. The three or four juvenile contributions were also noteworthy.

The meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union is to be held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. H. Schaffer. The meeting is held Tuesday instead of Wednesday the usual day of meeting, because the Sunday Schools of the Stonington Union Association are to meet Wednesday in the Baptist Church.

POETRY FOR THE WIDE AWAKES

COUNTY GUY

Ah! County Guy, the hour is high.
The sun has left the lea.
The orange flower perfumes the bower.
The breeze is on the sea.
The lark his lay who thrilled the day
Sits hushed his partner high:
Breeze, bird and flower confess the hour,
But where is County Guy?

The village maid steals through the shade,
Her shepherd's suit to hear;
To beauty why by lattice high,
Sing high-born Cavalier.
The star of Love, all stars above
Now reigns o'er earth and sky.
And high and low the influence know,
But where is County Guy?

—Sir Walter Scott.

ABOU BEN ADHEM

Abou Ben Adhem (may his tribe increase)
Awoke one night from a deep dream of peace,
And saw within the moonlight in his room,
Making it rich and like a lily in bloom
An angel, writing in a book of gold:
Exceeding peace had made Ben Adhem bold,
And to the presence in the room he said,
"What writest thou?" The vision raised its head,
And with a look made of all sweet accord,
Answered, "The names of those who love the Lord."
"And is mine one?" said Abou. "Nay, not so."
Replied the angel. Abou spoke more low,
But cheerily still, and said, "I pray thee, then,
Write me as one who loves his fellowmen."

The angel wrote and vanished, the next night
It came again with a great wakening light,
And showed the names whom love of God had blest,
And lo! Ben Adhem's name led all the rest.

—Leigh Hunt.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE AWAKES

Every boy and girl has or should have an ideal and should try to attain that ideal. What is an ideal? It is simply the thing or things that one believes to be most worthwhile. Your ideal may be likened to a sun around which your thoughts, desires and actions revolve as the plaants revolve around the sun.

It is by an unconscious instinct that people grow toward their ideal, just as flowers and trees grow toward their ideal, just as flowers and trees grow toward the sunlight. Although we do not realize it we are being slowly but surely molded, or fashioned to fit the things we want.

One way to recognize your ideal is to ask yourself this question; what is it that you keep thinkink about, dream about, what vision coming to your mind, making you somewhat unhappy because you cannot realize it, or in other words, attain it? That is your ideal.

If we want to make the most of life, if we want to be happy, if we want to be contented, if we want to escape sorrow, we should not tolerate an unworthy ideal, We should dismiss an unworthy ideal from our lives and replace it with a worthy ideal, the highest ideal we can possibly encourage and cultivate and then try our best to attain that ideal.

LETTERS OF ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Ida M. Roode, Voluntown—I thank you very much for the prize book you sent me, entitled, A Sweet Girl Graduate. I have just started reading it and find it very interesting.

Yetta Cohn, Norwich—I have received the book, The Four Mischiefs and I thank you for it.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE AWAKES

Dear Uncle Jed: My dad took me to the New London county fair last Monday, Labor Day. I had wanted to go to the fair for a long time and I anxiously waited for Labor day to come. We went out in by dad's machine and got there about half past one. I saw all the cows, the hens and chickens, and the roosters and a lot of noisy places where men were giving away blankets. We bought some chocolate and then I had a ride on the merry-go-round.

After that dad said he wanted to see the horse races so we went over where the horses raced and watched them. I never saw horses race before so it was quite exciting to me. I asked dad why the man in the little twore rang the bell for and he said that was to make the horses hurry, because when they hear the bell they know it is time to race again and then they come out of the stable and run down the road that father says is the track.

I liked the horse racing at first but there were so many of them that I began to get tired. We stayed till near six o'clock and then dad said he guessed we would go home because he was hungry. So we went home. Going to the fair is lots of fun, especially the merry-go-round and I hope I can go next year.

A RIDE TO OAKLAND BEACH

Dear Uncle Jed: My mother and father took three of us children, two of my chums and myself for a long ride Sunday. We went to Providence and saw my uncle and aunt there and then we all went to Oakland Beach. It was in the afternoon when we got there. There were lots and lots of people there and the place was crowded with automobiles. We had a lunch we took with us and father bought us some ice cream and a bottle of soda, for each of us. After having lunch we stayed there a little while and then we started back home. We got home after it was dark. I was tired and fell asleep on the way. But I am all right today.

SPOT, THE PAPER DOG

Dear Uncle Jed: I have trained my dog to deliver the morning Bulletin. When I go out in the morning to receive my Bulletin on the trolley car, Spot is always waiting for them. She always barks when the papers come as if to say "hurry up." Then I take my bicycle and start with Spot. I fold a paper and give it to her. She runs to one house and drops the paper near the door, and comes back for the next paper. Most of my customers are pleased and come out to watch Spot deliver the papers. It does not take me very long to deliver my Bulletin route with Spot.

MY PET DOG

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you. I am going to tell you about my dog Sport. He can do many cunning tricks. He can walk on his hind legs and sit down with a book in his paws. He will get on a chair and put his head on his front paw and say his prayers. I wish other dogs could do as many tricks as Sport.

GLAD SCHOOL IS STARTING

Dear Uncle Jed: My big brother told me that school is going to start again next week and I thought I would write and tell you that I am glad. I was glad when school closed when the summer began but now I am glad it is opening again. Of course I am not quite as glad that it is opening as I was when it closed because we were going to the beach then for two whole weeks. I had a dandy time at the beach. I didn't go in swimming like the rest of the family because I am too small and my father said the waves would knock me down and I might get drowned. So all I did was go in with my shoes and stockings off. He said that next year I may be allowed to go in all over, not only with my feet.

We caught some fish. My father caught them from a boat and I carried them from the boat to the house, but my mother said they were too small to cook. She said she didn't want to clean them anyway. So we had to buy some big fish at the store. Ma didn't have to clean them because the fish man cleaned them before he bought them.

I will write again and tell you how I get along in school.

HER SEVENTH BIRTHDAY

Uncle Jed: Would you like to hear about my birthday? I had one two days ago and now I am seven instead of six. I had a partly and got lots of pretty presents, a book, a pencil, slate, slate pencil, a pad of paper, and a nice shiny pair of shoes from my father and mother. We had ice cream and cake and I think I ate too much for I was sick after the other children went home but I got over it all right. Do you have a party for your birthday Uncle Jed?

MY TRIP TO WATERBURY

Dear Uncle Jed: Saturday morning I went to Waterbury to visit my aunt. On my way I saw many beautiful sights. When we reached my auntie's house I waited for the children to come home from church. I went to the store with them to buy something for dinner.

When dinner was over we went to Luna Park. First we went to look at the baseball game. Then we went out in a rowboat. We saw some boys diving from a high place. Afterwards we went on the roller coasters. That was the most fun I had in the park.

At night we went to the carnival to see them shoot fireworks. They were very beautiful.

MY MISTAKE

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first story I have written to the Wide Awakes and I hope they will be pleased with it.

One day I thought I would write a letter to my cousin. Mother gave me paper and ink. I began the letter immediately and when I was finished I wrote the address on it then stamped it and sent it off.

Two days later I expected an answer but my letter came back. On it was a printed card saying West Street?

Mother said, "I must be more careful!"

You see it was my mistake. Next time I shall be more careful.

A MORNING IN MAY

Dear Uncle Jed: It was an extraordinary glorious morning in May. The sun shone and was not concealed. It had just succeeded as among the majestic ladder of the blue heavens. The western horizon was clothed with the most beautiful bright colored hues. The tree tops were swaying in the early morning breeze, while the birds in the boughs and tree tops were warbling their sweetest melodies to their little ones. The flowers in the woods had just opened their petals from their night's repose. In the meadows were heavenly flowers and even along the stream were sweet violets.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

Shopping For Mrs. Frog

"Hipperty hipperty hop I go
Over the clover tops,
I'd say with a smile
That every mile

Is nearly two thousand hops," sang Little Jack Rabbit one morning. Oh so early, ere Mr. Merry Sun had hardly doffed his nightie-cap to make his daily run.

Dearest me, there goes my typewriter into poetry just like a duck into water, but forgetting to put it into verse.

Pretty soon, not so very far, the bunny boy came to the Old Mill Pond, where all day long on his log Granddaddy Bullfrog contentedly sat, catching the flies that came too near for their own safety.

"Hello, little rabbit," croaked the old gentleman frog, taking off his gold rimmed spectacles to wipe them with a clean leaf, "how are all the folks at home?"

"Nicely, thank you," answered the bunny boy, politely. "Mother has a new apron. Uncle Lucky sent it over this morning in a pretty box."

"I'll wager it's mighty becoming," laughed Granddaddy Bullfrog, replacing his spectacles. "That reminds me that I must go down to the Three-in-One-Cent Store for Mrs. Frog. Dear me, how I hate to shop for ladies. I always buy the wrong thing."

"Maybe I can help you," suggested the kind-hearted little bunny boy. "What do you wish?"

"Oh, a hair-pin," answered Granddaddy Bullfrog, not forgetting to snap up a fly that flew close to his nose.

"What kind of a hair-pin?" asked the little rabbit, hitching up his knapsack.

"That's just it," sighed the old gentleman frog. "Mrs. Frog always wants the latest style, but it never is the one the lady salesman gives to me. Dear, dear, I'm puzzled before I start, but when I reach the store I'm dazed. Yes, that's the very word. I just take what's given to me."

"I'll get it for you," promised the bunny boy, and away he hopped over the log bridge that spanned the Bubbling Brook, across the Pleasant Pasture and up the hill to Rabbitville.

"Charge it to my account," shouted the old gentleman frog, but whether or not the little rabbit heard him I don't know, for he never stopped until he reached the Three-in-One-Cent Store. Then, all out of breath, he halted at the pin counter, behind which stood Mrs. Pelican, a pair of gold-rimmed spectacles on the ridge of her long beak.

"I want a hair-pin," said the bunny boy. And the lady pelican, thinking it was for pretty Lady Love, the little rabbit's mother, handed him one that just suited Mrs. Frog when the little rabbit returned to the Old Mill Pond.

"Dear, dear, you're a clever boy,
Here is a carrot cent,"
Laughed the happy old frog
As he sat on his log
And smoked to his heart's content.

BRADFORD

The Sullivan Quarry company expects to complete its order for granite to be used in the construction of the Andrews mausoleum at Mount Kisco, N. Y., within thirty days.

The Andrews mausoleum will be one of the most imposing and costly in America. All the stone going from the Sullivan quarries is sent to the plant of the Joseph Coduri Granite company in Westerly for cutting before shipping to Mount Kisco.

Two huge slabs of granite weighing 35 tons each and measuring 12 10 feet in length and breadth and 2½ inches thick were lifted from the new quarry Friday. Each slab occupies a flat car of 50 tons capacity at the siding at the Bradford station awaiting shipment of the Coduri company in Westerly.

The work of constructing the track or branch railroad from the quarries to the siding at the station is progressing satisfactorily. As anticipated, it will be ready for use before winter sets in. The crushing plant, a new addition to the plant 300 feet long and 60 feet wide, is also to be completed and ready for use during the winter.

A new electric air compressor to be operated by a 500-horsepower electric motor and which will have a capacity of 3,500 feet of air per minute is also to be installed.

CONSTITUTION AND COURT.

The address of President Coolidge at Baltimore on the occasion of the dedication of a monument to General Lafayette is one that is of particular interest to the people of this country. President Coolidge made particular reference therein to the efforts to break down the Constitution and the Supreme Court of the United States.

Pointing out that the supreme court has final authority to determine all questions arising under the Constitution and laws of the United States and that the Constitution is the source of our freedom, President Coolidge stressed the importance of keeping that authority unsullied. He said he say that the pressing need of the government today is not to change our constitutional rights but to preserve them, and the warning to keep the tinkering with such rights away from the partisan operations of congress has gone too strongly em-

There must be a general agreement with statements that "The time to stop those who would loosen and weaken the fabric of our government and institutions has begun. The time for Americans to range themselves firmly, united and uncompromisingly against all attempts to encroach upon their liberties by encroaching upon the power of the courts. The Constitution of the United States has for us almost solemn expression of the freedom we enjoy. We must combat every tendency to break down or to make it possible to open the way to tyranny. To adopt any policy which would put in jeopardy the constitutional rights of liberty, property and the pursuit of happiness."

President Coolidge talked with his usual deliberation. There was no mistaking what he meant. There was common sense in his appeal and no chance of misunderstanding the application of his words.

There are the dangers involved in proposing new and dangerous experiments upon our institutions and particularly our supreme court. The warning that the president uttered is not a new one but it concerns a matter about which there cannot be a definite and positive stand taken by the people of this country before pressing efforts go further. President Coolidge pleads for our Constitution and our supreme court and against tinkering operations. It is to be hoped that the country will heed him.

LOOK OVER THE TREES.

Motoring through the country, villages and cities attention is attracted to the large number of trees which have been blown over in the recent storms, many of them, especially those which fell in the highways, having been cut up and removed, many pieces of oak, ash, maple and other trees gone to the woodpile. There are others which still await attention, but they are located where it makes little difference how long they remain as they are.

In addition to the trees blown down there were limbs broken off, twisted in some instances from a perfectly sound trunk while in others it was surprising they had not gone before. Wind and windstorms are recognized as natures means of helping the forest get rid of their dead branches and of weeding out the weak members of the tree family. While there are times when it seems as if nature's pruning were a bit overdone, it is unquestionably true that in many instances those which are weak, diseased or which have died and large limbs have been wrenched away from the trunk by their weight and by severe storms could be removed from the highways or the premises of buildings if there was a systematic survey of the trees with this object in view.

There are communities which take a different pride in their shade trees to replace those that are removed for any cause during the year and these, or other communities consider it advisable to have trees carefully inspected, the dead wood or the whole tree may be removed before they fall, thus avoiding as far as possible accidents and injuries.

There were trees blown over in the recent storm that would not have been condemned by a previous inspection, there were many which had been previously eliminated. This is particularly true in the case of limbs that fell. Nature's pruning gets them in time, but when the time is awaited someone is likely to get hurt, the highway blocked and wires and trolley service stopped.

CANAL ACCOMMODATIONS.

Much has already been accomplished in the handling of traffic through the Panama canal but while new records have been frequent they are by no means at an end. More business is being done each year and more is promised.

The canal was built for the purpose of aiding world commerce and to give this country greater naval protection. Up to this year the traffic through the canal has been mostly foreign. Not until the fiscal year ending with June 30 did the business between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts top the foreign commerce. Having gotten in excess it is to be expected that it will stay there, but whether it does or not there is being demonstrated the recognition of canal advantages.

But aside from the volume of traffic handled a new record has also been made in the size of vessels in transit. When the British ships Hood and Repulse crossed from ocean to ocean in July two of the largest ships to transit the canal were accommodated.

At the time of the construction of the canal provisions were made for the future, but it was hardly anticipated that such monstrous ships as the Hood of nearly 42,000 tons would be built. The canal was not constructed for such warships and it is clear that if the size of ships should increase as has been done in the past 25 years the canal would soon be outgrown. The Hood barely squeezed through, but relief from making provisions for such vessels lies in the fact that through the naval agreement vessels of such tonnage are hereafter prohibited. The largest is to be but 35,000 tons, a restriction which applies to all and one that must be regarded as wise, since it leaves all on the same basis.

The fact that the canal can accommodate the Jumbo of battleships makes it evident that there may be no worry as to the accommodation of other warships in the future. That of course doesn't overcome the problem of caring for commercial traffic. How soon that will develop to the point that a new canal will be demanded no one is ready to predict.

COMPULSORY ARBITRATION.

When vital questions are at stake progress is invariably slow. Whenever a forward movement is disclosed and steps taken toward a goal, even though the goal may be some distance off, satisfaction must be felt. It is by such progress that problems are solved.

Thus there must be regarded with gratification the passage of the resolution by the heads of the delegations representing 46 nations at Geneva, which approves the study by the assembly of the league of nations of a system for compulsory arbitration that will take the place of war.

It is to be realized that this action commits the league only to a study of an important subject. That nevertheless means that there will be the digging into this subject that might not otherwise get very far. What the assembly will reveal and what it will recommend remain to be disclosed. No one knows what will be done in the way of ratification after the plan is produced. The difficulty of getting an arrangement that will be satisfactory to all is not to be regarded as an easy one. Arbitration hasn't gotten very far except as an ideal. When the time comes to apply its benefits there is invariably a quick sidestepping to violence. Right too often is sacrificed for might. If the assembly can produce an arrangement whereby arbitration can replace war and can insure respect for its provisions it will accomplish a great thing. The world waits to see what it will do with the chance that has been given it.

KEEPING STREETS OPEN.

Providence has been conducting an experiment in traffic regulation. The problem has become so great that frequent changes in the regulations have been made in the past few years. Under the latest there is an "all rolling" rule in operation for the period of an hour and a half to two hours late in the afternoon, which means there can be no parking at all in the business section. All cars must be in motion.

This arrangement has been resorted to in order to provide enough room in the streets for the traffic. It is not with surprise that it has resulted in a protest. The merchants as well as the persons with motor cars do not like it, and efforts are being made to effect some alteration.

It is easily recognized that the problem is not an easy one. It is the same in all cities, and it is constantly changing because of the steady increase in the number of machines. The Providence Bulletin says "The business streets simply cannot hold all the motor cars in the city, to say nothing of the machines owned in the suburban territory." That is easily comprehended by conditions which prevail most everywhere, since street space which is intended for the passing of vehicles is seriously curtailed by the standing vehicles. As the number of machines increase the traffic regulations must become stricter and stricter for the streets must be kept open.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Thus early in its career September appear to be inclined to extremes.

It would be fitting now to know just what Mars thought of this old world.

The ups and downs of life are nothing as compared with the changes in the weather.

China probably figures that while it has its warring factions, the United States has its Herrin.

School boys have once more gotten where Saturdays mean more than they did during the summer.

The salmon pack is reported as showing a twelve per cent. decline. That will be tough news for the cats.

The man on the corner says: Isn't it about time for some big business to announce the opening of a branch plant on Mars?

The announcement that Emma Goldman is going to take up her residence in London doesn't make this country the least bit envious.

The crown prince of Italy has been asked to give up his proposed visit to Brazil. Probably it is as well that he hadn't planned on a trip to Herrin or Shanghai.

Clem Shaver hasn't read his wife's letter about the pacifism of Bryan. He doesn't intend to. It is bad enough to have a divided house but much worse to have it become known.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

A few drops of vinegar added to a frosting will keep it moist.

If dishes are very greasy, add a bit of soda to the water in which they are washed and the cleansing will be greatly accelerated.

A splendid polish will be obtained on clean linoleum if linseed oil is rubbed into it. It will not make the floor slippery as do many oil cloth polishes.

When steel knives or forks have become tainted with fish, the smell may be removed by rubbing them with a fresh orange or lemon peel.

Leftover meat, even if there is very little, will make a tasty supper or luncheon dish if it is added to scrambled eggs, omelets or rice.

Keep a jar of silver polish near the sink. When washing dishes it is a simple matter to rub over any silver that requires it.

Thoroughly brush the wool garment before attempting to clean it. You will be amazed at the dirt and dust that will come out in this manner. Then clean spots and soil.

If your milkman fails to arrive with cream in time for breakfast, whip an egg very light, place a little in each coffee cup, pour in coffee and then add milk and you will not miss the cream.

Fruit with meat is not only pleasing to the taste, but wholesome, for the acids in the fruit add valuable mineral and fibrous elements to the dish in which the meat may be deficient.

If you like the flavor of butter in vegetables, stir it into the cooked vegetables just before they are served rather than while they are cooking. The flavor thus imparted is more pronounced.

You will have better success with your waffles if you see to it that the iron fits closely on the range. Then heat well on one side, and then on the other, then grease thoroughly before putting in any batter.

When boiling ham preparatory to baking, save the water in which it is boiled and in it cook the cabbage. It will have much more flavor than if cooked in plain water and can be boiled while the ham is receiving a spicy brown coat in the oven.

FERNS AND FLOWERS

Few amateur florists know how to properly care for plants and indoor plants. Here is a helpful suggestion: Sponge the leaves with milk and water. Milk gives the leaves a glossy appearance and prevents the ugly brown patches that are likely to appear when only water is used.

COOKING DOUGHNUTS

Doughnuts should not be turned more than once while cooking. If the fat is too cold the doughnuts will absorb some of it, and if too hot they will brown before they have risen sufficiently. Keep the temperature uniform.

DIFFUSED SOFT LIGHT

The modern glass dome is only about a foot and a half in diameter and somewhat deeper than the older ones. The colorings and designs are artistic, but do not select a blue one for a room you use in winter; it is too cool looking. In buying a silk dome rose is a good color if it harmonizes with your decorations. Tan is excellent and will suit almost any color scheme. These two colors make the light that is diffused through them mellow and they do not absorb as much light as blue silk.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

A suggestion for drying your hair at home is to heat the oven, turn the gas low, open the door and put the electric fan on it. The air will be warm when blown on your hair by the fan and your hair will dry without danger of catching cold.

Sometimes a long walk or half an hour's strenuous exercise outdoors will do away with headache simply because it makes the body function right. If you are subject to bad headaches try all these normal methods before you ask your doctor to prescribe medicine. If it is due to nervous strain or nervous exhaustion you may have to take a bromide, but do so only upon doctor's advice for the headache remedy good for one person may be very harmful to another.

Powder is cool in summer, because it is refreshing. It makes one feel dainty and fresh. Talcum, which is soothing, is always the best sort to use and can be used quite freely. It keeps the skin smooth and does away with the "sticky" feeling that is more uncomfortable than heat itself.

Every woman who can should go without corsets in the very hot days. This is easy enough if one has summer dresses with loose straight lines. Underclothing should be reduced to a minimum and knitted garments, that cling to the skin, should be eliminated in favor of muslins and such cool materials, cut on straight lines like the men's athletic underwear. Underclothing made like this will always keep you cool.

FOR AFTERNOON TEA

There is no denying the charm of the afternoon tea set and no gainsaying the fact that a cup of hot tea is just as refreshing and stimulating on a hot day as on a cold one. A lovely set seen recently was of gray blue luster, with a band or rose color set well in from the brim, and a gay little pink tulip on top of the tea and sugar bowl.

WHEN JELLY WON'T JELL

When your jelly will not jell do not turn it back into the pan to cook again, but take a large dripping pan and half fill it with water. Set your undisturbed glasses of jelly in it, not close enough to touch but in a hot oven and let them bake until sufficiently jellied. This usually takes about three-quarters of an hour.

PLAY HAT FOR KIDDIES

An Indian hat can be made in a surprisingly short time and will give the kiddies no end of fun. Cut a piece of corrugated cardboard seventeen inches long and an inch and a quarter wide. Be sure the corrugations run up and down the strip. Cut a piece of narrow elastic four inches long, and fasten this so that it joins the ends of cardboard together in the back. This can be done by pushing the ends of the elastic through holes in the cardboard and tying a knot in the ends. Buy six feathers of different bright colors, and stick them at intervals in the corrugations of the cardboard crown. The hat is put on with the elastic in the back. If one happens to be in the country large chicken feathers can be picked up in the barnyard and dyed different colors.

REMOVES SALT

If you have put too much salt into your soup, add a few slices of raw potato to it and remove them after they have been boiled a few minutes. They will have absorbed much of the salt.

DICTATES OF FASHION

Salmon and citron are two new shades sponsored for evening by the smartest Parisian couturieres.

Ostrich is frequently used instead of fur as a summer trimming since it gives the soft, fluffy, flattering effect of fur without suggesting its warmth.

Small rhinstone ornaments that show a single initial in the center are an attractive addition to one's favorite under-the-arm bag. These ornaments are sold separately.

Wool jersey is used extensively for fall frocks and is trimmed with buttons, colorful embroidery, or merely given leather or linen collars and cuffs.

Checked wools are very much in evidence in the new collections. Bright yellows and greens are combined with Russian and Spanish colorings followed.

The tunic blouse has reached a point where it is seriously considered in the wardrobe of every well dressed woman. The newest of these are of printed chiffon with a wide yoke and hem of plain color.

Painted tulle, very delicately and airily poised, forms a gorgeous red overdress to a frock of black georgette worn here today. This is but another way of expressing the red and black motif which is creeping into the styles.

The tunic blouse grows longer and longer, till it is difficult to distinguish it today from the frock proper. Also, it grows more elaborate in design, and remains becoming only to the slim.

More than a touch of luxury is added to a pair of flesh-colored girdles that are covered with two ruffles of black Chantilly lace. A brassiere of the same filmly material over flesh color silk completes the costume.

A gallant shawl cape of lace or of printed crepe de chine is part of many afternoon street frocks at present. Sometimes the gauzy cape is ornamented with brilliant batik patterns.

The three colors most chic in jewelry for early autumn are sapphire blue, deep red, and emerald. Oriental bracelets in all these colors combined are a novel and delightful idea.

A mature woman or one who dislikes the average gay scarf will be interested in a long narrow one of cafe au lait crepe de chine with two rows of marabou of the same shade at either end, finished with a fringe of ostrich.

THE SHAWL

The shawl has become such a fixed and permanent feature of the feminine wardrobe that it is hard to realize that there was a day when we did without them. Instead of decreasing, their popularity seems to be ever in the ascendant. A beautiful one seen recently is made of heavy white silk with the design carried out in a wonderfully soft tone of purple. Some of the shops are beginning to show fall clothes and it is always interesting, this advanced showing, to see what has remained in the mode and what has been discarded. The new colors, for instance, are a matter of extreme importance.

LINGERIE OF LINEN

Lingerie of fine white linen is again in favor. The ultrasmart French woman seldom favors lingerie of any other sort, but nowadays she permits it to be embroidered in cashmere-shawl tones of faded blue and red and gold.

LAUNDRY HINTS

If the electric iron's wooden handle has worn out run the rod through three spools of suitable size and shape.

Unbleached muslin is an excellent covering for the ironing board, as there is no lint to come off in pressing suits or woolen materials.

To keep black stockings a good color, before washing dipe them in a weak solution of tepid water and vinegar.

To remove creases from garments hang the clothes on coat-hangers or chairs in the bathroom and turn on the hot water cap for five minutes. The clothes get a steam bath, and the creases vanish.

Wash your woolens at home and you will not only save your laundry bill but you will save your woolens. First shake out all the dust and then wash them in a good soap later and warm water; add a teaspoonful of ammonia if the garments are home-knitted and likely to become "flannelly."

Never rub woolens when washing. This makes them shrink, but lift them up and down in the lather and knead gently with the fingers. Rinse in clear warm water. Never wring them, but squeeze the moisture out, and then shake thoroughly to raise the nap. Dry out of doors if possible, but if the day is wet hang them in front of the fire, avoiding putting them too close or they will get hard. While they are drying stretch them frequently to the right shape.

NOVEL BOOK MARK

To slip between the leaves of one's book there is a most amusing book mark made of black ribbons and finished at one end with a little Pierrot's head with a wide ruffle of white at the throat and at the other end by two dangling feet.

AID TO PERFECT SALAD

In many homes the making of the dressing for salad is almost a solemn rite, in which the man of the house shines conspicuously. A set of oil and vinegar cruets in the shape of ducks with long bills through which the oil and vinegar trickle, will add a touch of originality to the table.

FOR HARDWOOD FLOOR

If your hardwood floors have become chipped sandpaper or smooth chipped places with steel wool, then oil by rubbing with pad made of cotton waste covered with cloth, tied and dipped in linseed oil.

EFFECT OF WALLPAPER

When selecting paper for the wall avoid large patterns for small rooms, as they tend to make the rooms seem smaller. In like manner avoid a very tiny pattern for a very large room, as it would appear insignificant.

NEW COATS FOR FALL

Some of the new fall clothes are now on exhibition, and in spite of the hot weather they have a natural attraction for the woman who loves clothes. A sports coat of a new material that shows a large self-toned square has a circular cape that dips down in the back until it reaches a trifle below the hips. This cape is bordered with beaver.

CONCERNING WOWEN

Increased athletic activity of women has brought about a gradual increase in the size of women's hands.

Miss Emma O. Marston of Rye Beach, N. H., still uses oxen as means of transportation and for farm chores.

Pope Pius has offered a medal to the women's club that evolves the most attractive modest fashion in women's clothing.

A survey made in the fashionable section of Berlin, Germany, shows that 12 per cent of the women have their hair bobbed.

Though she has been librarian for 40 years, Miss Ora Sheffield of Napoleon, O., is studying library science at Western Reserve University.

The bulk of the wealth of the natives of India is converted into jewelry, which is carried around by women who are fond of displaying their gems.

Beulah L. Henry of Raleigh, N. C., holds more patents than any other woman in the world, being the inventor of 47 articles, 33 of which are already marketed.

CARD TABLE COVER

Card-table covers of heavy linen, hand decorated in colors, have the added merit of never fading. The designs are most attractive.

FUEL AND BROILING

Charcoal is more porous than coke or soft coal and bursts into a flame at a lower temperature. Hence it is a fuel particularly recommended for broiling meats. Many people think it even gives a special flavor.

RECIPES

Spiced Grapes: Five pounds grapes, 2 1-2 pounds sugar, 3 teaspoons cinnamon, 2 teaspoons allspice, 1-2 teaspoon cloves, 1 cup cider vinegar.

Pulp grapes and boil skins until tender. Cook pulp and put through strainer to remove seeds. Add to skins with sugar, spices and vinegar. Boil for ten minutes. Pour into sterilized pint jars and seal.

Lady Fingers: Beat the yolks of three eggs until thick and lemon tinted; add the grated rind of one-half a lemon and gradually beat in one-half cup of fine granulated sugar, beating constantly. Beat the whites of three eggs until stiff, then fold into the first mixture half the whites and five tablespoons of sifted pastry flour. When well blended fold in remaining whites and five more tablespoons of flour. Shape on buttered baking sheets in narrow strips, about one inch wide or five inches long, and sprinkle lightly with granulated sugar. Bake in a moderate oven about ten minutes. Remove from sheet with a spatula and put together in pairs while hot. The mixture may be pressed through a pastry bag with a plain tube attached to the baking sheets.

De Forest's Years of Struggle

After years of self-denial, Lee De Forest secured an opportunity to show his invention for wireless telegraphy —and when it failed to work he fainted from disappointment.

From birth his life had been one of self-denial. In Council Bluffs, Ia., where he was born, in Muscatine, where he started to school, and in Talladega, Ala., he left the pinch of privation, for his fathers remuneration as clergyman was small. The boy did odd jobs, studied at night, then became book agent and worked his way through the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale, later taking a three-year post-graduate course.

At 26 he started in the Western Electric shops in Chicago, earning $8 a week. Having become interested in wireless telegraphy, he lived in a small room and ate little that he might save to buy equipment to use in experimenting.

Perfecting his wireless device, he borrowed money and went to New York to demonstrate his invention at the International yacht races. Marconi had already arranged to report the events by wireless for one press association. De Forest sought another news gathering organization, spent days of gruelling effort preparing to give reports to it, and when on the day of the great event no message came from his operator, he broke down.

Upon recovery three weeks later, he organized a company and attempted a demonstration from the Manhattan Life building, but the copper dome absorbed the energy and caused another failure. A later exhibition was a success, and he tried to interest George Westinhouse, but failed.

Next at the St. Louis exposition, his exhibit won first prize. A year later, at 32, he completed five years research and perfected the radiophone that transmitted voices through the air.

When, in 1908, music was sent by radio the feat attracted little attention. Four years later he invented the vacuum tube. Then came a struggle for capital, and just as success loomed ahead, the world was stopped all but government wireless operations. The radio craze started in 1920.

During his early financial struggles he sold his amplifier patents for $50,000. Later the vacuum tube rights brought $90,000. Afterward re received more than $1,000,000 for his other patents.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

The great international convention of the American Chemical Society which is to assemble at Cornell University today to discuss the world's progress in chemistry and allied pursuits will have as its presiding officer Dr. Leo Hendrik Baekeland, who is president of the society and professor of chemical engineering in Columbia University, New York. Dr. Backeland, one of the foremost figures in American chemistry, is internationally known for his invention of bake lite. Before taking up his work in the United States he had attained professorial honors in his native Belgium. The success of his researches in chemistry and his work in the educational field have been recognized with membership and awards bestowed upon him by learned society both in America and Europe. King Albert of the Belgians has made him a Commander of the Order of Leopold and France has bestowed upon him the cross of the Legion of Honor.

Stories That Recall Others

Service Both Ways.

Several barbers who had essayed hair bobbing as a recognized encouragement for cures for baldness later on suspended work temporarily one afternoon recently when a fine looking woman who had entered the shop began uncoiling a mass of black hair that crowned her head. When she had finished the hair extended nearly to her knees.

To cut it was a crime was one barber's opinion. "We should charge $10 for that job," he said to a man customer. "Maybe she wouldn't have it done. However, we're saving the hair that they do not take away with them. They'll be wondering some of these days and that's when there will be a demand for switches as well as thin hair cures."

A cook sometimes leaves a place because she is unable to pack it in her trunk and take it with her.
